

discovered a brute in human shape attempting to commit an outrage on the person of a young woman. After much resistance, he was secured and taken to jail. His name is given as Charles Hanks. He is a cook by profession and his intended victim is his wife's sister.

Runaway Casualty.—The Junction of last evening says:

"Yesterday evening, Mr. George Cary's team became unmanageable while the gentleman was driving it southward in town. The horses acted very wild and succeeded in getting the best of it, throwing Mr. Cary out on the ground. He was badly bruised by the fall. Somebody near by came fortunately to his assistance, secured the team and brought the wounded gentleman to his residence near the ironworks. Dr. Powers was called for at once and attended to the case in so successful a manner that Mr. Cary is at least out of danger, if not yet out of bed."

Sentenced.—W. F. Wilbur, the thief who has made several ingenious, but ineffectual attempts to escape from the city jail, since his incarceration several months ago, and Fred Klein and Thomas Moulton, his "pals," no less ingenious and equally unsuccessful in their repeated attempts to break out from the county jail, were yesterday sentenced in Ogden, by Judge Emerson, to terms of three years each in the Utah Penitentiary. We hope they will stay there all of that time, but if pretty close guard is not kept over them, they will tunnel through to liberty in no time. They are hard cases, all three, and are perfectly confident of their ability to make their escape before long. They will bear watching.

George Craighead, the counterfeiter, was also sent up for two years, and fined $100 additional.

Bishops' Meeting.—An interesting meeting was held last evening, under the auspices of the Presiding Bishopric.

Bishop Edward Hunter informed those present that the saints that came in the last company had been well received and cared for, and were now in various parts of the Territory, in a fair way to get along successfully.

Counselor L. W. Hardy broached the subject of the Utah Eastern Railroad. He hoped the bishops would not only use their influence to further this important enterprise, but take all the shares they could in the railroad, which had, as one of its special objects, the cheapening of the price of fuel. By bringing coal to this city from the mines in Coalville, the price per ton would be lowered one half to what was now being paid. Bishop Hunter had subscribed, personally, $2,000 to the new road, and the speaker hoped many others would come forward and assist in a similar manner.

He also touched upon the subject of fast meetings, and advised that they be held on Thursday morning, instead of at night, as had been done in some of the wards. These meetings had been held for over 50 years, in this Church, on Thursday mornings, a custom established by the Prophet Joseph Smith, and sanctioned during his life. Holding them in the day time also accommodated the aged and infirm, who could not go out at night and would not for anything be deprived of the privilege of attending the meetings.

Bishop John H. Smith said he had had fast meetings in his ward, at night, for the purpose of accommodating a large number of the people who could not get away in the daytime, and as a consequence his meetings had been better attended. He knew of no revelation which said fast meetings should not be held at night, and it was but customary to hold them in the day time. He had complied with the request of President A. M. Cannon and returned to the usual custom of day meetings, but was not conscious of having done wrong in changing the time as he did. He felt willing, however, to abide by whatever the authorities should decide.

Bishop Hunter coincided with the remarks made by Counselor Hardy, but did not doubt the purity of Bishop Smith's motives in changing the time of fast meeting in his Ward. He thought it better to pursue the method chosen by the Prophet Joseph, and sanctioned by the Church for half a century. President Young strictly observed fast day, and ordered the public works closed on the first Thursday of every month, to enable the workmen to attend morning meetings.

The speaker urged the encouragement of the Utah Eastern Railroad. He also touched upon the duties of the Lesser Priesthood. The bishops held two priesthoods. They presided over their wards by virtue of the Melchisedec Priesthood, and were Judges in Israel by virtue of the Aaronic Priesthood. It was their special office and privilege to settle difficulties among the Saints. It was the Lord's way and should be observed. Not till the authority of the bishop's court had been appealed to, ought cases to go outside for settlement. He closed by invoking the blessing of God upon the labors of the faithful.

FROM SATURDAY'S DAILY, MAY 15.

Hand-Car Velocipede.—The Utah and Northern Railroad Company have imported one of these unique little vehicles for the use of the road-master. The Leader says of it:

"It can be worked by one individual, and is so arranged that it can be taken apart and put in a passenger car at will. Having such a car enables the road-master to go from one point to another without trouble and to carefully observe the condition of the track. From 10 to 13 miles per hour can easily be made by an experienced operator."

"Leader" Lines.—From the Logan Leader of to-day:

A young son of Brother Adolph Nielsen who has charge of the cañon road toll gate, was lately the victim of an accident by which his collar bone was broken.

There is so much freight to pass over the U. & N. at present, that with the moving of the terminus it is found impossible to furnish the requisite number of cars just as demanded. However, the officials are energetic and will do all in their power to give satisfaction to patrons.

During several days past Doctor Ormsby has had under his care six patients—four of them with fractured legs and two with broken collar bones. This is probably one of the most unusual occurrences ever known in surgical circles in this Territory.

The municipal election held in Smithfield, May 3rd, 1880, resulted in the choice of the following officers: Mayor, P. T. Moorehead; Councilors, E. R. Miles, James Mack, William Douglass, Samuel Nelson, James Forrester; Justices, George Y. Smith and Francis Sharp; Recorder, W. A. Noble; Assessor and Collector, Jas. Kirkbride; Marshal Geo. G. Merrill.

William, son of Prest. Preston, received a serious injury last Saturday. He was riding a horse that had not been fully broken; in driving some cattle the animal ran against and stumbled over a cow, falling on the rider's foot. The young man's ankle joint was dislocated and the bone fractured. The seriousness of the injury is owing to the breakage being in so close proximity to the joint, that recovery without a stiffening of that part will be very difficult.

Jared Dalton.—The Silver Reef Miner of the 8th inst. contains the following, said to be a dialogue between its reporter and young Jared Dalton, now in prison at Toquerville, charged with the murder of Mrs. Parker and awaiting the action of the Grand Jury in his case:

"On being informed of the object of the visit, Dalton said he had no objection to answering any questions which might be asked him.

Reporter.—At the examination, did you plead "not guilty?"

Dalton.—Yes, sir. I am not guilty.

Reporter.—You saw Mrs. Parker on the day of the murder?

Dalton.—Yes, sir; I saw Mrs. Parker about 12 o'clock that day. I had been out on the range in the morning, and about a mile from town I came across her son, who desired me to tell his mother that he was there and that he would like to see her. I saw Mrs. Parker, told her that her son was waiting to see her, and she started out, but I did not accompany her, though I passed her on the road.

Reporter.—Did you see Mrs. Parker again after passing her?

Dalton.—No, not alive.

Reporter.—Did you know young Parker?

Dalton.—Yes, I know him well.

Reporter.—Why was he afraid to come into town?

Dalton.—He had got into trouble over a girl, and had afterwards stolen a saddle and bridle. Once before he had come into town after dark.

Reporter.—Have you not accused Mrs. Parker of being a witch, and of having bewitched a cow belonging to you?

Dalton.—I never heard anything about that until I was brought here.

Reporter.—You have a long time to wait before the Grand Jury meets.

Dalton.—Yes, I suppose so; but they need not be afraid, I shall make no attempt to escape; I shall stay here until it is through with.

Dalton is about 25 years of age, of ruddy complexion, thick set, but of medium height, and though possessed of but little education, seems to feel the situation keenly.

FROM MONDAY'S DAILY, MAY 17.

Remarkable Escape.—Friday night, at Bingham, a drunken man fell a distance of 60 feet, down an old placer shaft, and, strange to say, was taken out unhurt.

Tabernacle Services.—The congregation at the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon was edified by an instructive and deeply interesting discourse from Apostle Orson Pratt. The subject was the judgments of God upon the earth in the latter days. The discourse was taken in full by the Church reporter, and will be published hereafter.

From the East.—Saturday evening, Mr. Joseph Sharp, son of Bishop John Sharp, and Mr. Leo Clawson, son of H. B. Clawson, Esq., returned from the East. The former comes to gain a respite from his collegiate studies during the summer season, the latter returns from a year's absence in New York, where he has been acquiring a knowledge of business life. Welcome home.

Encouraging the Sparrows.—Captain Jacob Lawrence is having a number of sparrow boxes placed in the trees along a portion of the sidewalk, east from the Eagle Gate, opposite the piece of property on which he designs erecting a residence. His object is to thus provide homes for and encourage the raising of sparrows, which are very useful birds and should be protected and cultivated. Mr. Lawrence is quite a bird fancier and his policy is creditable.

The Outrage.—The examination of Charles Hanks, for an attempted outrage on his sister-in-law, Mary Jensen, and of John Rosquist, for complicity in the crime, was conducted before Justice Pyper, on Saturday afternoon. Rosquist was discharged, as no evidence was adduced that implicated him in the dastardly act. Hanks was bound over in $1,000 bond, to await the Grand Jury's action. The bond he was unable to furnish, and hence still languishes in jail.

The Ogden Co-op.—The Junction says that the masonry work on the new Co-op. building is being rapidly pushed, and, if the weather continues propitious, the foundation will be ready for the bricklayers in three weeks. The mason work is under the direction of Mr. Dan Doyle, and we will venture to say that a better piece of work in this line has never been done in Utah. Some 32 men are at work, 10 of whom are masons, our old-time friend, M. B. Wheelwright, being employed as timekeeper.

THE "LITTLE DETECTIVE" is the appropriate and well earned title bestowed upon a house-keeper's scale, manufactured by the Chicago Scale Company and recently introduced into this market, where it is now sold by John W. Snell, agent, of this city. It will weigh anything from a quarter of an ounce to 25 pounds, being as nicely adjusted as any letter balance, and is a most convenient scale for business offices, post offices, or for household purposes. Its weight, when boxed, is but 10 pounds, it can therefore be sent by express. The price is but $3, its extraordinary cheapness being due to the great numbers that are sold where ever it has become known. Its popularity is insured on its first trial. The Chicago Scale Company is one of the most extensive and reliable corporations in the United States, and manufactures a full line of scales, beams and balances, and other hardware implements. Among the latter are store and warehouse trucks, platform and other trucks, baggage barrows, letter presses, sugar mills, alarm money drawers, etc., etc. This company make over 300 varieties of scales, alone, and their goods are all warranted first class.

UNQUESTIONABLE.

The "Herald," Detroit, Mich., says of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure: "Its efficacy in kidney, liver and all urinary diseases is so fully acknowledged that it is not worth the questioning. Bona fide testimonials from well known citizens in public and private life are evidences strong enough to convince the most stubborn doubter."
