

And all their efforts to remove the curse, are only making matters worse and worse; they can as well unlock without a key. As change the tide of man's degenerate, without the Holy Priesthood—his at most. Like reck'ling bills in absence of the host.

Not that we are opposed to woman suffrage. Certainly Congress cannot be acting consistently with itself to withhold suffrage from woman after having conferred it on the negro, the recent subject of abject slavery. But to think of a war of sexes which the woman's rights movement would inevitably inaugurate, entailing domestic feuds and contentions for supremacy, with a corresponding "easy virtue" and dissolution of the marriage tie, creates an involuntary shudder! "Order is heaven's first law," and it is utterly impossible for order to exist without organization, and no organization can be effected without outgradation. Our standard is as far above theirs, as the pattern of heavenly things is above the earthly. We have already attained to an elevation in nobility and purity of life, which they can neither reach nor comprehend, and yet they call us "degraded." We cannot descend to their standard; we have a high destiny to fill. It is for us to set the world an example of the highest and most perfect types of womanhood.

Mothers and sisters have great influence in moulding the characters of the coming men, either for good or evil. All the energies of woman's soul should be brought in to exercise in the important work of cultivating, educating and refining the rising generation. Example is more effective than precept—both are requisite. In this direction woman has not only acknowledged "rights," but momentous duties, and such as require all the strength of mind and firmness of purpose as have culminated in the epithet, "strongminded." I cannot think that woman was ever endowed with too much strength of mind, if properly directed—it is the perversion of its uses, and misapplication of abilities which have occasioned the odium. It is impossible for either men or women to possess too much knowledge, or be endowed with too much capability, provided they are applied to legitimate purposes. Would any sensible man take pride in announcing that his wife, sister or daughter was weak-minded, silly and effeminate?

According to history, most of the men who have become illustrious as benefactors of mankind, were sons of wise, noble and intelligent mothers. Pres. Young says, "woman is the mainspring and the waymark of society." It was justly remarked, "show me the women of a nation, and I will describe the character of that nation." Admitting so much for woman's influence, what care should be taken in the cultivation of the daughters of Zion as the future mothers of a mighty generation! They should be taught to fix their standard of character as far above the level of those of the outside world as is the altitude they inhabit. They should early establish a firmness of integrity surpassing the durability of the impregnable mountains which surround us. Wisely instructed and with proper habits of thought and reflection, they would despise to be seen aping the foolish, extravagant and disgusting fashions of the goddess gentile world. They would scorn to imitate the strange disfiguring of the physical structure which jeopardizes health. A stylish, fashionable lady of the present day, presents more the appearance of a beast of burden, a camel or dromedary heavily laden, than the elegant, dignified, graceful form in which God created woman. Dress is admitted to be an index to the mind. Good taste is much better exhibited in a plain costume than in an extravagant mass of superfluities.

May such high and holy aspirations be kindled in the pure virgin hearts of our young ladies, as will so elevate their thoughts and feelings as to lift them far above the contaminating influences of degenerate civilization. May the young sons of Zion be proof against the deleterious habits which vitiate the taste and undermine the structure of physical strength and perfection—may they become the unwavering champions of truth, freedom and justice, and stand as mighty bulwarks against the aggressors of intolerance and oppression; and may the young daughters of Zion, noble, dignified, loving and graceful—like "polished stones"—become crowns of excellence and beauty, prepared hereafter to associate with angels and the highest intelligences of the upper world.

The above address was received by the people with many demonstrations of satisfaction, being frequently and loudly applauded.

We cannot pass over the account of the celebration at Ogden without alluding directly to the pleasure derived by all from the musical part of the proceedings. The playing of the Ogden brass, Captain Beezley's martial and the Kaysville brass bands was very commendable, as was also the singing of the Ogden and North Ogden choirs, particularly the latter; and the children.

A special train of two cars, having on board Presidents B. Young, George A. Smith and D. H. Wells, a number of the Twelve and other leading citizens, and a few invited guests and strangers, left Ogden at half-past two, arriving in this city at a quarter-past four.

THE Disturbance party had a meeting on Saturday evening last, which was attended by the members of the "ring," and a few of those people so well described, as having surrendered every feature of their former faith except the extra wives. After some little time spent in trying to drum up speakers a speaker was induced to arise. His ability was of the most mediocre character, and no intelligent body of people would have endured him five minutes; but where timber is so scarce everything must be used, especially if a title so high sounding as that of General can be attached to a man's name. He had considerable to say about the city taxes and their manner of appropriation. Just the kind of man to dilate upon this subject, for we have reason to believe that he has never paid a dollar of tax since he came to the country. After considerable exertion upon the part of one of the "ring," in running around among the audience to induce men to speak; a man with a very rich brogue was persuaded to arise. But his speech was unfortunate, as it called forth opposition, and was the cause of the meeting being broken up prematurely to avoid the disgrace of a row.

One of the speakers who opposed him took umbrage at his praise of the Pope and the Catholic priesthood; another at the insults he threw out against persons who practiced plurality of wives. The latter said he had not come there to be insulted at the remarks of the man with the brogue, and he threw them back in his face. This occasioned excitement, and the hisses, groans and cheers became so general that the chairman had great difficulty in quelling the disturbance.

Judge Hayden's name was so often called that he arose and stated, that he had only been here a very short time, and knew nothing about that party or the people, and, consequently, it would be very bad taste for him to make a speech on the occasion.

We should imagine that Governor Woods, who acted as chairman of this meeting, would be ashamed to have been seen in such a crowd. The whole affair was ridiculous in the highest degree, and clearly proved that the name which has been given to the party—"the Disturbance Party"—has been rightfully earned. They were once called in irony "the happy family." They still deserve the appellation.

A DAY or two since we overheard two gentlemen conversing about the recent action of the acting-Governor. One remarked to the other that the acting-Governor was an old acquaintance of his. "I knew him," said he, "when he was in the nigger-minstrel business." We asked no questions; but we felt relieved. We had been under the impression that His Excellency had been a printer; and for the credit of the craft, we were pleased to know that he had another profession. If he made out no better in the burnt-cork business in assuming characters than he has in personating a Governor, we are not surprised at his accepting the appointment of private Secretary to the late Governor. "Acting" is evidently not his forte.

THE articles which we published yesterday from the New York Sun and the Philadelphia Press go to prove that, although a lie may travel a league while truth is putting on her boots, truth will in the end overtake and master the lie. The reports which were sent to the East from this city by the "ring" respecting the action of the Lieutenant-General of the Nauvoo Legion, and the militia and people of this city generally, were the most atrocious falsehoods, and were intended by those who fabricated them to create public opinion to sustain the action of the "ring" and its weak tool in their efforts to interrupt or spoil the celebration. They hoped by stuffing the ears of the public with their false statements to so stop them that the truth could find no access, and their version would be believed and accepted as true. But men who descend to lies, always evince a lack of judgment. They deceive themselves when they think they are deceiving others. In a matter of such public notoriety as the celebration of Independence Day, where so many thousands had the opportunity of knowing all the facts connected with the occasion, no one with any more sense than idiots could expect such gross and easily-proved falsehoods as were sent East by the "ring" and its satellites, to be believed for more than two or three days. Any man of sense would know that such falsehoods would re-act upon their authors, and do more injury in the end than the falsehoods, if believed, would do good.

But it has ever been thus with this miserable "ring." They have been thoroughly defeated in all their schemes against the people here from the commencement of their organization until the present, because they have pursued a lying, dishonest, mean course. They have adopted a tortuous policy, and have expected to achieve their ends by dark, underhanded tricks; and, consequently, they have experienced signal discomfiture. Such a policy cannot win any permanent success in this age and nation, and it is the height of folly to attempt it. If the people of Utah were the class which the members of the "ring" would like the country to believe they are, how easy it would be to make it appear by relating the truth, and nothing more, about them! It certainly would not be necessary to build the entire opposition against them upon falsehood. When this "ring" was first organized in Utah for the purpose of obtaining control of affairs with a view to the spoils and plunder, the members thought they had an easy task before them. Their tone was most exultant, and they talked to and about the old citizens, as though they were their bond slaves and their necks were already encircled with their badge of servitude. They confidently counted upon having the whole power of the Territory in their hands before this time. One at least of the leading spirits of this combination expected to be so successful in his plans that when the Territory should be admitted into the Union, he would be elected U. S. Senator. This, he said more than once, was his chief inducement in accepting the office which he holds. But in the words of his immortal countryman

"The best-laid schemes o'mice an' men
Gang aft a-gley."

He little thought through his blundering stupidity, to use no stronger language, he would have to implore an agent to take a mission East, for the purpose of persuading President Grant not to entertain grave charges filed against him in the Department at Washington, which were made against him in his official capacity. "What a fall was there, my countrymen!" when the would-be U. S. Senator had to send off an agent in post haste to tell the President that the "Mormons" had conspired against him, and by this falsehood endeavor to keep himself from being dismissed ignominiously from office! This was a terrible letting down for so arrogant and conceited a personage.

We have tried for a long period to convince the "ring" that its efforts to injure the old citizens would only recoil upon and injure its own members. If the latter will sit down calmly and examine their past course and present condition, they must now be satisfied that our advice to them was sound. If this examination will not satisfy them, they are most obtuse. They have been conspiring, contending and telling falsehoods now for a long time, and they are seemingly farther distant from the goal they hoped to reach than ever. They should now reform, stop their folly and settle down and be good citizens. Instead of maligning the old citizens and publishing falsehoods about the Territorial officers, who act in their positions by virtue of the votes and authority of the people, differing radically in this respect from themselves, they should sustain the Government of the people, thank Providence that they live in a community so wisely governed, so well-ordered and peaceable, and so lightly taxed; and join with other good citizens in frequent prayers that such patriotic, prudent and excellent rulers may long be spared to us. They will make more in every way by taking this course, than they can by adhering to the vindictive, lying, yet senseless and futile, policy they have been pursuing.

TO LOVERS of good biscuits, rolls, pastry, etc., we can cheerfully recommend Dooley's Yeast Powder as being not only reliable, convenient to use, but the cheapest in the end, of any Baking Powder offered to the public. Its popularity is daily increasing, and the never-failing results following its use will long make it the leading article of the kind in market. No house-keeper should be without it, as it produces light, elegant and nutritious food with little or no trouble. For sale in packages to suit customers, by all grocers.
