Damage Suit Against Union Pacific—

Ogden, Nov. 22.—Sheriff Josephson of Boxelder county, assisted by the local officers, is making a search for a Japanese named J. Kyaki, who, it is believed, has decamped with $10,000 belonging to a large number of his countrymen who had trusted him with their hard-earned cash. The report has it that Kyaki, while acting as financial agent for other Japs who have been employed on the beet farms in Boxelder county and at other work, had deposited with the bank of Brigham City over $10,000. A few days ago he called at the bank and withdrew the money, and it is presumed left for parts unknown, as since receiving the money, those for whom he was acting as financial agent have not seen him, and fearing that he would place the money in another bank to their credit, the matter was placed in the hands of Sheriff Josephson, who has asked the local officers to assist in locating him.

Van Allen of the Weber club, was at Salt Lake City the greater part of the day yesterday to confer with the railroad officials of the various lines running into Ogden on the coal situation. The gentlemen held before the railroad officials the coal shortage here, explaining that many homes throughout the city and country are almost without a pound of coal and that unless relief was given immediately great suffering would follow. The gentlemen also expressed an opinion to the officials that Ogden has been discriminated against by the railroads in the delivery of coal. This was, however, denied by the railroad officials, who claim that Ogden has been getting its portion of the coal delivered to them for transportation to Utah points. Realizing, however, the seriousness of the situation, the committee was assured that every effort will be put forth to get a large quantity of coal in this city within a few days, which, if carefully divided between all who are in need of fuel will give temporary relief. Throughout the winter the railroads will endeavor to see that the coal dealers are well supplied with coal so that such a shortage cannot arise again. The committee was satisfied with their trip and feel confident that plenty of coal from the different mines will be delivered. The railroad officials denied the report that trainloads of coal are sidetracked along the different lines.

Mrs. Alice Houge has taken the preliminary steps to bringing a heavy damage suit against the Union Pacific Railroad company by filing in the district court a petition praying for the appointment of Robert G. Ager as administrator of the estate of her deceased husband, Peter Houge. The petition sets forth that he died in Wyoming, Nov. 27, 1905, leaving an estate consisting of a damage suit against the railroad company to recover damages for the death of his wife, which it is claimed was due through the carelessness and negligence of the railroad company. Another probate petition was filed

An organ solo by Miss Lettie Hitchcock and a vocal solo by Mrs. Lucile Jensen were part of the program. The basement of the Third ward meetinghouse having just been completed, the people responded in large numbers to the bishop's call of holding services there on the 19th inst. The speakers at the occasion were Elders C. P. Peterson, C. P. Olsen, President Wm. C. Parkinson and Counselor A. M. Israelson, who all spoke in complimentary terms of the enterprise of Bishop N. J. The filament is necessarily very long—about 25 inches—and is mounted on a special support enclosed in the specially shaped bulb.

The latest novelty in photographic discovery is the most puzzling of all, as it shows some effect of gravitation on photographic action. It was recently announced at Bale, Switzerland, by G. W. A. Kahlbaum. After other experiments—some of them proving that the density of the metals, except that of cadmium, decreased instead of increased at very high pressure—he placed a sensitive plate film upward in a box lined with black paper, and over the film he laid in succession a strip of paraffined paper, pieces of cardboard and of sheet metal, then a reverse of this arrangement, with a photographic plate on top. The metals were aluminum, iron, zinc and lead. After several days a distinct photographic action

Cyanide of cadmium, many times as poisonous as prussic acid, is one of the most remarkable of recent chemical products. Some years ago a French chemist combined potassium acetate with white arsenic and obtained oxide of cadmium, a fuming liquid, and an English chemist has combined this with cyanogen, a radical of prussic acid. Cyanide of cadmium is a white powder, melting at 33 degrees and boiling at 140 degrees, which in air gives off a slight vapor whose inhalation causes instant death.

Letters to Unsuccessful Men

By the Author of Letters from a Self-Made Merchant to his Son

JONAS SPURLOCK who can raise a million dollars at an hour's notice, but who can't raise a boy.

HIS SON, JACK who went through five thousand a year, but couldn't get through Harvard.

JONAS' BROTHER, WILLIAM who owns a bunch of cows and a mule, but can't get them to graze in his range, where they can't graze in his range without stepping on the mortgage.

Jonas writes to Brother William that in spite of the fact that Jack has been given everything that money can buy he has made a mess of his life.

Here follow some extracts from Brother Bill's letter in reply:

"Jack is your problem and you're welcome to it. You could solve it, but you won't, because Jack isn't wheat, or steel, or stocks, but just flesh and blood."

"If he were a million-dollar deal gone wrong, no subordinate could touch him. But when your son starts for hell in a canter, you send a hired man after him to beat him back with a club."

"Have you looked up the men who have taught Jack as carefully as those that you have hired to run your plants?"

"You expected him to associate with idlers and not be idle; to make friends among the foolish and not be a fool. That is a pretty big contract for one boy to fill, even with a father working overtime to help him."

"You and your special breed of business men are all alike. You begin in your corner groceries sarding the sugar for pennies; and you finish in Wall Street sarding the sugar for millions."
