The ceremony of unveiling the Scott statue took place in Central Park this afternoon, in the presence of a vast throng of spectators. After the presentation of the address made by Richard Irvin, and the acceptance of the speech by comptroller Green, Wm. Cullen Bryant then delivered an oration.

The Express says the arrest of Woodhull and Claflin for circulating obscene literature was to be expected, for nothing more obscene in the way of words and atrocious charges ever obtained currency in any community than the attacks of these women upon distinguished and honored clergymen. The scandalous and libellous article of the twain consists in a gross attack upon Rev. Henry Ward Beecher and Theodore Tilton.

The philanthropist Bergh publishes an appeal, asking for a total cessation of equine traffic to-morrow in this city.

BOSTON, 2.—The small-pox is diminishing. There have been only sixteen deaths this week.

BALTIMORE, 2.—The horse disease has been more seriously felt to-day than on any previous one. There are few cars or drays on the streets. The horse railroad companies have given notice that no cars will be run to-morrow, for the purpose of giving the horses rest. The disease prevails very mildly. Should the weather be favorable, it will soon disappear. At ten o'clock this morning there was only one hack on Monument Square, the Grand Hack Stand of the city.

NEW YORK, 2.—A great deal of talk was occasioned about town this evening over the arrest of Woodhull and Claflin. The proceedings against them were first taken by L. C. Challis, the well-known broker, who last night applied for warrants for their arrest for a gross, scandalous and malicious article on him. These warrants were accordingly issued, but before they could be executed some one acting in behalf of another libelled party, as it is said, and procuring aid of Comstock, the famous enemy to obscure literature, had warrants issued against the mesdames by U. S. Commissioner Osborn. The affidavits in the case were made by Albert Anderson, post office clerk, a Mr. Woodley, of Brooklyn, and T. W. Rees, clerk in the Independent newspaper office, who swore to the sending of the offensive publications through the mail by the accused witnesses.

In the case Wm. Moody, negro, and C. D. Miles, who mailed the papers, were sent to the House of Detention. The two were taken to the commissioner's office in a carriage and thence to the jail until Monday morning, when the hearing comes off. They manifested the usual boldness and desecrated on the way to prison on the outrage of their arrest and confinement over Sunday. They insisted upon suitable apartments at Ludlow street jail.

This afternoon, upon warrants of Mayor Hall, a seizure was made of the establishment of Woodhull & Claflin, together with the books, furniture, and so much of the edition of the publication as was found. The indignation of the community generally has been aroused at the brazenness and audacity shown by the publication complained of, and presenting the parties for the purpose of pursuing the case vigorously. Challis has also caused the arrest of the so-called Colonel Blood, charged with being an accomplice, also Deryse, the stereotyper, and Smith, printer of the scandalizing paper. The statutory penalty for sending obscene literature through the mails is imprisonment for one year and five hundred dollars fine.
