the city from now on would be permitted to run his own department, and not be subjected to the whims and fancies of a politician. He also said that it would be a waste of money to enforce it.

President Newell took occasion to remark that any member of the City Council had a perfect right to introduce whatever kind of a resolution he saw fit, and it devolved upon the members to treat it as a majority of them felt disposed. No member has any business to be personal in the remarks he makes, and when the matter comes up, it should be treated as a business matter.
