On Tuesday evening the second ward meeting house was the scene of a grand musical treat given under the auspices of the ward choir, and direction of Prof. Squire Coop, as a testimonial to Elder E. F. Tout. It was a thorough success in every particular, and deserves much praise. The program was made up of choice vocal and instrumental selections, which were listened to with unbounded pleasure by the large audience. Each number was loudly cheered by the assembly. The concert netted about $75 which will be presented to Elder Tout previous to his departure for his mission in England. Following is the program as it was carried out:

Chorus—"Oh, Hail us ye Free,".....Second Ward Choir
Concert—Violin and piano, (Andante, Finale).....Mendelssohn
W. C. Clive, Squire Coop.
Ballad—"Belle Brandon"—Mr. E. F. Tout
A madrigal—"Come, come, come"—Victor Harris
Miss Arvilla Clark.
"The Sheriff of Nottingham".....(Asisted).
Solo—"Kiss Waltz".....Herditt
Miss Nannie Tout.
Caprice de Concert—op. 6.....Musin
Mr. W. C. Clive.
"Poor Wandering One"—Opera "Pirates of Penzance".....Sullivan
Miss Maggie Tout.
Solo—"Annie Laurie".....
Miss Arvilla Clark.
Rigolotto—Quartet.....
Miss Nannie Tout, Miss Clark, E. F. Tout, H. Anderson.
Chorus—"Land of the Trumpet and Sphere".....Second Ward Choir
Mr. Tout, accompanied by his family, left last evening over the R. G. W. for his mission. While in Europe his family will live in London, where Miss Nannie Tout, the popular vocalist, will have her voice cultured by some of the noted music masters.

On Thursday evening the ladies of the Episcopal church gave a grand ball in Christensen's hall for the benefit of the church. It was the leading social event of the week, and the opening social ball of the season. The hall was magnificently decorated in red and gold bunting, palms stood throughout the reception room. There were booths on the stage and in the reception room where ices, lemonades, candies and flowers were sold and everybody present had to buy from the beautiful young salesladies. The music for tripping the light fantastic was furnished by Ford's full orchestra, and prompting by Mr. Christensen. Many of the ladies present wore elegant gowns of dainty colored silks and satins. The dancing was in good condition for dancing and the very large crowd enjoyed a most delightful evening. There were over 300 tickets sold. The affair was pronounced a thorough success financially and pleasantly.

The Arkansas State Federation of Women's Clubs has recently through one of its standing committees, issued instructions to its component clubs to allow time for "table-talks" at which one or more of the following subjects shall be freely and fully discussed: Public libraries and their value to the club; housekeepers and their blunders; art and its moral effect in the school; room; Arbor Day in Arkansas; industrial schools vs. reformatories. This summary of subjects forms an index to the practical work which the federation contemplates engaging in the year following its next annual meeting. A year's preparatory study will give an intelligent grasp of their chosen line of work when the clubs come to put it into practical operation.

In Alhambra, Mich., is the only clubhouse in the country built by a club woman and devoted to the use of the club of which she is a member as well as to another club to which men belong. It was built by Mrs. Henry, the two clubs to hold leases as long as they exist.

Mrs. Iman, who belongs to one of the oldest families of Alhambra, was one of the first women there to become interested in clubs, and was largely instrumental in organizing the Alhambra Club. She is a member of the Alhambra Club, and has been a member of the club since its organization. She is a member of the club since its organization. She is a member of the club since its organization.

The club has sixty active members and fifteen associate members. Though the club is a club and not a social club, it has broadened until it covers the usual women's club field.

Mrs. Iman has been married only a few years, and her home now is in Alhambra. She is a club woman and a club woman who keeps herself fully abreast of the times and does what she can to further women's work.

A cheerful, happy disposition is good

The public halls did not appeal to the women, who were accustomed to artistic surroundings, but there simply were no other places, and the E. L. T.'s were in demand. To the rescue came Mrs. Iman. She announced her intention to build a place where they could meet.

The rich men of Alhambra had been interested. They had had a club, the Leisure Hour, which was in their hands, but existing under difficulty because it had no suitable place. A committee went to Mrs. Iman and asked if she would not make her club house large enough to take them in.

The building is of red brick with stone foundations, and not over fifteen feet high. The first floor is given over to the Leisure Hour, and on its parlor, billiard, card and reception rooms. In the basement is a fine dining room.

On the second floor is the home of the E. L. T. Large parlors, artistically furnished with rugs, draperies, window seats and easy corners fairly piled with pretty cushions, are only a part of the comforts to be enjoyed in the club. There is a piano and a piano for the use of the musical members. A large open grate fire adds coziness in winter, and it is a club saying that no member was ever known to be cold in the club.

all beauty, life, while God's good, fresh air will bring the poppy hues to one's face quicker than anything else. To live correctly is quite as easy a matter as to live incorrectly. The great, best kind of incentive for such efforts must be in the vitality in a quest for health.

The Girl Who Writes.

There is one thing that the girl who writes ought to consider, and that is this: In life there is not enough, not enough, deep enough, for her to get 14 or 16 or even 20 years to have found in it something to give the world? Tolerance, after all, is what counts, and generally speaking, if the girl who writes has lived the safe and guarded and normal life which she ought to have lived, she has had no experience, and she has not come down very deep into life. Her hopes and fears and hopes have been on the surface, and (it is well that they should be) and there is still another great danger about early experience—the stream gives out.
