

WHEN MRS. GOULD SAW MR. FARNUM

Was Only in Company of Others, Her Attitude Towards Him That of a Lady.

DRANK MODERATELY AT MEALS

Rev. Patrick J. Cherry Knew Her Well and Testified as to Her Charitable Work.

New York, June 23.—Counsel for Katherine Clemmons Gould, who is suing her husband, Howard Gould, for separation and $25,000 a year alimony, labored long and late today and it was 11 o'clock tonight when court adjourned. The night session was granted by Justice Dowling in order to finish the remaining testimony in rebuttal by the plaintiff's witnesses, with the possible exception of Mrs. Gould herself, but after the session Charles J. Shearn announced that he still had two witnesses to call. Tomorrow a deposition of Dustin Farnum, who has figured so prominently in the case, will be submitted in Mrs. Gould's behalf.

A CLOUD OF WITNESSES

Thirty-six witnesses in rebuttal have thus far been called, and it is expected that Mrs. Gould will take the stand tomorrow. In the hope of weakening her husband's counter-charges. With the exception of Mrs. Sells, who testified during the day, and the deposition of her daughter, Marjorie, which was read tonight, the testimony for the most part was that of servants and employees of various shops.

Miss Sells' narrative bore out that of her mother, favoring Mrs. Gould as to her association with Dustin Farnum, and testifying as to her sobriety at all times.

After this deposition came a corroborative deposition from Max Robson, the actress. In the essentials it agreed with Mrs. Gould's story. The actress was not sure about the number of nights she had slept in Mrs. Gould's room, but she was positive that she had used one of the twin beds in Mrs. Gould's bedroom.

"Have you ever observed any improper relations between Mr. Farnum and Mrs. Gould?" the actress was asked.

continued the march of servants and friends of his client to the witness stand today in an effort to refute the testimony of intoxication and other indiscretions given by the witnesses for the defense.

Edward Rouman, who said his business was dressing, testified that he was employed by Mrs. Gould and had talked with Mrs. Gould frequently when she came to try on her gowns. He had never noticed any words or conduct on her part which would indicate she was under the influence of intoxicants. On cross-examination, the witness said Mrs. Gould's account of Mrs. Osborne's in 1905, would amount to more than $20,000.

Mrs. Elsie W. Sells, an intimate friend of Mrs. Gould, who was a guest at the Gould estate and on the yacht Niagara many times since 1902, testified she had never seen Mrs. Gould intoxicated or boisterous and abusive in her language to the servants.

Mr. Shearn asked the witness particularly about a visit Mrs. Gould paid to the Sells' country place at Newcastle in June, 1905, when she and the party at Ormond Beach and Palm Beach in 1905, and Mrs. Sells testified the plaintiff had always conducted herself in a proper manner to affect her.

On cross-examination, Mrs. Sells said it was the custom at the Gould house parties for the men to drink a little Scotch or rye, while she said Mrs. Gould sipped a little wine.

gard to Farnum, did she?" asked Mr. Nicol.

"Well, she talked very freely to me," said the witness.

"Did she say he was a handsome man?"

"No," replied Mrs. Sells.

"Did she say he was a fine actor?"

"Why she said he was a good actor and had a future," Mrs. Sells answered.

"She said if he returned to the stage she would like to be associated with him?"

"Did Mrs. Gould say she intended to return to the stage?"

"No."

"Did she say she would like to have Farnum for her partner on the stage, or her leading man?"

"No."

Mrs. Sells' maid, followed and contradicted the testimony of some of the servants at Castle Gould, who testified that Mrs. Gould was intoxicated on various occasions. The maid was with Mrs. Gould's party at the Marlborough-Blenheim at Atlanta City when Mrs. Sells' daughters were in the party in 1905.

The maid said that May Robson, the actress, was with Mrs. Gould at the hotel and spent the night in her apartment. She saw no man there, she said, and when the defense contended Farnum visited Mrs. Gould.

The maid testified in regard to the incident at Blue Gap farm as Lynchburg, Va., where the defense testified she saw Mrs. Gould lying on the floor of the dining room intoxicated.

The witness said she was in the dining room when Mrs. Gould fell from her chair to the floor, just after she had finished eating her dinner. She had only drunk a cup of coffee at the meal, and she was not intoxicated, she said, and she was not drunk.

When she saw what the defense contended Farnum visited Mrs. Gould.

Mr. Shearn asked if Mr. Gould had said anything to the maid then about the carpenter, Trotter, and what she believed he had said.

The maid said Mrs. Gould did say something about Trotter, but the witness was not allowed, on Mr. Nicol's objection, to say what the witness said.

When Trotter was on the witness stand Mr. Shearn asked him if Mrs. Gould had not accused him of poisoning her coffee at Blue Gap farm.

The maid testified that at the Bellevue-Stratford, in Philadelphia, Mrs. Gould, Miss Robson, Mr. Farnum and Mrs. Sells had a party in Mrs. Gould's room one night, and the following night Farnum came to the apartments about 11 o'clock and took the last of Mrs. Gould's belongings.

Mrs. Gould over night on those two occasions.

FATHER CHERRY'S TESTIMONY.

Rev. Patrick J. Cherry, who was the priest of the Catholic church in Port Washington from 1901 to 1908, testified that Mrs. Gould frequently called on him at his home in Newark, having been in that condition since last Sunday.

Miss Freund was suddenly prostrated a week ago yesterday, but did not lose consciousness until Sunday last. The doctors incline to the belief that meningitis, brought on by an attack of acute gastritis, is the cause of their patient's peculiar condition, but have not arrived at a satisfactory conclusion. Her condition is critical.

MURDER, ATTEMPTED MURDER AND SUICIDE

San Jose, Cal., June 24.—Evans Dent, a prominent saloonman, was killed and Mrs. Schley, divorced wife of a beauty doctor, was shot but not fatally wounded, by A. Cleve Ullin, a newspaper solicitor, who afterwards shot and killed himself shortly after 1 o'clock this morning at the room of the woman at Second and Antonio streets.

Dent and Mrs. Schley were in the room when Ullin, who had hidden himself in a closet, stepped out and pressing a pistol to Dent's heart, pulled the trigger, killing him instantly. He then turned the gun on the woman, who threw up her hands, the bullet passing through her right hand into her shoulder. She then grappled with Ullin.

SEVENTEEN MINERS KILLED IN MINE EXPLOSION

Wetum, Pa., June 23.—As the result of an explosion of gas in mine No. 4 of the Lackawanna Coal & Coke company early today, 17 miners were killed and 16 injured. With the exception of one, those killed were foreigners. With few exceptions the injured were Americans.

Inspector Joseph Williams, with a party, entered the mine tonight to ascertain if there were any more victims. Superintendent A. M. Johnson stated that while the mine has always been regarded as non-gaseous, the explosion was caused by a miner's open lamp igniting a pocket of gas.

DEFECTIVE EYESIGHT IMPAIRS MORAL VIEW

New York, June 24.—If you want to reform a criminal put a pair of glasses on him for the chances are defective physical vision impaired his moral views. Such is the theory of Dr. William M. Richards, who hopes inside of a year to be able to back his theory with statistics.

In compiling his statistics in the search for subjects Dr. Richards has visited the district attorney's office, police courts and other institutions.

At the Maglen home he fitted glasses to 20 inmates, and every one of these, he said, found work on getting out and kept it.

One girl in particular never had been able to keep a job more than a few days. She was considered stupid and lazy. Since leaving the home two months ago and wearing a pair of glasses she has been steadily employed by a firm of wholesalers and still is working there.

Dr. Richards now is trying his plan on 200 second offenders in the city hold-up men and criminals of various degrees.
