Bishop Orson F. Whitney Discourses interestingly on the Redemption of Zion.

REFERS TO THE UNITED ORDER

Points Out Conditions to be Observed And Admonishes Saints to Continue Faithful.

At the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon Bishop Orson F. Whitney discoursed interestingly on the redemption of Zion, a theme suggested by the recent purchase by the Church of lands in Jackson county, Missouri. He regarded the movement as one of the most significant since the expulsion of the saints from that neighborhood. The meeting, as usual, was largely attended and was presided over by President John R. Winder.

The choir sang the hymn: For the strength of the hills we bless Thee, Our God, our Father's God.

Prayer was offered by President William McLaughlin of Pioneer stake. The choir further sang:

Only Father, Thou that dwellest, In the high and glorious place.

Bishop Orson F. Whitney was the speaker. He began by stating that he had been requested to speak this afternoon by President John R. Winder, who sent him a note to this effect: "The night before, on receiving this note, he placed the matter before the board, asking him to suggest to him a theme to speak upon—one which would be of benefit to those assembled. The theme presented in answer to the request was one suggested by the recent attitude of the nation toward this people, and to this he hoped to refer in the remarks made."

Bishop Whitney took up the matter of the terrible scene recently enacted in Colorado, caused by the strife between capital and labor, and spoke of it as a condition very much to be deplored. He then referred to the recent purchase by the Church of the Temple lot in Jackson county, Missouri, which had for its aim the redemption of Zion and the salvation of the souls of men. On the one hand the picture was one of strife, sorrow and desolation, while on the other efforts were being made for the redemption of human souls, a contrast eloquently portrayed and dwelt upon by the speaker. The redemption of Zion spoke volumes for Joseph Smith, and while in the world he was misunderstood and regarded by many as a religious fanatic, there were the elements of greatness in his work, for he comprehended in its scope not only the salvation of the living, but the redemption of the dead, and the full accomplishment of the Father's purposes.

Bishop Whitney said that "Mormonism" was new only to this generation. Its laws and requirements were as old as the universe itself, and they were understood by all the prophets and apostles of ancient times. It comprehended all truth and was of the same eternal character as truth itself, for it was truth.

The speaker referred to the creation and classes as abrid the universal truth that God created the earth out of nothing. Much more philosophical and declared, was the doctrine that that which was created was brought forth from pre-existent matter. Allusion was made to the doctrine of Adam and Eve, which the speaker declared was regarded by believers in "Mormonism" as a part of the great program designed by God for the salvation of His children.

Bishop Whitney explained that after the Prophet Joseph Smith had translated the Book of Mormon, he was given the task of revising the Holy Bible. This was due to the fact that in the work of translation he had found that many parts of the Hebrew Scriptures were incorrect. In this revision he was aided by the Spirit to change materially a part of the book of Genesis, referring to Enoch and his Zion, some of which the speaker read, which, said Bishop Whitney, made it clear why the city was taken into heaven. In connection with the revised edition of the Scriptures the speaker said that it had never been published by this Church, but that the Bible used by this people was the King James translation, believed in by Christians generally, and which was sufficiently correct to vindicate the position of the Church of Christ.

Bishop Whitney read concerning the building of the new Jerusalem, the Zion of the latter days, in the which men would have all things in common and be placed upon an equal footing. Five thousand years elapsed before this doctrine was advanced, but it was taught, nevertheless, by the Savior, not only among the Jewish people in the east, but among the Nephites as well in the land west. Among the latter it was taught successfully, so much so that for 200 years after the coming of the Lord, they had a foretaste of the millennium and dwelt together in peace and happiness. But it was only a few years till pride crept in among them, resulting in the tearing of many churches and the downfall of a once mighty and prosperous people.

The speaker said that in his translation of the Book of Mormon Joseph Smith learned that the building of the New Jerusalem would take place on a continent, that this was a land set apart for the gathering and redemption of God's people. The pages of this book revealed many other truths to his mind and pointed out clearly and unambiguously that God had a work for his people to accomplish and that those who would continue faithful would be blessed abundantly for all the efforts put forth. Through the translation of this book the Latter-day Saints had been led to expect great things of this nation, and to believe that no power on earth would prevail against her until the promise of the Father had been fully established in the earth. This people believed that a Columbus was raised up to discover and open up this country; that a Jefferson was born to this country; that a Washington was needed to lead his people out of bondage, and that our fathers were inspired to stand firm for their country's rights.

Bishop Whitney spoke of the first efforts made by the Prophet Joseph Smith to establish the united order among this people. The appointment of Bishop was the initial step in this direction, and Independence of Jackson county, Mo., was the place selected for the building of the New Jerusalem. In this connection it was gratifying to note that after many years, these people had again turned their eyes in that direction, and had begun to carry out the Lord's plans by repurchasing lands which had been set apart by His prophets for this purpose. The people were driven from that land through the Murderer Fred Hopt was granted a reprieve until the United States supreme court could be heard from, notwithstanding an exciting mass meeting to protest against such action on Acting Gov. Thomas' part.

A proposition to put all survivors of the Union army on the pension list was discussed by the senate.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY.

Albion B. Emery, speaker of the territorial legislature, died at San Francisco.

The house passed a measure disapproving a former treaty with the Colorado Utes, removing them to Utah.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY.

The hottest engagement of the whole war was fought by the Twenty-first and Fourth infantries, commanded by Lawton, on the Zopote river, near Cavite. The Americans were compelled to cut their way out.

malicious charge brought against them that they were revolutionists, a question which excited men to anger and fury in those days. Other charges were made against them, among them being the allegation that they had united with the Indians to drive the Gentiles from the country; that they were members of the true Church and believed in not only possessing goods and chattels, but a multiplicity of wives. But the main objection, said the speaker, was the contention that they were members of the true Church and that all the other creeds and denominations were wrong and unauthorized of the Lord. These were among the causes leading to the persecution of this people, but after 70 years the Lord had again looked with favor upon their efforts and was beginning to open up the way for the accomplishment of the original plans, and the building of the New Jerusalem upon the earth. It was a misnomer, said he, to refer to Jackson county, Mo., as the center stake of Zion; it was not a stake, but Zion itself. Concluding, the speaker said it was the purpose of the Latter-day Saints to return to that land and rebuild the waste places. This work they expected to do. They also expected to be called upon to save their country and they would save it not by destroying the institution of the American republic, but by maintaining it and giving it a strict adherence to the principles of true manhood and womanhood, and by the adoption of the principles of common brotherhood. "Song of the Redeemed," and the benediction was pronounced by Elder Joseph S. Wells.

HUNTER SUCCEEDS SHEETS

New Bishop Appointed to Preside Over The Eighth Ward.

Oscar F. Hunter was last night sustained as Bishop of the Eighth ward, to succeed Elijah F. Sheets, who has presided there for 48 years. James G. McDonald and George F. Richards, Jr., were named as his counselors.

The meeting was held in the ward meetinghouse and was presided over by the stake presidency. After singing by the ward choir remarks suitable to the occasion were made by Elders John R. Winder and Arthur H. Lund of the First Presidency, and Arnold H. Shultness of the stake presidency, all of whom paid warm tribute to Bishop Sheets and his counselors for their faithfulness. They were honorably released from their labors in the Bishopric by unanimous vote of the Saints present.

President Shultness presented the names of the new officers, who were unanimously sustained and were afterward set apart to their respective positions in the Bishopric.

Bishop Hunter is very popular in his ward and his appointment is highly satisfactory to the people. For some time past he has been clerk of the Eighth ward, and has been a member of the High Council in Liberty stake since its organization. Bishop Hunter's counselors are also highly respected in that section.

BIRTH OF CHEAP THEATERS

Transpired in Vacant Store in San Francisco—Includes Salt Lake.

The formation of the $500,000 trust of popular priced theaters which was completed in Denver Thursday is the result of an idea that had its inception in a vacant store in San Francisco four years ago, says the Denver Post. It started, practically, on a shoestring. The acorn from which this big combination that is to take in all of the small theaters from the Mississippi river to the Pacific coast grew from a store room on Market, near Fourth street, in San Francisco. The Unique theater opened its doors there under the direction of D. J. Grauman, the head of the new combination. Grauman is the originator of the 10-cent vaudeville idea and the Unique theater is still doing business as a monument to his genius.

The idea of the popular priced theaters which have since been established in most of the big cities of the west, was an inspiration. Grauman had just returned from the gold fields of Alaska with his exchequer in about the same condition as when he started. He went into one of the museums on Market street to forget his troubles. After he came out he passed the vacant room and the idea of a cheap but respectable show for women and children struck him so hard that he did not recover from the blow until he had hunted up the agent for the property and secured an option on the place. Then he sought a tenant who advanced the money to pay the $500 rent.

The business was so successful that in a year Grauman built another theater at Seventh and Market streets. The two theaters did such a business that the Orpheum Vaudeville company bought out the seventh street house for $100,000. Since then the popular priced theater has spread all over the west. Grauman has half a dozen theaters in as many cities in California.

George Ira Adams, proprietor of the Crystal theater in Denver, was the first to start a popular price vaudeville house this side of the Rocky mountains. He now has a score of theaters extending from Milwaukee to Salt Lake City and Ogden.

The proposition of the combination of these small theaters also belongs to Grauman. Adams held the key to the situation because of the large number of houses he controlled east of the mountains. Grauman came here a few days ago and had a conference with Adams. The result was the Western Vaudeville association with a string of 20 houses.

Grauman and his partner, Morganstern, are now in St. Louis negotiating for the purchase of a house there. New theaters of the combine will be opened in Omaha and Kansas City before Sept. 1. Plans for another house in Denver similar to the Crystal theater are being drawn. The location has not been decided upon.

Headquarters of the trust will be established in Denver or Los Angeles. The central booking place will be located at Chicago.

SISTER'S TRICK.

But All Came Out Right.

How a sister played a trick that brought rosy health to a coffee fiend is an interesting tale:

"I was a coffee fiend—a trembling, nervous, physical wreck yet clinging to the poison that stole away my strength because for a fleeting moment it stimulated by weakened powers. I mocked at Postum and would have none of it. One day my sister, Mrs. U. S. Showalter, substituted a cup of crisp, hot Postum for my morning cup of coffee but did not tell me what it was. I noticed the richness of it and remarked that the coffee tasted fine but my sister did not tell me I was drinking Postum for fear I might not take any more."

"She kept the secret and kept giving me Postum instead of coffee until I grew stronger, more tireless, got a better color in my sallow cheeks and a clearness to my eyes, then she told me of the health-giving, nerve-strengthening life-saver she had given me in place of my morning coffee. From that time I became a disciple of Postum and no words can do justice to the good this cereal drink can do. I will not try to tell it for only after having used it can one be convinced of its merits." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Ten days trial shows Postum's power to rebuild what coffee has destroyed. Try it.

A NIGHT OF POESY.

Granite Stake Committee Arranges Good Program for Thursday Next.

The Granite stake amusement committee is planning its work for the coming winter, and as a sample evening, has arranged for the coming Thursday, June 16, at 8 o'clock, in the Granite stake tabernacle, an evening with the gifted poetess, Eliza R. Snow Smith.

A biography of the poet's life will be given, to be interspersed with recitations, readings and songs, all taken from her works. The purpose of this is to encourage pure elevated desires in the hearts of the young people and promote evenings in literature.

The program will consist of many gems of this great writer's works and those taking part include some of the leading musicians and elocutionists of the city. All the amusement workers of the stake are expected to be present, and an invitation is extended to the members of the stake and public generally. There will be no charge for admission.

GENERAL CHURCH NEWS.

President Joseph F. Smith and Elder Seymour B. Young are at Le Grande, Ore., where they went to attend a conference of the Union stake.

At its annual conference held yesterday, the Seventh ward Sunday school was reorganized, with John E. Cowley as superintendent, and Edward M. Eardley and George F. Newlands as his assistants. The conference was thoroughly enjoyable, and the exercises reflected credit on the little folks who participated. Elder George Reynolds, first assistant general superintendent of Sunday schools, was present at the morning session.

The Fourth ward Sunday school yesterday celebrated its semi-centennial anniversary with a jubilee and convention, there being two sessions at which highly interesting programs were carried out. The conference was well attended and much enjoyed.

SALT PALACE TONIGHT.

The new show which opens at the theater tonight promises to be a high class performance in the way of vaudeville. Darendia and Green, the European comedy juggling act which opened their week's engagement last night, are undoubtedly the best in their line ever appearing in the city. The bill tonight includes seven big acts, all good in their lines, and the performance finishes with one mile of imported moving pictures. Miss Wilson will wear her world famous gown of gold tonight. The new prices, which went into effect last night, have certainly made a hit. The 10 cents paid for admission to the grounds also admits you to the theater absolutely free. Reserved seats are charged for at the rate of 10 cents extra.

WHAT HAVE WE DONE TODAY?

We shall do so much in the years to come.
But what have we done today?
We shall give our gold in a princely sum.
But what did we give today?
We shall lift the heart and dry the tear.
We shall plant a hope in the place of fear.
We shall speak the words of love and cheer.
But what did we speak today?
We shall be so kind in the after-a-while.
But what have we been today?
We shall bring to each lonely life a smile.
But what have we brought today?
We shall give to truth a grander birth.
And to steadfast faith a deeper worth.
We shall feed the hungry souls of earth.
But whom have we fed today?
We shall reap such joys in the by and by.
But what have we sown today?
We shall build up manors in the sky.
We shall give to the world a sweeter life.
The sweet in life dreams to hark.
But here and now do we our task?
Yes, this thing our souls must ask.
"What have we done today?"

Cancerous Ulcers

ROOTED IN THE BLOOD.

After the age of 45 or 50, when the vital powers are naturally weaker, it is noticed that a hurt of any kind heals slowly, and often a very insignificant scratch or bruise becomes a bad ulcer or sore. At this time of life warty growths, moles and pimples that have been on the body almost from birth begin to inflame and fester, and before very long are large eating, sloughing ulcers.

Whenever a sore or ulcer is slow in healing then you may be sure something is radically wrong with your blood. Some old taint or poison that has been slumbering there for years is beginning to assert itself, and breaks out and becomes a bad ulcer and perhaps the beginning of Cancer.

These old sores are rooted in the blood, and while washes, soaps, salves, etc., keep the surface clean, they are not healing. A blood medicine to purify and strengthen the polluted blood, and a tonic to build up the general system is what is needed, and S. S. S. is just such a remedy. No poison is so powerful and no germ so deadly that this great vegetable blood remedy cannot reach it, and ulcers of every kind quickly yield to its wonderful curative properties. Medical advice or any information you may desire will be given by our physician without charge.
