

ADJACENT CITIES PROVO.

Business Occurrences.—Farming Notes.—Educational Events.

Provo, March 29.—The Utah Valley and Iron Manufacturing Co. elected their officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, A. A. Noon; vice president, W. H. Pike; directors, A. D. Hindaway, J. W. Turner, Thomas Benson, J. C. Graham and J. S. Page; secretary, B. E. Knowlton; treasurer, W. H. Dusenberry.

The residents of the Lake Shore farming district are working to get more direct communication with Provo and Springville. They are building, with the aid of the business men of these two cities, a road which will make the traveling distance between Lake Shore and Provo 15 miles. The county road between these two places is 21 miles. The timber of the old Provo bridge are to be utilized for a bridge over the Spanish Fork river on the new road.

Mr. Samuel Jepperson has nearly completed the new opera house curtain. The scene is taken from medieval Venice, queen of the Adriatic. Comments on the work are universally of a favorable nature. Mr. Jepperson is a natural artist.

The Benjamin ecclesiastical ward are advertising for bids for the construction of a brick meeting house, 30 by 50 in size, with a steeple 15 by 20.

The advanced pupils of the Parker school have completed the civil war in their study of United States history, and on Friday evening next, a patriotic demonstration will be made. They are preparing a number of songs, speeches, recitations, etc., all of a patriotic nature. Some of the U. S. A. Veterans will be present to take part in the proceedings.

Several of the schools of the county have closed down on account of a lack of funds.

The Utah County School Trustees association meet at the various school in this city on Saturday next.

Mysterious Disappearance of a Wealthy Bachelor.—Navy Yard Model.—Notes.

For over two months William Crawford, a wealthy bachelor of Ogden, Utah, has been missing and his sudden disappearance on January 25th is still as much a mystery as ever. On that day Crawford drove into Evanston, Wyo., hitched his team in front of a business house where he always traded, spoke to a friend on the street in his usual affable manner, moved quietly away and was never seen again. The most careful and thorough searches failed to reveal the slightest clue to the strange affair and the officers, friends and relatives of the missing man are still in a dark and gloomy state of mind.

Some time ago Thompson sued on a $5,000 promissory note and an attachment was issued on the Third district court on the Crawford property, which is valued at $100,000 and includes a ranch of 5000 acres on Bear river in Rich county, Idaho in judgments and notes, 5000 head of cattle and 100 head of valuable horses. Deputy Marshal St. John of this office has the estate and when he has proven that the letter is dead the courts will settle up the affairs of the estate. There are eleven heirs, including the mother, father, brothers and sisters of the missing man. Some of them reside in Missouri and a number are residents of California. In addition to Thompson there are a number of other heavy creditors of the estate. Charles Stone holds a promissory note of $4,000, Robert Frost has a $10,000 mortgage on the ranch and the Jarvis-Conklin Mortgage Trust company also has a mortgage for $5,000.

Two freight cars containing a reproduction of models of the Union Iron Works near San Francisco, in pieces and packed in boxes for shipment, were transferred yesterday at Ogden by Southern Pacific to the Union Pacific, for transit to the West's Fair. The construction was begun a year ago and it was completed last week at cost $15,000. The exhibit was set up and photographed before being packed for shipment, and was found to occupy 1,500 cubic feet of space. The space assigned, a square to the middle of the gallery, is one of the most prominent in the building and it is barely large enough to accommodate the model, which is built on the scale of a quarter of an inch to the foot. It is mounted on a raised platform eighteen inches high, and appears as an elevation on the right hand side of the building. The model is a reproduction of the works of the Union Iron Works and San Francisco. These models are fine specimens of work in miniature, and are evidence to the most fastidious of ornament and rigging.

On the hydraulic dry dock is a model of the China steamer Para, recently completed to the order of the Pacific Mail company, and across the straits to the west of the Pacific, the largest to be built in service in American waters. The hull is 100 feet long, and the deck is 20 feet wide. The vessel is to be built in the yard of the Pacific Mail company, and is to be ready for service in the month of June. Charles Truist, a small colored lad, was taken before Commissioner Bishop yesterday by his parents, who demand, or requested, railway, that he be sent to the Reform school, giving as their reason that he had become incorrigible. After talking in vain with the judge, they took the boy home once more and postponed the hearing indefinitely.

Deputy Marshal Gill returned yesterday from a trip throughout the district. While on duty he succeeded in getting what many men strive great number of years for—a red cross and face.

A car of botanical specimens from Los Angeles and other parts of California exhibits for the World's Fair went east over the Union Pacific yesterday morning.

Y. M. M. I. A. Conference in Morgan. The Y. M. M. I. A. semi-annual conference of Morgan 8th was held Sunday, March 20th, 1893.

For the opening exercises the following program was rendered: Lectures—"Life of Brigham Young," by Chas. Crockett; "Milton; a quartette by Messrs. Hawley, Taggart, Dusenbach and Johnson; lecture—"Natural Science," by Alva B. Potter; or, East Portland, by Mrs. J. C. Graham; "Civil Government," by Frank Robinson, of North Morgan.

Elder Wm. S. Burton gave a short address on the necessity of the young men should prepare and deliver their subjects. This concluded the meeting's exercises.

In the afternoon the first subject was a lecture on the Gospel by Gilman Condie of Cheyenne, a double male quartette was then given by members of the choir. The subject, "Natural Theology," was then given by C. A. Welch of South Morgan.

Elder Wm. S. Burton delivered a short address on the necessity of the young men studying theology and the proper time to begin. He was followed by Elders Burton and Jones, who supplied the remaining time of the conference. Elder Burton giving general instruction to the young men present on their duties, and Elder Jones lecturing on his travels among the Indians and their habits, customs, conditions, etc.

The conference was well attended and was the best of the kind held in this State for many years.

ALONZO FRANKS, Secretary.

Parowan Stake Conference. The quarterly conference of this Stake, convened in Cedar city tabernacle Sunday and Monday, March 19th and 20th, 1893.

After the usual opening exercises, Elder Francis Webster, of the Stake presidency, reported the condition of the Stake, saying that spiritually the Stake was in a better condition than for some time past, but financially it was not so good as might be desired.

The Bishop reported their respective wards, and when he has proven that the letter is dead the courts will settle up the affairs of the estate. There are eleven heirs, including the mother, father, brothers and sisters of the missing man. Some of them reside in Missouri and a number are residents of California.
