

HIGH TRIBUTE

TO HIS MEMORY.

Lifelong Friends and Associates
Testify to Sterling Qualities Of James Sharp.

FUNERAL LARGELY ATTENDED.

Touching Music, Beautiful Floral Emblems and Impressive Addresses Mark the Services.

The remains of the late James Sharp were yesterday consigned to mother earth, after impressive services in the Assembly hall, commencing at 3 o'clock. The hall was tastefully decorated in white and the catafalque upon which the bier rested was burdened with numerous beautiful floral emblems, the gifts of relatives, friends and institutions with which deceased had been connected in life. Seated on the stand were the First Presidency of the Church, members of the Council of the Apostles, members of the First Council of Seventies, stake authorities and other leading Church officials.

ELDER SEYMOUR B. YOUNG.

The first speaker was Elder Seymour B. Young. He referred to his close association with the deceased, which had extended over a period of years, and to the large assemblage that had gathered to do him honor and to pay a parting tribute to his memory. "This is not an unusual occasion," said he, "there is not a person here today but has known some sorrow. Our fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters, old and young, are called to leave this earthly sphere and go to the presence of the Father, whence they came. When we know the life and character of a man as we know that of James Sharp, we mourn not because he has been called home, but because we shall miss his beloved countenance, his gentle words and comforting presence."

The speaker read from the Deseret News the account of Mr. Sharp's death and busy life, and in referring to his service as a soldier made this remark: "James Sharp was not only a missionary of peace to the millions of earth, bearing the pure Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ, but when called upon by his country in the exigencies and stress of the Union army during the war of the Rebellion, he freely offered all that he had and marched forth in response to his country's call. He was one of the first to volunteer and withstood many privations, trusting in the Lord to see him through. He knew that faith and could not distrust the providence of God. His life was a life of purity, such a life as that of Joseph who was sold into Egypt and Daniel who was cast into the lion's den. The crowning glory of his life was his work in the Temple of our God, where he labored for thousands of his fellowmen. He was gentle and loving and his wife, a true and devoted wife, who followed him and for his example his family will rise up and bless his memory. He believed in the resurrection of the dead and ere he passed away he expressed his willingness to lay down his life, whenever wanted by the Father. His hope was bright and his faith was clear and true to the principles of salvation. This has been a characteristic of his life's mission all the way through. He knew that God lived, that Jesus was the Christ and that Joseph Smith was His Prophet. Peace to his ashes. God bless his memory. To his family may the blessings of peace and comfort descend upon them."

PRIEST JOHN R. WINDER.

Priest John R. Winder next spoke. Said he: "This is a very solemn occasion and it is to be regretted that I am unable to give to you the full and complete account of the life of Brother James Sharp. I have known him since he was a boy and have been acquainted with him in business and always found him honest and upright in all his dealings. But more closely associated with him I have been during the past 11 years. Eleven years the 23rd of March, 1893, when he set apart to labor together in the House of the Lord. And let me say to you there is no place on earth where love abounds to the extent that it does in that sacred place. I have known him already been said in relation to Brother Sharp as an honest, upright, faithful Latter-day Saint. May peace attend his family and friends in their bereavement."

ELDER DAVID L. MURDOCH.

Elder David L. Murdoch spoke for the Thirtieth quorum of Seventies, of which deceased had been the senior president for some years. He said it had ever been Elder Sharp's desire to make it one of the best quorums in the Church. He was honored and respected by all its members and he in turn loved his associates as he loved the children of God generally. The speaker paid high tribute to the deceased and referred to him as a great man and a saintly character in the Church.

PRIEST ANTHON H. LUND.

Priest Anthon H. Lund next spoke. Said he: "I feel that James Sharp has merited all that has been said of him this afternoon. I have been acquainted with Brother Sharp for some years. He was a good worker, and a man quick to grasp the business before him and quick to act. He loved the University of Utah, of which he had been a regent for many years. He loved to work for it and was interested in everything that would be for the benefit and education of the young. He was a conscientious man, not afraid to live according to his convictions. He has passed from us. We do not mourn in despair, for he was a religious man, a good man and one whose faith could not be shaken. He lived a righteous life and had but one object in mind, that of serving God. Therefore his reward is sure."

ELDER GEORGE F. GIBBS.

Elder George F. Gibbs spoke for the Bishopric of the Twentieth ward. He said he felt that in Brother Sharp's death the Twentieth ward had lost a faithful member of the family. He was beloved and respected by all and all his entire confidence in him. Whatever the Twentieth ward stood for, James Sharp stood for. He could always be relied upon, and yet he was one of the humblest members of the ward. "We mourn with his loved ones," said Elder Gibbs. "We share their loss. We know his lot is a happy one and would not recall him if we could. He had a testimony of the work of God—not a hearsay testimony, but a genuine, heartfelt knowledge of his divinity."

The solo, "O My Father," was then beautifully rendered by Elder George D. Pyper.

PRESIDENT JOSEPH F. SMITH.

President Joseph F. Smith was the closing speaker. Said he: "There are many friends in this assembly who would rejoice to have the privilege of standing before this audience to bear testimony to the good character and honorable life of our beloved brother. I have heard many things with reference to his associations with us here at this time. I don't know that I can add anything to what has already been said with reference to these matters, but I have a subject that forces itself upon my mind on occasions like this, which I think is always appropriate to be spoken upon, and I will take the liberty in order that I may be understood to begin to read, that there is left to read a portion of the Scriptures which deals with the subject resting upon me in connection with Brother James Sharp. I may say, however, before I begin to read, that I myself have had the pleasure of being intimately acquainted with Brother Sharp for a great many years and could not begin to express my feelings, could not begin to appreciate the labors of this man. I esteem him as one among a thousand, a superior man, one of integrity beyond all question, whose word was ever as good as his bond. And in contemplating these facts the thought arises in my mind as to the great future. Is this the end of my association with him? Has he finished his work, and shall I meet him again? Will we be associated together as we were in this life? These questions interest me, for I would love to meet and shake hands with him again, in a better sphere, in a better life, where there is no more sighing or sorrowing. I feel in my heart that James Sharp has not finished his work. He has not finished his work as a good and accomplished good. His influence has been for good. He has never injured any soul. He has loved the good and despised evil and therefore I feel there is a greater future for him."

President Smith then read the 20th chapter of St. John concerning the resurrection of Jesus Christ, and concluded with these words: "I believe that I believe them, but I feel down in the very depths of my soul that they are true—that Jesus is the Christ, that He was crucified and put to death, that He was buried and that the third day He rose from the dead. Through obedience to the ordinances of the Gospel which He taught and enjoined upon His disciples, men shall be born again and shall be brought back into the presence of His Father."

The speaker read from the eleventh chapter of Alma, 4th and 4th verses, concerning the coming of Jesus Christ, and then said: "I cannot believe that God would create a man like James Sharp—upright, honorable, honest in all his dealings, pure and righteous—can't believe that God would create a man like him to live for a few years, to pass away and then cease to be. As Jesus rose from the dead so will James Sharp rise. The elements which compose his temporal body will not perish, will not cease to exist, but in the day of his resurrection these elements will come together again, bone to bone and flesh to flesh. There is no growth or development in the grave. The bodies will come forth as they were laid down and changes will come by the law of restitution. James Sharp will meet his wife and children again and be bound to each other by the law of God."

"I know these things are true, that they are consistent with God's wisdom and the revelation of the Father. The resurrection of the dead, a literal, actual resurrection of the body. To the family of Brother James Sharp I say, be not disconsolate, be not discouraged; look to the future, to glorious future and reunion with your father."

The Temple choir sang the hymn, "Who Are These Arrayed in White?" and the benediction was pronounced by Patriarch Angus M. Cannon.

AT THE CEMETERY.

The services were largely attended by relatives, friends and business associates of the deceased. The Assembly hall being filled, twenty-eight carriages followed the remains to their last resting place in the city cemetery, where the choir sang, "Rest on the Hillside, Rest," and the grave was dedicated by Elder George F. Gibbs. Pallbearers were Gov. Heber M. Wells, Secretary of State James T. Hammond, President Joseph T. Kingsbury of the University of Utah, William W. Ritter, Elder George F. Gibbs, Mayor Richard P. Morris and John Nicholson.

STILL QUARRELING.

Troubles of Mrs. Pitcher and Husband Not Yet at an End.

The domestic troubles between Charlotte J. Pitcher and her husband, Frederick W. Pitcher, a wealthy capitalist, formerly of this city, have broken out anew and a suit for divorce was filed in the district court today wherein Mrs. Pitcher alleges that her husband deserted her on Oct. 28, 1902, and has ever since lived separate and apart from her and has wilfully neglected to support her. They were married in Brooklyn, N. Y., on March 31, 1896.

Several months ago Mrs. Pitcher filed suit in the district court against her husband for separate maintenance, but on the 19th of last month the action was dismissed by stipulation between the parties, and it was thought that the couple had settled all their quarrels and that the action of today, however, indicates that such is not the case.

Dry, moist, scaly, itchy, all forms of eczema or salt rheum, pimples and other cutaneous eruptions proceed from humors, either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation.

J. BERGERMAN THE LAGOON.

Railroad and Resort Two Separate and Distinct Propositions—Opening Occurs Memorial Day.

President Bergerman of the Salt Lake & Ogden has placed the operation of the Davis county road in the hands of Alfred D. Pierson and Joshua B. Bean, the former as general agent will look after the operation while Mr. Bean will attend to the traffic both freight and passenger.

The resort at Lagoon has been leased to Jacob Bergerman, who has nothing to do with the railroad which is a separate corporation. Messrs. Pierson and Bean will do the rest. Mr. Bergerman is spending considerable money to put the resort into commission this season. The improvements include new confectionery booths, new hard wood floor to the dancing pavilion and minor alterations in the grounds for the benefit of the public. A large force of painters and gardeners is at work getting things into shape for the opening on Memorial day. The restaurant has been placed under the supervision of M. A. Levy, an old hotel dining room caterer. The railroad management has decided to make the fare to Lagoon and return 25 cents this season, railroad tickets for the purpose of the Davis county pleasure resort. Already a number of attractions have been booked.

ENGINEERS IN SESSION.

Between 600 and 700 Locomotive Drivers Gather at Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 11.—The sixth biennial convention of the International Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers assembled in this city today with between 600 and 700 delegates in attendance. Turner hall, fittingly decorated with flowers and bunting and remodeled to suit the requirements of the convention, was the place of meeting. At the same time the ladies of the order assembled in Blanchard hall. The convention of the engineers was called to order at 9 o'clock by Grand Chief Engineer W. S. Stone, who delivered a brief address, setting the history of the organization, the splendid work which it had been able to accomplish, and what it hoped to perform at the present meeting. After the opening address of the grand chief, the secretary, J. H. Davidson, read the report of the convention proceedings. With the work of selecting the important committees. When the preliminaries are disposed of, the convention will adjourn until 2 o'clock this afternoon, when it will convene at Mason Opera house to listen to an address of welcome by Mayor M. P. Snyder of Los Angeles and the formal response by Second Grand Assistant Engineer J. C. Currie of Jersey City. Addresses will also be made by representatives of the operating departments of the various railroads entering Los Angeles. First Assistant Grand Engineer, T. S. Ingraham of Cleveland, Ohio, and others.

The work of greatest importance before the present convention is the selection of a grand chief engineer to fill the place left vacant by the death of P. M. Arthur last July. The present chief, W. S. Stone, who was chosen to fill out Mr. Arthur's unexpired term, will be a candidate to succeed himself. Other candidates who will have strong followings are J. C. Currie, second grand assistant engineer, and T. S. Ingraham, first grand assistant engineer, of the auxiliary Mrs. W. A. Murdoch, founder of the order and its president, during the entire 18 years of its existence, will succeed herself.

NEW YORK CENTRAL LOAN.

Arrangements Perfect to Secure $50,000,000 for Floating Indebtedness.

New York, May 11.—Definite arrangements are reported to have been made, says the Herald, for the flotation of a loan by the New York Central and Hudson railroad company. It has been generally known that the company needed for terminal improvements here, as well as to provide for the floating indebtedness, the sum of from $40,000,000 to $50,000,000. The loan as at present arranged for, it is said, will be somewhat less—probably about $25,000,000.

The Central road, like the Penna., would prefer to finance in stock and some $17,500,000 of stock is at present unissued. The loan, it is believed, will provide the funds necessary to pay the company's uses until such time as it can sell the unissued stock to advantage.

As at present contemplated the new loan will take the form of a four per cent 30 year debenture bond, similar in character to the recent issue of Lake Shore and Michigan Southern debenture bonds. The syndicate formed to handle the transaction, it is believed, will make no public offering of the debenture until next month.

CHANGES ON SAN PEDRO.

B. T. Young Resigns and is Succeeded by John A. Shanahan.

Mr. B. T. Young, who, since the organization of the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake railroad has been supervisor of the bridge and building department of the line, has resigned and will probably go to San Pedro to take charge of the dock work at the terminal of the same line. Mr. Young has been succeeded on the San Pedro by Mr. John A. Shanahan, who comes from the Kansas division of the Union Pacific.

Time card No. 2 of the San Pedro changes the spelling of the station, from "Caliente" to "Caliene." It is expected the postoffice department will follow suit as regards the postoffice.

SPIKE AND RAIL.

The Southern Pacific has added three more passenger coaches to the Salt Lake division on account of the heavy summer travel now commencing.

Members of the California State Board of Trade, 150 strong, will go east over the Union Pacific in a special on Saturday. They are heading for the World's Fair at St. Louis.

The Salt Lake Route will run another excursion down to American Fork on Thursday evening so as to give Salt Lake a chance of testing the famous ball room floor which is on springs.

It is stated that A. H. King, supervisor of bridges and buildings on the Montana division of the Short Line, will be assigned to the Utah division with jurisdiction over the same territory as Superintendent Platt.

The Utah Construction company has been awarded the contract by the San Pedro to construct the seven miles of road that will connect Price and the mines of Sam Newhouse, known as the Cactus group. Work will begin at once.

Under the title of "World's Fair of 1904," which it costs to go there, what to see and what it costs, what there is to see, and how to see it," the passenger department of the Burlington has issued a very neat and comprehensive folder.
