

Records Proving The World Grows Warmer

HERE is abundant evidence that the earth is becoming warmer rather than colder. In addition to the strictly scientific proof in support of that view, the record of severe cold winters in the past centuries compared with the present also lends support to that contention. The record discloses some curious freaks on the part of old Boreas, beginning with the fifth century of the Christian era and extending down to the present day, says the Kansas City Star.

The Danube river was frozen over so that an army crossed it on the ice in the year 462.

There was a frost in Constantinople which lasted from October to February in 463.

The Black sea and the Dardanelles again froze over in 768.

The Danube, the Elbe and the Seine were frozen hard enough to bear up a heavy wagon traffic over them for a month in the winter of 822.

The Adriatic sea was frozen in 860.

There was a snowstorm in Europe in 874 which lasted from the beginning of November to the end of March.

Nearly all the vines in Europe were killed by frost in 891 and 893. One midsummer's day, 1033, in England, there was a frost so severe that it destroyed the fruit.

The River Po, in Italy, was frozen from Gremona to the sea in 1132. Wine casks burst and trees split by the action of the frost.

Loaded wagons crossed the Adriatic sea on the ice from the mainland to Venice in 1234.

The Danube river was frozen to the bottom in 1246 and remained frozen for a long time.

The Cattagat was frozen from Norway to Jutland in 1261.

The Rhine was frozen over and loaded wagons crossed it on the ice in 1292. Travelers also crossed from Norway to Jutland on the ice the same year.

All the rivers of Italy were frozen over during the winter of 1344. It was so cold in Denmark that the wolves could not stay there in 1403 and they crossed to Jutland on the ice.

Snow fell in Europe for forty days in 1434.

The wine froze in Fland in 1498 and the soldiers to whom it was distributed had to cut it in pieces with hatchets.

The River Scheldt was frozen over sufficiently hard for three months in 1555 to bear the traffic of loaded wagons.

All the rivers of Europe were frozen over and the Venetian fleet was frozen up in the lagoons of the Adriatic at Venice in 1621 and 1622.

The winter of 1858 was a hard one in Europe. Charles X. of Sweden crossed on the ice the Little Belt, the strait between Funen and the peninsula of Jutland, with his whole army, foot, horse, baggage and artillery.

The rivers in Italy bore heavy cargoes. There was a coating of ice 61 inches thick on the Thames in England in 1884, and in 1884 the ice was again thick enough on the Thames to support coaches which were driven across it.

The winters of 1691 and 1693 were so severe in Austria that the wolves entered Vienna and attacked men and beasts in the streets.

The winter of 1709 is called by distinction "the cold winter." All the rivers and lakes of Europe were frozen over and so was the sea for several miles from the shore. In England the ground was frozen nine feet deep. Birds and beasts died in the fields and men perished by thousands in their houses.

In the south of France the olive trees were killed and wine plantations destroyed. The Adriatic sea was frozen and even the Mediterranean about Genoa. The citron and orange groves suffered in Italy.

Fairs were held on the ice on the River Thames in the winter of 1719 and travelers crossed on the ice from Copenhagen to Sweden.

Multitudes of cattle and sheep were buried in the snow in Scotland in the winter of 1743.

In January, 1757, the ground was frozen to a depth of four feet in New England.

The winter of 1740 was scarcely less cold than that of 1709. An ox was barbecued on the ice on the Thames and the snow lay 10 feet deep in Spain and Portugal. The Zuyder Zee was frozen over and thousands of persons crossed on it. The lakes of England were also frozen. That winter an "ice palace" was built at St. Petersburg after an elegant model and in the just proportions of Augustinian architecture.

This seems to have been the first of the "ice palaces." Snow fell to a depth of 23 feet on the level in Portugal in the winter of 1714, while in New England it was a summer winter.

Wait for the Big I X B auction sale commencing September 7 at 10 a. m.

Tribute to Flattery

SING the verbal sweetmeat and the purveyor thereof, the skillful compliment and its speaker, insidious flattery and the one who offers it. To the dungeons with those who flatter would tell us that our eyes are not so bright as they used to be, that our new frock is unbecoming, that our children are little savages and that our husbands are overly appreciative of the fair charmer in gorgeous fleshings who led the chorus in that ragorous musical comedy, "Hoho the Heehee." Ring out the true ring in the false. Life is too short to have nasty things said to us.

There are many unpleasant things in this world—bills, freckles, poor tailors, party hats, bridge clubs, bare gain shoes, embonpoint, cooks who will not stay, window shades that will not roll—and lots of others which I might mention but won't; but the most unpleasant thing in the world is the person who wears a pin on the end of her tongue—metaphorically speaking—and points her comments therewith. She who says, "I always liked that dress, ever since you got it, two seasons ago,"—she who says, "I'm positively shocked at how you allow your hair to grow,"—she who says, "You ever tried taking bridge lessons from a professional?"—she who says, "After making it diamonds and redoubing—she who looks at the frightful blue glass cake basket which you purchased to give the cook and says sweetly, "Oh, you're just getting your Christmas gift off to your mother." Don't you know her—haven't you met her—and haven't you seen her prickled with that sharp little pin on the end of her tongue? Of course you know her. You all do. And do you like her? If you must be frank, the answer is "no, emphatically no."

Therefore, let us celebrate the woman who carries with her an inexhaustible supply of sugar and gives it away generously, right and left, not in meager, stingy spoonfuls, but in delicious abundance. In the expressive argot of the street, "Me for thee." She meets you on a day when things are looking pretty blue, when you are convinced that your doll is stuffed with sawdust and that the game isn't worth the candle and everything is going to the demitisse box—wows and you don't care if they are—and she gives you a kiss and says, "How do you look today? Look at Mrs. Smith's tea the other day! Wasn't that a new frock you had on?" And you begin to perk up and explain, "Well, it looked perfectly new, but I never realized how low frock that was such a success as that one—and, my dear, it's so becoming to you, and the way those sleeves are made is the sweetest thing I ever saw in my life." And then she goes on her sweet way after urging you to come to see her because she always enjoys your calls—she's a positive treat to her because you are always so clever and original—and you go on your way, too, feeling amazingly heartened and pepped up with yourself. Nothing but sugar, my dear—just sugar.

I tell you, laugh at it if you wish and say that you're above that sort of thing—but sugar is sweet to everybody. We are never too old to enjoy it, and there was never a case of mental indigestion for which sugar could not help in the cure. Look at the world over, but you'll always find that it's the folks with sugar to give away that we like most to meet. Why, if we only realized how low frock good sugar does in the world, we'd all be giving it away, and the woman with the pin in the end of her tongue would be so busy cutting sugar out of the point of the pin would wear off and she might get to giving away sugar herself.

Look at the dealings of the woman who has sugar to give away with her servants. They adore her and will do anything for her. The elevator boy never finds it too much trouble to bring messages to her apartment and the telephone girl remembers and reports the calls that come in her absence. And why should they? They like appreciation and a pleasant word as much as any of us—more perhaps, for we are apt to be forgetful of them, and regard them as human machines rather than human beings. The salespeople in the shops respond readily to a bit of sugar, and the gruffest of street car conductors treat to her because you are always so clever and original—and you go on your way, too, feeling amazingly heartened and pepped up with yourself. Nothing but sugar, my dear—just sugar.

Look at the dealings of the woman who has sugar to give away with her servants. They adore her and will do anything for her. The elevator boy never finds it too much trouble to bring messages to her apartment and the telephone girl remembers and reports the calls that come in her absence. And why should they? They like appreciation and a pleasant word as much as any of us—more perhaps, for we are apt to be forgetful of them, and regard them as human machines rather than human beings. The salespeople in the shops respond readily to a bit of sugar, and the gruffest of street car conductors treat to her because you are always so clever and original—and you go on your way, too, feeling amazingly heartened and pepped up with yourself. Nothing but sugar, my dear—just sugar.

Look at the dealings of the woman who has sugar to give away with her servants. They adore her and will do anything for her. The elevator boy never finds it too much trouble to bring messages to her apartment and the telephone girl remembers and reports the calls that come in her absence. And why should they? They like appreciation and a pleasant word as much as any of us—more perhaps, for we are apt to be forgetful of them, and regard them as human machines rather than human beings. The salespeople in the shops respond readily to a bit of sugar, and the gruffest of street car conductors treat to her because you are always so clever and original—and you go on your way, too, feeling amazingly heartened and pepped up with yourself. Nothing but sugar, my dear—just sugar.

Look at the dealings of the woman who has sugar to give away with her servants. They adore her and will do anything for her. The elevator boy never finds it too much trouble to bring messages to her apartment and the telephone girl remembers and reports the calls that come in her absence. And why should they? They like appreciation and a pleasant word as much as any of us—more perhaps, for we are apt to be forgetful of them, and regard them as human machines rather than human beings. The salespeople in the shops respond readily to a bit of sugar, and the gruffest of street car conductors treat to her because you are always so clever and original—and you go on your way, too, feeling amazingly heartened and pepped up with yourself. Nothing but sugar, my dear—just sugar.

Look at the dealings of the woman who has sugar to give away with her servants. They adore her and will do anything for her. The elevator boy never finds it too much trouble to bring messages to her apartment and the telephone girl remembers and reports the calls that come in her absence. And why should they? They like appreciation and a pleasant word as much as any of us—more perhaps, for we are apt to be forgetful of them, and regard them as human machines rather than human beings. The salespeople in the shops respond readily to a bit of sugar, and the gruffest of street car conductors treat to her because you are always so clever and original—and you go on your way, too, feeling amazingly heartened and pepped up with yourself. Nothing but sugar, my dear—just sugar.

Look at the dealings of the woman who has sugar to give away with her servants. They adore her and will do anything for her. The elevator boy never finds it too much trouble to bring messages to her apartment and the telephone girl remembers and reports the calls that come in her absence. And why should they? They like appreciation and a pleasant word as much as any of us—more perhaps, for we are apt to be forgetful of them, and regard them as human machines rather than human beings. The salespeople in the shops respond readily to a bit of sugar, and the gruffest of street car conductors treat to her because you are always so clever and original—and you go on your way, too, feeling amazingly heartened and pepped up with yourself. Nothing but sugar, my dear—just sugar.

Look at the dealings of the woman who has sugar to give away with her servants. They adore her and will do anything for her. The elevator boy never finds it too much trouble to bring messages to her apartment and the telephone girl remembers and reports the calls that come in her absence. And why should they? They like appreciation and a pleasant word as much as any of us—more perhaps, for we are apt to be forgetful of them, and regard them as human machines rather than human beings. The salespeople in the shops respond readily to a bit of sugar, and the gruffest of street car conductors treat to her because you are always so clever and original—and you go on your way, too, feeling amazingly heartened and pepped up with yourself. Nothing but sugar, my dear—just sugar.

Look at the dealings of the woman who has sugar to give away with her servants. They adore her and will do anything for her. The elevator boy never finds it too much trouble to bring messages to her apartment and the telephone girl remembers and reports the calls that come in her absence. And why should they? They like appreciation and a pleasant word as much as any of us—more perhaps, for we are apt to be forgetful of them, and regard them as human machines rather than human beings. The salespeople in the shops respond readily to a bit of sugar, and the gruffest of street car conductors treat to her because you are always so clever and original—and you go on your way, too, feeling amazingly heartened and pepped up with yourself. Nothing but sugar, my dear—just sugar.

Look at the dealings of the woman who has sugar to give away with her servants. They adore her and will do anything for her. The elevator boy never finds it too much trouble to bring messages to her apartment and the telephone girl remembers and reports the calls that come in her absence. And why should they? They like appreciation and a pleasant word as much as any of us—more perhaps, for we are apt to be forgetful of them, and regard them as human machines rather than human beings. The salespeople in the shops respond readily to a bit of sugar, and the gruffest of street car conductors treat to her because you are always so clever and original—and you go on your way, too, feeling amazingly heartened and pepped up with yourself. Nothing but sugar, my dear—just sugar.

Look at the dealings of the woman who has sugar to give away with her servants. They adore her and will do anything for her. The elevator boy never finds it too much trouble to bring messages to her apartment and the telephone girl remembers and reports the calls that come in her absence. And why should they? They like appreciation and a pleasant word as much as any of us—more perhaps, for we are apt to be forgetful of them, and regard them as human machines rather than human beings. The salespeople in the shops respond readily to a bit of sugar, and the gruffest of street car conductors treat to her because you are always so clever and original—and you go on your way, too, feeling amazingly heartened and pepped up with yourself. Nothing but sugar, my dear—just sugar.

Look at the dealings of the woman who has sugar to give away with her servants. They adore her and will do anything for her. The elevator boy never finds it too much trouble to bring messages to her apartment and the telephone girl remembers and reports the calls that come in her absence. And why should they? They like appreciation and a pleasant word as much as any of us—more perhaps, for we are apt to be forgetful of them, and regard them as human machines rather than human beings. The salespeople in the shops respond readily to a bit of sugar, and the gruffest of street car conductors treat to her because you are always so clever and original—and you go on your way, too, feeling amazingly heartened and pepped up with yourself. Nothing but sugar, my dear—just sugar.

Look at the dealings of the woman who has sugar to give away with her servants. They adore her and will do anything for her. The elevator boy never finds it too much trouble to bring messages to her apartment and the telephone girl remembers and reports the calls that come in her absence. And why should they? They like appreciation and a pleasant word as much as any of us—more perhaps, for we are apt to be forgetful of them, and regard them as human machines rather than human beings. The salespeople in the shops respond readily to a bit of sugar, and the gruffest of street car conductors treat to her because you are always so clever and original—and you go on your way, too, feeling amazingly heartened and pepped up with yourself. Nothing but sugar, my dear—just sugar.

Look at the dealings of the woman who has sugar to give away with her servants. They adore her and will do anything for her. The elevator boy never finds it too much trouble to bring messages to her apartment and the telephone girl remembers and reports the calls that come in her absence. And why should they? They like appreciation and a pleasant word as much as any of us—more perhaps, for we are apt to be forgetful of them, and regard them as human machines rather than human beings. The salespeople in the shops respond readily to a bit of sugar, and the gruffest of street car conductors treat to her because you are always so clever and original—and you go on your way, too, feeling amazingly heartened and pepped up with yourself. Nothing but sugar, my dear—just sugar.

DR. A. J. SHORES.

MALAD LADY Cured by Drs. Shores.

Mrs. David C. Jones, Malad, Idaho. Mrs. Jones was a visitor in Salt Lake during G. A. R. week. She called on Drs. Shores, and made this statement. Write her about it. "I want to thank Drs. Shores for the good they have done me and my husband. I know of many cases in Malad which have been cured by Drs. Shores. My husband was one of them. In my own case local doctors did not understand my trouble. They claimed I had gall stones and other troubles but did not help me. I wrote to Drs. Shores and began their treatment when I was bedfast and could not move myself. In two weeks I felt better and in 1 month was up and around doing my household work and feeling splendid. This improvement has been permanent—although I am now 60 years old and have suffered for 20 years—fell away to skin and bones, lost my breath, had cold sweats and terrible pains. Now I feel splendid, and all Malad thinks I was practically raised from the dead. Write me if you want more particulars, you who suffer. Signed, MRS. DAVID C. JONES, "Malad, Idaho."

REDUCED PRICES AND QUICKER CURES IN OUR SPECIAL DEPARTMENT FOR MEN.

Owing to the enormous growth of our Special Men's Department, we are now able to make much lower prices—in many cases just HALF USUAL RATES, and by our improved methods the time for a cure has been reduced one-half. EXPENSE need not prevent any ailing man from being cured. For with reduced rates and speedy cures you can now be CURED for less money than you would have to pay. Frauds and Fakirs for experimenting on you.

WE GIVE YOU

SEVENTEEN YEARS' Continuous practice in Salt Lake City, 100,000 cases treated—and our personal name and guarantee should take away the last excuse a man has for patronizing "Fake Institutions" and Quack Doctors. ALL MEDICINES ARE FREE—there is no trickery here—no double dealing. We don't advertise a low fee as a bait—our fee for medicines as you will observe some "Fakirs" do—Our fees are the lowest possible for guaranteed results and we furnish all medicines absolutely FREE.

We Cure

Specific Blood Poison and all curable nervous diseases of every name and nature.

CONSULTATION AND ADVICE FREE AND CONFIDENTIAL EITHER AT THE OFFICE OR BY MAIL.

Home Treatment Write If You Live Out of Town.

ADVANCE SHOWING OF FALL STYLES FOR MEN AND WOMEN

An exquisite collection of Ladies' Suits, Skirts and Waists. For men we've gathered the cream of the tailor's art. We await your inspection. We will wait for the money, $1.00 a week. $4.00 a month.

The MERCANTILE INSTALLMENT CO. 74 West 2nd South

"Yale"

The magic name that signifies absolute lock perfection.

Scott Hardware Company

268 Main St. Phones 748

Siegel's

228-230 MAIN STREET The Store for Men and Boys.

MOVE THE COUGH

THE BOWELS AND THE COUGH MOVE TOGETHER WITH THE ORIGINAL. SEE'S LAXATIVE COUGH SYRUP. BEST FOR A. GEO. T. PRICE DRUG CO. 209 Main—Kenyon Pharmacy.

TRIB

A guaranteed cure for the Liquor and Tobacco Habits.

PRICE $12.50

Schramm's, Where the Cars Stop, Sole Agency.

THE PEOPLES' DOCTORS

WE TREAT AND CURE

CATARH—Deafness, nose and throat troubles, eye and ear diseases, bronchial and lung troubles, asthma, stomach, liver and kidney diseases, bladder troubles, female complaints, chronic diseases of women and children, heart diseases, nervous diseases, chorea, St. Vitus dance, rickets, spinal growth, skin diseases, scabies and rheumatism—diseases of the bowels, piles, fistula and rectal troubles, tapeworm, hay fever, hysteria, epilepsy, insomnia, etc., and all curable nervous and chronic diseases. Prices and terms low and uniform, and can be arranged to suit your convenience. $5 a month, medicines free, and Catarrhal Chronic diseases. Remember this is the season for quick and permanent cures, one month's treatment now is worth three months' this winter. Don't delay—consultation free for any disease.

Seasonable Ailments

HAY FEVER

In the beginning of an attack of Hay Fever the patient experiences a sense of uneasiness about the nasal passages, with a slight disposition to sneeze. Gradually these symptoms increase, and often there is an intense itching of the nasal passages, with a profuse watery discharge which necessitates the constant use of the handkerchief. In aggravated cases the discharge becomes so congested that the secretions present a grayish color. The inflamed mucous membrane naturally causes more or less stenosis, or narrowing or closing of the nasal passages, which adds greatly to the discomfort of the sufferer, often times the nasal passages are entirely closed up.

If the patient lies on the side, the nasal passage which is uppermost becomes open, while the fluid collects in the parts below; or if the patient lies on the back the flow passes to the rear portion, causing a complete stoppage of the nasal passages. The fluid which escapes from the nose are often irritating, and very frequently give rise to irritation around the opening of the nose and lip, and sometimes even result in eczema. The eyes become congested and the lips red and itching. If the disease is allowed to run an attack of asthma often sets in. The asthmatic symptoms are usually confined to the night time, although the waking hours are often characterized by shortness of breathing, which the patient describes as wheezing.

Hay Fever is a treacherous disease, but almost every case yields to proper cure and treatment. Every sufferer from this insidious and deceptive disease should consult Drs. Shores & Shores at once, and be quickly cured at little cost.

Running Ears—and Head Noises

MISS BERTHA JENSEN, 211 West Fifth North St., Salt Lake City.

Miss Jensen says: "I have had trouble with my ears and nose nearly all my life. My ears ached and pained and were constantly running. I had such whistling noises in my ears that people could actually hear the 'whistle' when I blew my nose. My head and nose stopped up—and I never found any relief until Drs. Shores treated me. In two weeks the noises stopped, the pain got better, the head and nose cleared up and I feel so much better in every way that it is a pleasure to add my testimony to Drs. Shores' skill." Signed, BERTHA JENSEN.

DR. G. W. SHORES.

Drs. Shores & Shores

249 SO MAIN ST. SALT LAKE CITY. Office Hours—Week days, 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Evenings, 7 to 9 p. m. Sundays and holidays, 10 a. m. to 12 m.

The Doctor Writes of Counterfeiters.

CHAS. H. FLETCHER, New York City. Hyannis, Mass., Aug. 17, 1905.

Dear Mr. Fletcher:—I wish to congratulate you on your numerous victories over counterfeiters and imitators of Castoria, and trust the time is not far distant when these inferior and dangerous mixtures will be entirely suppressed.

You are right when you say in your advertisements that it is "Experience against Experiment."

I feel it to be an outrage, and an imposition upon the parents of little children that my name should be associated with imitations of Castoria, dangerous to the health and life of these little ones who too often fight their battles for life in vain.

Let me again commend you for the high standard you have maintained in the preparation of my prescription, and I confidently believe it is due to this scrupulous integrity you are indebted for the wonderful sale of Castoria to-day, and the steady growth it has had since I gave you the details of its manufacture in my laboratory thirty-three years ago.

Chas. H. Fletcher, M.D.

Letters from Prominent Druggists addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Mansur Drug Co., of St. Paul, Minn., says: "We are not in the habit of recommending proprietary medicines, but we never hesitate to say a good word for Castoria. It is a medical success."

Hegeman & Co., of New York City, N. Y., says: "We can say for your Castoria that it is one of the best selling preparations in our stores. That is conclusive evidence that it is satisfactory to the users."

Myers-Dillon Drug Co., of Omaha, Neb., says: "Your Castoria is one of the best sellers we have. We cheerfully recommend it to our trade voluntarily at all times, and will testify to its merits at any and all times."

Weber Drug Co., of Indianapolis, Ind., says: "Fletcher's Castoria is an article for which there is no substitute. It is undoubtedly one of the most popular articles on the market to-day and our customers for it are numbered by the hundreds."

Parrish & Bailey Pharmacy, of Los Angeles, Cal., says: "During an experience of over 30 years in the retail drug business we have never found a proprietary remedy that has had such a large sale or given such universal satisfaction as your Castoria."

Theo. Metcalf Co., of Boston, Mass., says: "We have handled Fletcher's Castoria for years and consider it one of the best preparations made. Our sales are continually increasing and everyone of our customers have nothing but praise for Fletcher's Castoria."

W. H. Chapman, of Montreal, Que., says: "I have sold Fletcher's Castoria for many years and have yet to hear of one word other than praise of its virtues. I look upon your preparation as one of the few so called patent medicines having merit and unhesitatingly recommend it as a safe household remedy."

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Our line of new, up-to-date washing machines and mangle in fore ground.

THE ROYAL LAUNDRY

Expert Launderers. New plant, 625 South State. Branch office, 101 E. First South. Phone 61.