PLAN UNDER WAY TO AID SETTLERS

Pope and Brinkerhoff Pressing Action to Avert Starvation in Uintah.

RAILROADS TO BE SOUGHT.

Precedent Found In Colorado Where Commission and Company Worked Together to Relieve Suffering.

For the relief of two or three hundred destitute settlers who are suffering for the necessities of life upon the Uintah Indian reservation, an item of $7,500 has been attached to the omnibus appropriation bill now pending before the legislature. The amount was orginally $8,000, and was placed on the bill at the request of Rock M. Pope, representative from Wasatch county in the lower house of the legislature. Mr. Pope; in speaking of the destitute condition of the settlers on the reservation, this morning said: "These people are actually suffering for the necessities of life. They came into the reservation country just after the opening of the Indian tract about three years ago, and drove their stakes and planted their homesteads upon the broad acres of the reservation. The land is fertile enough, and with irrigation will yield abundantly in response to the farmer's plow. But there's the rub. It has been almost impossible to get water out on to the land under the conditions which have faced the settlers during the past three years. When the settlers came in, most of them were prepared to carry thomselves over for a year or two without crops, if necessary, and did not reckon but that they would and did not recken but that they would be able to get water on their homesteads within that time. The land was raw; everything was absolutely new, there was nothing done on the land, and it was 40 or 50 miles from a railroad. Everything had to be hauled in, and as time went on, the settlers found themselves up against the difficulty of being unable to get water out on their lands with the means they had brought in. It takes money to build canals, and this the settlers had not.

FACE STARVATION.

"Conditions grew worse until now things are in that pass that unless help is forthcoming from some source, starvation is staring the people on these homesteads in the face. Everybody in the basin have done all that they could do, and it is the hope of those who understand the conditions that the local derstand the conditions that the legis-lature will come to the relief of the stricken settlers until they can get on their feet again their feet again.

"The legislature has already accomplished one thing that will greatly assist the settlers in getting water to their lands, in passing house bill 48 which I introduced and which passed the house readily and went through the senate on Saturday, and which, I have no doubt, Gov. Spry will approve. This bill gives the settlers the right to organize irrigation districts and This bill gives the settlers the right to organize irrigation districts and bond their property for the purpose of organizing canal and irrigation companies. This will enable them to raise money with which to secure water, and their troubles are at an end the minute they get water out of the rivers spread over their fertile lands.

"They equal in extent, in this one valley, the entire area now under irrigation,"

No. 101, by Marks—An act to regulate the practise of optometry in the State of Utah, defining the practise of optometry and providing for the ap-The Uintah basin contains sufficient land, under cultivation, to maintain a population of a million people without taxing it to its utmost. It is one of the coming sections of this state, and with its vast glisonite and asphalt deposits and its wonderful agricultural and how and its wonderful agricultural and hor-ticultural resources, it is only a ques-tion of time when the basin will be one of the leading sections of the state.

RAILROADS COMENG.

"We have great confidence, too, in the ecuring of a railroad in the near fu-ure. The Moffatt road, I am credibly line through to Salt Lake City, and the road will run through the heart of the Uintah basin. When this road has been built and the settlers have secured water for their acres, there will be another tale to fell, and the people who are now desitute will be ready and able to extend assistance to others who may be found in a situation similar to theirs at the present time.

"The plan of relief, as comprehended in the distribution of the $7.500, is to place the fund in the hands of a commission of three persons, inhabitants of the basin, who shall, in spending the mission of three persons, inhabitants of the basin, who shall, in spending the money, apply it as far as possible in the completion of the building of roads and bridges already started but which for the lack of funds have not been completed. This will give work to the male members of the settlers who are without funds and without work, completing the bridges and the finishing of roads necessary for communication between the settlements and to the railroad. The idea of supplying necessary seed for the coming season's crops will also be fully investigated, and where necessary such action will be taken in this direction as may be deemed wise.

PLAN HAS A PRECEDENT.

PLAN HAS A PRECEDENT.

The Denver & Rio Grande railroad, which is the hearest line to the district at present, will be approached with the ides of assisting in the plan. That there is a precedent for such action on the part of the railroad, is shown in the action of the Rock Island mad, which early in the present year made application to the interstate commerce commission for permission to band in in exactly the sume condition as the settlers are now in eastern Utich. The permission was granted, and to Rock
