The Circus. The Silver Plate Circus gives its last exhibition on Washington Square this evening. It has done a fair business for the season, and considering that it came in the wake of Cole's mammoth show, it must possess merit, in the eyes of many, or there would not be so much money these tight times to patronize it.

District Court. Proceedings on Friday, August 1, 1884. Knut Posse vs. Wm. H. H. Bowers: default, reference and judgment as prayed.

H. B. Clawson vs. J. E. Bernholm, et al. Default and judgment entered for want of an answer. Court adjourned till Friday, August 2, 1884.

A Forger's Trick. A man named William Gustavson was arrested yesterday, charged with having changed the amount, number and name on an order issued from the Trustee-Inspector's office upon Z. C. M. I. The original value of the order, as shown by the duplicate in the clerk's office, was $3.00, and it was in favor of Wm. Gustavson. On being presented yesterday, it was found to be in the name of J. M. Gustavson, and to have increased in value to $50. When caught with the forged he said a man named Gustavson had given him the order, with permission to draw $10.00 on it, after which the balance was to be returned.

Sec. Salt Lake Stake S. S.

Returned. A pleasant call was made at this office to-day by Elder Peter Lantersack, of Lehi, who returned last evening from a mission to the Northwestern States. He has been about a year and a half, and has labored most of the time among the German speaking inhabitants of the State of Minnesota, though he was for a short time in the city of Milwaukee. Brother Lantersack has been alone a good portion of the time and was blessed with considerable success, but has also had some trying experiences, and the mission being a very hard one, and the feeling of the people toward us being quite ungenerous. During last winter he labored for about six weeks among a colony of Menomonees who are located in Cotenwood County, Minn. He made some friends who treated him hospitably and was even able to hold a series of meetings. But his labors to cause the people to investigate were, so far as he knows, in vain, as the idea prevails among them that in the Bible they have the complete word of God, which renders further revelation unnecessary. Brother Lantersack returns in good health and spirits. He can look back with pride upon his mission, for we know how long and how weary his labors have been, and that which was required of him. We bid him a cordial welcome home.

FAY TEMPLETON AT THE THEATRE.

The opening performance of the Fay Templeton dramatic engagement took place at the Theatre last evening. They were greeted by a good sized audience and gave general satisfaction. It may be said that the best of the Fay Templeton here, but it certainly will rank among the best, looking from all sides. There are manifest mediocrities and even inferiorities, it is true, but they are in almost every troupe, and serve to show off to better advantage the excellence of those possessing merit of a higher order. The ensemble is much above the average, and they play with great spirit and precision.

Miss Templeton has a pleasant face, fairly pretty, and a figure with all the grace and abandon required in a heroine of light opera. Her voice is merry and silvery, her mimicry excellent and her action vivaciously personified. Her playing in the scene where she is left alone to amuse herself—a la "Nell Gwynne"—was par excellence, and her drinking song, which was encored, though not a suggestion of an inferior, was skillful and artistically rendered. There is an implausible artifice about her that is inexpressible cuteness, and her grace and good looks, redeem her acting from the otherwise too Frenchness of its style.

The characters next worthy of mention are the "Mourner" of Mr. Olin and the "Don Bolero" of Mr. Brown. Both gentlemen were first class in widely various lines of business. The Mourner's chief was as ferocious and untamable as the aged "Don" was scintillating, non-pecked and weak-minded. The Mourner was a fine, bold voice, which told out to splendid advantage, while Mr. Brown in his comic song and business, excited much applause and laughter. "Mourner" was well played by Mr. Gusterson and fairly sung, though the gentleman's voice made some bad "breaks" in places. "Mourner" was in good luck, and Miss Lillie West was an attractive person, and her voice, though low on the lower notes, was fine in the less sonorous, which won a well-deserved encore. The other character worthy of mention was "Aurora," personated by Miss Alice Vane.

The local character, led by Mr. Herman Farley, Templeton's director, did some very good execution. Their sudden cessation in midst of the invisible chorus which opened the second act, was the fault of the singers on the stage, who got out of the key, and the instruments stopped for the sake of the place, which would otherwise have been butchered. The chorus was very good, and seemed to understand their business perfectly. Some of the encores of the evening were due to their spirited efforts. The costumes were tasteful and elegant, and the scenery to match. Taken altogether, the troupe is a fair above mediocrity and their performances are very enjoyable. "La Mascotte," which takes the boards this evening, should be witnessed by a crowded house.

CITY COUNCIL.

Pursuant to a regular call the City Council convened last evening in special session at 7 o'clock. The Mayor stated that it became his painful duty to announce to the Council the death of William Taylor, Esq., Salt Lake City, at his residence in the Fourteenth Ward, of Wm. Taylor, assessor and collector of Salt Lake City, and that the special call of the members was made to afford them an opportunity to express their sympathy and to pay a proper tribute of respect to the memory of the departed. On motion of Alderman Spiers it was decided that the City Council and officers of that corporation attend the funeral of the deceased at 10 o'clock on Sunday, the 3d inst., at 10 o'clock a. m. in the Tabernacle, and to meet at the City Hall at 9.30 a. m. and proceed to the Tabernacle in a body, and that the Marshal be instructed to engage necessary vehicles and make arrangements for a place in the procession.

On motion of Councilor Jennings, a committee, consisting of Alderman Taylor, Councilors Grant and Wells, and Attorney Richards, was appointed to draft suitable resolutions of respect to the memory of the deceased. The committee reported, and after a short absence, returned and presented the following resolutions of respect: "Whereas, In the inscrutable providence of the Eternal Father, it has pleased Him this day to take unto Himself, from the busy paths of active life in this sphere, to the great reward of the spirit world, our beloved friend and brother, William Whitaker Taylor, Assessor and Collector of Salt Lake City; and Whereas, Our association with the deceased in our official capacity makes it fitting that we express in a public manner our profound feeling of sorrow occasioned by his untimely death, which, occurring at an early age in life, and at the threshold of his career, has caused a great void in the ranks of the City Council, and a vacancy in society and the positions of public trust he so ably and faithfully filled; therefore, Resolved, That we, the Mayor and City Council of Salt Lake City, in special session convened, do hereby express our profound sympathy with the family of the deceased and pray that the comforting influence of the spirit of God shall be in the sorrow of their bereavement."

Resolved that the Mayor and Council do hereby express their sympathy with the family of the deceased and pray that the comforting influence of the spirit of God shall be in the sorrow of their bereavement. Resolved that the Mayor and Council do hereby express their sympathy with the family of the deceased and pray that the comforting influence of the spirit of God shall be in the sorrow of their bereavement. Resolved that the Mayor and Council do hereby express their sympathy with the family of the deceased and pray that the comforting influence of the spirit of God shall be in the sorrow of their bereavement.

The special session this adjourned sine die.

From Old Virginia. This morning we were pleased to receive a call from Brother John L. Litz, of Tazewell, Va. Virginia. He has come on a visit to Utah, and is the guest of our friend, Mr. D. H. Peery, who accompanied him to our office. Brother Litz is one of the most gentlemanly citizens of the State of Virginia, and he is a native of the State, being a farmer who enjoys the respect of the community in which he resides. He is well known to the Elders who have visited Virginia, his home being always open to their entertainment. We wish him a pleasant journey home.

Old travelers on the plains know something of the fury of the storms along the route. Since the railroad came, the Indians and the buffalo have disappeared; that the storms, however, still prevail, the following will show: "A recent Union Pacific train, had a pretty hard time of it near Julesburg. A phenomenal hail storm came up and in a few moments every window on one side of the train was destroyed, even the heavy plate-glass lights of the Pullman 'Cannon City' having the fate of the rest. The wood-work of the cars was dented in many places, and old railroad men say it was the most violent storm they ever experienced."

Y." writes as follows on the 20th of July: "Last evening the presidents and teachers of the Scotch Relief Society, making in all a company of about fifty, made a call upon Sister Sarah A. Robinson, whose husband, Willie R. Robinson, was a member of the Southern States. When we arrived at her home she was absent, and upon returning, found the sisters in full possession, with tables plentifully laid with earth's bounties. A very sociable and pleasant evening was spent in enjoying themselves exceedingly. The whole was supplemented with a very handsome subscription, which proved to Sister Robinson that while her husband is absent, the sisters are not forgetting his wife and little ones are as ever remembered by those at home. The people of Scotch are generally feeling well. There is general good health, with prospects of bounteous crops. The water supply is abundant, our reservoir holding back the flood during fall and winter, and yielding its abundant store when most needed for our growing crops."
