LOCAL NEWS.

More Immigrants.—The following was received here at 5:10 last evening: New York, Oct. 11, 1884.

The Bonaparte Lecture.—We have been handed the following: Will the school teachers who have not yet returned the tickets remaining in their hands for the Bonaparte Lecture last Saturday, please leave the same at Mr. Dwyer's book store, and oblige.

Nov. 12, 1884. J. A. MACKNIGHT.

Diphtheria Again.—Diphtheria has again made its appearance in the much-afflicted settlement, Pleasant Grove. Some five or six children are suffering with the malady. They are confined to the southeast limits of the town, and are strictly quarantined. The patients are progressing favorably, with the exception of one, a girl, and grave doubts are entertained of her recovery.

Arm Crushed.—On Monday last, a seventeen-year old son of Geo. Daniels of Summit County was thrown from a wagon while coming down the cañon. He fell between the wheels and his arm was run over between the elbow and shoulder joints, crushing the humerus and severely lacerating the tissues. Dr. Wm. B. Parkinson, of Farmington, who was spending a few days in Coalville, was sent for and fixed him up as comfortably as possible under the circumstances.

Illustrated Lecture.—The lecture by Mr. J. A. Macknight on the Utah States will be ready for production in about two weeks. It will be illustrated by views of all the principal events in American History, from the landing of Columbus to the assassination of President Garfield. Lincoln's assassination will be illustrated by mechanical, automatic views, in which the figures will move in the picture; J. Wilkes Booth, the assassin, will enter the box of President Lincoln and fire in the sight of the audience. The effect will undoubtedly be fearfully realistic. The lecturer has sent East for his views.

"Love and Law."—As predicted, a full house greeted the favorite actor, Milton Nobles, and his efficient company at the Theatre last night, and seemed to feel more than repaid for attending the performance, in which the most incessant laughter and applause it brought forth, is any indication to go by. "Love and Law," while not Mr. Nobles' masterpiece, takes rank alongside of "The Phoenix" and other popular productions of this remarkable author and actor.

His best piece of playing as "O'Puff," the Irish-American character, in the disguise of the Italian, in the last act. The audience were completely taken by surprise, he imitated and dressed the character of his fellow actor so admirably. The male characters most notable after Mr. Nobles' were the Italian "Count," by Mr. Barnum, "Fanny Craddock," by Mr. Allen, and "Cockney Jim," by Mr. Warren. The ladies are Dolie Nobles and Agnes Herndon, both of whom enacted their parts to very good effect, and the rest of the company filled in acceptably. The play will be repeated to-morrow night.

Hair-breadth Escape.—A thrilling incident occurred in City Creek Canyon the other day, in which a young man named Edward Callister, aged about 22 and a member of the Seventh Ward, had a very narrow escape from a fearful death. In company with a number of companions, he went up the cañon to inspect a mine belonging to Mr. Gilles, of the 10th Ward. While climbing up the mountain side, or walking along the summit of the ridge, Mr. Callister's foot caught in a piece of brush and he stumbled and fell forward. His head struck upon a rock and he was rendered insensible, and his body continued to roll down a steep incline of loose rocks and jagged points a distance of at least four hundred feet.

His comrades who had viewed with alarm his fall, saw with increasing horror his fearful descent. It being too steep to follow him, they made a brief detour of the mountain-side, to recover what all supposed would be nothing but his lifeless body. They found him caught with his arm in the trunk of a branch which had arrested his flight just on the brink of a precipice, where he would have certainly been dashed to pieces if he had gone over it.

He was just reviving from his swoon when they arrived on the spot and rescued him. He was all bruised and cut up, especially on the right side, and his left side was severely bruised. He has been confined to his bed since the accident. It was truly a miraculous escape.

Heroic Valor Recognized.—Our readers will remember some time ago an item of considerable length appearing in the News, relative to the arrival from New Zealand of Brother Wm. J. McDonnell, late of Auckland, in which, beside speaking of some portraits in his possession of the latest additions to the Church among the Maoris and other natives of that land, we referred to a handsome bronze medal held by him from the Royal Humane Society of London, for saving a number of lives from drowning.

It seems that the Royal Humane Society of Australasia have also decided on recognizing his distinguished services in this direction. The following letter, accompanied by two parcels, postmarked at Auckland, N. Z., was received by Mayor Sharp recently:

NEW ZEALAND CONSTABULARY DISTRICT OFFICE, AUCKLAND, October 13th, 1884.

Sir—I have the honor to state that the accompanying medal and certificate having been awarded by the Royal Humane Society of Australasia to Mr. Wm. J. McDonnell, now of Auckland Harbor, July, 1883, they have been forwarded to me through His Excellency the Governor of New Zealand, for transmission to yourself with a request that you will kindly present same to Mr. McDonnell in such public manner as you may deem advisable.

I have the honor to be, Sir, Your obedient servant, J. BELL THOMSON, Officer Commanding Auckland District.

Hon. JAMES SHARP, Mayor, Salt Lake City, Utah, U. S. A.

Brother McDonnell is requested, if it meets his eye, to call at office No. 2, City Hall, and inquire for Mayor Sharp.

To-night, in the Seventeenth Ward school house, Mr. J. W. Price, of Kansas, will deliver his lecture upon "The Elements of True Manliness, or How to Succeed in Life." No charge for admission. All are invited. The lecture will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

THE IRONS-POWELL EXAMINATION.

IT CONTINUES FROM YESTERDAY AND IS NOT YET CONCLUDED.

The investigation in the abortion case, already familiar to our readers in many of its revolting details, adjourned at 5 o'clock last evening until 10 a. m. to-day. The witnesses examined yesterday were Dr. Carnahan, of Ogden, and Mr. Milando Pratt of Ogden.

Owing to the press as well as the public being excluded from the court, we cannot furnish the evidence adduced, directly as it transpired. It is understood, however, that Dr. Carnahan was interrogated as to the part he alleged to have played in the affair prior to its culmination, when Miss Evans, at Mr. Irons' suggestion, visited the Doctor at Ogden for the purpose of undergoing a medical examination. He asked her at that time, so she has admitted, certain questions and on receiving her answers told her that her fears were groundless, etc., referring to her physical condition.

It was in respect to what took place during the interview that the Doctor was examined last evening. A delay of some length occurred. A delay, while the question was being discussed as to whether a Doctor could be required to testify, without his patient's consent, in relation to a confidential communication to him in his professional capacity, was decided in the negative, as coming under the rule of evidence in relation to the inviolability of confidential communications between doctors and patients, lawyers and clients, etc. So that, in all probability the amount of testimony elicited from Dr. Carnahan was not of alarming proportions.

As to Mr. Pratt's testimony, the giving of the afternoon up to the time of adjournment, and was then only half way through, and consequently was continued this morning, our readers are already in possession of the principal facts; Mr. Pratt being our main informant in the exposure article published by the News a week ago last Wednesday.

It is the intent, now that the examination has begun, to go right through with it, and bring out all the pros and cons in testimony. The counsel for the prosecution say as named yesterday. In the division of the defendants' attorneys, Messrs. Bennett & Kirkpatrick are representing Dr. Fowler, and Messrs. Harkness & Rawlins are for Mr. Irons. Mr. Denney acts in the absence of Arthur Brown, Esq., the defendant's regular attorney, who is represented by Mr. Denney whenever he (Mr. Brown) is away.

This morning Mr. Milando Pratt was replaced on the stand, and having finished testifying, his wife and daughter in turn followed in giving evidence. Mrs. Evans, mother of Lizette Evans, came next, and then Mrs. Nelson, the widow of the deceased, who testified to the proceedings and the case was adjourned at 3 o'clock p. m. until 10 a. m. to-morrow.

The remaining witnesses are the doctors, Lizette Evans (now Mrs. Irons) and Brigham Jones. It is thought the latter will not be called on to testify. The case will probably conclude to-morrow, and the case was adjourned at 3 o'clock p. m. until 10 a. m. to-morrow.

Deseret Democrats.—The citizens of Deseret and vicinity turned out en masse on the 10th inst. to celebrate with vim and vigor the election of Grover Cleveland to the Presidential chair. Prior to meeting, bon-fires, fireworks, and aerial artillery illumined and filled the air with brilliant sounds. The hall was crammed to its utmost capacity. The play will be repeated to-morrow night.

R. L. Scott led out in the "Star Spangled Banner," the audience joining in the chorus with energy and feeling, born of hope that in the future it will wave for all.

Mr. M. Bishop, in a feeling address, dwelt upon the possibilities of Utah under Democratic rule.

J. F. Gibbs, in a forcible manner, vividly portrayed the treachery and corruption of the Republican party, which had caused good men generally to regard its principles and platform with abhorrence, and exhibit it by rejecting their candidates.

Wm. C. Moody, a Democratic veteran of the Jacksonian school, elucidated the Democratic platform and principles, and painted in glowing colors the causes that led to the rebellion, and the bright prospects that await the nation under Democratic rule.

Ben Goddard gave a brief and eloquent speech on the history of Grover Cleveland, from a poor boy to his advent into the executive mansion of New York State.

Three rousing cheers were given for the future President, Grover Cleveland. The proceedings were enlivened with songs, such as "Rings the Bell," "The Star Spangled Banner," "Battle Cry of Freedom," and music by the Deseret Band. A social dance wound up one of the most enjoyable occasions ever known in that precinct. So says Joshua Bennett.

Fearful Accident.—The Ogden Herald gives the particulars of a frightful accident which occurred on the State road, just north of the Mount Fort Schoolhouse, last Saturday afternoon. Mr. James Stone, of Lynne, and two other men were on their way to Ogden when the doubletree bolt of the wagon they were in came out, which caused the horses to bolt and from which the horses took fright and began to circle around as a series of gallop, pulling the wagon by the straps. Two of the men jumped out, and were unhurt, but the unfortunate man Stone, in endeavoring to escape in the same manner, was caught by his boot-leg on the standard of the front bolster. Here, with his head between the horses containing their fearful circular flight, Mr. Stone was thrown around the circle like the "cracker" of a whip, his whiplash being ground from the side of his face by the action of the wheels, and his head receiving the most fearful injuries. The unhurt horses were finally stopped, and the injured man taken up, and Dr. O'Connell was immediately sent for, and upon examination he found the poor man's skull fractured, and saw that his little hope of his life is entirely gone. Mr. Stone was removed to his residence in Lynne, where all that human aid could do was done to alleviate him, but he continued in his comatose condition, occasionally waking from his stupor, only to rave.

Mr. Stone is highly respected, and well known in the community. He has a wife and five children who are thrown into the greatest grief at the frightful calamity.

It is understood that the pre-eminently patriotic, Mr. H. Murray, is about to "strike for his country and his home."

Death of Dr. McKenzie.—Dr. D. Banks McKenzie, died at St. Mark's Hospital at 7 o'clock this morning. His ailment is given as sciatica, coupled with nervous prostration. He had been at the hospital only a few days, but had been ill for perhaps a month. He became unconscious before last, and remained so up to the hour of his death.

The deceased was well known in the community as a former temperance advocate, who came here several years ago and founded what was known as the "McKenzie Reform Club," also as the projector of the Walker Opera House, and its first manager. This building was originally designed as a Temperance Hall for the Reform Club, and the Doctor canvassed energetically for subscriptions to build it. After getting considerable money he found that he had not enough to finish the edifice, and it was then that Walker Brothers came to his assistance in carrying on and completing the enterprise. A compromise in the meantime had been made, by which the Reform Club project was abandoned and the Opera House plan substituted.

Dr. McKenzie, after resigning the management of the Opera House, inaugurated the scheme of establishing a first-class hotel, to be built by Eastern and local capital, on the corner south of the Utah & Northern, and much in the interest of the enterprise, but, although receiving encouraging assurances from abroad, home capitalists were more or less shy, and the hotel project was trembling in the balance of uncertainty when the Dr. was seized with his final illness. About a week ago he was heard to say that he regretted having left the temperance cause, and if he ever got well he would resume it. He was evidently discouraged at the results of his arduous and indefatigable labors in the hotel and other enterprises, and seemed to regard it conscientiously as the consequence of leaving his former avocation, in which he felt he was laboring more in the interests of God and humanity.

Mrs. McKenzie, his wife, is in Boston, and has been informed of her bereavement by telegraph. Dr. McKenzie was probably in the neighborhood of fifty years of age.

More of the Earthquake.—"M. M." writing from Richmond, Cache County, on the 10th inst., speaks thus of the earthquake experienced there and in different parts of Utah fairly that morning:

"At about five minutes before two o'clock this morning, I was awakened by a low rumbling sound, like distant thunder, or the approach of a severe wind-storm, followed by a violent shaking of the building, which was quite severe in some parts of the town. At the top of the stairs several were shaken from the shelves. The earthquake has been the town-talk ever since the day."

The Ogden Herald of the same date says:

"Early this morning the slumbers of a number of the citizens of Ogden were disturbed by the rattling of windows, furniture, etc., caused by a slight shock of earthquake. During the day reports have been received from stations along the Utah & Northern to the same effect, the worst being apparently experienced between Logan and Pocatello, the shock being described as being very severe and scaring the people considerably. The earthquake evidently followed the chain of mountains for the residents in the western part of this city, know very little, if anything of the occurrence at the time."

District Court.—To-day's proceedings before Chief Justice Zane:

Admitted justices.—Nephew Howcroft, a native of England, now of Salt Lake County; and Carl August, a native of Sweden, now of Cache County.

Ex parte Cornelius Johnson vs. Edward Sims and J. B. J. Burwood; default of defendants entered.

Thomas Marshall vs. Henry E. Miller; settled and dismissed as per stipulation filed and attachment discharged.

United States vs. John T. Lufkins; perjury; jury trial in progress.

New Store.—A new store has been opened opposite Clark, Eldredge & Co.'s, in the building formerly occupied by the Drs. Moore, Dunbar & Co. are the proprietors, with Mr. Geo. W. Davis in charge. Grain, flour, provisions, groceries, etc., can be obtained there at the lowest market prices and Mr. Davis' well known ability is a guarantee of excellence in the quality of goods kept on hand.

Primary Officers Meeting.—The officers of the Primary Association of this State are requested to meet on Friday at 2 o'clock, p. m., at the residence of Mrs. Ellen C. Clawson, No. 75 First Street, opposite President Young's cemetery.

Notwithstanding John Bright's assertions to the contrary, there seems to be no doubt that the policy of free trade is bringing English industries, and the commerce of the world, to a state of ruin. The condition of manufactures in the United Kingdom has fallen so low as to alarm even those political economists who have been the most uncompromising advocates of Cobdenism. Evidence of the truth of this statement are not far to seek. According to the last London Quarterly Review, the manufacturers of Manchester report a constant and rapid decline in their trade and, more than that, they see no hope of restoring it. The cotton industry, says Mr. Ogden, of Manchester, is inevitably going to pieces. In New Cross ward, in the last ten years the various mills and manufacturing are employing 12,000 fewer hands than ten years ago.

One of the possibilities of the near future is the substitution of steel freight cars for the wooden ones now in use. As far as well known, the strength of wooden cars is limited, and for this reason cars are not always filled to their utmost capacity in measure. This partial filling necessitates the lengthening of freight trains, and causes an increase in the cost of transportation, and consequently a reduction in the profits of the carriers. The American Journal of Railway Appliances recently contained an article in which the writer, Mr. Edward B. Maynard, of Wisconsin, stated that the crew of an ordinary freight train could take 823 tons of paying freight 1,000 miles at a profit of $84.73 net, if the train were composed of steel cars, each holding 1,000 bushels of wheat, while the same crew could transport but 640 tons with a wooden train of the same gross weight upon which the profit would be only $1,970. The saving thus effected in transportation of wheat would amount to several million dollars, per annum, which is not a small sum, and is the only remedy I have found that has given me any ease. My wife was afflicted with various ailments, and was pronounced incurable by my medical doctors. I find, however, that Henry's Carbo-Saline is a saving cure."
