Killed by a Train—War in San Francisco Society—Frozen to Death—A Million from Klondike.

Men giving the names of Banks, Barriat and Parsley were arrested at Cheyenne, Wyo., early Sunday morning, suspected of having perpetrated Saturday night's hold-up there.

Charles M. Shortridge, editor and proprietor of the San Jose, Cal., Mercury, is lying dangerously ill at the Gilroy Hot springs hotel, where he has been for two weeks under treatment for nervous trouble.

The demented man who was found near Pocatello, Ida., Sunday, has been identified as N. B. Hoskins of Monroe, Colo. He is on his way to visit her daughter, Mrs. Maggie Bruce, in Portland, Oregon.

The body of Fred A. Parish was discovered in a room in the Phoenix lodging house, Los Angeles, Cal., Saturday morning. Parish had plugged all the cracks in the room and turned on the gas Friday night. He was a jockey, 21 years of age and apparently well supplied with funds. His parents reside at Stewartville, Mo.

The steamer Corona arrived at Victoria, Monday, with thirty men from Dawson, who brought out close upon one million dollars. They confirm the report of the finding of the quartz lead on Bonanza creek, but not that of the mother lode. F. J. Livingston was lost for eight days, having lost the trail. All the new creeks are turning out well. There is no starvation.

Daniel Mullen was frozen to death on a range eighteen miles from Leadville, Colo., early Sunday morning. He with a man named Loquar, Pat McQueeny and Pat Mcellens, while on a spree, started off for a mine some distance away and were overtaken by a severe storm. Mullen was frozen to death, while Loquar is now in a bad condition. The other men had an experience which they will not forget in a hurry.

Some of the best society people of San Francisco are busy making history. War is waging—war that has been imminent for months. On one side are arrayed Mrs. Monroe Salisbury, manager of the Friday Night-ighty, and her friends, and on the other with their friends are Miss Marie Wells, Miss Charlotte Ellinwood, Miss Ethel Keeney and Miss Leontine Blakeman, four of the most interesting buds who have ever made their debut in San Francisco.

Adel Carr, the 10-year-old daughter of Thomas Carr of Oakland, Cal., who was visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Carr at Penn's Grove, near Petaluma, found a powder flask containing half a pound of powder Saturday afternoon. She threw the flask into the fire. The explosion blew the stove to pieces, broke the windows in the house and set fire to the clothing of the child. The little one ran to the barn where her grandparents extinguished the flames, being severely burned themselves. The child's injuries may prove fatal.

J. J. Hull, a San Francisco wood engraver who disappeared suddenly from his home in Berkeley, Cal., six months ago, has been located in Portland, Or. Word was brought from the north by a drummer that the missing man is well and prospering but that he did not want his whereabouts known to anybody. The missing engraver is said to be in hiding for the reason that he engaged himself to a woman of whom he has since grown tired. As his relatives tell it, he took to flight rather than face her fury when the result of his later decision became known.

A hatless and speechless individual is terrorizing the town of Haywards, Cal. T. C. Armstrong was sitting alone in his home Friday night, when some one thumped at the front door, demanding admittance. Armstrong opened the door and a barefooted man of wild appearance entered and took a seat. He could make no explanations and Armstrong threw him out. The man then went to Joe McKeever's stables and demanded admittance again. He was persistent, and tried front and back doors until a bulldog was turned loose upon him. It is thought that the man is insane.

While the Cabinet saloon, Prescott, Ariz., was crowded with hundreds of people, Mrs. Bell, the wife of a mining man, entered with a babe in her arms and, placing it on the bar, left with this farewell: "The father of this child deserted me and this babe, starving more for whisky than either of us. I wish to tender now his child, so that his appetite may be gratified to the extent of the deposit." Then was a wild rush for the youngster, seventy-five men coming forward to ask for the waif. The probate judge was called on to settle the controversy, and has taken charge of the child.

Mrs. Katie Wyatt of San Diego, Cal., a cousin of Mrs. L. H. Smart, known in the literary world as Helen Gardener, is one of the twenty-eight persons in various parts of the country who will become wealthy under the will of Giles Bushnell. The latter, who was a prosperous merchant in New York, died thirty-six years ago, leaving an estate of several million dollars. By the terms of his will a large portion of the estate was left to twenty-eight residuary legatees after the death of the testator's three brothers. These are now dead and the estate is being closed up. Mrs. Wyatt's share is estimated to be between $200,000 and $300,000.

As freight train 31, bound for Sacramento, rolled into Folsom depot Saturday morning about 2 o'clock, an accident occurred which resulted in the instant death of Ed Soland, head brakeman. There were six cars to be sidetracked at Folsom, and Soland, who was riding on the gangway of the locomotive, either fell from the engine or missed his footing in trying to alight. The train was moving slowly at the time, and the engineer hearing the fall applied the air brakes and stopped the train. He went back a short distance and found that Soland was dead, his head being frightfully crushed. Soland was about 29 years of age and was an old employe of the company. He resided in Oakland.

Boxing is to be revived in San Francisco during the month of February. The board of supervisors has granted the Empire club a permit for a boxing show some time during next month. Applications from several other clubs for permits were before the board, but all were rejected. The Empire club will bring off a twenty-round go between Joe Choynski and Pat Ryan, the Australian. The preliminary will be between Tom Leaning and Henry Baker. The managers of the clubs which have been left out in the cold are somewhat at a loss to understand why their applications should have been rejected and the Empire club favored. The Occidental club made application for a twenty-round contest between Peter Jackson and Peter Maher, but were unsuccessful.

Six sailing vessels which started from Honolulu sixteen days ago have all arrived in San Francisco within a few hours of each other. The trip across the Pacific became a race after the first day out, and the contest was made exciting by the fact that the vessels were in sight of each other most of the way. The competing vessels were the Bng. W. G. Irwin, Barkentine W. H. Diamond, Bark Albert, Barkentine Archer, Schooner Transit and the Brig Turtle. The W. G. Irwin arrived off the head half an hour in advance of the Turtle. Then came the W. H. Diamond, Archer, Albert and Transit in the order named. The last arrived off the heads three hours after the Irwin crossed the finish line. Old ship masters say that the performance of the six ships is without precedent and may be reckoned as one of the things that occur once in a thousand years.

The pretty niece of California's governor, Miss Mae L. Budd, has been selected to christen the new Japanese cruiser Chitose, which is to be launched at the Union Iron Works next Saturday. Miss Budd, who is the daughter of John Budd of Stockton, is a student at a private school in Berkeley, Cal. It was only yesterday that she received word of the unique honor bestowed upon her. The news sent a ripple of excitement through the school. Irving M. Scott's letter to Miss Budd invited her in the name of the board of directors of the Union Iron Works to give the new war ship a name, and begged that she would send at once her acceptance. With it came a letter from Captain S. Nakaya, the Japanese officer who is superintending the construction of the vessel, asking in the name of his imperial majesty of Japan that as an American girl Miss Budd christen the first American-built vessel of Nippon's navy. "It is quite a novel undertaking for me," said Miss Budd Saturday afternoon, "but I expect it will be very pleasant, as ships are so interesting, and I have always been eager to see one slide into the water." Miss Budd is one of the belles of Oakland and San Francisco, where she has been prominent in cotillions and teas. She is petite, brunette, and decidedly pretty. She has wavy black hair, a pleasant smile, and long, dark eyelashes. The governor is especially proud of his winsome niece.

The Explorer's Chance.

He sailed away one morning, for the pole,
He had food enough to last a year or two;
He said that he would surely reach the goal,
As all the brave explorers always do.
He came sailing back, one morning, in the spring
With a map that showed the route he had been o'er;
Of course he'd got much nearer to the thing
Than anybody ever had before.
And so he wrote a lecture and a thrilling book as well,
And he wondered people praised him to the sky;
Perhaps his map was right, but who on earth can tell—
Since he had such opportunities to lie.

Suffered 20 Years.

MRS. MARY LEWIS, wife of a prominent farmer, and well known by all old residents near Belmont, N. Y., writes: "For twenty-seven years I had been a constant sufferer from nervous prostration, and paid large sums of money for doctors and advertised remedies without benefit. Three years ago my condition was alarming; the least noise would startle and unnerve me. I was unable to sleep, had a number of sinking spells and slowly grew worse. I began using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Nerve and Liver Pills. At first the medicine seemed to have no effect, but after taking a few bottles I began to notice a change; I rested better at night, my appetite began to improve and I rapidly grew better, until now I am as nearly restored to health as one of my age may expect. God bless Dr. Miles' Nervine."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

It seems to you that that tickling, hacking cough is all in the throat. But your doctor will tell you that this sensation is often deceiving. The cough is often the signal of deeper trouble in the bronchial tubes or in the lung tissue itself. These inflamed membranes can only be healed by treating the system. For all lung troubles, especially in the earlier stages, no remedy equals Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil. Its special power is in healing the inflamed tissues of the lungs.

Horses Kick

in self-defence. It is their most vigorous form of protest against the abuse of Split Nails that are driven into their feet to hold on their shoes. Blacksmiths often use such nails in ignorance of the danger that is liable to follow.

This is what happens: One part comes out where it should, the other goes into the quick. Such nails are the result of the Cold-Rolled and by which the fibres of metal are separated and can either be pried apart with the finger-nail. This kind of a nail can be easily distinguished by the rough edge along the sides near the point.

Putnam Nails

are exclusively Hot-Forged and Hammer-Pointed, precisely like the old-fashioned hand-made nail. This process welds all particles of iron closely together into a compact, firm nail that cannot Split, Sliver or Break and is Absolutely Safe.

Examine the nails in your smith's plate box; if Hot-Forged you will find the whole length of the nail above Forged Putnam. If they show marks of shearing on the sides they are Cold-Rolled and dangerous.

Almost ring, nickel plated, mailed on receipt of ten cents, in stamps or silver.
