

WHAT TO DO WITH OLD BULBS.

Their Treatment After Harvesting and Their Use to Benefit the Garden.

Amateurs are usually puzzled to know what to do with the bulbs of flowers, after they have been harvested and after it is time to prepare for the next year's work. Following is the plan suggested in Flower Magazine.

In the case of the hyacinth, narcissus and crocuses, by keeping them in water and in shallow open receptacles, they will retain their vigor as long as possible. When the foliage has died away, lay the pots on their sides to keep the bulbs dry and let them, and they will last August or September. These three kinds are not likely to be killed. When they are ready to be planted again, you can plant them in the garden and not bother with them again until the next year. For the tulips, you can plant them in the garden and not bother with them again until the next year. For the tulips, you can plant them in the garden and not bother with them again until the next year.

Within the last few years, the little orange plant has come to be a popular one. The little orange plant is not only a plant to be grown in the garden, but it is also a plant to be grown in the house. It is very easy to grow, and it is very beautiful. It is very easy to grow, and it is very beautiful. It is very easy to grow, and it is very beautiful.

ORANGE PLANT AS A POT PLANT.

In winter and a bush out of doors in summer, full sunny soil, good drainage in the pot and a moderate amount of water. It is a small tree. An Ohio farmer writes in Gardening that the orange plant has not been tried as much as it should be. In Florida the fruit is eaten in a bowl, that is, it is compared to being between a lemon and a lime. The propagation of the orange plant is very simple. The orange plant is very simple. # BUR THE OTHER EYE.

Good Advice of an Engineer Regarding the Treatment of Eyes.

Since persons out of every ten, with a minor or any serious ailment in the eye will ultimately begin to rub the eye with one hand while holding for the handkerchief with the other. They may and should not do so. The rubbing of the eye, and more frequently the rubbing of the eye, is a very dangerous habit. It is a very dangerous habit. It is a very dangerous habit. It is a very dangerous habit.

"A few years ago I was sitting on the ground at a fair. The car glowed above me, the fresh window, and I caught a sudden glimpse of the most extraordinary man. I began to rub the eye with both hands. I began to rub the eye with both hands. I began to rub the eye with both hands. I began to rub the eye with both hands.

THE AUTHORIZED ORGAN OF THE Y. M. I. A. OF UTAH.

Prospectus for Volume XVI. 1894-95.

In this volume we propose to introduce the following special features among many other instructive articles of general interest:

Shining Lights. How They Acquired Brightness.

Under this heading we design giving a series of biographical sketches of some of the prominent living men of our community, and tell what means they adopted to attain success. These articles will be illustrated with half-tone engravings of the persons mentioned.

Temple Manifestations.

There have been many remarkable experiences of Latter-day Saints in our temples which have never been recorded. These incidents have a tendency to create and encourage faith and consequently the knowledge of them should be widely disseminated. A series of articles on this subject will be presented in Volume XVI of THE CONTRIBUTOR.

Sermons from the Prophets.

Beyond the Arctic Circle.

Continuing through Volume XVI, will be published an intensely interesting narrative, newly illustrated, of experiences and observations in the Land of the Midnight Sun, by Elder Nephth Anderson.

The Study of Self.

Professors George H. Brimhall, M. H. Hardy and other able instructors will handle this subject and present such ideas to young men as will enable them to better understand themselves, and thus more readily grasp the Living Model whose life and character we should constantly keep in mind.

Prof. N. L. Nelson, whose excellent articles in Volume XV of THE CONTRIBUTOR have been of such great service to all readers will continue to write us.

Preaching and Preaching.

In the first six numbers of Volume XVI, these articles will be devoted especially to the compilation and delivery of sermons.

In the remaining six numbers of the volume PROF. NELSON will write us.

Mormonism and Theosophy.

M. I. A. Manual, Part II.

prepared by Professor M. H. Hardy and George H. Brimhall, and approved of by all the M. I. A. general officers, will be published in Volume XVI. Every association member should study carefully these lessons.
