GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., June 21.—A few industrials, members of the Smith army, straggled in here today. They report about 150 of their comrades at the point of starvation and thirst scattered along the desert between here and Salt Lake. The Rio Grande Railroad will not carry them, and the trainmen have strict orders to keep them off. General Smith is here, and is endeavoring, with poor success, to send aid to them.

If something is not done many deaths may be expected.

OMAHA, Neb., June 21.—The federal court today left for Fort Sidney to try the 250 'wealers' confined there for holding up a Union Pacific train at Ogallala last week. Complaints were prepared by the district attorney, charging each man with contempt of court, interfering with interstate traffic and delaying the United States mails. It is said some of the leaders, against whom strong cases may be established, will be made an example of by giving them penitentiary sentences. The others will be tried in bunches of twenty-five and given jail sentences.

MILAN, Mo., June 21.—D. D. Daveman, of this city, released twenty-five Chicago carrier pigeons at 5 o'clock last evening. A telegram received saying they arrived safely in Chicago at 8 o'clock, having traversed a distance of 310 miles in three hours.

MISSOULA, Mont., June 22.—The expedition which left Missoula on May 21 in search of the body of George Colgate, the cook to the Carlin party, and who was abandoned by that party last fall in the Big Clear water country, one of the wildest forests in North America, has just returned. The body of Colgate was not found but sufficient evidence discovered to justify the conclusion that he died a horrible death. On the limb of a tree which projected into the eddy of the middle fork of Clear Water, was found one sleeve caught under a huge boulder. The indications were that the body was washed down stream about half a mile from where the unfortunate man was abandoned by Carlin and his party and caught in the eddy. A sleeve caught in the limb of a tree and the current being intensely rapid, the arm was torn from the body and remained there. The blankets left for the unfortunate man by the Carlin party were found and indicated that Colgate must have died a raving maniac, as the blankets had been strapped to his back by the Carlin party, and when this expedition found them they were just beyond high water mark.

SAULTE STE MARIE, Mich., June 22.—John Corrigan, ninety-three years old, was fatally shot last night by a boarder who mistook him for a burglar. Corrigan's daughter gave the alarm and pointed out her father's form in the darkness.

LONDON, June 22.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegram company from Paris, says there have been sixty cases of cholera and fifteen deaths at Jemeppe, a village of Belgium.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., June 22.—The trial of Thomas Kent, city marshal of this city, is now being held for murder. The marshal is alleged to have brutally beaten with a mule whip a negro, who a few days afterwards died of small-pox. It is now alleged that his death was due the injuries caused by the whipping.

DENVER, June 22.—Governor Waite has granted a respite to Levi J. Streaton who was to have been executed at the penitentiary during the week beginning June 24. If he does not get another respite he will be executed during the week of September 3.

Streaton was sentenced to death for the murder of Marshal Cook at Como.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—Something like 400 ladies and gentlemen, nearly all residents of Utah Territory, descended on the city in a body this morning, arriving on the overland Central Pacific train from Ogden. It was a school teachers' excursion, gotten up by the members of the profession in the principal cities of Utah but including among those who availed themselves of its opportunities a good many who follow other pursuits and quite a number who reside in states adjoining Utah.

Of the entire party something like 100 are from Salt Lake City and its vicinity and about the same number each from Ogden and Provo. Most of the remainder are from Park City and other Utah towns.

COLORADO SPRINGS, June 23.—Adjutant General Tarsney was kidnapped from Alamo hotel at midnight by seven unknown, masked men, taken to the suburbs in a hack, tarred, feathered and ordered to leave El Paso county and never return. Tarsney was called from bed by the hotel clerk in answer to a telephone call. Masked men entered the hotel, seized Tarsney, clubbed him over the head with the butt of a pistol and carried him off. The clerk quickly gave the alarm, but fifteen minutes elapsed before the mounted officer had started in pursuit. Up to 8 o'clock this morning no trace of Tarsney had been found. The drivers of hacks were intimidated. Sherman Crumley, one of them, says Tarsney was taken to a point near Austin Bluffs. A posse is scouring the prairie in search of him. There was a meeting of twenty-five deputy sheriffs last night in the Antlers park at which it is supposed the plot against Tarsney was hatched.

CARDIFF, Wales, June 23.—A dispatch from Ponty Pridd, Glamorgan, says a terrible explosion occurred this afternoon, in Albion colliery. Two hundred miners are buried beneath the debris of the mine. It is believed a large number are killed.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Representative Sweet of Idaho has reported from the House committee on irrigation of arid land the bill agreed on by Western members for a survey of the arid lands and estimates of the cost of reclamation. Among the surveys proposed are:

Idaho—The land and water in the Snake river valley and its tributaries.

Wyoming—To determine the irrigable lands and an outline of the different systems of irrigation in the valley of the North Platte and tributaries.

Utah—Duchesne and Green rivers and tributaries.

Arizona—Gila and Salt rivers and tributaries.

DENVER, Colo., June 25.—Fully 1,200 Republicans are already here to attend the meeting of the National Republican League, and more are expected tonight. Delegations came in today from Iowa, Utah, Nebraska, Kansas, Indiana and New Mexico, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Tennessee.

LYONS, France, June 24.—The most intense excitement has been caused everywhere in France by the assassination of President Carnot.

The president was visiting Lyons in connection with the international exhibition. Upon his arrival he was tendered a reception at the prefecture, after which he visited the exhibition. After spending some time at the exhibition he proceeded to the Palais de Commerce, where a banquet was given in his honor.

At 9:45 o'clock tonight President Carnot started for the theater, where a gala performance was to be given because of his presence in the city. Several carriages were in the procession, the first one being occupied by the president. Carnot's carriage was driven slowly along in front of the Palais de Commerce, and then turned into Rue de la Republique, still following the facade of the Palais.

When half way down the street, which was lined with enthusiastic crowds of people who were loudly cheering, a man rushed out of the crowd and sprang upon the step of the President's landau.

Just at this moment M. Carnot was waving his right hand and saluting with his hat in his left hand in response to the ovation that was being given him by the crowd. The people close to the carriage saw that the man standing on the step had a knife in his hand. By the glare of the electric lights they saw the bright blade gleaming in the air as the assassin's arm descended, and then President Carnot was seen to fall back in his seat, his face deathly pale. One of his hands was pressed to his heart, where the steel had entered the body.

The assassin is an Italian named Cesare Giovanni Santo. He is a beardless young man, 20 or 25 years old. When arrested he was attired in a brown suit and wore a peaked cap that matched the suit in color. As he marched under police guard from the Rue de la Republique to the station, he held his head down, but his eyes glanced furtively around as though he was seeking an opportunity to escape. To have made such an attempt, however, would have been the height of folly, unless he desired to commit suicide, for there was not the slightest doubt had he got away from the protection of the police he would have been torn limb from limb by the crowd, whose every action showed they were thirsty for his blood.

At 12:45 o'clock this (Monday) morning President Carnot died.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—It is understood to be Senator Faulkner's intention to call up the bill for the admission of Utah after the tariff bill is out of the way. As the bill is unanimously reported from the committee, it being the policy of both sides to admit the Territory, it will probably pass.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The disaster caused by the capsizing of the tug, James D. Nicholl, off Sandy Hook yesterday is rendered more harrowing by the fact that most of the men leave large families. It is thought that no less than 36 persons perished.
