Hanlon, and having kept his eves open since, this doughty little third baseman, captain and manager of the New York National League Baseball club is this year achieving his pet ambition, which is:

National League Baseball chub is this year achleving his pet ambition, which is: To win the National league pennant. One of the keenest judges of young ball players in the business, McGraw is a sec-ond Hanlon. No lumber stays long on the New York pay roll, McGraw is a hustler, and he expects his men to hustle. He knows when a man is out of form, and when he is not trying; likewise his eagle eye can pick a promising youngster out of a bunch of mediocre bush leaguers. McGraw is not afraid to try experiments. As a third baseman he is not the best in the business. Jimmy Collins, Tommy Leach, Billy Bradley, Harry Steinfeldt; yes, several others may have it on "Mug-ss," as McGraw's tendency to talk to the umpire has nicknamed him. But as a team manager, and an uphill, down-right, out-right fighter in a game of base-ball, not even Scrappy Fred Clarke tray-els in the same class. Umpires hate Mc-Graw worse than they hate their job. Part of a manager's duity, according to "Muggsy." is to make umpires earn their salary by the sweat of their brow, and so miserable does he make the life of a judge of play that some find it easier to give the Giants a shade than stand and swallow the caustic comments of Mana-ger McGraw on the side lites. "The field by police oftener than any other player-manager in history. Charke eagain not excepted. The explosive violence with which he uncorks his vials of wrath on the slightest occasion have likewise made him unpopular away from home, except among such of the fans as admire a neffer.

Rain spoiled the bloycle races last night. The prospects for a spiendid en-tertainment, and a large crowd, were good, but the downpour of water spoiled it all. The program was postponed until Wednesday night. There will be three meets next week. The most important meet will be on Monday night. The next will be Wednesday and the last on Fri-day.

bingling fielding or failure to obey or-ders. McGraw, personally, is a fine batsman of the ultra scientific order. He is not a singger, and his specialty is chemically pure, 105 proof bunts aimed at any field-er who seems weak in handling them. While Hanion is credited by some with originating the "hit and run game." so-called, it was largely a product of "Mug-gsy" McGraw's fertile brain while with the Baltimore team. Since, he has imcalled, it was largely a product of with gsy" McGraw's fertile brain while with the Baltimore team. Since, he has im-proved it to a high standard, and it has proved a great run getter. With a strong team and an invincible pitching corps, containing such establish-ed strars as Joe McGinnity and Christy Matthewson, the New Yorks look good in the pennant race, and seem quite likely to verify their manager's boast of before the season-that the team which leads the Giants will lead the league. CATARRH 30 YEARS CURED by DRS. SHORES READ JUDGE HOWARD'S TESTIMONY.

JUDGE WM. HOWARD, Huntington, Utah.

Judge Howard says: "I have suffered fully 30 years with dreadful Catarrh, and nothing seemed to relieve me until I consulted Drs. Shores & Shores. I took their treatment faithfully and found prompt relief, and after using it a few months I was cured to all outward appearances, but wanted to see if it was permanent-and watched for any signs of the trouble returning. Now, after four years I am satisfled that my cure is absolutely permanent. I have had no signs of Catarrh in all that time. The hawking, spitting, clogging up the nostrils and such symptoms have long since ceased, and I heartily endorse these splendid doctors, for I know they can cure Catarrh permanently. Drs. Shores have also doctored me for stomach trouble with immediate and lasting benefit, and I can honestly recommend them to all sick people as being trustworthy and successful specialists.
