

B. Y. UNIVERSITY FOUNDER'S DAY

Thirty-first Anniversary of Great School Fittingly Commemorated at Provo.

MANY SPIRITED ADDRESSES.

Delivered by Presidents Smith and Lund, Senator Smoot and Others—School Parade Splendid Showing.

Special Correspondence.

Provo, Oct. 17.—Founder's day, the thirty-first anniversary of the founding of the Brigham Young university, was celebrated yesterday, under very favorable conditions. The day was perfect and the view of a thousand students, parading from the university to the tabernacle, where the services were held, taking in on the line of march, the old landmarks which are connected with the university as former homes of the institution. The procession was led by the university band, followed by the youthful girls who marched with the big folks this year, instead of riding, as has formerly been the custom.
A striking feature in the representation of departments, was that of the students carried implements and tools, and some of the agriculturalists carried sheaves of corn as their banner.

The tabernacle was decorated with old glory and the banners and mottoes of the classes. On the speakers stand were seated President Joseph F. Smith, President A. H. Lund, President David John, President Jos. E. Robinson, President John G. McQuarrie, Mrs. Juliana Smith, Mrs. Susa Young Gates, Miss Mary Brooks, a visitor from Texas, President Brimhall, members of the faculty and other prominent visitors.

The college song was sung by the audience and prayer was offered by President W. H. Smart of the Uintah college, followed by a piano duet by Miss Zeese and Driggs.

After Joseph E. Robinson, president of the California mission, delivered the oration. He stated that the scene before him had not come by chance, but was the fulfillment of promise and prophecy, and those present were the children of promise and of destiny. And the work that had already been done by the university had spread its influence far and wide and prepared a generation for a greater and better life work.

President Robinson read from the promises of the children of the latter age and referred to the coming west of the Church, the people bringing with them, as they were asked, books and implements, and the desert might be redeemed. The great promises of the prophets had been fulfilled and there could be no doubt that those before him were the children of destiny.

The founding of the school by President Young, as a link in the chain of prophecy was eloquently referred to, and the students urged to act in a manner worthy of their high calling and destiny.

A selection was rendered by the university orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Gunnunson, which was encored.

President Andrew Rasmussen of the student body gave a sentiment, dwelling on the unity and brotherly love that united between the students, and between the professors and the students, and of the loyalty and energy of the latter—loyalty to the school, to the church, to the state and to all that is good and virtuous and pure, this is the spirit of the university.

Miss Ethel Rawlings sang "My Temple of Learning" with beautiful effect.

President Brimhall explained the absence of Prof. Hinckley, who was on the program for a sentiment, but who was detained by the illness of his child.
President Brimhall gave the sentiment that he who gave the best he had to the school would in return receive the best the school had to give, which would be better than that which he gave.

President Anthon H. Lund spoke of the great opportunities before the students, and referred to the motto, "Is life worth living?" This depended upon how it was lived. It should be lived, he said, to the end of doing good and gaining eternal life. He admonished each to look upon the good in life, in their fellow students and teachers, and in their fellow men. Such a course tended to happiness; try to make others happy and they would themselves be happier. He admonished the students to work earnestly and patiently that success might come to them, and to adopt as their standard the saying of the Savior, "Seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness."

A fine violin solo was rendered by Prof. Gunnunson.

President Brimhall referred to a time when the faculty had offered to teach for nothing if it became necessary, and complimented the orchestra by citing an incident in which they had offered to play for nothing, if President Brimhall wanted it. This President Brimhall said, illustrated the spirit of the school from the faculty down through the line of students.

President Joseph F. Smith expressed delight with the spirit of the school as shown by the loyalty of the students of the school to the faculty and the unanimity of the students. He took up the question of life being worth the living, enlarging upon the idea that this depended upon the one who lived it. This was not altogether so for there was need of the greatest without. His assistance men and women were indeed weak.

He spoke at length upon practical education, urging earnestness and determination in accomplishing that which the students attempt, and to realize that the highest aspiration that men and women can have, is to be men and women after God's own heart. This includes good citizenship in the Church, in the state and in the nation. To be a Latter-day Saint means to be a faithful man and woman in every capacity in life, to be true to every pledge, promise and trust; to be a good husband and a good wife, a good son or a good daughter, and excellence in any relation of life.

The speaker expected to see some of the greatest men in the world graduate from the university, and by and by the eyes of prominent men will be turned toward this people looking for those upon whom they can depend, and whom they cannot find at home. To be a Latter-day Saint means to be a faith-
in life, to be true to every pledge, prom-
tion of life.

Yell Master Bartlett lead the audience in the following:
"Long live the founder!
"Long live the founder!
"Where?
"In our hearts."
"Long live the B. Y. U. spirit!
"Long live the B. Y. U. spirit!
"Where?

Senator Reed Smoot spoke of the early days of the school, contrasting the conditions then and now, speaking with earnest appreciation of the university, and the blessings it had brought to himself and others, who have had the privilege of being students. The education imparted there would make better men and women and better citizens, and the students should aim to do something for the advancement of humanity wherever they might be called to act.

Jesse Knight spoke briefly in behalf of the agricultural department, which had been made a part of the university, and humorously pointed out the benefits of a professional career compared with a professional career.

"Zion prosper, all is well," etc., was rendered by the audience, and benediction was offered by President John G. McQuarrie, of the Eastern States mission.

Luncheon was served to the visitors by the domestic science department, and in the afternoon inter-class field sports were had on the campus.

The following points were scored by the contesting classes:

The skirmish football game proved very interesting and it is believed it will be very effective in developing athletics. In the game played yesterday the large field and the large number of men—20 on a side—made it difficult to keep track of the game, and it is believed the size of the field and the number of players will be reduced in the future.

A ball in the gymnasium hall in the evening closed the day's enjoyment.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER.
Jesse L. Webb Charged With Killing
His Wife.

Smithville, Mo., Oct. 17.—Jesse L.
Webb, a young St. Joseph merchant, was today arrested here, charged with killing his 19-year-old bride of a week at this place, on Oct. 11. At the time of the shooting Webb asserted that he and his wife had entered into a suicide pact, because he was incurably ill with tuberculosis, and that she shot him and then killed herself. At first it was believed that Webb was mortally wounded, but now it is said he will recover. The wife was shot four times and the authorities doubt that she was able to shoot herself so many times.

R. R. OFFICIALS SUBPOENAED.
St. Paul, Oct. 17.—Subpoenas have been served here on the controllers, treasurers and heads of the claim department of the Great Northern, Omaha, Minneapolis & St. Louis, and the Wisconsin Central railroads, directing them to appear before a special grand jury in the United States district court at Minneapolis Tuesday next, with the books and records of their respective departments.

REBATE CASE RESTS.
New York, Oct. 17.—Both the prosecution and defense rested their case today in the hearing on charges that the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad company and Fred. L. Pom-ero, its general traffic manager, paid rebates on shipments of sugar to the American Sugar Refining company.

Letters from Lowell I. Palmer, manager of the traffic business of the sugar refining company, to Mr. Pomero, acknowledging the receipt of drafts amounting to thousands of dollars, were admitted. It is charged that these drafts represented the payment of a rebate of five cents per hundred weight on shipments of sugar to W. H. Edgar & Son.

MISSING BABY HEIR TO FORTUNE

Is Connected With Many of the Proudest Families of The South.

INVOLVED IN BITTER FEUD.

Chicago is the Field That is Now Being Searched for the Child.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—The Chronicle today says:

A missing baby heir connected with many of the proudest families of the south, among them that of former Gov.
David R. Francis of Missouri and the clans of Kentucky, who is supposed to have been spirited away a few hours after his birth and to be now in Chicago, ignorant of its parentage, is the central figure in a search which has as its end the disposition of a large Kentucky estate and the victory of one southern family over another in a bitter feud.

During the last few weeks all Chicago has been scouring in an effort to find a daughter of Mrs. Estelle Chenault Clay, who died at the postgraduate hospital June 22, 1890, under an assumed name.
No trace of the child or accurate proof of its birth has been found, but the mother of Mrs. Clay, Mrs. Lavania Estelle Chenault Cunningham of Escambia, Ky., an aunt of former Gov. Francis, has charged that Mrs. Mary Peck Theil, a west side club woman and charitable worker, has knowledge of the whereabouts of the missing child and is secretly it. The emphatic denial of this by Mrs. Theil has but deepened the mysterious circumstances of the case.

Should Mrs. Cunningham be successful in her search and discover the missing child and establish the authenticity of a will made by Mrs. Clay a few days before her death leaving her property to her children, the bulk of the large estate, which is situated in Bourbon county, Ky., will go to the child instead of the father, a relative of the late Cassius M. Clay, who was being sued for divorce at the time of the death of Mrs. Clay, who hid in Chicago under an assumed name to escape his anger. Otherwise Clay will receive the estate and the custody of the one child now in Kentucky.

The fact that the Kentucky courts will give a decision in the case in a few days has caused Mrs. Cunningham to urge those looking for the missing child to greater efforts. Yesterday a letter filled with prayers for haste was received. The answer sent back last night gave no additional light on the mystery, but the search was taken up again with renewed energy. Several important clues have been obtained which it is thought will lead to the finding of the child within a few days or the proof that no such child exists.

MESSAGE OF SYMPATHY FROM THE PRESIDENT.

Washington, Oct. 17.—President Roosevelt today sent the following message commanding, announces to his beloved comrades the death of Mrs. Varina Jefferson Davis, which occurred in the city of New York Tuesday night, she being at the time of her death over 80 years of age. Thus passes away another of our distinguished confederates and the bond which connected the people of the south with the household of our first and only president has wholly severed with the exception of one link yet remaining."

CLEVEREST OF ROBBERIES OCCURS IN GERMANY.

Berlin, Oct. 16.—A unique and daring robbery was committed at Coepenick, a small town seven miles east of Berlin, this afternoon. The robber in the uniform of a captain of the guards, met a detachment of 12 men on a street in Berlin, who were returning from target practice. He produced a forged cabinet order, authorizing him to take command. The men recognized his authority, and he then ordered them to march to Coepenick. Upon arrival there they proceeded to the town hall, arrested the burgomaster and the treasurer and took possession of the cash, $1,000. The robber detached several of his men to conduct the prisoners to headquarters in Berlin and ordered the remainder to hold possession of the town hall for half an hour. He then rode off alone in the direction of Berlin, with the money. The burgommaster and treasurer were greatly mis-tified at the meaning of their arrest.

Upon their arrival in custody at headquarters in Berlin, they learned that the ostensible captain was a fraud and were immediately discharged. The bur-go-master has not been heard from, and the police and military authorities are without any clue whatever as to his identity.

to rescue them.

SENATOR BURTON'S CASE.
Mandate of U. S. Supreme Court Sent To Court Below.

Washington, Oct. 17.—The mandate of the supreme court of the United States in the case of former United States Senator Burton, under conviction and sentence for the violation of his oath as a senator was issued today by the clerk of the court. The document is directed to the United States circuit court for the eastern district of Missouri and merely notifies that court of affirmance of its judgment by the supreme court. This is the usual method of procedure in such cases, and is a notice to the trial court that it is at liberty to execute its sentence.

DATA ON NEW BRITISH ARMoured CRUISERS.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Secy. Bonaparte has received and turned over to the construction board a lot of data pertaining to the new British armored cruisers of the indomitable class, directing special attention to the turbine machinery and upon the report of constructors he will probably base his own recommendations to Congress at the approaching session to new naval construction.

The construction board rejected the turbine machinery when last offered for two reasons:
First, because confidential reports had shown that the turbine as a propelling engine in maneuvering powers, one of the first qualifications in a battleship.
In the second place the shipbuilders demanded $300,000 more for supplying turbine engines than for reciprocating engines and the department feared that Congress at the last session might not sanction any such expenditures.

But recently reports have reached the department touching the performance of the Great Britain battleship Dreadnought that have inclined the constructing board to reverse their judgment in the case of turbines and it is stated at the department to be entirely probable that such engines will be proposed in the plans for the great 20,000-ton battleship which has been submitted to Congress by its direction at the next session. Details of the construction of the Dreadnought, guarded as a state secret for two years, are coming to light and they show that the objection against the turbine on the point of maneuvering capacity has been overcome. This was accomplished by equipping the ship with four separate propellers and shafts and with two great rudders of altering limitations have been received from some American shipbuilders that with the experience gained in the recent construction of merchant ships and yachts equipped with turbines, the cost of these engines can be considerably reduced.
