LOCAL NEWS.

FROM TUESDAY'S DAILY, JUNE 9

Recovered.—During the last few days Bishop Preston has been quite halloped from the effects of having caught a cold. His ailment was doubtless aggravated by overwork. We are pleased to be able to state that he is convalescent, being around to-day actively engaged with the duties of his office.

"Exponent" Improved.—The Woman's Exponent has commenced upon its fourteenth volume, and comes to us in an improved appearance, being printed with new type. This publication is eminently worthy of the support of the Latter-day Saints, whose rights it defends and whose doctrines it "exposes" in so able a manner. We wish the paper and its editor unbounded success.

Something for the Old Folks.—We learn that arrangements are being made to give the Old Folks of this city and neighborhood a free excursion to Black Rock and Garfield on the 23rd of June, the day after the anniversary of the birthday of the late Bishop Hunter. The Riter having generously tendered the transportation for all over seventy years of age. It is expected that the veterans from Tooele and Grantsville will come and meet their old friends in this city. A splendid time of recreation is anticipated, as the committee charge spare no pains to make the excursionists happy. It will now be in order for the generous-hearted and in their contributions to help out the committee. Full particulars will shortly be published.

Deseret Hospital.—A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Deseret Hospital, was held yesterday afternoon, at which considerable business was transacted. The medical, financial and other reports for the month of May were read and approved. They showed that during the month eleven patients had been received and discharged, and that seven surgical operations had been successfully performed.

The visiting physicians are, Drs. W. Anderson, Medical Superintendent, E. L. Shipp, Belle Anderson, S. O. F. Foster, Joseph S. Richards, H. J. Richards and A. S. Bowers, and the efficient and agreeable matron is Mrs. Jennie B. Whipple. One medical student, Mr. Charles H. Haslam of Sanpete County, was admitted.

A number of improvements have been made in the building, and more are contemplated in the near future. Apartments for the accommodation of thirty patients have been fitted up, but are not all full yet. The Board wish it understood that patients of all creeds are eligible, and will be admitted without preliminaries or delay by simply applying at the building.

As the Hospital is not in as good a condition financially as it is in other respects, the members of the institution are reminded that the annual membership fees of one dollar each are now due, and should be paid. Contributions from other sources will be gratefully received. The inmates of the institution have been gladdened by frequent and handsome floral presents from Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jennings, Mr. P. Teasdel, Mrs. Grow and Mrs. Lyons, whose gifts were much appreciated.

Fire.—Shortly before 10 o'clock last night, a fire was discovered in Mr. Willett's candy store, on First South Street, and the bells of the Armory near by sounded the alarm. It was some little time, however, before the fire brigade were able to learn the location of the fire, thus causing a few minutes' delay. When the firemen arrived on the scene, the roofs covering the candy store, Mrs. Remel's millinery store, and Geo. A. Meears' armory were in flames. Several streams of water were soon playing on the burning building, and the fire was quickly brought under control.

The fire originated in a transparency, within which a lighted lamp was shining, in front of the candy store. It had communicated to the building, and the tin roof were doubtless well ignited before any alarm was given. Most of the goods and property were taken out in safety, and the total loss will amount to about $1,500, on which there is no insurance.

Some severe and uncalled-for criticism was indulged in (evidently on the principle that everybody can improve on his neighbor's method of doing business) because they did not burst in and deluge the rooms with water, but as the flames were confined almost entirely to the roofs, considerable property was saved by the water being directed only to that part. During the progress of the fire in the Armory, the cry of "Powder" was raised, and created considerable of a stampede, but it was soon found that there was no room for alarm. The buildings were the property of Mrs. Dodge, and the remains will be removed.

A Worthy Home Industry.—Among the home industries which are especially worthy of the support of the public the woolen manufactures occupy a prominent place. Wool is one of the staple products of this mountain country, and is likely always to continue so. To sell the wool in its raw state to be taken out of the Territory and manufactured, and then buy it back again in the shape of clothing of various kinds, that might just as well, and better, be made here at home, is a ruinous policy, which has been pursued too long. But there are other reasons than the fact that we are supporting and enriching other and distant communities to the neglect of local interests, why the policy alluded to should be abandoned, one of which is that many of the goods which are imported are positively inferior in quality to those which are or can be made here at home. Who does not know that a large proportion—and to the manufacturers the most profitable portion—of the cloths and yarns made elsewhere is "shoddy"? Old blankets, stockings, and woolen cloths generally, are purchased at a trifling cost, worked over, perhaps with the addition of a little wool of better quality, into goods of various kinds, and palmed off upon an unsuspecting public as the genuine article? No manufacturer or dealer ever advertises "shoddy," and yet it is a well-known fact that it is manufactured extensively in various parts of the United States as well as throughout Europe. Utah manufacturers have never yet engaged in this fraudulent business, so far as we have learned. Their fabrics are genuine, and if they cost a little more sometimes than imported articles, the difference is more than compensated for by the extra wear to be obtained from them.

A case in point is the stocking trade. We are safe in saying that thousands of dollars are spent by the people of this Territory annually for the purchase of imported stockings, while goods of a much better quality and fully equal in point of style, if not quite so low in price, could be made by experienced manufacturers right in our own community. We were shown some samples yesterday by Brother George Knighton, of the 19th Ward, of ladies' hose manufactured by him from material obtained at the Provo Woolen mills, that really appear to be excellent both in quality and style. They were made upon the Tuttle knitting machine. He has been carrying on the business for some time, and notwithstanding the prejudice against home-made goods, his manufactures are steadily gaining in popularity. His last order from Z. C. M. I. for almost a thousand dozen. If other dealers were to follow this example and then take pains to push the sale of the home-made article in preference to that which is imported, and especially if the public would study their own and their neighbors' interests sufficiently to ask for and purchase home-manufactured goods rather than those which are made abroad the community would soon be in a fair way for becoming independent and the several enterprises that have been established in our midst for the benefit of the people generally, and which now have to struggle for a precarious existence would flourish and prosper.

Brother Knighton's place of business is 464 N. Second West St., 19th Ward.

FROM WEDNESDAY'S DAILY, JUNE 10

Territorial Supreme Court.—A petition for the re-hearing of the case of Wm. Burrows, appellant, vs. E. F. M. Guest, respondent, from the Third District, was submitted and taken under advisement.

The case of John E. Dooley, respondent, vs. Susan A. Stringham, impleaded appellant, from the Third District, was argued, submitted and taken under advisement.

The arguments in the case of S. W. Darke, appellant, vs. E. A. Ireland, respondent, occupied the remaining time of the session to-day.

Darke vs. Ireland.—The appeal from the First District Court on a motion for a new trial in the above entitled action was argued before the Territorial Supreme Court this afternoon. The dispute is in relation to certain property claimed by S. W. Darke, which was levied upon by Marshal Ireland, at the Broom Hotel, Ogden, April 11, 1883, as the property of Robert Burns, under an attachment issued from the Third District Court in a suit against Burns for $3,730.77 and interest, by Livingston & Co. In the trial before Judge Emerson, at Ogden, the jury found a verdict for defendant, and the plaintiff moved for a new trial on the grounds of irregularity of proceedings and newly discovered evidence, and he appeal is taken on the refusal to allow the motion.

A Useful Pamphlet.—The Juvenile Instructor office has just issued a pamphlet containing the Edmunds law, the rulings of Judge Zane on "unlawful cohabitation" and a full report of the arguments on the term "cohabitation" as they occurred in the trial of Angus M. Cannon, A. M. Musser and J. C. Watson, and were reported by John Irvine. No doubt many persons will desire to possess this work (which contains 118 pages and is nicely printed on a good class of book paper,) for present perusal or future reference, and they can do so at the Instructor office at the rate of 30 cents per copy retail.

Returned Missionary.—We received a call yesterday from Elder Mormon Miner, who returned last evening from a mission to the Northwestern States. He left his home in Fairview, Sanpete County, September 2nd, 1883, and for the first six months, after journeying to the States, labored in Indiana, chiefly with Elder D. F. Davis. They held a good many meetings, did a great deal of fireside talking and made some friends, but found little disposition among the people to investigate the doctrines they taught, and less still to embrace them. He was subsequently assigned to a comparatively new missionary field in Southern Illinois, where he labored with more success, and was instrumental in baptizing nine new members and blessing three children. There are eight Elders now in that field, and they find a few persons willing to investigate and accept the Gospel. There are a great many southern people living in that region, and they as a rule are very hospitable, far more so than northern people. Elder Miner had to put up with many hardships during his absence, was many times threatened with violence, once or twice pelted with eggs, and had his meetings broken up by disorderly or bigoted persons a number of times, but on the whole feels that he has nothing to complain of but much to feel thankful for. He is grateful for the kind treatment which he generally received and appreciates the experience he has gained. During his absence he held 165 meetings, mostly in schoolhouses, and traveled on foot upwards of 3,000 miles, besides a considerable distance on the cars or by other means of conveyance.

Since his release from his missionary labors Elder Miner spent some time in Ohio, collecting genealogical data, in which he was quite successful.

A HORRIBLE CRIME.

TWO FIENDS WHO SHOULD HAVE JUSTICE METED TO THEM.

MILFORD, June 10.

It having come to the knowledge of the parents of some little girls, daughters of citizens of the place, that gross and disgraceful liberties had been taken with them by Frank Shimer and old George Buchanan, by enticing them to their homes, the citizens met last evening and applied a coat of tar and feathers to Shimer. His extreme old age was the only thing that saved Buchanan. I. D. Brown the father of one of the little girls became so frenzied when he heard the affair that he assaulted Shimer, and was fined $5.65.

Lawyer Spear asserts in this extreme case that the fine or judgment should not be imposed, and that Brown had a right to kill the defiler of his daughter, aged 12 years, or any other human beast who would be guilty of so great a wrong. Judge Spear has commenced a vigorous prosecution of the case.

ON THE GRAIN-SAVING QUESTION.

SALT LAKE CITY,

June 9, 1885.

Editor Deseret News:

I saw in your issue of the 4th inst., a communication concerning the storing of grain; also another on the 6th inst., on the same subject. In conversation with some of the brethren I find different opinions concerning the necessity of storing bread. Now what is orthodox opinion on this subject? Is there or is there not any necessity for storing grain? If there is necessity then we do not raise grain enough; if we do not need to store grain, then we raise too much, which can be clearly shown in subsequent communications. If we have to store it, then an organized effort is really necessary, an effort such as will reach all the heads of families in the Territory. Such a plan can be elucidated in future correspondence, but it is not worth while to take time and paper to write about a thing until the great question here asked is decided.

PROGRESS.

FROM THURSDAY'S DAILY, JUNE 11.

Valise Lost.—If the party who lately found a valise on the road somewhere between Pleasant Grove and Provo, will return it to the owner, Mrs. Thonine Einarsen, Pleasant Grove, he will be suitably rewarded for his trouble. It contained when lost some clothing, a blue velvet satchel, some white satin, two pairs of scissors, and several other articles of more value to the owner than they are likely to be to any one else.

The Unity Club Sociable.—The strawberry and flower sociable given by the Unity Club, in the Social Hall, last evening, was a most enjoyable occasion. An informal programme of exercises was rendered, and was greeted with well merited applause. In the basement strawberries and cream, ice cream, confectionery and flowers were in plenty, and after partaking of the refreshments the company amused themselves in the dance. The affair was a gratifying success.

Notice.—To Sunday School choir leaders of the Salt Lake Stake. The programme committee for the coming jubilee have decided upon the following pieces of music to be sung by all the schools in concert: "For the strength of the hills we bless Thee," Union tune book No. 2; "Beautiful Day;" "Sowing;" "Hope of Israel," from the last S. S. Union Book. The choruses of the children are, "Praying for me," and "The Pioneers."

Copies of the last two will be out shortly. The choir leaders are requested to train their whole schools to sing these pieces, having all the young men sing either tenor or bass, getting as many altos as possible (ladies and boys) the rest singing treble.

If, we believe, unnecessary to urge those having the work to do to start at once and spare no effort to make their schools as proficient as possible in these pieces, that the result may be a grand chorus, the like of which has never been witnessed or heard in these valleys.

Some important suggestions will be made by Brother Evan Stephens to the choir leaders next Sunday afternoon in the Tabernacle, if they will attend.

Reckless Riding.—A dance occurred at West Jordan night before last, and while Hiram Goff, a well-known and much respected citizen of that place, and his wife and child, were returning to their home, afoot, from attending it, they were startled by four horses coming plunging suddenly upon them. The animals were ridden by four boys, residents of West Jordan, named respectively, Robert and David Egbert, Jedediah Aylett and Philip Sprattling, and came tearing along at breakneck speed, giving the party of pedestrians no chance to get out of the way. Brother Goff was seriously hurt and his wife received some painful bruises, but the child fortunately escaped without injury. It is not to be supposed that this result was contemplated or intended by the young men, and they probably regret it almost as keenly as the injured parties do now, but such thoughtlessness or recklessness as they exhibited in thus racing on the public highway, especially after nightfall, is really inexcusable, and we trust they and others will take warning from the result in this case, and avoid such reckless riding in the future.

A Brutal Assault.—Last evening, while Mr. John Reid and his little boy were going along South Temple Street, in a light spring wagon, they met a couple of half drunken fellows mounted on horseback. When in the act of passing, the wagon wheel touched one of the horses, and the rider, Samuel Coon, of the Nineteenth Ward, poured forth a volley of oaths at the unwitting offender. Mr. Reid paid no attention, but this seemed to enrage Coon all the more, as he dismounted and seizing a large cobble, hurled it at Mr. Reid, who tried to dodge, but received the missile full in the small of the back, sustaining a serious and painful injury. He then drove on a couple of blocks, when the little boy called, "Father, they're coming again," and Mr. Reid, on turning to look, was struck a severe blow on the back of the neck by Coon, who had ridden close up to the side of the wagon. He then seized Mr. Reid's coat collar and shook him severely, all the while using the most abusive and blasphemous language. Reid was unable to retaliate, as he had, holding in the wagon, a small pig whose escape he wished to prevent. Coon and his companion then made off, and the object of their attack went to his home and then returned to the Police office and made complaint. It was some time before it could be learned who the assailant was, as his victim and he were entire strangers. This morning an officer was sent with a warrant to arrest Coon.

An Interesting Interview.

A reporter recently called at Cady's Commercial College, 14th St. and University Place, N. Y., and asked an interview with the principal of that institution, Mr. Chas. E. Cady, in regard to the truth or falsity of certain statements which had been made about his having been cured of a bad chronic nasal Catarrh by Compound Oxygen; the matter being one of special interest to the public, as a very large number of people in America are afflicted with this troublesome and often disgusting disease, Mr. Cady cheerfully responded to his inquiries and made substantially the following statement:

"By the time I was twenty-one I had catarrh deep-seated and fixed. It came on so slowly that I hardly knew it was Catarrh. I was continually hawking and spitting. I became a nuisance to myself, and I know I was to other people. There was a constant dripping in my throat. I always had a weak stomach, and this made it weaker. I was in the grip of this horrible Catarrh."

"And after trying sundry remedies without advantage, I resolved to make an experiment with Compound Oxygen, and procured a Home Treatment. In the short space of four weeks great improvement was visible. I continued the treatment, at intervals for nearly six months, when my Catarrh, which had been unusually obstinate, was at an end. The unpleasant secretions disappeared, and also the pain in my head which had accompanied them. The necessity for hawking and spitting disappeared, my stomach grew stronger and my digestion better."

"This was about three years ago. Since then I have had no return of the Catarrh. I know my cure must be reasonably permanent, for I have taken several slight colds, which have passed away without leaving any evil effects. During my Catarrh days such colds would have aggravated my disease to a serious extent."

"You may quote me as freely as you please as a firm believer the virtues of Compound Oxygen."

A "Treatise on Compound Oxygen," containing a history of the discovery and mode of action of this remarkable curative agent, will be sent free. Address Drs. STARKY & PALEN, 1109 and 1111 Girard St., Philadelphia.

Orders for the Compound Oxygen Home Treatment will be filled by H. E. Mathews, 621 Powell St., between Bush and Pine streets, San Francisco.

John Teemer is arranging for a grand regatta, open to all the world, to be held at Pittsburg.

The 17-year locusts have made their appearance in vast numbers at Princeton and in Central New Jersey.
