

PAPER TRUST INVESTIGATION

President of International Co. Willing to Send Officials With Full Information.

PUBLISHERS TESTIFY FIRST.

Norris Asked to be Relieved from Exhibiting Arrangement With New York Times.

Various Witnesses Told How Prices Had Been Shoved Up—Gen. Angus Quoted on "Blood Money."

Washington, April 27.—The select committee of the house, appointed by Speaker Cannon to inquire into the complaint of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, regarding the price of print paper in the United States, continued its hearing today.

At the outset, Chairman Mann announced the receipt of a letter from President Burbank of the International Paper company, expressing his complete willingness to send to Washington "suitable officials with full information regarding affairs of this company, as you will be at a loss."

With the consent of the committee, Chairman Mann replied by telegraph, saying the committee would be glad to have any officials interested in the matter at the hearing, and that the committee was desirous of obtaining the fullest information possible. He added that the committee would be pleased to have the International Paper company appear immediately after the testimony of the Publishers' association shall have been completed.

COMMITTEE'S DESIRE.

Chairman Mann stated that it was the committee's desire to have each of the publishers now here testify as to his personal knowledge of the several matters complained of.

John Norris, representing the paper committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, resumed his testimony begun Saturday. He at once asked to be relieved from exhibiting the confidential paper arrangements of the New York Times. Gen. Angus was employed a rate of $28 per ton and suggested that perhaps the information might be obtained from the International Paper company.

The committee replied Mr. Mann, "does not desire to embarrass the New York Times or you. We cannot get the data from the International Paper company. Gen. Angus was their agent, and they have commenced to testify, and therefore the committee directs you to give it all the information in your possession."

BLOOD MONEY.

As bearing on the determination of the paper makers to raise prices, Mr. Norris read a number of statements made at the meeting of the publishers in September, 1907. One of these was by Gen. Angus, who said that the time Americans who said that while he had at one time enjoyed favorable paper contracts, he had been forced to pay $250 per hundred. "That was blood money," Gen. Angus was quoted as saying. Another statement was made by Editor Haines of the Patterson News, who said that a director of the International Paper company, "after he had taken a few dollars from me," said they were going to check up the price of paper to $3 a hundred. Still another statement by the business manager of the New York Journal of Commerce was read. It spoke of the several increases in the price of paper until, after the expiration of an existing contract, the price was run up to $2.50. Mr. Norris said he had not the slightest doubt that the striking of the several increases in the price of paper until, after the expiration of an existing contract, the price was run up to $2.50. Mr. Norris said he had not the slightest doubt that the striking of the several increases in the price of paper until, after the expiration of an existing contract, the price was run up to $2.50.

Asked by Mr. Mann if he knew how much print paper is used annually by the newspapers in this country, Mr. Norris said he did not know, but that the price of paper was published in the smaller cities.

It was not altogether accurate, said Mr. Norris, to say that as a rule the large newspapers have been able to buy their paper supply at less cost than the small papers, because the small paper could get the net benefit of the competition between the large and small mills, while in the case of the big papers this competition was restricted by the smallness of the number of mills capable of manufacturing in individual quantities sufficient to supply the large users. Mr. Norris said the average increase in price to the 202 listed publications was substantially $2.50 a ton in the last two years. Mr. Stafford objected that the striking of such an average was "not a fair epitome of the list," because the list showed, for the most part, that the increase to small papers was much larger than the increase to the big papers.

EXPLAINING VARIATIONS.

Asked by Mr. Mann to explain the variation between $2 and $7 a ton, Mr. Norris said that it was in fact a determination that there was to be established a uniform raise in price to $2.50 per hundred. That, he said, was the agreed amount that during the past year many contracts had been reduced at prices up to $2.50, because, he said, two years ago they made five-cent contracts with Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Chicago papers, whereby at the end of one or two years there would be a readjustment of the prices. "The readjustment," he asserted, "has taken place."

"If," said Mr. Mann, "you desire us

RICHARD CROKER ON GAMBLING BILL

Says Gov. Hughes' Action in Reference to it Should Injure His Prospects.

EXPECTS TO WIN SOME RACES

Ex-Hoss of Opinion That What United States Needs is a Quiet President.

Dublin, April 27.—Richard Croker has strong hopes of adding this year the "1,000 guineas" at Newmarket and "The Oaks" at Epsom to his previous victories on the British turf. Mr. Croker has authorized a contradiction of the stories circulating through the sporting papers that the most promising of this string had wintered badly, and that the prospects were gloomy. The mare Rhodora, which was seen to advantage as a 2-year-old, is said to have gone through the winter in good shape and having no accident. Mr. Croker thinks she will be classic.

Mr. Croker has secured first claim on Lucien Lyne for the racing season. Mr. Lyne has already been over to the states and tried Rhodora to his great satisfaction. Asked about a story to the effect that there had been an encounter between Croker and John Roche, the prize fighter, after the encounter, the St. Patrick's night when Tommy Burns so easily whipped the Irishman, Mr. Croker said nothing of the kind had occurred. Although interested in the fight he had never met Roche in his life and Roche had never seen him unless he was able to see through the glass of the ring the box occupied by Mr. Croker and his friends during the fight.

Mr. Croker declined to discuss presidential possibilities in the United States except in the case of Mr. Hughes, whose endorsement by the New York state convention he said he considered only a compliment from his own state. "Mr. Hughes' action in reference to the gambling bill should injure his prospects as a politician," said he. "Why cannot they select the part of the gamble that is pleasant and gives pleasure and profit to the people?" "What America needs," said Mr. Croker, in conclusion, "is a quiet president. The country wants a rest for a long time under some statesman like William McKinley."

DEMOCRATIC FILIBUSTER

Leader Williams Says It Will Continue Until House Decides to Consider Campaign Publicity Bill.

Washington, April 27.—In a speech in the house today Minority Leader Williams said the Democratic filibuster would continue until the house decided to consider the campaign publicity bill, a bill putting print paper on the free list and the anti-injunction bill.

THREE PEOPLE DROWNED.

Muskegon, Mich., April 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Willard Stone and Byrd Ward were drowned in Muskegon lake last night when their boat was overtaken by the high waves. Miss Ethel Stewart clung to the boat and drifted a mile to the shore.

FUNERAL SERVICE OVER CAMPBELL-BANNERMAN

London, April 27.—The funeral service of the Church of England was solemnized in Westminster abbey at noon today over the body of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, late premier of Great Britain, in the presence of a large gathering, representing the political life of England. After the service a short procession moved from the abbey to the cemetery, where a special train took the coffin, some of Sir Henry's relatives and a few of his closest friends to Scotland. It was a typical gloomy London day and a dismal rain fell when the coffin was carried away by the hearse and the funeral train.

The last time a body of a premier of England was taken to Westminster abbey was in 1845, when Gladstone was buried there. The ceremony of today held much less of display than was seen when Mr. Gladstone was laid to rest, but the grandeur of the abbey and the chanting of those who assembled today for the last honors to Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman formed a noteworthy historical scene.

WIRELESS TO THE NEWS

Elders Send Dispatch from Mid-Atlantic Which is Relayed on From Halifax, N. S.

Something over two years ago the Deseret News printed the first wireless special message sent direct to any paper in Utah. Today another was received. The first message was dispatched from the wireless station on Catalina island on the occasion of the visit of the Salt Lake Commercial club and the chamber of commerce to the special wireless received today is from mid-Atlantic and was recorded this morning at the wireless station at Halifax, N. S., and relayed on to Salt Lake by the Western Union.

The senders of the dispatch are Chauncey Edgar Snow of Cardston, Canada, and Victor E. Candland, San Francisco, two Mormon elders now on their way to their fields of labor in Europe. The dispatch is self-explanatory and is as follows: "S. S. Canada, via Halifax, N. S., April 27, '08. The Deseret News, Salt Lake City, Utah: Greetings missionaries Canada mid-Atlantic filled with spirit much love to all. SNOW, CANDLAND."

to believe that these increases were for the purpose of equalizing prices or raising prices to a certain figure, you owe it to us to present some testimony on that subject."

BOX CAR ROBBERS ARE VERY ACTIVE

Detective Joe Jones of Oregon Short Line Lands Ten of Them.

SHOTS SENT AFTER GET-AWAY

Bunch Headed by Notorious Bad Man Steals $2,000 in Silks—Booby Hauled in Wagon.

Joe Jones, chief of the Oregon Short Line secret service, is a distinctly busy man right now and is doing good work in his war on box car thieves. As a result of his labors yesterday morning, 11 hard looking characters were brought into Granger, Wyo., heavily ironed. In the bunch was Shotgun Tom, a notorious and dangerous Wyoming character who has apparently been the ringleader in an organized gang. While waiting for connections at Granger to take their prisoners to the jail at Evanston, John McCoy, who is said to have a bad record in Nevada and Montana, made a dash for liberty and succeeded in getting away in the darkness although he was handcuffed. From latest reports this afternoon the escaped man is still at large. McCoy was in charge of Deputy Carl Rogers, who fired two shots after the fleeing crook.

JAIL BREAK AT LOGAN.

These artists apparently have been at work all over the system. On Friday night word was received from Bannock, Ida., that several cars had been broken into and goods stolen. The railroad detectives captured two men accused of the crime and took them to Logan for safe keeping. Shortly afterwards the fellows broke jail and are still at large.

The eleven men taken to Evanston yesterday were captured at Diamondville and vicinity, and are accused of breaking into box cars and stealing silks, cases of shoes and other valuable merchandise to the value of $2,000 or more. In addition they stole over 500 pounds of meat from a refrigerated car.

OPERATED WITH A WAGON.

So boldly did the gang operate under Shotgun Tom, whose real name is said to be Tom Murphy, that they opened and ransacked every case in the cars, selected their loot and loaded it up into a wagon and then hid under the hay in the wagon. The affair was reported to Oregon Short Line headquarters here, and Mr. Jones left for the scene on Friday. Acting on a tip received here by Marshal M. F. Naylin and Deputy Sheriff Carl Rogers went to a deserted shack where they rounded up the gang and got the drop on them. A big part of the loot was unearthed and hidden under the hay in a barn. Four wicked looking guns were also found conveniently cached.

During this time Mr. Jones had his hands full holding the rest of the bunch at the point of his revolver, as all hands were seized with a desire to break out and make a dash for freedom.

Mr. Jones returned to Salt Lake this morning sadly in need of sleep, but with a heavy load of evidence on his desk. He is expected to make a statement on the robberies facing him at his desk.

AN ALL AROUND BAD MAN

"Hip-O" Johnson Arrested at Belt, Montana, at Behest of Canadian Police After Long Chase.

Helena, Mont., April 27.—"Hip-O" Johnson, an alleged cattle thief, dead shot, and all around bad man, who has been a fugitive from justice for more than a year, was arrested at Belt last night by Deputy United States Marshal Haighter at the behest of the Canadian northwest police. He was taken to Butte today where tomorrow he will be arraigned before Federal Judge Hunt. He is charged with cattle rustling and made a sensational escape from jail at McLeod, Alberta, in August, 1904. He was badly wanted, having led the Canadian authorities a chase and all intervening states, as well as Nevada and Arizona. He is said to have been at the head of a noted gang of cattle rustlers, and he has been wanted by the Canadian, the papers must be approved by Secretary of State Root.

DEATH OF LUACINE PEERY.

After Combat With Illness for Seven Years Struggle Proves Unavailing.

Mrs. Joseph S. Peery died at the Fifth East hotel in this city at 6:30 o'clock this morning. She has been ill invalid for seven years, bravely and uncomplainingly enduring a complication of incurable ailments, consisting of piloid tumor, vascular heart trouble and Bright's disease. She passed away while sleeping, heart trouble and Bright's disease.

As a girl she was well and most favorably known in the city as Lucine Hoge. Friends, who are legion, remember her as a beautiful and attractive girl of superior intelligence and education, and who was delightful in her manner and withal was one of the most attractive daughters of Salt Lake City.

Lucine Hoge married Joseph Strass Peery July 29, 1888, at her home in Salt Lake City, and afterwards went to Ogden to live. They lived in Ogden until October last, when she desired to come to Salt Lake City to be with her parents and former friends. She has had a comparatively pleasant winter. During her seven years' illness everything has been done for her recovery that could possibly be done. She was taken to Chicago twice to consult with the leading physicians of America as to her condition and has made two trips to California for her health.

HEINZE ARE LINE NOT FAR AHEAD

Biggest Mortgage of Year Filed With County Clerk Saturday Evening.

COVERS THREE MILLIONS

Half Million for Construction and Two Hundred and Fifty Thousand for New Equipment.

Local Lawyers Named as Officers With Eastern Capitalists in Salt Lake—Bingham Project.

A Heinze enterprise, described by the "News" months ago, is at last in shape for touches which will add another installment to Utah's list of one (the Bingham line). The new enterprise is of vast importance to the state and means that Brigham is to have the best possible shipping facilities and the best possible outlet to the smelters here. A half million dollars is to be spent building the line, and a quarter of a million will be spent for equipment. A mortgage for $3,000,000 was filed Saturday to cover the amounts which will be expended in making a road and a well equipped line. Valuable mining ground held by Heinze in Bingham will be the terminal of the line above and the smelters will be the other terminal. The state will be greatly enriched by this project as no end of ore can be handled at a cost absolutely at a minimum.

HIGHEST OF YEAR.

The mortgage, the biggest of the year, was filed in the office of County Recorder Perkins Saturday, being one from the Bingham Central Railway company of Salt Lake county to the Metropolitan Trust company of New York for $3,000,000. The railroad company gives as security for the issue of the above amount in 6 per cent 40-year gold bonds a first mortgage on its property in this county, redeemable in 1912, at the option of the company at 105 per cent.

The purpose of the issue is for the extension, acquisition and equipment of its line from Salt Lake City to Bingham, together with branches and extensions thereof and for the payment of the debts contracted and to be contracted in such construction and acquisition of other properties.

WHAT SUMS REPRESENT.

For constructing that portion of the road in the Bingham district, and for tunneling through and under the properties of the Bingham Consolidated Mining & Smelting company, the Ohio Copper company, the Fortuna Mining company and other properties, the road is bonded for $250,000 per mile, or $25,000 for 80 rods; for the regular tracklaying $500,000 is set aside at the rate of $300,000 per mile for the construction work. The same amount is to be used for additional equipment while $500,000 may be used for securing additional trackage and extensions.

Principal and interest for the bond issue is payable at the office of the trust company in New York. The document, which is a lengthy one, covering 20 pages of closely printed matter, is signed on behalf of the Bingham Central Railway company by A. C. Ellis, Jr., president, and W. T. Gunter, secretary, while the Trust company is represented by the signature of Beverly Clews, its second vice president, and J. C. Kinck, its secretary.

Y., April 27.—While a party of school children were playing in the yard of public school No. 35 on Swan street today, a tall chimney on an adjoining building and blown over by a gust of wind, fell on them, killing 14 years of age was caught under the debris and crushed to death. Hugh Dougherty, aged 16 years, received a fatal injury to the head. He was taken to the hospital and is internally injured. Several others received minor cuts and bruises.

CHINESE BOYCOTT.

So Effective That One Line Suspends Service to South America.

Hongkong, April 27.—The boycott by China in the Japanese has become so effective in the southern part of China that the Toyoko Kien Kai (Oriental Steamship) company has temporarily suspended its South American service as the steamers of the line are unable to obtain passengers and freight.

Dalzell Brown, formerly manager of the California Safe Deposit and Trust company, pleaded guilty this morning to the charge of embezzling 65 mortgage bonds of the Sacramento Gas & Electric company and was sentenced to 18 months in the county jail. As Result of Representations of Publishers' Assn. Speaker Cannon Has Agreed to Discuss Question.

ART COLLECTORS BALANCE FRAUDS

Grossly Imposed on by Well Known Dealer in Collusion With a Talented Painter.

WORKS WELL DOCTORED.

Uncompleted Paintings of Recognized Masters Were Finished, Their Individual Style Being Imitated.

New York, April 27.—As the result of an inquiry which is being conducted by several of the leading art collectors of this city, together with their counsel, a story has been revealed that cannot fail to astound the art world of America and Europe. These art collectors have reached the conclusion that for years the most competent critics and the most discriminating buyers of paintings have been grossly imposed upon by a well known art dealer who has systematically co-operated with a painter endowed with extraordinary ability not only to finish the uncompleted works of recognized masters, but even to imitate their individual style so successfully as to suggest imitative powers amounting to genius.

Several collectors who now believe they have been imposed upon, have put the matter in the hands of lawyers, to prevent the successful continuation of such invidious fraud is the purpose of the inquiry now under way. Whether the results may be such as to warrant legal action is not yet known. Three great American landscape paintings—Homer, Martin, A. H. Wyant and George Inness, the elder, all of whom are dead, have been among whose works have been most persistently and most successfully imitated, according to the investigators, and these distinguished names are said to have been attached to spurious paintings of which many have been sold at high prices to unsuspecting purchasers.

It has been estimated that counterfeit examples of paintings have been disposed of to the amount of not less than $100,000. Even the great Whistler is said to have been successfully imitated and his immortal name forged on spurious canvases.

From a psychological standpoint perhaps the most astounding feature of this remarkable story is its revelation of the amazing type of genius possessed by the painter whose gifts enable him to play the leading part in the imposture. Endowed with so little ability of a creative type that his admittedly original productions have hardly lifted him above the plane of mediocrity, his name is almost unknown in the broader world of art, yet his imitative powers are so extraordinary that it is said of him that, however pronounced the individual characteristics of any particular painter might be, he has been able to reproduce them with a devoted study of any painting, to go to his studio and reproduce it so exactly that it is not possible to detect any difference at the hands of some of the most able critics and sometimes of the creator of the original painting himself.

ATTACK PRISON WALLS

Mysterious Assault at Early Morning Hour Baffles Local Officers.

A mysterious attack upon the south wall at the state prison occurred at 2 o'clock this morning and efforts to a solution have put Warden Arthur Pratt almost into a comatose estate. During the early morning excitement the escape from death of the men who assaulted the wall was more a miracle of good fortune than anything else. About midnight a long man was seen near the prison walls. He was noticed to act in an unusual manner, but little heed was paid to him at the time. He was loitering about the walls for a few moments and after giving vent to a lusty shout with his hands raised trumpet-like to his mouth, he disappeared. An investigation undertaken within the prison revealed nothing that would indicate that his shout was a signal to men within the penitentiary.

About two hours later a rock was thrown at one of the guards on the south wall and a party of men was seen to scramble from the underbrush bordering the creek which runs near the south walls. The guard on the wall had the searchlight thrown in the direction of the party and fired four shots in the direction of the men, believing that they were in dangerous territory they retreated into the bushes and vanished from sight. A general alarm was sounded and four minutes later nine guards from the cottages were present in the prison towers for duty and all available men in the prison were at their rifles prepared for anything that might happen. The incident closed, however, as quickly as it had started, leaving nothing but mystery in its wake.

Warden Pratt, speaking of the peculiar occurrence this afternoon, said that persons contemplating such escapades in the future will certainly be hanged, for nothing but chance saved the lives of men engaged in last night's encounter. Had the guards used a shotgun, he said, instead of his rifle, it is certain that his targets would not have escaped so fortunately. Speculation as to the reason for the morning's incident is engaging the guards and prison officers today, but they have no idea as to the solution.

ANDREW CARNEGIE EXPLAINS

Dr. Kingsbury of the Utah university has received a letter from Andrew Carnegie regarding the $5,000,000 as a foundation for the penning of teachers of state universities. In this the terms of the bequest are explained. Some are: the university's income must be equivalent to the interest of a $200,000 endowment; it must require high school diplomas equal to 14 units; it must have six professors and a teacher to be pensioned must be 65 years old and have taught 15 years or have taught 25 years. A widow of a pensioner is entitled to half the amount given the pensioner during life.

CAN'T TELL JURY DETAILS OF CRIME

Manager of Salt Lake Tribune Is Wanted by Marshall Spy, Who Carries a Subpoena.

CLAIMED TO KNOW IT ALL

But He Failed to Remain on Hand When Opportunity Is Offered To Make Known Story of Theft.

Because Frank E. Seifert is not in Salt Lake, U. S. Marshal William Spry has been unable to subpoena him to appear before the grand jury, and tell the story which he threatened through the Salt Lake Tribune would expose the bank robber and a conspiracy to conceal him as deep as the much mooted Mountain Meadow massacre.

A constant effort to locate Seifert has been kept up since the grand jury was assembled, but without result. The Tribune offices it is said "he is out of town" and no information is given as to when he will return.

Ten days ago he left ostensibly to attend the convention of newspaper publishers which gathered last week in New York. It is reported he did not appear at this convention, however, and should he return to Salt Lake before the grand jury adjourns he would be immediately summoned to tell the details of the "horrible conspiracy" he maintained so stoutly existed to suppress the name of the Utah bank robber, Samuel Dowse, who more openly than Seifert made the same pretensions, came away from the grand jury room a pretty much abashed individual and having heard of since as an authority on who took the money.

JOSEPH NELSON EXAMINED.

The jury this morning heard the testimony of only one witness and this was Joseph Nelson, whose affairs have been before the jury ever since it first convened. From the very beginning rumor has related the names of Mr. Nelson and Mr. Adams most intimately with the investigation, and it is thought that the plan has been to place before the jury all matters connected with the Nelson case, and then to place him on the stand to explain them. That Mr. Adams will next be taken up in the event that a definite lead is not developed pointing to Mr. Nelson, is the general conclusion, and witnesses are already summoned to carry on such an investigation.

One interesting feature of the case just come to light is an allegation that certain witnesses have been meeting in the office of an attorney who lives in town, and have there had sessions concerning the progress of the jury. The attorney is a man with a number of political friends in the fire.

NEVADA MAN SOUGHT.

Another feature is that certain names, not heretofore connected with the robbery, are being brought into the case. A prominent banking and business man of Nevada, it is stated on good authority, has been subpoenaed and is now on his way from Nevada to give his testimony. From Ripley, Moore and Detective Shannon, who are all connected with the case, it seems that the man's testimony is counted on to open up a definite and tangible lead in the case towards the uncovering of the guilty party.

It is expected that Mr. Nelson will be kept on the witness stand most of this afternoon, as he was told to report back at 2:15 o'clock.

POLICE IN WILD CHASE.

Thought They Had a Murderer, But Find Their Mistake Later.

A wild report that a murder had been committed near the Salt Palace was received at police headquarters this morning, and the patrol wagon, with Sergeant Hempel and Officers Ripley, Moore and Detective Shannon, and Wilson made a flying trip to the scene of supposed bloodshed. When they arrived they found one of the health men in an excited state of mind. He declared that a young man named Harris C. Hart had fired a shot at him. The police started out in hot pursuit of Hart, but for a time the latter eluded the officers. He dashed down the street and disappeared down an alley. Shannon and Ripley followed as fast as they could while Hempel, Moore and Detective Shannon, who were in the patrol wagon, drove at breakneck speed to the other side of the block. Hempel caught the young man as he was running out of the alley. He was placed under arrest and the officers started off for three of his companions. They found them on Main street and the four were hauled to the station.

When Hart was interrogated over his arrest, he declared that no shot had been fired, but admitted that he threw a boulder against the fence and broke off a board and that it sounded like a pistol shot. Hart was held, but the other three were released as there was nothing against them.

The wagon made another trip to the scene of disorder, the purpose of the health men being to find out whether or not a shot had been fired. They found the broken fence, but no trace of a bullet and as no weapon was found on any of the "wild" rascals, headquarters, they concluded that Hart had made a mistake. Young Hart was placed under a $5 bond and released.

WANT TO FIND DAVIS.

Express Companies Search for Man Who Worked Clever Game.

A dispatch received in this city today from Chicago, states that 20 American Express money order blanks were stolen recently from a branch office in Kansas City, by one Ed. W. Davis. Intelligence as to whose whereabouts is earnestly desired by the police. The blanks were filled out, $5 to each one, made payable to the order of C. M. Arnold, endorsed by R. S. Moore of Salt Lake, and redeemed at Walker Bros' bank. It is stated that Mr. Moore's sympathies were "worked upon" by Davis to the extent of securing his endorsement; but at the Walker bank all knowledge of the transaction was denied. Agent Sandborn of the Federal Express company has notified the police here to look out for Davis.

DEDICATE WARD CHAPEL.

Twenty-Seventh Ward Meetinghouse Scene of Large Gathering.

Dedictory services were held last night in the chapel of the Twenty-seventh ward, the dedicatory prayer being pronounced by President Joseph F. Smith. The service was presided over by Bishop James Maxwell. In his remarks in opening the service, Bishop Maxwell announced that the ward, with respect to its chapel, is entirely out of debt. The building was erected at a cost of $13,634. An address was also given by President R. W. Young of English street. Over 500 people were present last night and the seating capacity of the edifice was taxed to its limit.

Last of the New Rolling Stock Arrives Ready for Commission.

All of the 50 new cars for the street railway have now been received and unloaded. They number from 410 to 460, and will be put into commission as rapidly as they can be connected up. The old "warmed over" cars are stored on the Tenth ward square, preparatory to being sold to other companies. A large consignment of Hunter fenders were received this morning from the eastern manufacturers, and hauled up to the barn. They will be painted standard yellow and placed on the new cars.

The Ninth and Eleventh East street tracks will have been rebuilt and ready for the new cars by the middle of May.

FROST HURTS VEGETATION.

Colorado has lost a million dollars' worth of crops through frost during the last few days. Salt Lake valley and Utah generally have been fortunate, for while some frost has been noticed throughout Utah, no damage of any great extent has been reported. Killing frost was felt at Grand Junction last night and it was four degrees below zero at Modena, Utah, but throughout the farming and stock raising portions of the state the frost which fell last night and night before was not heavy enough to nip foliage or vegetation. Relief from winter weather for 24 hours. The killing frost in the local weather bureau's prediction for tonight, which says, "Fair and warmer." It will be cold again tomorrow, but from the weather bureau's prediction, it is said that an effort was made to induce the county authorities to care for him but that they refused. Rose is now in a private room at the Volunteers headquarters (opposite the police station) and is receiving the attention that his condition demands.

VOLUNTEERS OFFER AID.

A sad case of neglect and destitution was called to the attention of the Volunteers last
