SITES COME HIGH ON MAIN STREET

Merchants Are Now Offering Large Bonuses to Get Locations for Their Stores.

IS IT TO BE ONE-STREET CITY

Acavy Rents Cause Smaller Concerns To Seek Locations on State Street or West Temple.

The business district of Salt Lake City has reached an interesting stage of development at the present time, and speculation is being indulged in regarding the direction of its future expansion, and as to whether State or Main street will show the greater growth in the future. The increasing rents on Main street, which in some cases, have now reached exorbitant figures, lead to the inquiry whether this is going to be a onestreet city. Between the rapidly instreet city. Between the rapidly increasing rents on Main street, and the numberless incidentals which swell the expense account of the firms doing business on Main, a number of the smaller firms are speculating as to where they are going to get off. Yet the demand for Main street sites is greater today than it ever was. This is exemplified by the readiness of firms who are compelled to move paying large bonuses in order to stay on Main street. Even with the payment of thousands of dollars as a bonus to present lessees of stores it is almost impossible to get a footing on Main street in the business center.

COSTS MONEY TO MOVE.

COSTS MONEY TO MOVE.

There are just now several cases in point, notably those of Rowe & Kelley and the J. P. Gardner Co., both clothing firms, which are compelled to vacate their present quarters before October so as to make room for the new Kearns' office building. Rowe & Kelly have secured the building at 117 Main street, at present occupied by Kniefel's cafeteria. It is a very small store comparatively, and one in which the firm will be very much cramped, yet they have had to pay $400 a month rent and a bonus of $3,500 in order to secure it temporarily. J. P. Gardner will move to the building at 131 Main, now occupied by the Crystal theater, for which he has to pay $350 per month, and a bonus of nearly $4,000 besides. These moves are only temporary as both of the firms will go back to their present quarters as soon as the Kearns building is completed, which will not be less than a year from next October. In the meantime they have had to pay high for the privilege of remaining close to their old stands.

per month, or even more. There is some talk of transferring the lease, but the high bonus asked is the barrier out the high bonus asked is the barrier in the way. It is stated that the bonus asked by the shoe company is not far from $10,000 for the two year's life of the lease. Providing satisfactory arrangements can be made Robinson Brothers will vacate and the clothing company will shortly move to their future home.

SPECULATION IN LEASES. The same conditions prevail in other parts of the business district of Salt Lake City. A number of leases have been bought up by farseeing parties, notably the Citizens' Bank, which is ready to sell them at a bonus, and in some cases they have done so, making hundreds of dollars a month income without turning their hands. RENTS CERTAINLY HIGHER.

The unprecedented demand for office The unprecedented demand for office space and store space is being turned to account by the Singer representatives, who have just closed a five-year lease on the store at 43 Main street. This store, which is not very wide, has been divided in two, and about 8 feet, running back about 70 or 80 feet, is now being offered at $175 per month. The firm has been offered $160, but $175 is wanted, and there is said to be not the slightest doubt about obtaining it. The store at 45 and 47 Main street, formerly occupied by Bartn & Comformerly occupied by Bartn & Com-pany, has been remodeled by the Ashton-Jenkins company, the new owners, at a cost of a little over $5,000, and at a cost of a little over $5,000, and the rent has been doubled. Instead of receiving only $300 a month as formerly, a rental of $600 is now obtained, as follows: Daynes-Beebe Music company, $350; Martin Coal company, $125, and Ashton-Jenkins company, $125.

HELPING OUT STATE STREET. HELPING OUT STATE STREET.

The feeling generally is that the present great advance in rents has not reached the crest of the wave. Rents are bound to go higher on Main street, which will probably remain the great business center of the city, the effect of such advances will be to drive the second class business off Main to other streets of the city, including State street, which has grown very much in importance as a business street during the past three or four years. It is probable therefore that the high rents on Main street will in time help greatly in the development time help greatly in the development of State street and Weste Temple, which has begun in good shape during the last two or three years, and thus give, three business streets running north and south, with their intersec-tions, and settle the question as to whether this is going to be a one

IMPORTATION OF FOREIGNERS AROUSES MINERS' WRATH

Victor, Colo., July 14.—Foreigners re-cently imported by one of the large mining companies have stirred the wrath of American miners because, it is alleged, they have cut the scale 50 cents a day and work two hours longer. This resulted in an attack upon them last night during which shots were fired, a bullet striking Paul Zorby, an Austrian, dangerously wounding him. The foreigners were warned to leave the city at case.

The attack was arranged and carried out so quickly that no trace of the guilty parties had been found. The authorities are investigating.

When many Russian refugees were coming to this country during the late Russian revolution, the society cared for all who sought assistance, regardless of their faith or political affiliations, and the offer of $10,000 was made in appreciation of this fact, but the officers of the society entertain very strong feelings against the Russian government for its treatment of Jews and therefore the proposition to accept the endowment has been held in abeyance and may not be called up again. been held in abeyance and may not be called up again.

The clothing firm has secured the building at 124 Main street subject to the lease of Robinson brothers, which has a little over two years to run. The present lease calls for a rent of $300 per month, and it is said that it would easily rent for $500 per month, or even more. LATTER REPLIES TO CRITICS.

Did Not Dissolve Reichstag as it Would Have Resulted in Increasing The Forces of Socialism.

Berlin, July 14 .- Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg was tday appointed chancellor of the empire in succession to Prince Von Buelow.

Sydow, secretary of the imperial treasury, goes to the department of commerce; Her Wermuth, under secretary of the interior lunder Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, becomes secretary of the treasury, and Ludwig Hole, Prussian minister of public instruction, retires on account of ill health and is succeeded by Von Trott zu Zolz, president of the province of Brandenburg. Count von Loebell, chief of the Imperial Chancellory, has been appointed president of Brandenburg.

Herr Wermuth, who was German commissioner to the Chicago exposition, has many friends in America.

In a conversation with a representatible of a Hamburg newspaper Prince von Buelow commenting today on the fact that he had been reproached with want of courage in not dissolving the reichstag, explained that he had not taken such a step because elections in the present state of public opinion would have resulted in increasing the forces of Socialism and the new house would not have passed the finance bill.

The Conservatives had made the mistake, from which they and the country would suffer, of refusing the inheritance tax. They had made reasonable property tax the issue on which the party was to stand or fall.

"I have been able," Prince von Buelow continued, "to overcome the Socialists and given them a smashing defeat at the elections without resorting to repressive police measures. We shall see whether Socialism shall continue to go back and whether the Germanization of Poland and the suppression of the Guelphs will go forward. I hope so, but we shall see that this new combination of Conservatives, Centrists and Poles will do for the empire."

Stubbs of the Harriman Mr. Stubbs had been to Portland and Scattle to confer with the representatives of the Hill lines with a view to common traffic between those two cities for the Hill and Harriman lines. The conference was harmonious, and there was but little difficults in weaching an agreement so culty in reaching an agreement, so that the Great Northern will now run into Portland, and the O. Seattle over the same tracks.

Mr. Reaves met Mr. Stubbs at Huntington, Or., and rode with him in his private car to Pocatello, thence coming directly south, while Mr. Stubbs continued on to Granger, and east over the Union Pacific. The magnate expressed himself in emphatic admiration of the marvelous growth of south ern Idaho, particularly from an agri-cultural standpoint. Lands that Mr. Stubbs noticed were but a comparatively short time ago under sagebrush and greasewood, are now under a high state of cultivation, with buildings and little towns springing up along the lines of canals and ditches. Then the influx of settlers in such large numbers caught Mr. Stubbs' eye at once, and the fact that they are of such a good order of people, so enterprising and possessed of people, so enterprising and possessed of means, was something not to be overlooked. He predicted a remarkable future for that section of the country, and said that if he lived to be 75 years old, he wanted to come back to Idaho and note the continuation of this wonderful development. Mr. Stubbs has noted the development of local civilizations in many parts of the Union, but this particular section seems to call for special admiration.

BALLINGER'S ATTITUDE TOWARDS FOREST RESERVES

Seattle. Wash., July 14.—"The idea seems to have gone forth that I have clashed with Secy. of Agriculture Wilson over the forest reserves, but such is not the case. I have no ouarrel with Secy. Wilson. My views and those of Gifford Pinchot, head of the forestry bureau, which is a part of the department of agriculture, diverged in the matter of forest reserves, I mantained that the law should be enforced and it is now up to the attorney-general for a decision," declared R. A. Ballinger, secretary of the interior, in an interview last night.

"The department of the interior has charge of all public lands and does not intend that the forestry bureau, a part of another department, shall run the department of the interior.

"By act of Congress, forest reserves are open for mineral exploration and exploitation. Mr. Pinchot set aside certain sections of forest reserves which he called administrative, sites and ranger's posts. He refused absolutely to allow these to be opened to mineral expolitation. Among his reasons was a laudable one to the effect that some of the mineral sites might have also waterpower advantages. I maintain that the law of Congress, which throws public lands open for mineral exploitation applies to these so-called administrative sites whether or not they have waterpower advantages. I do not think that Mr. Pinchot was acting within the law in closing such sections of the reserves. These are the facts of the differences between the department of the interior and the foresty bureau."

With his head bleeding from deep gashes, both eyes closed with their swollen condition and other injuries about his head and face, Andy Anderson was found by Patrolman Jim Morris and Special Officer Riley at 4 o'clock this morning near the corner of Third East and South Temple streets. He was almost unconscious when found lying in a ditch and could not tell how long he had been there, nor who were his assailants.

Morris and Riley were walking along South Temple street at the hour men-tioned and their attention was attracttioned and their attention was attracted by seeing a man a short distance ahead of them walking toward Third East with a sack on his back. They pursued the man to investigate. Whila crossing a ditch, Morris stumbled and fell over Anderson. He stopped to pick him up, while Riley pursued their original quarry. This latter man was found to be a musician with a mandolin on his back and he was permitted to go home, whither he was bound

He was taken to the police station and He was taken to the police station and Patrolman Kast, who speaks Swedish, was called in to investigate the man's mishap. All he could gather from the man's talk, which was punctuated with groans, was that he had been set upon by two men who beat him. After the first two or three blows he evidently became unconscious, for he did not get a look at the man and he remembered nothing until he had been awakened nothing until he had been awakened by the officers. He said that he had $20 and a $6 watch, both of which were taken from him.

Anderson's wounds were dressed by Police Surgeon Steele and will not result seriously, though today the victim of the assault is feeling anything but jubilant. Although the police are at work on the case, they have nothing to direct them to the men who robbed the man, as he was unable to tell more about the affair today than he was last night.

INN-KEEPER OF SLEEPY HOLLOW SURRENDERS

New York, July 14.—John Melin, the inn-keeper in Sleepy Hollow, whose saloon John D. Rockefeller for years sought to buy, has finaly given up the fight. He has announced that on Thursday he will sell to anyone who cares to buy his furniture, bar fixtures and the surplus stock of drinkables.

premature explosion of a revolver July

His death was caused by the lege.

New York, July 14.—A nervy three-card monte gambler set up his game on a side street a few feet off the busiest section of Broadway and did a thriving business, according to the report made today by a traffic squad policeman. The gambler, attired in a celluloid collar, a suit of clothes with large checks and a flaming red tie, from which a large imitation diamond scintillated, spread his outfit on the sidewalk and in a few minutes had a large crowd eagerly betting that they could pick out the queen of hearts, and each backing his belief with 50 cents. It resembles a scene on the thoroughfare of a new western mining camp until the policeman, wondering why the crowd had gathered, approached. Then the three-card monte man picked up his layout and disappeared.

EASY SAILING FOR JAPAN IN KOREA IS PREDICTED

Tokio, July 14.-When the charge in the resident generalty of Korea was decided upon the disappointment and grave surprise were general that Prince Ito should resign before effecting the rescindment of the extra-territoriality of Korea. Now that the new convention is on the eve of its conclusion, renewed admiration for Ito's styteman. newed admiration for Ito's statesman-ship has become widespread. The con-vention as the prelude to the abolition of the extra-territoriality of Korea is certain of the heartiest welcome here. Before the government took this step precedents were carefully studied and the French example at Tunis was adopted as a model. Unlike France in Tunis, there is no England and Italy to reckon with, and comparatively easy sailing is predicted for Japan.
