WASHINGTON, D. C.

Sub-Treasury transfer.

WASHINGTON, 15.—Acting Treasurer of the United States made a telegraphic transfer to-day of a quarter of a million of dollars in coin from the Sub-Treasury at San Francisco to the Sub-Treasury at New York.

In the office of the Fifth Auditor Mrs. Helen Goodwin, of New York, Mrs. Susan O. Sullivan, of Mass., and Miss J. E. Jennings, of Wisconsin, have been promoted from copyists to first-class clerkships. They passed the same examination imposed on the male clerks of that grade.

The finding of the general court-martial in the case of the colored cadet, Smith, of West Point, was his dismissal from the Academy. The Secretary of War, in an order just issued, says the proceedings, findings and sentence are approved; but in view of all the circumstances surrounding the case, and believing that the ends of public justice will be better observed, and the policy of the government of which the presence of this cadet in the military Academy is a signal illustration, will be better maintained by a commutation of the sentence than by its rigid enforcement, the President is pleased to mitigate it; by substituting for dismissal from the service of the United States a reduction in his academic standing of one year.

A dispatch from Ottawa says, recent advices from Newfoundland give particulars of the reception of the treaty of Washington in one of the Provinces most interested in the question. The people of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and it was expected those of Newfoundland would be wholly with them in opposition to the treaty, manifest a contrary sentiment. That colony of fishermen appears to be entirely in favor of ratification.

The loss of a fishing schooner with forty persons, on the coast of Newfoundland, was reported last week; and later accounts of this terrible disaster announce that two women, named Mary McGrath and Mrs. Lilburn, left St. Johns as passengers aboard the ill-fated schooner. All but one of those who are missing, or drowned, leave wives and families behind, who were dependent on them for means to live through the long and profitless winter of Newfoundland.

NEW YORK.

Damaged by fire.

BUFFALO, 15.—The office of the Buffalo Express was damaged by fire, today, to the amount of twelve thousand dollars.

ILLINOIS.

Suspected poisoning.

CHICAGO.—Mrs Sarah May, a respectable young woman whose husband recently left her, died yesterday morning under circumstances that lead to the suspicion that her husband poisoned her. She had, shortly before her death, had a stormy interview with him, during which, at her request, he brought her a drink of water. Immediately after drinking she was taken violently ill and died in a few hours.

Bernet Anderson, a Swede, hanged himself in his cooper shop last night. Cause unknown.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

CONCORD, 15.—A resolution was introduced in the House to-day and ordered printed, instructing the New Hampshire Senators and representatives to introduce and support a resolution for the purchase of Independence Hall, and a square in Philadelphia, the same to be dedicated to constitutional liberty on the 4th of July, 1876.

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, 15.—The convention of German Republican delegates, from different wards, adopted a platform embodying the following declarations and principles: Approving all the reconstruction acts of Congress; the restoration of civil rights to all the late rebels unconditionally; religious liberty; opposition to temperance Sunday laws; that it is the duty of the State to provide education for all, and making education compulsory; opposition to the division of school funds; favoring the exclusion of religious teachings from schools; paying the national debt according to the exact terms of the contract; the abolition of many sinecure State and federal offices; strict economy in the administration of public lands; no more grants to railroads and other corporations; modification of the tariff, and opposition to the introduction of Chinese labor.

FOREIGN NEWS.

GREAT BRITAIN.

MacMahon wishes to resign—Marriage in high life.

LONDON, 15.—A marriage is arranged between the Princess Thyra, of Denmark, and the duke of Edinburgh.

The Times says MacMahon wishes to resign.

The army reserves will be dissolved when Vinoy retires.

The Gaulois says the fusion of the Bourbons and Legitimists is incomplete.

The Paris journals say the eastern lines are crowded with returning Germans, laden with plunder.

FRANCE.

PARIS.—The destruction of life and property in Paris immensely exceeds the government newspaper accounts.

The Paris workmen are almost unanimously Communists and are bitter because they are defeated. They hate Thiers and hate the Bonapartes. Many of them will emigrate to America.

VERSAILLES, 15.—The republican "Left" manifesto is generally approved. The radical manifesto creates a bad impression, because it excuses the Commune.

The journals, except the religious ones, ridicule the French bishops in their demand for the re-establishment of the Pope's temporal power. It is unanimously settled that France cannot interfere.

ITALY.

FLORENCE, 15.—The minister of the interior has issued a circular to the prefects, to grant liberty to celebrate the jubilee taking precautions against disturbances. Rome is tranquil.

How A Centenarian Lives.

The following letter from Rev Chas. Cleveland, of Boston, a city missionary, and long known as Father Cleveland, who will be, if he lives, one hundred years old in June, published in the June number of the Herald of Health, will be read with great interest:

Dr. M. L. Holbrook, My Dear Sir:—In answer to your request for information regarding my habits of life, you will please accept the following remarks, which are given with much pleasure:

1. My time of retirement is at an early hour, not beyond ten o'clock, and of rising as soon as awake, and before the sun, throughout the year.

2. At meals my food is simple and nourishing avoiding whatever may be regarded as luxuries.

3. My drink at the table is "Golden Ale."

4. I taste no spirituous liquors.

5. Tobacco I abhor in all its forms as I would poison, persuaded that its use hath been as an harbinger to "strong drink," which has slain its thousands and tens of thousands.

Thus, dear philanthropist, I have given you my "habits of living," and would just add that preserving a conscience void of offense toward God and man, my sleep in its season is undisturbed and refreshing.

Wishing your Herald of Health all the circulation it so richly merits,

I am, respectfully, yours,
CHARLES CLEVELAND.

HOW THEY KEEP COOL IN SENEGAL.—The dry season in Senegal lasts about eight months. The white people, during the rainy season, collect all the water they can, either in cisterns or in immense earthen jars, some of which are so large that a man can go into them through the opening. These jars are manufactured in Marseilles, and some of them must hold fifty or sixty gallons, and even more. The water is kept in them deliciously cool. A very fat man could not get into these jars, as the opening is small compared with the body. In one of my rooms I had several of these jars, in some of which I keep a little water, while in others I keep none. When the terribly hot weather came, it struck me that the coolest place I could find was in one of these jars, as they were very thick and not liable to become heated through. So I made the trial, and found the experiment worked to a charm, and that I had discovered a cool retreat. As soon as the desert wind began blowing I would quietly put myself in one of these jars, and stay there a few hours. When my friends were too stout to follow my example, I would apologize to them; and give the excuse that I had the largest jars that were made. Then my fat friend would look curiously at me and say: "I wish I was as slender as you are." The first time I tried the jars I had a great deal of fun. Somebody came to see me, and was sent into my room; but in the meantime I, having heard him coming, had bowed my head inside, and so remained perfectly concealed. Seeing nothing but jars my visitor went into the next room and seeing nothing there, he shouted: "Where are you?" I answered back, still keeping my head below the opening, "Here I am!" He came back into my room and began to be bewildered I could stand it no longer, and bursting out with a loud laugh, raised my head above the opening, and invited him to follow my example and "take a jar."

CURIOUS SUBTERRANEAN POND.—The Montrose (Penn.) Republican says: "It is well known that great trouble and expense have been caused by the sinking of a portion of the track of the new Jefferson Railroad where it crosses a swamp in Ararat township, in this county. It has been found that under the swamp is a subterranean pond, of several acres in extent and of considerable depth. This pond is covered by about six feet in depth of black earth, which supports a heavy growth of woods. The trees are mostly soft maple, pine, hemlock and birch, many of them ranging from six inches to three feet in diameter. Last fall it was discovered that this subterranean pond contained many fish, of the kind usually found in ponds in this part of the county—pickerel and 'shiners' among others—but all without eyes! In the darkness of their subterranean abode, they have no use for the organ of vision. The Ball Pond, about a mile and a half distant, is now 'growing over.' A considerable part of it has become subterranean within the last twenty years, and, probably, before many years it will be entirely covered like the other. This pond is about twenty acres in extent. For some distance from the shore it is filled with a dense growth of water-lilies, and these, no doubt, furnish the foundation on which the superstructure of earth is commenced."

This Machine is the harvest gathering of twenty years' experience in the manufacture of Agricultural Machinery, and takes rank with the Printing Press, Engine, Lath and Locomotive in the qualities of precision, stanchness and durability.

Its foundation is a single piece of solid iron, of shape to resist all possible strains.

Its gearing is shaped to standard gauge, and each cut out of solid iron, with mathematical exactness.

The working parts are permanently fixed and fully protected from water, dust, grass and all other external causes of disturbance.

By these means, we reduce friction to the lowest point; deny the self-destruction common to all rough cast machines, avoid breakages in harvest, secure easy draft and the same durability which pertains to our gear in other kinds of machinery. The WORLD has been tested for years by hundreds of the most intelligent and reliable farmers in the land, who unite in declaring that, collectively,

"There is no other Harvester."
