IRRIGATION WAS THE SUBJECT.

Four Counties Participate—After The Greek—Wedding Bells.

HIS IDENTITY ESTABLISHED.

The Reckless Young Man's Name is Williams, Not Wilson—Briefs And Personals.

The irrigators of Weber, Davis, Morgan and Summit counties met in Ogden yesterday afternoon and transacted a considerable amount of business pertaining to irrigation. They have formed a corporation of $750,000 capital stock, to be known as the Weber, Davis, Morgan and Summit Irrigation Company.

About a year ago the irrigators of these counties met in Ogden and took the preliminary steps towards forming the corporation, and yesterday's meeting completed all plans. The company is incorporated principally for the purpose of storing water for irrigation purposes. The dry seasons had during the past few summers has taught the farmers that they must store water in order to have a sufficient to water their crops.

The meeting yesterday was attended by representatives of nearly every irrigation company in the four counties. The meeting was held at the Ogden Hotel, and was presided over by J. H. Holliman, president of the Weber County Irrigation Company.

J. H. Holliman, the man who has confessed to being implicated in setting fire to the Highland Boy boarding house and the creamery, he and Frank Wilson being hired to do the work by Jennings, occupied the stand practically all day yesterday. He was taken through a long cross-examination by Mr. Warner, attorney for Jennings, and when asked why he did certain things which seemed improbable, or contradictory of some of his statements, would say to Mr. Warner, "Well, if you had been in my place you would have done the same thing."

He testified that on the afternoon of the 4th Jennings, with whom he was acquainted, saw him in American Fork, and told him he was the man he (Jennings) had been looking for, and asked him to come into the buggy in which Jennings was riding. Witness got into the buggy and the two drove towards Lehi; on the way over Jennings told him that he and Wilson had to burn the Lehi creamery that night, and that he (Jennings) had men back of him who would swear to anything, and that if they were arrested they would receive $100 apiece.

Jennings was to get $300 for doing the work, and that he would pay Holliman and Wilson $150 for burning it. They drove to Lehi Junction, and met Frank Wilson, and the three drove towards the creamery. When close to the building Holliman objected to having anything to do with the job, and Jennings pulled a pistol and told Holliman and Wilson that they would have to do it or die, as "dead men tell no tales." Holliman was sent over to Cotter's house to get some rag balls saturated with coal oil, and was told by Jennings where they could be found. After getting the rag balls, Jennings told witness that he could now go over to the sugar works and that Wilson would attend to the rest. Jennings did not pay the men for the rag balls, and several letters passed between them on the subject. The letters, which were received by Holliman, generally destroyed, after they were read to him by Mrs. Burt Snyder of American Fork, where he was boarding; but one letter addressed to J. H. and signed E. J. was shown to witness by the prosecution, and identified by him. The letter states that the writer had seen Mrs. A. A. Dastur and secured the "wood contract," and also cautioned Holliman to be careful, as he was being watched, and to destroy the letters.

Holliman explained that though he was understanding between him and Jennings, "wood contract" referred to the fire, and Dastur, or any other name, would refer to the owner of the buildings that had been burned. Still witness got no money from Jennings, and finally he went over to Lehi to see Mr. Cotter about getting some. Cotter gave witness $1.50, as he represented to him that he had no underclothing. Cotter also told him not to come around there any more, as he, Cotter, did not want his wife to know anything about the affair. On a later occasion Cotter saw the witness in American Fork and asked him if he had received the money, and upon being told that he had not, he said, "Well, keep still, you will get it."

The cross-examination related principally to the Highland Boy boarding-house fire, which witness said Jennings had employed Frank Wilson and himself to set. That to the last extent between them for the work. Here Jennings again proved a poor paymaster, and the witness related how he had hunted for Wilson, the lessee of the boardinghouse, and finally found him. He had asked him to get $150 in exchange for the work, but he would not pay him, and the next day Wilson paid Holliman and witness $200 each and told him he had paid Jennings $80. Holliman related that when he was about to set the Highland Boy boarding-house on fire, he had asked Jennings for some money to buy coal oil, and Jennings had told him that he only had some counterfeit money, and that it would take a smarter man than Holliman to use it. He, Holliman, had also told Holliman and witness that he (Jennings) would be the only man suspected of the boarding-house fire and he would drive to Provo and be there when the place was fired.

George A. Horn, who owns a creamery in Benjamin, testified that he, Jennings, had also told Holliman and witness that he (Jennings) would be the only man suspected of the boarding-house fire and he would drive to Provo and be there when the place was fired. Jennings also told Holliman and witness that he (Jennings) would be the only man suspected of the boarding-house fire and he would drive to Provo and be there when the place was fired.

J. Smith testified that the creamery was insured for $2,000, and that the insurance company paid $2,500 to the creamery company on a compromise. It is expected that Frank Wilson will testify today.

GRANTSVILLE.

QUEEN CARNIVAL REIGNS.

Prest, Anderson Surprised—Three Days' Fair—A Gala Occasion.

Special Correspondence.
Grantsville, March 14.—The most conspicuous and pleasing event in the way of surprise parties took place last Saturday evening at the residence of Elder Charles L. Anderson of the stake presidency.

The affair was conceived in the mind the Bishop and materialized by his cheerful and generous representative men of the town, including the stake presidency.

A PLEASANT INVASION.
The jolly company, headed by William Sperry, the stake Sunday school superintendent in line and amid the surprise and expressions of pleasure the besieged family greeted the devoted friends as they took possession of the home. The crowd was well supplied with picnic, and after the exchange of compliments, etc., the company was cozily seated in the elegant drawing room, where an extempore program was rendered, consisting of songs, recitations and social chat, topped off with an elegant luncheon with ice cream.

The event shows to some extent the high esteem in which Elder Anderson is held in the hearts of his brethren and associates in the stake and ward organizations in the church, which he has labored so long and with such interest and zeal for a number of years.

THREE DAYS' CARNIVAL.
The closing scene of a three days' carnival at Grantsville, Sunday, closed in line and amid the surprise and expressions of pleasure the besieged family greeted the devoted friends as they took possession of the home. The crowd was well supplied with picnic, and after the exchange of compliments, etc., the company was cozily seated in the elegant drawing room, where an extempore program was rendered, consisting of songs, recitations and social chat, topped off with an elegant luncheon with ice cream.

The crowning of the queen on the second night was a most imposing affair. The queen with her maids of honor being led on the throne by Mr. B. F. House, who introduced her as "Queen of the Carnival." The maids of honor were Mary Flinders, Emma Strowberg, Ethel Woolley and Magdalena Anderson—four little maids that were about 10 years of age, and who did full honor to the occasion.

The dance hall (basement) was beautifully decorated for the occasion, while the booths were arranged around the large hall, containing the products of the home, and a variety of other things, including a museum, decorative arts, refreshment stand with everything to make glad and cheer the inner man.

A well arranged program was rendered, and the audience part of the building erected after which the company would retire to the ball room or to make purchases, feasting and take in the sights. During the fair the silver band discoursed music, thus lending added cheerfulness to the occasion.

Great credit is due the chairman, J. R. Clark, and the committee in general for the success attending their efforts. The sum of $400 was realized, which amount will be applied to liquidate the debt on the building.

Proper Treatment of Pneumonia.
Pneumonia is too dangerous a disease for anyone to attempt to doctor himself, although he may have some proper remedies at hand. A physician should always be called. It should be borne in mind, however, that pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of the grip, and by the proper treatment of these diseases, a threatened attack of pneumonia may be ward off. There is no question whatever about this, as during the 20 years and more that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used, he has learned to learn of a single case of cold or attack of the grip having resulted in pneumonia when this remedy was used. It is also used by physicians in the treatment of pneumonia with the most successful results. Sold by all druggists.

NORTH OGDEN.
AN AGED VETERAN DEAD.

Jos. Wheeler Passes Away—Local Happenings.

Special Correspondence.
North Ogden, March 15.—Joseph Wheeler, son of John Wheeler and Elizabeth Clingings, died on the 9th inst. of old age and general debility at the residence of his son-in-law, Greenleaf Blodgett, Jr., after one week's illness.

He was born in Graves, Cambridge-shire, England, March 9, 1833, where he remained until 1875, when he emigrated, and after living two years in Ohio, pushed on to Utah and located in Pleasant View, Weber county, where he moved to Bingham county, Ida., where his second wife died, since which time he has been unwell, with no certain dwelling place.

The deceased leaves 10 children, five by his first wife and five by his second; two sisters in North Ogden, and one brother in Slaterville, viz., Mary, Charles, Eliza, Linford and William Wheeler, and a very large circle of other relatives and friends. The funeral services were held in the North Ogden meeting-house Monday at noon, attended by relatives and friends of the deceased.

The meeting was conducted by Elder Chase of the Reorganized church, of which the deceased was a member.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.
A case of measles has just developed in the family of Charles Ford, recently returned from California, but the case is sufficiently isolated to make its spread improbable with proper care, otherwise the health of the people of the community is good.

On account of the bad condition of some portions of the roads of this district during the recent storm the post-office department has partially abandoned the Randall district portion of the free delivery system, supplying them only three days' mail in the week.

Accommodations for district Sunday school convention in Ogden next Saturday evening and Sunday as a large body of teachers are expected to be in attendance from this place and Pleasant View.

B. F. Zimmerman and family expect to leave next week for their new home in Idaho, after residing in North Ogden a number of years, where he made many friends.

The next monthly meeting of the thirty-eighty quorum of Seventy will occur in North Ogden on the 27th inst., at 4 p. m.

Next Thursday the Relief society will hold their annual picnic festival, at which it is anticipated to remember the recently retired officers in a tangible way.
