BRIGHAM YOUNG,
GEORGE A. SMITH,
DANIEL H. WELLS.

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 29.

Coming Emigrants.—A dispatch to President Young from Elder W. C. Staines, dated to-day, states that the Nevada company of emigrating Saints had arrived at New York, all well, and would leave for here to-night.

Wife Beating.—A German who lives in the south-eastern portion of the city was arrested this morning on a charge preferred against him by his wife, who alleged that he had beaten her in a most brutal manner, and then threatened to take her life with a shot gun.

Stylish.—Jack Began must have felt somewhat elated yesterday, when he was conveyed from the City to the County jail with all the style of an imperial prisoner, in a fine carriage, and accompanied by three deputy marshals. Jack will remain in the County prison until he can be tried in the District Court.

Scarlet Fever.—The Ogden Junction, of June 23, says Mr. H. C. Wardleigh has been compelled to adjourn his school at North Ogden for two weeks in consequence of numerous cases of scarlet fever. The juvenile patients are all doing well, and it is expected that they will soon recover.

Woman's Exponent for June 15 contains "Ruffles," "Fault-finding," "Woman Arise," "R. S. Reports," "Woman's Voice," "Sunday School Jubilee," "California Women on Utah," "Household Hints," "Hygienic Notes," "Harmony of Colors," "The Habit of Fretting," "Who Should Not Be a Wife," etc.

Petty Spite.—We understand that certain members of the "ring" felt so chagrined and disappointed at the shape in which the Poland bill passed the Senate, that they sent an animadverting dispatch to Senator Sargent, who took such a noble, manly stand for the rights and liberties of the people of Utah.

To-day the howl of the crusaders against the bill is as great as their previous clamor for it, and almost as loud as their exclamation of gratification on receiving the news of its passage. They unite in saying that the measure, as it now is, is not what they wanted at all. The reason for this is that some of the leading spoliation clauses are stricken out.

Disgraceful Proceedings.—A Territorial dispatch in to-days News tells of bon-fires, firing of anvils and pistols and savage and brutal yelling of a lot of roughs at Beaver City, who took this barbarous method of testifying their gratification at the news of the passage of the Poland bill. Had the "Mormons" made a hundredth part of the demonstrations, in the event that the bill had not passed, as has been made by a ruffianly horde of anti-"Mormon" bigots, a howl would have been sent up from the latter that would have sounded from the Pacific slope to the Atlantic seaboard.

There is not much fear of the demonstrations being repeated at Beaver, for the intelligence of the amendments will probably have as dampening an effect on the unmannerly fellows there as it had on the same class here, which was decidedly cooling.

A Long Route.—Yesterday we received the following by mail, with the postmark of Clarkston, June 10, and Toquerville, June 15, on the envelope—

"CLARKSTON, Cache Co., U. T.,
"June 1st, 1874.

"Editor Deseret News:

"A branch of the United Order was organized in this settlement last evening, under the direction of Elders Lorenzo and Erastus Snow, of the Twelve, and Bishop Wm. B. Preston, the following officers being elected: Bishop Simon Smith, President; Andrew Quigley, 1st Vice President; Ole A. Jensen, 2nd Vice President; Andrew W. Heggie, Secretary; Henry Stokes, Treasurer.

"ANDREW W. HEGGIE."

A Curious Spectacle.—Mr. Reed, a lawyer and auctioneer, having agreed to wheel Mr. Hymes, a clothier, from the south-east corner of the Temple Block to the Clift House corner, in the event that the Poland bill passed, carried out the agreement to-day, starting from the first named point at one o'clock, headed by a boy beating a small drum. A collection was taken up on the way by Mr. Hymes, for the benefit of St. Mark's Hospital. A large crowd collected around the trio on the way, numerous remarks being made concerning the parties, such as "The fool-killer hasn't finished his work yet." "That man has been used to taking up collections, or he takes to it naturally." Mr. Hymes' hat was surmounted by a small flag.

That kind of pastime can scarcely be said to be decidedly intellectual.

Effects of the News.—Yesterday, on receipt of a dispatch which stated unqualifiedly that the Poland bill had passed, there was much unseemly jubilation, accompanied by hooting, yelling, throwing up of hats, among the members and adherents of the crusaders' ring. Some even went so far as to make threats concerning what they intended to do in using up the "Mormons," saying that now the bill had passed, "sinching" was going to commence pretty soon. Remarks of this kind were made by a deputy U. S. marshal. So intense was the excitement among those parties who gathered in groups and filled the drinking saloons that a stranger would have been excusable for thinking that the inmates of a huge lunatic asylum had broken loose. During this time the "Mormon" population were calm and undisturbed.

However, the jollification of the crusaders was of very short duration, for soon other dispatches arrived, stating that the bill had been very materially amended for the better, inasmuch that it virtually went through the Senate with its "teeth out." On this refreshing news being received; the streets were soon cleared of those who but a few minutes before had been rejoicing, and whose features, heretofore on the broad grin, took a corresponding drop in the other direction.

Rumor.—A strong rumor on the street to-day says that there was a meeting of the "ring" last night, and a dispatch was sent over the wires, stating that there was great rejoicing among the "Gentiles" and "liberal Mormons" over the passage of the bill, also that great bitterness was expressed regarding Senator Sargent's amendments, and that resolutions of censure were passed upon that gentleman.

No person need expect to be treated in any other manner by the clique, who stands up for justice, when it is the rights of the "Mormon" people that are involved, but men like Senator Sargent are proof against the censure of bigoted crusaders when the principles of true republicanism are involved. It is refreshing in these days to witness the conduct of a man who will come boldly and nobly to the front and battle squarely against the encroachments of would-be oppressors, heedless of the bigotry and prejudice that he may have to meet in taking so manly and commendable a stand.

The presumption, not to say impudence, of this clique has reached a summit that cannot be surpassed. This handful of persons who so audaciously assume the dictatorial role, pass resolutions of censure which will fall harmlessly upon the shoulders of Senator Sargent, who doubtless cares little or nothing for the revilings of the corrupt Utah ring, and this censure applies not only to him, but also virtually to the Senate which adopted and the House of Representatives which concurred in the, to the ring, obnoxious amendments; in Salt Lake City we therefore have the sublime spectacle of a handful of political tricksters virtually passing resolutions of censure upon the Congress of the United States. It will be a wonder if Senator Sargent and Congress survive so terrible a shock as this. Is it not sufficient to shake the republic to its centre?

FROM THURSDAY'S DAILY, JUNE 25.

Police Court.—Alderman George Crismon presided in the Police court to-day, in the trial of an assault and battery case.

Improvements.—The engine house of the Fire Brigade is being plastered and fixed up, and the interior of the hall is also being altered, re-arranged and improved in appearance.

Reversing.—An aged lady asked one of the clerks in the produce department of Z. C. M. I. the other day if he had any of Black and Crosswell's pickles. He said, "No, ma'm, but I've got some of Crosse and Blackwell's."

A Cool Customer.—Last evening a young man named William Bowden went into a bakery west of Kimball & Lawrence's store, First South Street, and ordered some goods, and after they were done up he went out of the establishment, saying, "Charge these things to Charlie Decker." The baker went after the fellow, threw him down on the sidewalk and shouted "police." A couple of the latter appeared and took Bowden to the City Hall, and he was fined $15 this morning, by Justice Clinton. He had attempted the same kind of practice on previous occasions.

Bit by a Dog.—Yesterday Brother Robert Aveson, a compositor, of this office, was giving some oil to his dog, which had been poisoned, when the animal seized his thumb, inserting its teeth into the fleshy part. The injury to the thumb, so far as the bite was concerned, did not appear to be serious, but the effect upon his nervous system was quite powerful, causing giddiness and trembling, and he is confined to his home to-day, from the continuance of those symptoms. It is presumable that a small portion of venom was taken into the blood with the teeth of the dog.

Catering.—We have some splendid hotels in Salt Lake, the proprietors of which vie with each other in catering to the varied tastes of their patrons, supplying their tables with all the delicacies in their season. One enterprising host seems bent on outstripping all competitors in the line. This gentleman has been advertising for a considerable time for "a woman to cook." Should he succeed in securing the object of his search he will probably inform the cannibalistically inclined portion of the public as to how the unfortunate victim will be dished up.

Obsequies.—The funeral services of Elder Patrick Lynch, who died on Tuesday afternoon, of an affection of the lungs, were conducted yesterday afternoon, commencing at three o'clock, in the 20th Ward school house. President Joseph Young and Bishop John Sharp were present and made appropriate remarks.

The deceased was well known to a large number of the citizens of this Territory. He was a man of tender heart, of generous impulses, and his wit was proverbial among his acquaintances.

He was educated for the Catholic ministry, but when a young man, he threw aside Catholicism and became identified with the Church, and performed missions in Scotland and Ireland.

Severe Accident.—Yesterday, while Mrs. Charles Crabtree and her little ten year old boy were driving in the east part of the city, in a small buggy, the horse, in crossing a ditch, made a sudden start, causing Mrs. Crabtree to be thrown out a distance of nearly two rods. The boy was thrown forward upon the shafts, in which position he was carried forward a distance of about half a block. A man who attempted to stop the runaway horse was knocked down, but another succeeded in stopping him and rescuing the boy, who was much bruised about the abdomen.

We regret to learn that Mrs. Crabtree was very seriously if not dangerously hurt. She is attended by Dr. Benedict, who thinks that no bones are broken, but the shock to the system, and the bruising, were very great.

Fluctuations of the Lake.—Some time since Prof. Joseph L. Barfoot agitated, through the NEWS, the question of the necessity of having a definite gauge for ascertaining the rise and fall of the waters of the Great Salt Lake. Some of the scientists of the eastern states had manifested a degree of interest in the matter, and the efforts of Prof. Barfoot were seconded by Dr. J. R. Park and other gentlemen of this City.

Taking up a hint or recommendation of Brother Barfoot, Messrs. Morris & Evans have made a granite pillar for the purpose, which will be placed in position near Justice Clinton's hotel, in the vicinity of "Black Rock," a week from next Saturday. The pillar, from the base to its top, is three feet nine inches, and when placed in the Lake the water will be at the mark two feet from the top, giving a scope for observation of two feet rise above that point, and one foot nine inches to the base. Mr. Clinton has kindly consented to keep a weekly record of the fluctuations of the Lake at his place.

The pillar, which is provided gratuitously by Messrs. Morris & Evans, is probably worth between thirty and forty dollars.

Naturalization.—Ever since he came to Utah, Judge McKean has refused to naturalize parties desiring to become citizens because of their religious belief and practice, or for either separately, and his mode of catechizing applicants is notorious, betraying a bigotry and a tyranny that are seldom if ever equalled. The qualification upon which he bases his position is that the applicant for naturalization should be a law-abiding person and of good moral character. After catechizing parties relative to their family concerns, the judge invariably asks, after finding out that the party is either unmarried, or has one wife, whether he will always in future obey the law of 1862, against polygamy, and if he receives an answer that the individual only knows what he has done and is doing, but does not know what he may do in future, the person is told to stand aside, or if it come out that the person believes it to be right for a man to have more than one wife the result is the same. It will be seen that the judge considers belief to be criminal, for if he does not why does he withhold from parties, because of their peculiar belief, privileges that the constitution and laws place within the reach of all law-abiding people of good moral character. No law could exist for the punishment of people because of their religious belief, and parties attempting to enact such a law, under any government, say nothing about republicanism, would be held in absolute execration, yet that law exists morally in the heart of Judge McKean, and he has enforced it so far as he has had the power to do so.

Not only has he proscribed people because of their religious belief, but has done so because of what he imagined might be the probabilities of their future conduct. If endeavoring to compel a man to define what his future course of life shall be is not manifesting the quintessence of prejudice and bigotry, then we are at a loss to know what would.

The Congress of the United States takes a very different view of the matter from that entertained by Judge McKean, and that view is expressed even in its action on the Poland bill, in striking out the proscriptive provisions, which made it a principal cause for challenge on a jury that a person was a practical polygamist. The right to sit on a jury is a right that can only be exercised by a citizen of the United States, and therefore the law not only recognizes a person who believes in polygamy as eligible for citizenship, but also one who may be even a practical polygamist may enjoy the rights of citizenship, and therefore the conduct of Judge McKean, in debarring parties from becoming naturalized on account of their religious belief or practice, is extra-judicial, illegal and tyrannical, and would not be tolerated by a less patient and law-abiding people than the "Mormons."
