PRICKLY ASH BITTERS

The majority of the ills of the human body arise from a derangement of the Liver, affecting both the stomach and bowels. In order to effect a cure, it is necessary to remove the cause. Irregular and Sluggish action of the Bowels, Headache, Sickness at the Stomach, Pain in the Back and Loins, etc., indicate that the Liver is at fault, and that nature requires assistance to enable this organ to throw off impurities.

Prickly Ash Bitters are especially compounded for this purpose. They are mild in their action and effective as a cure; are pleasant to the taste and taken easily by both children and adults. Taken according to directions, they are a safe and pleasant cure for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Habitual Constipation, Diseased Kidneys, etc., etc. As a Blood Purifier they are superior to any other medicine; cleansing the system thoroughly, and imparting new life and energy to the invalid. It is a medicine and not an intoxicating beverage.

YOUNG UTAH IN GERMANY.

SENTIMENTS OF A "MORMON" BOY ON THE QUESTION OF THE DAY.

The following are the views of a 19-year-old "Mormon" boy, born and raised in Utah, who is now serving as a missionary in Germany. Of course he was not aware at the time of writing this of any prosecution against his father:

MANNHEIM, Baden, Germany, April 20th, 1885.

My very dear Father:

Since writing you last I have received quite a number of Heralds and also the book, which you sent me, for which please accept my warmest gratitude. The book contains many fine ideas and points in favor of the doctrine of polygamy, and it is really wonderful to find a man possessing enough manhood to say what he thinks in the face of a world which he knows will oppose him. We read in history of many remarkable men, some of whom distinguished themselves in battle and other perilous positions through their bravery. Their names have been handed down to us as models of courage and fearlessness, but how few we read of who were brave enough to fear the world and stand by their own unpopular convictions in opposition to the voice of the people. Here is a man, however, who has shown his true colors, and does not seem to care what the world thinks of them.

"PHILOSOPHY OF MARRIAGE,"

In my last letter I enclosed some clippings written by a man named Wyl. The papers continue to publish like articles from him, strongly impregnated with the hatred and gall which Satan alone can furnish.

THIS "MORMON" QUESTION

must present an interesting appearance to disinterested lookers on. Just imagine how noble, grand or sublime it must appear to see over 50,000,000 of people trying to exterminate a few thousand God-fearing people who dare to be free enough to follow their honest convictions instead of binding themselves down with the chains of popular opinion and thus becoming the most dependent of slaves! How magnanimous it is for this immense majority to bind these few unfortunate (or fortunate) beings hand and foot and then abuse them! And how brave the part of those who, as the pinned ones pass, give them a punch because they cannot help themselves! This must be a fine spectacle (?). It is also amusing to hear the many different ideas as to and of polygamy. People are so narrow-minded—their ideas are so small and contracted that they cannot see what they are doing in opposing this work; they think they are fighting men, and that consequently "Mormonism" will soon die out. How cheap those persons will feel when they become aware that they have been trying to destroy the only principle by which they can obtain a salvation!

THE FINAL END OF "MORMONISM"

I even hear that some

WEAK-KNEED PERSONS

who have a standing in the Church feel like giving polygamy up as a bad job. It would indeed be a bad job to give that or any other principle of our faith up, and no real Latter-day Saint can entertain such an idea for a moment. Outsiders who imagine that we will abandon any of our principles know very little of what "Mormons" are made, and when people talk so foolishly about receiving revelation they are either very ignorant or very blasphemous.

I am very glad to see the course the young people are taking in showing the corrupt spoilers who infest Utah that they intend to follow the teachings of their Elders and not be influenced by the corrupt carpet-baggers, who would drag them down into the pools of filthiness and corruption in which they now wallow, and would then laugh to see us

DESTROYED, BOTH SOUL AND BODY.

I do not think the young folks intend to throw away what has cost the best blood of the nineteenth century; no, we are not so foolish as that. The present persecution will draw a line. Every person must show his true colors. Weak knees must get stronger or they will fall. We are told that in heaven, at one time, a battle very similar to this one occurred—that is, the results were similar. Each person had to show his colors, but a few cowards kept quiet until they saw which side was whipping, intending then to join that side. It is well known who those persons are.

I rejoice because of the present trouble, because I think we need it. It will admit of no

"STRADDLING OF THE FENCE," and the few who are imprisoned will be crowned with glory eternal for their manhood.

The present condition of affairs in the nations of the earth also pleases me. Do not misunderstand me, and think that I rejoice to see my fellow men suffer, for that is not the case. I pity them indeed, but we are told to expect calamities of every kind in these days, and until they come the Savior will not come. Thus, when I see war, earthquakes, etc., I feel that the day of is nearing, and consequently I rejoice and hope that we can quickly gather the honest in heart to Zion, where they will be protected by the Lord.

THE COMING OF THE SAVIOR

In this part of the mission everything is now quieted down for the present at least.

Yesterday we enjoyed ourselves very much on the banks of the old Rhine in a meeting capacity. We enjoyed a goodly portion of the Holy Spirit.

Your loving son,

S. W. MUSSER.

Wellington and Nelson.

In the interesting volumes of "The Correspondence and Diaries of the late John Wilson Croker," a curious anecdote is given of the only interview that ever took place between Wellington and Nelson. The story was told by Wellington himself in a conversation with Croker at Walmar Castle, and runs, in substance, as follows: "I had just returned," said Wellington, "from India, and went to the colonial office in Downing street, where, on being shown into the little waiting room, I found, also waiting to see the secretary, of state, a gentleman whom, from his likeness to his picture, and the loss of an arm, I immediately saw to be Lord Nelson. He could not know who I was, but at once began to talk to me. I can hardly call it conversation, for it was almost all on his own side and all about himself, and in so vain and silly a style as to surprise and disgust me.

"Something I said finally made him think I might be somebody, and he disappeared from the room, no doubt to ask the office-keeper who I was. What an altogether different man when he came back, both in manner and matter! The charlatan style had vanished, and he talked of the aspect of affairs on the continent like an officer and a statesman. The secretary kept us long waiting, and certainly for the last half of an hour I don't know that I ever had a conversation that interested me more. Now, if the secretary had admitted Lord Nelson in the first quarter of an hour, I should have had the same impression of a light and trivial character that others have had. Luckily, I saw enough to become convinced that he was a superior man, but certainly a more sudden and complete metamorphosis I never encountered."—Boston Herald.

How The Cowboy Stopped a Stampede.

"One of the slickest things I saw in my travels," said a passenger from the West, "was a cowboy stopping a cattle stampede. A herd of about 600 or 800 had got frightened at something, and broke away pell-mell with their tails in the air, and the bulls at the head of the procession. But Mr. cowboy didn't get excited at all when he saw the herd was going straight for a high bluff from which they would certainly tumble down into the canyon, and be killed. You know that when a herd like that gets to going, they can't stop, no matter whether they rush to death or not. Those in the rear crowd those ahead and away they go. I wouldn't have given a dollar a head for that herd, but the cowboy spurred up his mustang, made a little detour, came in right in front of the herd, cut across their path at a right angle, and then galloped leisurely on to the edge of that bluff, halted and looked around at that wild mass of beef coming right toward him. He was as cool as a cucumber, though I expected to see him killed, and was so excited I could not speak. Well, sir, when the leaders had got within about a quarter of a mile of him, I saw them try to slack up, though they could not do it very quick: But the whole herd seemed to want to stop, and when the cows and steers in the rear got about where the cowboy had cut across their path, I was surprised to see them stop and commence to nibble at the grass. Then the whole herd stopped, wheeled, straggled back, and went to fighting for a chance to eat where the rear guard was. You see that coyboy had opened a big bag of salt he had brought out from the ranch to give the cattle, galloped across the herd's course and emptied the bag. Every critter sniffed that line of salt, and, of course, that broke up the stampede. But I tell you it was a queer sight to see that fellow out there on the edge of that bluff quietly rolling a cigarette, when it seemed as if he'd be lying under 200 tons of beef in about a minute and a half.—Chicago Herald.

I am a king when I rule myself.—Stoic Proverb.

The speaker gives back to his hearers in a rain what he has received from them in a mist.—Gladstone.

We have some cases of the pride of learning, but a multitude of the pride of ignorance.—S. W. Taylor.

In the education of children love is first to be instilled, and out of love obedience is to be educated.—Coleridge.

"Was ever woman in this humor wooed? Was ever woman in this humor won?"

Of course not. Don't try to make love to a woman who is all out of sorts with dyspepsia or nervous parostrtion. First make her a present of a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters. Then when her digestive apparatus is in order, and her nerves toned up, go and see her. Mrs. Seal of Clinton, La., says, "My health has been greatly improved by using Brown's Iron Bitters." It cures dyspepsia, indigestion, etc.
