AMERICAN.

THE NARRATION OF A TRAMP.

A Man Who Has Seen Life.

NEW YORK, 2.—A Times reporter had an interview with a tramp here yesterday, wherein he said: "There were 19 of us all Americans, who ran away from Peru. We heard the government was going to draft us into the army and we could not stand that. We had seen how men were treated who had got wounded in the fighting, and knew that there was little chance for our lives if we didn't get away. The experience of the Americans who volunteered in the Peruvian forces served us. There were quite a number of them, and some were officers on the Huascar when she fought the Chilian fleet. How long was I in Peru? Well, about three years with Harry Meiggs. He sent for me to go down there because my brother, who was with him for many years, was sick. I was a time keeper, and sort of surveyor and buyer of goods for the railroad at Arica. Times were good, and for the first two years I made $3,000 a year. Then this war broke out and all things got bad, and I lost about all I had in the Peruvian bonds. I had to sell my sextant and other things to get away. The other 18 came away without anything and some of them left stock, farms and other property behind them. Before I started for Arica I helped the Americans to get away. Peru is a glorious country to live in, but there is one thing about all those South American republics that I cannot understand, and that is, why they will fight with one another. There are the same people in them all, Spanish and Indians, and yet they hate one another. Now Peru and Chili are fighting about a miserable bit of a place that ain't worth anything. The fact is that Chili, which is the more enterprising commercial country, wants the nitre beds on the Chincas, but she can't have them while England holds the Peruvian bonds. Then Bolivar, (his hearers presumed he meant Bolivia, but allowed him freedom of pronunciation) wants to take a hand in the fight.

After volunteering further information, the tramp continued: "One of my brothers was a confidential assistant to Wm. C. Ralston in the Bank of California, but he died before Ralston broke up. The strain up would have killed him. The money he left for my mother and father was lost in it. Both Ralston and Meigs proved defaulters, but they were grand men. You won't get anybody who ever knew Harry Meigs to speak badly of him. He and Ralston would have come out all right if they had a little time. They killed Ralston when they asked him to give up the presidency of the Bank. My uncle Moses Norris was United States senator from New Hampshire and died in Washington in 1854. I was in the Mexican war, under Caleb Cushing, as a drummer in Ransom's regiment. I don't know why I went, because I was only 14 years. You see I ain't so old as I look, only 48 years. But I got it into my head that I'd help show that northerners had grit and would fight. I was in the fight at Chapultepec and got these two forgers broken. I was in the reserve at Cerro Gordo and had a part in a little fight at Natural Bridge. In the last war I was at Donaldsonville and Henry, where Grant took 28,000 prisoners and whipped a bigger army than he had. Garfield was there, a colonel of a regiment, and I always admired those two men ever since. I was a gunner in the navy then and took a dispatch from Commodore Foote to Grant. Before I left I took another dispatch to him and found him with his chief of staff, John A. Rawlins. Don Carloss Buell came up and said, 'General, what provisions have you made for transport in case you are defeated?' He said, 'If I am defeated, I won't need any transport.' I tell you, gentlemen, I admire the old man, and you may be sure he'll be President four years from now."

A Pole on the Rampage.

NEW YORK, 2.—Frans Julus Munuzburg, a Polish plasterer, and Savier Lindouer, a house painter, occupied rooms in the rear of No. 45, Forsyth Street. The men quarreled on Thursday, but were separated. Late this afternoon Munuzburg entered Lindouer's apartments and fired a shot which disabled the latter's right arm. Mrs. Lindouer seized a flat-iron, but Munuzburg pushed her aside, and pursued Lindouer into an adjoining bed-room and fired a second shot into his face. Lindouer fled to the street pursued by his enemy. The third shot from Munuzburg's pistol missed its mark, but Lindouer fell on the sidewalk. As he attempted to rise Munuzburg rushed upon him and fired the fourth shot into his right side, which killed him instantly. He was attempting to fire again when seized and disarmed by citizens. The murderer was then taken into custody. Lindouer was a German 30 years of age.

Tanner Last Night.

Dr. Tanner, at 5 o'clock, started out on his usual evening drive, accompanied by physicians. He returned at 7 and was very cross and peevish. He rested on his cot and seemingly slept soundly for some hours. He arose from his dressing, ate but little supper, but did not rest quietly, his stomach being out of order.

Happenings Near [illegible]

The Tribune's London special says: The fleet [illegible] about Afghanistan has subsided, but it has [illegible] ceeded by a settled anxiety as to the final result of the policy of mad adventure initiated by Lord Beaconsfield. Whether this catastrophe is one [illegible] Only three days before the news of Gen. Burrows' defeat, Lord Hartington was announcing in the House of Commons that steps had been taken for withdrawing from Afghanistan. Everybody now agrees that the withdrawal is at present impossible. Those who know India best take the most gloomy views of the immediate future, political and financial. Every calculation is upset, the English budget next year is certain to feel the effect of the Indian disturbances since the limit of impositions in India was long since reached. Members of the Indian council admit it to be impossible to continue to maintain the army of 60,000 men in Afghanistan without help from the English treasury.

The tories have been proving their disinterested patriotism by asserting publicly that the disaster was due to the demoralization among the troops on account of Gladstone's attempt to reverse Beaconsfield's plans and to the same end quoting the ignorant comments of the reactionary continental press which hails the English difficulties in India as likely to interrupt the coercion of Turkey. The Turkish note refusing compliance with European demands produces absolutely no change in the European concert, it having been foreseen. The only question at present discussed among the powers relates to the means of signifying to Turkey the necessity of submission. In home affairs the government wins a signal triumph by the passage of the game bill. The tory opposition, heretofore confident and menacing, collapsed utterly, at the last moment discovering numerous members of their own party who refused to vote against the second reading of the bill, hence there was no division last night.

Paris society has not recovered from the commotion Mrs. Wetmore's death occasioned, though means are being successfully taken to hush up the scandal. The Marquis of Anglesy, who behaved cruelly to the deceased lady, has the field to himself. He is wealthy, unscrupulous, noble and ignoble, and his agents do not shrink from dishonoring Mrs. Wetmore's memory. They give out that she died from a drunken bout. The Voltaire, which first gave the sad news, has probably been "squared" and is silent. It dares not either confirm or deny the original statements.

One Way of Making the Chinese Go.

The Times comments on the very latest expedient for getting rid of the Chinese in California, is to tax the six companies out of existence. These companies are the guilds to which all Chinese arriving in the Pacific States are attached. It is represented to the State board of equalization by memorial that the six companies have and hold absolute control over the bodies and liberties of all the Chinese, and that therefore they must be extremely rich, and that instead of their being assessed at a moderate valuation, they should pay taxes of $22,200,000 or some such modest sum. Of course it is expected that this excessive rate of assessment and taxation would be resisted, but as this would only lead to the seizure and confiscation of Chinese property in San Francisco, the desired end, the eviction of the Chinaman, would be reached. And the Chinese problem remains unsolved.

Alaska Indians.

WASHINGTON, 2.—The commander of the Jamestown writes from Alaska that not over 200 Indians of both sex and all ages remain in Sitka, all the more enterprising being on the sea otter and seal hunting. Those left, started on a spree on the 5th of July, but was soon checked by an armed boat from the Jamestown, the crew of which formed a protecting party to the Indian policemen. A little stabbing was done, but only one was injured. The ringleaders have been subjected to bread and water diet.

Appraisers Appointed.

Acting Secretary Bell, of the Interior Department, has appointed Luther Warriam and Roland B. Veinny, of Pennsylvania, and Chas. M. Holton, of Iowa, commissioners to appraise Fort Dallas Military Reservation in Oregon. Warriam, who at present is the principal clerk in the Bureau of Private Land Claims of the Interior Department, is designated to act as chairman and disbursing agent of the commission.

Brief Notes.

Judge Lawrence, First Comptroller of the Currency, decides that government employes are entitled to pay for public holidays.

All delinquent receivers of public moneys at land offices will be promptly prosecuted.

Coinage at the mint during July was $1,276,500.

The Indian Commission.

DENVER, 2.—The Tribune's Los Pinos special says: Indians have been straggling into the Commissioners' quarters all day yesterday and to-day to sign the treaty. The chiefs having signed the agreement the others are fearful that unless their names be forwarded to Washington they will receive no part of the $60,000 which the commission is authorized to pay out soon as the arrangements for the removal of the Utes are perfected, which will probably be some time next fall. The Commissioners leave here about the 4th inst. for the Southern Ute Agency, except Colonel Meacham, who remains at Los Pinos to take the census. The removal of the Utes is only a question of time, and the Commissioners are hurrying things as fast as possible. A treaty this fall will probably see the Uncompahgre open to settlement and the people of the United States and Colorado will have the pleasure of occupying the land and working for their bread as folks do elsewhere.

Edward Egan, from Dubuque, Iowa, a barkeeper of Maita, a small town three miles from Leadville, was shot and killed this morning by a ranchman Jas. Brady, a cold settler. Brady was returning from a picnic, and while under the influence of liquor entered the saloon where Egan the barkeeper, was asleep on the counter. He walked behind the counter and was helping himself to a drink, when Egan was awakened by the [illegible] of the glass. A few blows were exchanged when Brady drew his revolver and deliberately shot Egan through the heart. The murderer escaped, but was arrested subsequently at Oro.

The Tribune's Silverton special says: Charles Siegel was accidentally shot and killed this morning by Lewis Henderson, late of Fort Collins. Henderson had a gun under his arm and was talking with a few friends when the weapon was discharged, the ball hitting Siegel, who was sitting near, in the heart. He never spoke but expired instantly.

Weaver's Hopes.

WHEELING, W. Va., 2.—General Weaver in an interview with an Intelligencer reporter to-day said: General West, of Mississippi, told him at Selma that if Hancock were elected the spirit of intolerance for republicans at the South would be so great that he (West) did not believe they could live in Mississippi a day. Weaver is hopeful of carrying Alabama, to-morrow for the Greenback State ticket, claiming that the republicans are joining the Greenbackers in large numbers in hopes that they will there escape the ostracism under which they live.

Democratic Success.

MOBILE, Ala., 2.—The election for State and county officers took place to-day. In opposition to the regular democratic ticket, there was made a fusion of republicans, greenbackers and independents. Verbal reports from the election officers at the closing of the polls show a clear majority for the straight democratic ticket. Reports at the democratic executive committee's rooms from the interior of the State leave no doubt of Alabama polling a heavy democratic vote.

Further returns in Mobile County show a clean sweep for the democrats against the republicans and greenbackers. The lowest candidate will have 1,000 majority and a full vote will be brought out. The republicans had no State ticket in the field, and were instructed to vote the greenback ticket, but they failed to do so in many localities. Fifty thousand democratic majority is a low estimate.

Specials to the Register say: Tuscaloosa, Perry, Dallas, Bullock, Mason and Montgomery counties go heavily democratic. The returns from Madison, Limestone and Morgan are highly favorable for a 50,000 majority at least for the State ticket.

Kentucky Election.

LOUISVILLE, 2.—The elections today passed very quietly throughout the State. Nominations were made by the republicans in a very few counties, and the vote polled is light. Circuit judges and commonwealth attorneys were elected in each of the 18 judicial districts, and democrats are elected in at least 15. In the eighth congressional district the democratic primary nominated Phil. B. Thompson, jr., for re-election for Congress.

A Wife Murderer.

James Curran, who has at times shown evidence of insanity, shot and fatally wounded his wife, Marie, to-day. After having been declared sane by a commission four years ago, he left his family and only returned this morning. He went to his home and said to his wife, "I wish you wouldn't be tormenting me so every night." She replied, "Why, Jim, I've not been tormenting you, I've been working all the time here at home." He then drew a pistol. She turned to fly and he began shooting, the third ball entered her side and lung.

Missouri's Increase.

ST. LOUIS, 2.—The census returns from seventy-five counties of Missouri show an increase of 325,449 since 1870. If the same relative increase in the remaining counties of the State remains, the population will reach 2,200,000, an increase of half a million.

Fires.

SAN FRANCISCO, 2.—A fire broke out among a lot of light wooden buildings at Red Bluff this morning. It spread to adjoining buildings, sweeping the entire block. Loss about $100,000; insured one-half. A number of business firms were burned out.

Brockton, Mass., 2.—The freight house of the Old Colony Railroad, with a large quantity of freight, way bills, etc., was destroyed by fire Sunday night; loss heavy.
