

JUDGES OF THE CITY ELECTION.

Names of Those Selected at Last Night's Meeting of the City Council.

NAMED BY CITY COMMITTEES.

List Comprises One Democrat and Two Republicans from Each District in the City.

Following is the full list of the judges of election selected at last night's meeting of the city council. The names were submitted to the council by the chairman of the Republican and Democratic city committees and after being carefully scanned by the committee on elections the list was signed and the report of the committee was adopted. As will be seen, the judges consist of one Democrat and two Republicans from each of the 52 districts in the city. They are as follows:

POLITICAL POINTERS.

Have you registered? This is the last day.
Beginning yesterday night appears daily until after election.
If you have moved since last election and want to vote Nov. 3, you must register.

In an interview in the Herald, Benner S. Smith, a prominent young Republican, is quoted as saying that the issue this year is not a question of party politics.

The only baking-powder as good as baking-powder can be is Schilling's Best; it is made to be good.

At your grocer's; moneyback.

The McKinley Republican club met at the Methodist church on Franklin avenue last night. There was a lively scrap between the Bruce Johnson and W. W. Taylor factions over the election of a president, but after a hard tussle H. H. Voss, the Taylor man, won by a great majority, the vote being, Voss 62, Charles McSwine 42. The club will meet again Friday night.

LATE LOCALS.

Four hundred shares of Idaho Sugar stock sold at $1.90 per share.

Glass prism sidewalks will be used on the State street front of the new Vermont building.

Today's bank clearings amounted to $521,737.80, against $530,529.07 for the same day last year.

There have been several requests that the Tabernacle organ concert be taken up again, as they have become very popular.

Thirty of the returning bankers were in town yesterday, and registered at the Knutsford. They all left for the east last night.

The heavy stable keepers are smiling today, as all their spare hacks and wagons are in use by the political managers in getting voters out to register.

The telephone company has changed the rate on registered instruments from $1 per month with 20 calls to $1.50 per month with 40 calls with two parties only on the line.

The funeral of the late Benjamin H. Harman will be held from the Mill Creek meetinghouse tomorrow at 12 m. Friends may view the remains at the residence at Fourteenth South and State streets, from 9:30 to 11 a. m.

Col. George Dorsey was in town today, en route from Boise to Nebraska. He reports the development of southern Idaho as astonishing, and that hundreds of acres are being added to the building up of the irrigation companies.

The roof of the new Y. M. C. A. building will be so constructed that when the intended three additional stories are added the walls can be carried right up, and the present roof immediately utilized as a floor. All that will be necessary will be to cut holes for stairways through the roof.

The fire ladders from station No. 2 and Chief Woods from No. 1 responded to an alarm from Prof. Stephens' residence at 53 Center street yesterday afternoon. The blaze was in the roof and was caused by a defective flue. But the fire was quickly extinguished.

Capt. S. J. Ulman of Troop A, is getting his army discharge. His friends in Salt Lake are anxious to see him in uniform for his command in this city. He suggests that the state fair grounds be secured for the troop to drill on. At the rate things are going, Troop A will have no trouble in increasing its roster to 75 or 100 names, each man owning his own horse.

Articles of incorporation of the Utah Gold Separating, Milling, Mining and Machinery company of this city were filed in the county clerk's office this afternoon. The capital stock is $300,000, divided into shares of the par value of $1 each. C. O. Michaelson is president, Matthew A. Daugherty, vice president, H. P. Myton, secretary and treasurer.

Willis H. Boothe, Jr., who recently resigned his agency directorship of the New York Life Insurance company, has accepted the management of the National Bond company of Denver for the district of Utah, Idaho, Montana and Nevada, with headquarters in this city. Mr. Boothe regards the business outlook for his company as very promising. Ex-Manager Billings of the Bradstreet agency is associated with Mr. Boothe.

Real estate is selling steadily, but mostly in small parcels, and the dealers report that they had several months ago, and are now more than ever starting in to build them, bringing many outsiders in here, and the present beautiful fall is giving Utah a reputation that is being spread far and near.

They tell in local theatrical circles of the manager of a well known comic opera troupe, whose wife goes every two days to have her face enameled and her hair blonded. The enamel is elastic and does not wash off, but wears off in time and has to be renewed. In the present case, although the wife looks like a beauty, she is half that age. While the enamel beautifies when it is once used, it must be renewed periodically, or else the skin is ruined, and the woman's beauty is gone forever.

Officials of the Central Coal & Coke company on this city and Rock Springs say that the Montana Diamondville troubles will not disturb the Rock Springs production as much as was at first apprehended. In fact the release of many miners from the Diamondville properties may result in the Rock Springs mine management securing the help of which they have been in much need, and moreover, Salt Lake can now secure at the Rock Springs coal at a price which is lower than that of the shipments north will be amply compensated by the increase of the trade in other directions.

RESOURCES OF TETON VALLEY.

Wealth of Settlers in this Fruitful Section of Idaho Grows While They Sleep.

DEER AND ANTELOPE CALORE.

While it is an Ideal Spot for the Homeseeker it is a Glorious Place For the Hunter.

Special Correspondence.

Driggs, Idaho, Oct. 20.—Since your correspondent last saw the Teton valley some two years ago it shows a marvelous growth and improvement, more land being brought under cultivation, nice homes and surroundings, the improvement of places and the bounteous crops, stacks of hay and grain look very encouraging and prosperous. When we were here in the midsummer it was the season of huckleberries, the mountains being covered with this luscious fruit, and of the buckberries which are brought out at picnics "like mother used to make" are better in reality than imagination. There are all kinds of wild fruits here in abundance, currants, gooseberries, strawberries, and many other kinds; and I do not think any country excels the smaller cultivated fruits, and those who have set out the larger fruits long enough for them to begin to bear are now getting fruits, such as apples and other hardy fruits, though this is not considered a fruit country.

For the benefit of those who may desire to locate here I will say that there is a considerable good land and water that can be located on, and considerable patented land with good water right can be bought at from $5 to $10 per acre. The principal crop here is alfalfa, and there are splendid timothy and hay meadows. However, there is a great quantity of grain, and all kinds of vegetables, but having no flour mill there is not so much encouragement to raise wheat, but what is raised finds a ready market for feeding hogs, chickens, etc. Timber is abundant and handy; several saw and two shingle mills have been turned out a fine quality of finishing and rough lumber. There is a good opportunity here for a flour mill and a creamery. Hundreds of cows are left to run on the range with their calves, and the want of a creamery. Some good hay has been discovered in the east range of mountains, bearing gold and copper, principally. It is reported that Senator Clark is interested in one group of claims, and there is quite a force of men working the mines; it is also reported that a smelter will be erected. Some more veins of coal have been discovered in the mountains which is of good quality. Engineers were in here this summer looking over the route for a railway and no doubt these mining industries will be an additional impetus to the growth of the valley.

The valley is somewhat similar in appearance to Salt Lake valley, the high mountains on the east with canyons and streams of water and a low range of mountains on the west, with the Teton river running northwesterly like Jordan through the valley; the grand Teton peaks towering majestically east of about the center of the valley. We are situated about 40 miles east of Redburg and St. Anthony, and border on the Wyoming line. The principal wards are Driggs, Victor, Leigh, Hayden, Pratt, Chapin and Darby, and these branches of the church are generally in good live condition, though we need more Latter-day Saints to settle with us and help out spiritually and materially.

We have a good stake organization with live young men at the head that are doing a great deal for the advancement of the people. Stock and sheep are or have been the principal industries, and the range is abundant, and with many of the people their wealth is growing while they sleep and are on the "shady side of easy street"; that is, they do not want to work like tradespeople and clerks for certain hours, but when they feel like it. Many a poor young man has come here and in a few years has made himself independent of servitude. The presidency of the stake has started an "informal bureau" and inquiries addressed to President D. C. Driggs of this place will receive careful attention.

We have for the season and deer, antelope, some few elk and wild sheep are occasionally bagged, but more particularly over the hill in the hunter's paradise, Jackson's Hole.

Amusements

Last night was a memorable one at the Salt Lake Theater. In point of receipts all previous records of the house for single performances were broken, unless it might be the Gerster opera night, when $3 and $5 were paid for seats, and the Booth & Barrett night, when $2 was the prevailing schedule.

The actual number of people was less than that which thronged the house when "Sapho" was presented, and when Nance O'Neill gave "Oliver Twist," but these productions were at popular prices, and they yielded to the box office nothing like last night's receipts. The count-up showed that close to $2,000 was in the coffers. The upper gallery too, and the standing spaces were not entirely filled, so that the record may even be passed at the remaining performances. It is not too much to expect that the record will again break the house records for any similar number of consecutive presentations.

The audience, too, was quite remarkable from another standpoint. While the usual throng of first nighters was present, there was a big sprinkling of an elegant party of over, some of them in the theater, an element attracted solely by the religious character of the play, and by the wide fame of the great actress.

The galleries and the house generally, were united in a whirlwind of applause to the beautiful, but an infinite respect for painstaking work, and all who listened felt that the occasion was one of unusual profit.

TRAIN WRECKED ON THE D. & R. G.

Salida, Colo., Oct. 27.—The second section of a freight train on the Denver & Rio Grande road, eastbound, has been wrecked between Mears and Otto, eight miles from here. Three men were killed and one frightfully injured.

THE DEAD.
Samuel Brown, engineer.
Henry Simons, brakeman.
John Mulcahey, brakeman.

INJURED.

Henry Fitzsimmons, arm and leg broken.

The wreck is said to have been caused by a leaky air hose which made it impossible to control the train as it was descending a steep grade. The engine became detached and after tearing through Mears at the rate of a mile an hour, was overtaken by the cars. The collision wrecked both cars and engine.

NEW PLAN.

Denver & Southwestern has a scheme for Reorganization of Company's Debt.

New York, Oct. 27.—A committee of bondholders in the Denver & Southwestern Railroad company has issued a plan looking to the reorganization of the company's funded debt in order to arrange for the prompt payment of the semi-annual interest on its general mortgage 5 per cent bonds, which fall due Dec. 1.

The company was formed in December, 1899, with $2,000,000 of preferred stock, $3,000,000 common stock and mortgage 5 per cent bonds to the amount of $5,000,000. For the first two years it had every outlet from the Cripple Creek gold fields, and was able to pay interest on its bonds as well as dividends on both classes of stock, but the construction of the Short Line from Colorado Springs to Cripple Creek brought about such sharp competition that the earnings of the Denver & Southwestern were reduced.

The committee proposes that the company should issue in lieu of the present bonds $3,000,000 of the new bonds to bear 3 per cent interest for one year, and four thereafter, and $2,425,000 of cumulative income bonds entitled to 5 per cent interest on the principal, to be given the right to name a majority of the board of directors until such time as all interest due on the income bonds shall have been paid and at any time thereafter when there may be a default in the interest. The present stock of the company is not to be disturbed, and its consent to the plan of reorganization will have to be given before it can become effective.

Wade Moschy Dead.

S. Wade Moschy, superintendent of the Chicago and Sheldon mines in Bingham, died suddenly of apoplexy yesterday morning and the remains were brought to this city last night for burial. The funeral will take place from the family residence, 24 south Sixth East street, at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The deceased was well known in mining circles; a native of Maine he was a second cousin of General Mosby of Civil War fame. He was 49 years old and had lived in Utah more than 20 years, having been engaged in mining the greater part of that time, although for a short time some years ago he was connected with the White House hotel in this city. He is survived by his wife, and two sons, W. W. and Harry. His mother, Mrs. Emerine Dressler, and his sister, Mrs. Alice G. Barbee, also are residents of the city.

NO CUT IN WAGES.

Emphatic Denial of Alleged Contemplated Reduction in Pay Roll.

New York, Oct. 27.—Emphatic denial is made here by representatives of several important western railroads to widely circulated rumors that a concerted effort was to be made by the western road to reduce wages. The opinion here generally expressed that no such plan was under consideration and in some quarters, that such a move would not be feasible. Reductions in expenses are being made by the western

Shirley's company performed Paul Potter's famous dramatization of "Trilby."

The play was well staged and produced, and very well attended, considering the rush for "Ben Hur."

Miss Jessie Shirley in the title role naturally attracted the most attention and gave a rendering which was very favorably received; she showed herself an actress of taste and experience, while Mr. Geo. P. McQuarrie was equally terrible as Svengali. Though was somewhat overdone, but his performance, especially in the third act, was very creditable. Miss Laura Adams was a sympathetic Madam Vihard and Miss Meta Markey made an imposing Mrs. Hagot; Mr. Wilson Forbes as the Rev. Thomas Bagot gave a good character sketch of the sanctimonious English person. Mr. Edmund Abbey lives the character of Little Bluffe was rather weak, as he was inclined to exaggerate the emotional parts. Mr. Raiston as Zou-Zou was very amusing, but may we suggest here that it is somewhat anachronous for men in a play cast at the time of the Third Empire in France to dress their parts in clothes that were worn as recently as 10 years ago?

Messrs. Tom Loftus and Leslie Geyer, performed capably as Taffy and the Laird, although the latter's Scotch accent became too much for him as the evening wore on. Mr. Tom McQuarrie as Gecko had the sympathies of the audience with him, and the capabilities of all the performers were well displayed at the dramatic climax which ends in the death of Svengali.

The play continues at the Grand tonight and Wednesday night, and a matinee, to be succeeded by Haddon Chambers' "A Modern Magdalen," Thursday.

THE PERRY LECTURES.

The real test of character is the ability shown in taking advantage of opportunities. The Perry lectures given under the auspices of the club in the Ladies' Literary club house next Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings afford the opportunity of a lifetime to become better acquainted not only with the great books of the world in a thoroughly entertaining way, but to learn important facts in the lives of famous authors, noted illustrators and worthy bookbinders.

In these lectures Mr. Perry draws from a rich and varied experience among books and a personal acquaintance with literary people. Among those mentioned are Eugene Field, Helen Hunt Jackson, Mark Twain, Marion Harland, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Oliver Optic, Bret Harte and Clarence Edwin Steadman. Of these lectures the University of Michigan News says: "Mr. Perry's talk is such as to inspire not only a love of the beautiful, but an infinite respect for painstaking work, and all who listened felt that the occasion was one of unusual profit."

Mr. Perry's lecture will be given at 8 o'clock on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, and a matinee, to be succeeded by Haddon Chambers' "A Modern Magdalen," Thursday.
