

ONLY KIT CARSON IN EXISTENCE

Grandson of Famous Scout and Frontiersman a Visitor In Salt Lake.

FULL OF REMINISCENCES.

Troubles With Cattle Thieves and Bad Men in the Early 80's— Lynching of Joe Fowler.

Kit Carson III, son of his father and grandson of the famous scout and frontiersman who guided John C. Fremont through the wilds of the western wilderness, and himself a scout of the early days, is in Salt Lake for a day or two. Mr. Carson is registered at the Kenyon hotel, and is in the city on business and pleasure combined. He has just returned from Pioche, Nevada, where he is interested in an extension of the Prince Consolidated mine, and while there he let a contract for the construction of a 350 foot tunnel.

"That is one of the richest mining countries in the west," said Mr. Carson this morning. "The Prince Con. has $75,000,000 worth of ore in sight, and our property is just beyond the Prince Con."

Reverting to early scouting days, Mr. Carson told some half-raising stories of blood-curdling adventures on the plains. "People got us mixed," said Mr. Carson, in referring to his father and grandfather. "My grandfather, the original Kit Carson, the man who piloted John C. Fremont out of the desert, died on Sept. 25, 1868. My father, Kit Carson, Jr., was killed at Horseback Crossing, New Mexico, by Apache Indians in October, 1872. All that you have heard and read about 'Kit Carson,' since that time has been about me, as I am the only Kit Carson in existence since that time. Yes, I was born and reared on the frontier, and have had as much experience as most of them."

CASE OF JOE FOWLER.

I remember we had a great deal of trouble with the cattle thieves and rustlers in the early 80s in Colorado and New Mexico, and they were pretty bothersome. They were pretty well cleared out by the cowboys, and as everything was getting to be civilized, I dropped the old frontier life and went into the mining business. All the cattle rustlers were not among the thieves and desperadoes, though," continued Mr. Carson. "I remember the case of Joe Fowler; he was a deputy sheriff in Colorado, and was one of the biggest horse thieves in the west. Fowler had a varied career. He was credited with killing 26 men in 10 couple of years. He never hesitated to kill a man, if he thought he could get any money out of him or a bunch of cattle; it was immaterial. I well remember his finish. He had followed two men into New Mexico after a herd of cattle. The men had sold their stock and had $50,000, according to reports. They were found dead shortly afterward. These were the Greathouse brothers, and it was common report that Fowler killed them for their money and cattle. Well, Fowler went into Socorro, New Mexico, and stopped at the Central hotel. I was upstairs, and heard Fowler downstairs saying he would kill somebody. I went down with my hand on my six-shooter, because the man threatened was a friend of mine, and I wasn't going to stand by and see him murdered, but when I got down stairs I found I had a pistol pointed at my head, but they had a pistol pointed at him, too. The other man's hat was blown off, and in it was found some of his brains. Fowler was captured, and although he had been able to get clear of many murders prior to that time, on account of his official position, he was convicted this time and sentenced to be hung. But here comes his little wife with a lawyer from Kansas City, and succeeds in getting a nolle prosequi for her husband, and a change of venue to Ft. Leavenworth, Kan. Well, the citizens of Socorro, who had already been on the point of taking Fowler out and lynching him, just desisted when the court pronounced his sentence, just gathered as one man and took Joe Fowler out of prison and strung him up to the first handy tree, so he never got his new trial at Leavenworth."

Mr. Carson is a man about the medium height, heavy built and wiry, with keen black eyes and curly black hair, now tinged, however, with streaks of gray. He has the earnestness of a young man, however, and is full of reminiscences of the early days in the west, in which he, as well as his illustrious grandfather and father, took such an important part.

MEASURES FOR COMFORT.

Circus Exerts Every Effort to Make Visits Pleasant Memories.

The comfort and the pleasure of the patrons are matters which have been given full and complete consideration and attention by the management of the Sells-Floto shows, and, according to reports along the line, where the show exhibited recently no circus has ever gone so far before in this respect.

Fully realizing that circus day is a holiday, the management proceeded along lines to make possible a full realization of all the day means in the minds of old and young. From the moment the shows arrive in this city until their departure every consideration will be shown the public. The people will receive a welcome at the show grounds, where they will see the elephants carrying the monster tent poles. These elephants are the only ones of the kind in this country and were trained on the public works of Ceylon.

Women without escort and children unattended are assured respectful consideration either inside or outside of the tents. Every employee of this big show is a guardian for their protection and no obnoxious practices of any kind will be permitted in the limit of the territory controlled by the show. The big double show will exhibit here July 5. The parade in the morning will also be a feature. The splendid pagoda will move over the usual route in Salt Lake city, next Monday morning. About 10:30 o'clock, the condition of some of the streets will make it necessary to traverse only the streets downtown as are in condition. South Main and Eighth South streets will be the circus grounds.

G. A. R. COMMITTEE MEETING.

A general meeting of the women's citizen's committee of G. A. R. will be held at room 326 of the Commercial club building at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Reports will be made by the 15 chairmen of the sub-committees, and a full attendance of the committee is desired.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, at the same place, a meeting of the refreshment committee, Miss Van Cott, chairman, will be held. Business of importance will come up for consideration, and Miss Van Cott desires all the members of the committee who can, to be present.

FUNERAL OF ETHEL WALTERS.

Funeral services over the remains of Sarah Ethel Walters were held in the Burckha stake house June 22, after the body was sent to Lehi and services were held in the Third ward meeting house. Interment was in the Lehi cemetery. The deceased was a daughter of Charles A. and the late Elizabeth Bryant Walters. Her age was 14 years, 6 months and 4 days. Her mother died six years ago. She leaves a father and one brother, a great many relatives and friends to mourn her demise. Until last January, she resided at the home of her grandfather and grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Walters, 946 west First North.

WASATCH IMPROVED.

Little Cottonwood Canyon Resort More Attractive Than Ever.

After renovating and improving the Wasatch resort in Cottonwood canyon, the presiding bishops have leased it to James Muir of Granite for the season of 1909. In addition to repainting the three-story hotel, the 18 or 20 cottages which belong to the resort have also been renovated. The hotel has been remodeled slightly, and the water facilities have been improved, so that the resort is in much better condition than ever this year. Owing to the high water in Little Cottonwood creek this year, a great many trails are said to have gone up and fishing is reported to be good. The resort is reached by stage from Murray, which leaves McHenry's livery stables daily. The drive is through some of the best agricultural land in the county, and the resort can be reached in about an hour and a half. There is also telephonic connection with the resort, for the benefit of visitors from the city who may contemplate making the trip, and who may want to arrange for accommodations ahead.

POSTAL OFFICE READY.

The Postal Telegraph company has its new office arrangements in the Boston building so far along that cutting will be done in 2 or 3 days, and the close of the night's work. The office is equipped with positions for 62 men. It has also a slate and angle iron switchboard, the third of the kind to be used in the United States. The dynamo switchboard is also a very complete affair, and every fixture and convenience brought out up to date in the service has been made available. Supt. Hawk will have offices upstairs.

CIRCUS WILL BE THERE.

Everything points to the parade of Sunday school children at Liberty park next Monday morning, July 5, being a marked success. In addition to all the good things announced before, consisting of music and sports of all kinds, the announcement is now made that the great circus of Sells and Floto will have a special parade through Liberty park for the children. This will take place at 11:15, at the conclusion of the program around the bandstand, which will consist of songs, a representation of the signing of the Declaration of Independence by boys dressed in colonial style, and a speech by B. S. Hinkley. In the afternoon sports of all kinds will be indulged in in the field near the bandstand. It is expected that more than 5,000 children will take part in the parade, which will begin at 2:50.

SHOPLIFTER NABBED.

A man giving the name of John Wilson was arrested at J. P. Gardner's clothing store this afternoon, being caught in the act of shoplifting. He was trying to get away with a coat and vest when he was apprehended by a clerk. He is now in the custody of Patrolman Dan Grundvig of the gasoline squad.

THOROUGHBREDS AT FAIR.

Draft Animals and Fine Cattle Will Be Features of the Show.

Secy. H. S. Emsign of the Utah State Fair association recently sent a number of letters out to firms and individuals owning good teams, calling their attention to the fact that special attention will be given this year to working teams and harness, which have been staid by a blooded stallion of the class under which they are shown. The first race will be held on Monday, July 5, at 10 o'clock, and will be a race of work horses. Along the same line is the decision to cut out prizes this year for graded stallions. There will be no prize this year for this stock.

A letter has also been received from H. W. Wigman of Salt Lake, asking for a copy of the premium list for 1909, as the writer is thinking of taking a herd of thoroughbred cattle to the exhibit at the exposition, and if it can be arranged, Mr. Wigman writes that he would like to stay in Salt Lake and make an exhibit at the October fair. The premium list has been sent as requested, and Secy. Emsign hopes to hear that Mr. Wigman will be on hand in October with his herd of thoroughbreds.

HERE TO BUILD JAIL.

County Prison to be Rushed for Early Occupancy.

A. S. Meserve, superintendent of construction of the Pauly Jail company, arrived in Salt Lake today and Tuesday morning will start the excavating for the new county jail on Second East street opposite the City and County building. Part of the buildings of the proposed site have already been torn down and the ground will be ready by next week to begin work. The jail will be rushed through to completion. It is to be constructed from the company's special plans and Meserve knows the system on which to work, having completed a jail last week in Mexico exactly like it. The jail is to be four stories in height but only 100 cells are to be put in at present time, and other 100 cells will be put in as they are needed. A residence for the sheriff is to be built in connection with the jail.

MANAGER WHARTON'S UKASE.

Butte, July 2.—Unless manager Barnes of the Butte team, of the Inter-mountain league is here in time to play ball tomorrow afternoon, the local park will be closed to him. Manager J. R. Wharton of the Butte Electric Railway company, to whom the park belongs, says Barnes' contract calls for games on July 3, 4 and 5, and that if he does not hustle up from Salt Lake, the contract will be cancelled. Mr. Wharton says he intends to turn the park into a children's playground and does not care if Butte never has league ball again.

COURT NEWS.

SMALLEST JUDGMENT EVER.

Negro's Feelings to be Soothed With A Two-Bit Piece.

Benjamin D. Lewis, a negro, who was ejected from the Seltzer dancing pavilion after he had bought a ticket to the lake, was given judgment for 2 cents yesterday in Judge Ritchie's court against Seltzer. Beach company and the case against the Salt Lake and Los Angeles Railroad company was dismissed. This is the smallest judgment ever given in the Third district court.

Lewis purchased two tickets to Seltzer last season and then paid the price of admission to the dancing pavilion. The management refused to allow negroes to dance and Lewis and his partner were ejected. The court held that the resort is a private enterprise and that license to enter may be revoked in the case of any person providing the price of admission is received.

JUDGMENT IS AWARDED.

Judgment for $4,000 was entered this afternoon in the Third district court against the Utah Light & Railway company in favor of J. Boyd Gordon, administrator of the estate of S. S. Lindeman, who was killed by one of the cars of the defendant company May 17, 1907. The widow and five small children are the beneficiaries of the judgment. Lindeman was crossing the street in intersection at Second South and Second West on the date named and as he tried to avoid an eastbound car, he was hit by a car coming from the other direction.

PLEADS TO ASSAULT.

Thomas Williams of Bingham Junction, charged with a statutory offense, was given a chance to withdraw his plea of not guilty and enter one of self-defense to the charge of simple assault. He waived time for passing judgment and Judge Lewis sentenced him to three months in the county jail. Miss Anna Blinn, 18 years old, was the complaining witness.

IN POLICE COURT.

A. J. Rohner, who according to Guy Cappuccio, is something of a dabbler in "high finance," using checks without funds in the bank as a medium, pleaded not guilty this morning to the charge of having obtained money under false pretences preferred by Cappuccio. According to Cappuccio, the proprietor of a Commercial street saloon, Rohner negotiated a check drawn on the bank of Heber city for $30, and the check was returned marked, "No funds." Rohner will have his hearing July 8.

D. Daniels, whose alleged forte is the opening of the candy slot machines in the theaters, and who was caught in the act of rifling the boxes in the Majestic theater yesterday morning, was arraigned before Judge Bowman this morning but took until tomorrow morning to plead. When in the court room yesterday afternoon Daniels fell in a fit, inflicting a severe gash on his temple. Today he appeared in the court room with his head swathed in bandages, and in his demeanor presented a sorry spectacle of the penitent.

CASE UNDER ADVISEMENT.

After hearing arguments for three days in the case of Salt Lake City against the Pleasant Valley Irrigation company, and 10 other defendants, Judge Morse took the case under advisement this morning. The suit was brought to adjudicate the water rights of Parley's canyon. It has taken months to secure the testimony which was taken before John Pike, master of chancery.

TOO HUMILIATING.

A certain small boy of six is rapidly assuming manly ways. Not long ago his "room" at school planned an entertainment. There were to be little songs and recitations and a mysterious grab bag. The small boy waxed eloquent concerning the coming glories of this show, and more especially the part he would take.

On the morning of the entertainment his mother suggested that he should take his little sister, aged four, with him. He hung his head.

"Don't you want to take her?" his mother asked.

"No, I don't," he answered.

"And why not?"

"The reply came quickly.

"Cause there ain't none of th' other fellers has to bring their children."

PAGANINI'S CAB.

On awakening one morning at his hotel in Vienna, Paganini, the celebrated violinist, was informed that the cabman whom the previous evening he had employed to drive him to the concert hall where he was playing was waiting to see him. On being admitted to his presence the man, after having advanced poverty and a large family as an excuse for the request that he was about to make, prayed the great musician to make his fortune. "What do you mean?" demanded Paganini. "Authorize me to write in large letters on the back of my vehicle these two words, 'Paganini's Cab,'" was the answer. "Consent was given, with altogether satisfactory results."
