

THE SEMI-WEEKLY NEWS

The Great Country Paper of the West.

Issued Mondays and Thursdays and Contains All the Cream of the Daily and Saturday News.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Up to Ninth—The contractors at the Newhouse buildings have the steel columns set up for the eighth and ninth stories of the Newhouse block.

Ladies Aid Society—The Ladies Aid society of the First Baptist church will meet tomorrow afternoon, with Mrs. J. H. Fitzgerald, 1256 Brigham street.

Asks for Parole—James Larson of Montpelier, sent to the state prison Sept. 13, 1907, for three years for forgery, has filed an application for parole with the state board of pardons.

Underwriters Will Dance—The first ball of the Utah Association of Life Underwriters will be given this evening at the Odessa. Gov. Cutler and Mrs. W. G. Carroll will lead the grand march. The decorations will be quite elaborate.

Footlights at High School—High school students have organized a dramatic club composed of members of the oral expression class, with Austin Lundberg as president and George Parsons as manager. The club will present a play in the near future.

Was Secretary of Utah Commission—Col. Henry Page, formerly secretary for years of the Utah commission, is in the city from Cass Lake, Minn., where he is custodian of the forest reservation there, which includes the area of the state prison. He will be in town for a week or two.

Andrews Leaves for Pacific—A. C. Andrews, chief of the mineral department of the surveyor general's office, left for California this afternoon, accompanied by Mrs. Andrews and daughter. Mrs. Andrews has been suffering from nervous prostration, and a temporary change to sea level has been advised by his physician.

Eight Hundred Carpenters—The Commercial club has been presented with a swing camera photograph, five feet long, showing a group of 800 carpenters in Montana having a convention of the carpenters' federation which met at Niagara Falls in 1906. The picture is of interest here as the next convention is to be held in this city.

Drug Trade Increasing—The drug trade appears to be growing in Salt Lake. Five new drug stores have been started in this city, since the first of the year, and all seem to be doing well. Drug stores in Butte and Lewistown in Montana have been the desirable habit of patronizing Salt Lake wholesale houses, showing that the jobbing trade of this city is reaching out.

Table Talk at Y. M. C. A.—A Spanish dinner will be held this evening at the Y. M. C. A. On the 19th inst., a dinner will be given to the members who joined the association in the last 30 days, and on the 20th comes the educational dinner, when George B. Hodge of New York will be the guest. On March 5, the annual dinner of the association will be given, and on March 13 comes the banquet of the juniors, preps and affiliated clubs.

Women are Financiers—After sitting in the games from 8:30 to 10:30 four people emerged as prize winners from the Ladies' "American" club party last night. Two hundred were the number who took part in the game. The prizes were $100 in cash, not counting the sum expended for coffee and cake, which were dispensed by the game. The winners were: Miss May Angel, Mrs. Douglass Cook, J. M. Harvey and M. A. Brandt.

Will Address N. E. A.—A. C. Nelson, state superintendent of public instruction, will address the coming convention of the National Educational association upon the subject: "Agricultural Industries and Home Economics in Public Schools." He will also talk on "The Relation of the County Superintendent to the County Board." Prof. W. M. Stewart of the University of Utah will discuss at the same meeting, "Preparation of Teachers for Agricultural Education."

Preparing for State Fair—At last night's meeting of the State Fair association, the premium list for next October's fair was revised with many changes and additions. It was reported that many exhibitors are preparing to be represented from all parts of Utah and from southern Idaho, and that the entire space reserved for agricultural exhibits has been applied for, and the exhibit, it is claimed, will surpass anything of the kind hitherto seen in the state. The display of swine and cattle will be unusually large, and special attention will be given to the horses. Several classes were added to the poultry show, and others were extended, and a few cut off.

Zion's Savings Bank & Trust Co. Pays 4 per cent on deposits. JOSEPH F. SMITH, President. ANTHON H. LUND, Vice-President. O. C. BEHRE, Cashier.

THE IRATE HUSBAND MEETS DEED MAN

Interesting Sequel to the Scene
In Hogle's Saloon
Last Week.

PUNCHES HIS HEAD IN STYLE.

They Meet Outside the Wilson and the Dealer in Dirt Takes the Gut, for the Count.

The story recently published in the "News" about a big real estate dealer, big, not from a real estate standpoint, but just big physically, and a small companion who insulted two ladies, and who disappeared when the irate husband of one of the insulted women made his appearance in Hogle's saloon on Main street where the big real estate dealer and his small companion were drinking, has been the talk of the town since the incident.

Those who know the big real estate dealer and his companion who might be called "little Artie," are no longer talking about the appearance of the angry husband and how the big fellow nearly broke his neck getting away and how the little fellow faded away, apparently into thin air, but they are talking about the thrashing the big real estate dealer received at the hands of the husband of one of the women.

The name of the irate husband could not be obtained for the reason that those who knew all about the affair refused to divulge it. The plea was made that they did not want the lady's name dragged into the affair. Those who witnessed the flight of the big real estate dealer, and his little companion are settling over the latest chapter in the story.

HE GOT HIM ALRIGHT.

It will be recalled that the angry husband made the declaration: "I will get him yet," after he had chased the real estate man from the saloon. It seems that the husband "got" the big fellow and got him in style. According to the story told by eye witnesses, the two met in front of the Wilson hotel. Without a word the husband walked up to the insult of women, dealt him a right hand smash on the jaw and put him down and out in the gutter.

"You low down contemptible brute. You—!" and then some, said the enraged husband. "Why don't you get up and fight?"

"I'll give you a chance to defend yourself if you have manhood enough to fight." But the big fellow does not talk to men—he prefers women. The husband, after striking the big real estate man on the face a few times, walked down the street in disgust.

MANY SLEEPLESS NIGHTS, OWING TO A PERSISTENT COUGH, RELIEF FOUND AT LAST.

"For several winters past my wife has been troubled with a most persistent and annoying cough, which invariably extended over a period of several weeks and caused her many sleepless nights," writes the real estate dealer, who is now in Colorado. "Various remedies were tried each year, with no beneficial result. In November last the cough again put in an appearance and my wife, acting on the suggestion of a friend, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The result was, indeed, marvelous. After three doses the cough entirely disappeared and has not manifested itself since. This remedy is for sale by all druggists."

RALEIGH TREADS THE RUG.

Street Supervisor Must Answer to Charges Before Council Tonight.

Jake Raleigh will be called upon by the stand with his heels together on the floor of the council chamber tonight to answer to charges brought against him by William Jones, a former employee of the street department. The principal item in the charges which will be heard pressed is the charge that Raleigh has padded the city payroll, having names appear on the pay accounts which the street department does not employ. The auditor for payment never employed by the city. The charge that Jake has used city teams, labor and supplies in carrying on his own business, and that he has used city money for his own purposes. All sides admit that Jake's explanations will have to be made of better stuff than were those given by Tommy Atkins, the deposed chief clerk of the street department.

SAVE MONEY BY BUYING CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

You will pay just as much for a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as any of the other cough medicines, but you save money in buying it. The saving is in what you get, not what you pay. BULLETS STOP MORGAN.

Officer Yeager Convinces Prisoner That He Would Do Well to Tarry.

A man giving the name of Edward Morgan and claiming to be a railroad man, was arrested at 10 o'clock last night by Officer Yeager for trying to pass a worthless check for $15.20 on a West Second South street saloon keeper. The check was made payable to J. Johnson, and the signature was J. P. Jones. Morgan told the saloon man that the check was good, as he had been working for the Columbia Phonograph company. The saloonman did not take the check, and Morgan was called in by Officer Yeager. The latter called up George H. Hirschvogel, manager of the Columbia company, and asked him about the check. Mr. Hirschvogel said the check was worthless.

While Yeager was talking to Morgan, the latter started to run. The officer fired two shots at the man and succeeded in stopping him. The police have been watching Morgan for several days and they believe they have arrested a clever crook.

COLORADO WINNER IN JOINT DEBATE

Utah. With Affirmative in Broad Question, Loses in Spirited Forensic Contest.

CENTRALIZATION OF POWER

Neighboring Trio Convinces Judges That Federal Government Already Has More Power Than Can Use.

Representatives of the University of Utah last evening engaged in a forensic battle with students from the University of Colorado, and came out second best. The contest was a decidedly pretty one from start to finish, arguments lasting one hour and forty-two minutes, and the verdict of two of the three judges declaring the visitors to be the winners was, without doubt, endorsed by a majority of the audience.

The Salt Lake Theater was the scene of the debate, and the greater number of seats in the lower part of the house as well as those in the more favorable parts of the family circle were occupied. There was much enthusiasm manifested during the evening, in which the visitors fully shared with the home debaters. Arthur Edward Nafe, P. Van Cleve and Frederick O. Anderson, of the Coloradoans, were awarded of the honors, while their defeated, but by no means vanquished opponents were Richard W. Young, Jr., James Carlson and C. Henry Anderson.

QUESTION OF DEBATE.

The question debated was "Resolved, that the present distribution of power between the federal and state governments is not adapted to present conditions and calls for a readjustment in the direction of further centralization." The Utahns had the affirmative. Taking the men as they appeared in pairs, the teams averaged well. For instance, Mr. Anderson, of the U. of C. and Mr. Anderson of the U. of C. were nearly equal in ability as their names are alike. If there was any difference in the direction indicated between Mr. Carlson and Mr. Van Cleve, the odds were in the latter's favor. As for Messrs. Young and Nafe, it would be as difficult to say which is the superior, as it would be to find a pair of young men in Utah who could equal last night's work. Both are keen, clear and alert, and in a subject more susceptible of wide divergence of opinion the two would wage a battle royal, one against the other.

THE OFFICIALS.

Judge William H. King was chairman of the meeting. Judge George G. Armstrong, Hon. Stephen H. Love and Superintendent D. H. Christensen were judges, while Harry E. Moore and W. Scott Keyting were timekeepers. Each debater had five minutes in preliminary and five minutes for final argument. Mr. Anderson, of the affirmative, leading the debate.

The speaker named three phases of the question, and then took up the foundation upon which the affirmative would build their arguments for more power in the hands of the federal government, namely, child labor, divorce and prohibition.

QUESTION OF MONOPOLIES.

Mr. Carlson seemed to take it for granted that his colleague had covered the question of divorce, and he himself referred to it as though the points had been already made, and devoted the remainder of his time to an exposure of the methods of trusts, declaring that nothing short of the strong hand of the general government could throttle the giant.

Mr. Van Cleve answered Mr. Carlson briefly, and caused a laugh at his opponent's expense by reminding the latter that he had in his argument called the street department "the giant."

The main points in the divorce phase, and the showing he made was by far the most forceful coming from the affirmative.

WHERE GOVERNMENT FAILED.

The opening arguments were closed by Mr. Nafe, in a contention that the federal government had failed in successfully using many powers already conferred upon it, and that the state under such a state of affairs additional authority should be given it at the expense of the several states.

The rebuttal brought out nothing new from the arguments proper, and pending the decision of the judges selections were rendered by the U. of C. glece club, which had appeared earlier in the evening.

Two of the Colorado debaters are newspaper men, Mr. Nafe being with the Denver Post, and Mr. Van Cleve is a representative of the Rocky Mountain News.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

The largest event of tonight will be the ball to be given by the Utah Association of Life Underwriters at Odessa hall. Among those to be present are the officers from Fort Douglas, the governor's club and the Cambrian society, and the grand march will be led by Gov. and Mrs. J. C. Cutler. The hall will be beautifully decorated in the national colors and a program suggestive of the birthday of Lincoln whose memory the event honors.

Tonight Miss Lulu Buckle and Andrew McIntire will be married at the home of the bride's father, John Buckle, the ceremony to be performed by Rev. P. A. Perkins and a large reception to follow.

THE DESERET NEWS.

day night at the Lion House are busily at work with the various details of the affair which promises to be one of the best of the year. To avoid the crush of that occasion the members have been limited to their personal invitations, as so many requests have come in for these privileges as to necessitate this step. One of the many new features of the affair will be the national dance, in costume to be done by well known people, the parlor to be the scene of these special festivities while in the relief room Mrs. A. W. McNamee will spin, and up stairs in the large dining hall the old-fashioned dances will be enjoyed. Mrs. Flora Horne is in charge of the invitation committee and all communications should be addressed to her.

Mrs. Geneva Kimball of this city has received a clipping from a Boston newspaper giving the name of her son, Douglas E. Kimball, among those who have passed the Massachusetts Bar examinations. This is an honor which will give his many friends great pleasure.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Glendenning will entertain at cards tonight in honor of Miss Terry.

Mrs. Anna Meakin will entertain the P. N. G. club tomorrow at the L. O. F. hall and after the business meeting will entertain her party at luncheon at Franklin's.

Mr. and Mrs. William Igleheart were guests of honor at a dinner given yesterday at the University club by Mr. and Mrs. Ledyard M. Bailey, the table being decorated in tulips with Holland scenes for place cards. Covers were laid for 18.

Mrs. O. W. Powers entertained informally at bridge this afternoon at her home, the decorations being in daffodils and six tables being played.

President and Mrs. J. T. Kingsbury will entertain the seniors of students at a reception next Saturday night.

Mrs. W. C. Alexander was hostess at an informal luncheon yesterday at the Bransford, the decorations being in pink carnations and covers laid for eight.

SIGNAL CORPS ACTIVE.

Lecture on Telegraphy Will be Given Tomorrow Evening by McNeil.

Manager McNeil of the Postal Telegraph company's local office will deliver a lecture to the members of the Signal Corps of the National Guard of Utah at the armory tomorrow evening. Mr. McNeil's talk will deal with telegraph lines, their construction, operation and maintenance and he will also go into the subject of wireless telegraphy and telephony.

The signal corps has taken up work along electrical lines in a systematic manner for the first time since receiving new equipment for telephone and telegraph lines and a telegraph school will be opened for the members of the organization early next month. An instructor will be provided by the line and already the prospect of this line work has attracted unusual interest in the command.

If you haven't the time to exercise regularly, Doan's Regulents will prevent constipation. They induce a mild, easy, healthful action of the bowels without gripping. Ask your druggist for them. 25c.

DUNN "DONE UP."

W. E. Dunn, foreman at the Garfield smelter, got mixed up in a row in the Favorite saloon on State street last evening and was badly injured about the face and head. Several men were standing at the bar drinking and, according to the story told the police, Dunn "buted in." One of the men threw a heavy beer glass at Dunn, striking him on the head. The glass broke, and Dunn's face and head were badly cut. He was taken to the emergency hospital, where Dr. Paul dressed the wounds.

WOMAN'S PITIFUL STORY.

Mrs. Jennie Cross and four children were before the juvenile court yesterday and told to the court a most pitiful story. She said that she was the only support of an invalid husband and that she has been compelled to take in laundry to earn her support. She admitted having sent her children to the right of way of the railways passing near her home, 472 south Ninth west street, to get coal. She told the court that she did not know she was doing wrong in so doing. She was informed by the court that she had no right to the coal and that she must not do so any more. The unfortunate woman and her children were discharged.
