LITERARY NOTES.

The New Bohemian—A Modern Monthly, is the attractive title of a new magazine published at Cincinnati, the initial number of which has been received. It is a decided innovation in periodical literature, being strikingly original and wholly unconventional. It avowed purpose is to faithfully reflect life in Bohemia, and present the best thought of the dwellers in that delightful domain, and at the same time afford a field for the many gifted writers who have failed of recognition from the older periodicals.

"Book News" for October has a new and ornate cover design. Numerous improvements are noticeable in this old friend of the book-lover, and the wonder is how any reader of books can afford to do without it. How such a magazine can be furnished at fifty cents a year is a mystery. The plate-paper portrait of Frank Vincent, traveling-writer, is accompanied by a story of his life. Talcott Williams, LL. D., is at home "With the New Books," the Boston Literary Bell is cleaned by Mr. Dole; Gotham is done by Walter T. Edwards. Reviews, notes, poetry and other miscellany go to make up an attractive number. Philadelphia: John Wanamaker.

The editor of the Review of Reviews finds several incidents in this fall's political situation on which to comment with effect in "The Progress of the World" for October; the part played by the liquor question in the New York campaign is very clearly described. The present difficulties of the United States treasury and the hoarding thereof on national politics are discussed. The opening of the Atlanta Exposition and the recent patriotic gatherings at Louisville and Chicamauga, the international yacht racing fleet, the building of American battleships and Lord Wolseley's appointment as commander-in-chief of the British army, are among the topics included in the month's survey. The Madagascar campaign, the massacre of missionaries to Uvira, the Armenian question and progress in South Africa under Cecil Rhodes (whose portrait serves as the frontispiece of this number of the Review) are matters of international interest which also pass under editorial review.

The American Historical Register (the organ of the Patriotic-Hereditary societies), for October, has an attractive table of contents. The historic tour of L'Fayette through the United States in 1824 is continued. This number tells, with scores of appropriate illustrations, of the trip up the Hudson, and visits to West Point, Newburg, Albany, Troy, etc. Major J. G. Rosengarten gives much that is new about Gen. Comte de Rochambeau, illustrating his entertaining article with numerous portraits. Mrs. Jenkins Reiser, continues her relations to Traditions of Fort Jenkins and the Pocahontas Well, in the "Some Colonial Families" department, to which the descendants of John Fenwick, once proprietor of Southern New Jersey. is one of the Monthly Returns of the Adjutant of the 1st regiment Pennsylvania Line, 1782, are printed as the last line and show much interesting information. An interesting sketch of Gen. Adair, a poem by H. H. Harrison, and many pages of news of the Patriotic societies make up this very readable number, the publication place of which is the lodgings of the Society of the Continental, Cuba in proper colors and embossed.

Before making our house up in our Palace Meat Market, 135 south Main, and get some of their choice pure sausages, 3 pounds for 25 cents. Also everything kept in a first-class Meat Market.

PINEOLA COUGH BALSAM

Prompt to commit suicide by those who have experimented in vain. For children and adults. Contains no opium.
