Co-operative Experiment in Vermont.

The Boston Advertiser has the following account of a co-operative association in Springfield, Vermont, consisting of thirty members, about one-third of them women: "Four couples are married, the remainder single. All are people who work for their livelihood; are young, and have to win for themselves whatever position they may have hereafter. They have workshops, machinery, stock, etc., with which they carry on a manufacturing business in which they are employed for wages, mainly at piece work; they also have a dwelling house suitably furnished, in which they all live, each paying board from their wages. On the first day of January last the business was not encouraging; the prospect of selling their production at a profit was not good; the question with them was, shall we shut down the mill or go on? The majority said go on, and if our product will not sell for enough to pay the present wages, then we will reduce them pro rata until the amount received will pay them with interest on the capital used, insurance, taxes and other expenses. With this understanding they continue to run, and during the past six months these persons have earned wages to the amount of $9,293. From this sum they have paid for board $2,866; for clothing and incidentals they have expended $2,564, and the balance, $1,363, they have saved and added to the capital of the association. In addition to this their home made a profit of $350 at the price charged for board and washing, which was added to the amount saved from wages, making the total saving for six months $1,713. They have manufactured and sold goods during the time to the value of $12,160, besides doing their own work at the home and in their garden, and the business has paid interest on the capital and other expenses. If they had stopped business and stood idle, as they would probably have been compelled to do if they had not employed themselves, they would have lost the $6,293 of wages earned, $525 interest on their workshops and machinery standing idle, and $350 profit made on their food, making a total loss of $7,168 for thirty working people in six months, or nealy $250 each.

HIGHEST HONORS

AT THE

UNITED STATES

CentenniaL

World Exhibition, 1876.

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS

Unanimously assigned the

"FIRST RANK

IN THE

"SEVERAL REQUISITES"

of such Instruments!

The MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO. have the honor to announce that the Organs of their manufacture have been unanimously assigned "the FIRST RANK in the SEVERAL REQUISITES of instruments of the class" by the Judges at the CENTENNIAL EXHIBITION at Philadelphia, 1876, and are the ONLY INSTRUMENTS OF THIS GENERAL CLASS AWARDED THIS RANK. This is after the severest competition by the best makers, before one of the most competent juries ever assembled.

They have also received the MEDAL, but, as is well known, medals of equal merit have been awarded all articles deemed worthy of recognition; so thus it will be easy for many makers to advertise that they have received "first medals."

The differences in competing articles, and their comparative excellence, are recognized in the Reports of the Judges from which the following is an extract:—

"THE MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO. IS exhibit of Reed Organs and Harmoniums shows instruments of the FIRST RANK IN THE SEVERAL REQUISITES OF INSTRUMENTS OF THE CLASS, viz: Smoothness and equal distribution of tone, scope of expression, resonance and singing quality, freedom and quickness in action of keys and bellows, with thoroughness of workmanship, combined with simplicity of action."

(Signed by all the Judges.)

The Mason and Hamlin Organs are thus declared to rank first, not in one or two respects only, but in the SEVERAL REQUISITES of such instruments, and they are the Only ones assigned this rank. This triumph was not unexpected, for the Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs have uniformly been awarded the highest honors in competitions in America, there having been scarcely six exceptions in hundreds of competitions. They were awarded highest honors and

FIRST MEDALS

PARIS, 1867; VIENNA, 1873; SANTIAGO, 1875

PHILADELPHIA, 1876;

and have thus been awarded highest honors at

at which they have been exhibited; being the Only American Organs which have ever obtained any Award at any competition with best European makers, or in any European World's Exposition!

NEW STYLES, with improvements, exhibited at the CENTENNIAL; elegant new cases in great variety. Prices very lowest consistent with best material and workmanship. Organs sold for cash on installments, or rented until rent pays. Every Organ warranted to give entire satisfaction to every reasonable purchaser or THE MONEY REFUNDED. ☞ ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUES sent free.
