VICE IN NEVADA.

The Nevada legislature has been engaged in discussing the subject of gambling. A severe prohibitory bill against this vice was presented and discussed, but, it is openly stated, was prevented from being passed through the use of shameless bribery. Numbers of members were positively bought over to oppose it, the money for the purpose the varied and forget its cunning of my mouth." From that day to this I always remember to bear my testimony then I address the people and plan of salvation, revealed by leep for I know that this gospel and plan of salvation, revealed by leep for I know that the gospel and plan of salvation, revealed by the apostles of this church, is true, having been raised by a levy upon the various local gambling houses.

A tattling tongue is a curse, and, as May peace the apostle James expresses it, "is set on fire of hell;" and when we are found speaking evil against the servants of God and accusing the brethren we are only following in the wake of the wicked one. Let us then avoid these things, and learn to speak those things that are good, upright and true, and bear a faithful testimony of the gospel.

> As I said before, I wish the Saints

As I said before, I wish the Saints generally to remember the brethren who are laboring on the temple at St. George. They have been working all the season, with very little to supply them, and some of them are destitute of clothing, and other necessaries. Some of the workmen there have labored on the temple from the very beginning, and the walls are now thirty feet high, and the work is going ahead prosperously. We have invited the people in every settlement to contribute of their means to continue the work, and we have also invited as though the law would not brethren to go down to St. George, and labor upon the temple this winter, that the building may be prepared for the roof as soon as ossible. Hepworth Dixon on Utah Affairs.

SALT LAKE CITY January, 1875. mies by the power of the law.-W. Hepworth Dixon in English Paper. For several years the public law and public force of the United States have been directed at pely-gamy in Utah. Means both fair and unfair have been tried. Grave men have often had to shake their heads about the course adopted towards offending saints. In the first place, exceptional legislation has been used; and in a free country, governed by majorities of votes, exceptional legislation is often a danger, always an offence. It looks suffice. In the second place, a camp has been established near the New Jerusalem; an American city, with a natural claim to live according to the will of the majority of temple, and will contain all the citizens. This camp has been esconveniences of the temples of tablished, with the object, openly Kirtland and Nauvoo. It will be avowed, of preventing the majority absence of any preceedings in the mystery, and nothing definitely is mystery, and nothing definitely is not the part of the p the Saints, generally, throughout the Territory, in helping on this work. Our publications should be in every family of the Saints, and we wish to exercise that kind of influence in the midst of our people that will lead them to make themselves acquainted with the contents of the Bible, Book of Mormon, Book of Doctrine and Coveforward to completion as early as possible.
