FRAGMENTS.

J. T. JARMAN, of the Nephi Mission, is in town.

The Twelfth District school opens on Monday.

PREST. H. H. CLIFF, of Provo, was in the city to-day.

To-day was an unusually quiet Saturday in Salt Lake.

Flowing is going on at the sand-ridge between Kayville and Ogden.

See notice in another column of "Rex," the famous Jersey bull, being for sale.

The Eleventh Ward school commences on Monday morning, with efficient teachers in all the departments.

SAM LEVY, the cigar manufacturer, returned last evening from a successful business trip north.

This evening number of volume three of Utah's Monthly Magazine will be out on Monday.

LAST appearance of the Harrigan Company in "Old Lavender" at the Theatre this evening.

The Eleventh Quorum of Elders meet at the Twenty-first Ward meeting house on Monday evening next.

Two hundred and seventy-five persons came down on the Knights of Labor excursion from Evanston this morning.

A small store on Second South Street is decorated with the sign: "W. G. Sander assigned. S. C. Pancake, Assignee."

HENRY LOVE, the street car driver who whipped a boy for hanging on the back of a car, is to be tried in the Police Court on Monday.

Nearly all of the district schools in Salt Lake City will open for the first term of the school year 1887-8 on Monday next.

The last open air concert of the season will be rendered by Field's Cornet Band this evening on the Deseret Bank corner.

A new little publication, issued by Messrs. Coe & Snelgrove, music dealers of this city, called the Music Entree, is being circulated.

We have been requested to publish the following: St. Mark's Cathedral, Communion, 7:30 a.m.; Sunday School, 9:40; morning service with sermon, 11; evening prayer, 7 p.m.

The agitation of a railway from Salt Lake to Deep Creek, with a probable extension to Southern California, is likely to wake the Union Pacific up to the necessity of pushing the Utah Central to Los Angeles.

Those who have obtained permits for the Salt Lake State Academy, as well as others who desire to attend during the first term, should be present at the Social Hall basement on Monday, August 29, at 9 a.m., for the open air exercises.

The Co-operative Furniture Company, whose place of business is at 41 S. East Temple Street, call attention to to-day's News to their large stock of furniture, carpets, lace curtains, and everything in the house furnishing line. Their stock is new and of first class quality, and is offered at the lowest prices. Call and see it.

THOS. H. WOODRICK, of the Seventh Ward, has been very successful the past season in obtaining water rights. During the last week he drove six wells on the block east of Pioneer Square, for different parties, and obtained excellent water in all at from thirty to thirty-eight feet in depth. The combined stream from these wells furnishes water at the rate of seventy-five gallons per minute.

THE THEATRE.

There was not a large attendance at the Theatre last evening, but this was owing more to the absence of people from the city than want of attractiveness or merit in the entertainment. The principal character, "Old Lavender," is perhaps the best thing Harrigan has yet done here; his performance elicited many loud tokens of approval. His company were not at their best from some cause; the part of the "Widow" and "Smoke" being better done than anything else except the choruses. Some of the scenes are too hard and uninteresting and might be improved considerably. It is an enjoyable performance, however, and will doubtless draw a larger crowd this evening.

Probate Court.

Proceedings in the Salt Lake County Probate Court yesterday.

In the matter of the estate of John P. Horne, deceased; inventory and appraisal filed; estate valued at $1,000.

Estate of Bernetta Hirschman, deceased; order of publication of notice to creditors.

Estate of John H. Burton, deceased; bond of Charles S. Burton, administrator, in the sum of $2,000, filed.

Estate of John A. Hunter, deceased; order making family allowance $50 per month during the progress of the settlement of said estate.

Estate of John McGuire, deceased; order of sale of real estate.

The marriage certificate of Samuel Henry Lufkin and Miss Alice Yates; Walter Ernest Simms and Nellie Bagley; J. H. O'Brien and Mary Hanson, were filed with the Probate Clerk.

DESTRUCTION OF FISH.

Extirminating the Finny Tribe in the Sevier River.

The following letter written by David Crafts, of Ingersoll, Utah, Aug. 26, 1887, portrays a bad state of things:

"We have a serious question to solve, and that is how to procure protection for the Sevier River. If some steps are not taken to protect the 'finny tribe' they will soon be a thing of the past in this river. The settlers along the entire length of the stream have joined hands to destroy it. They do not think there is a single fish way or run in or over any dam, of which there are many, and so the water is shut off from the main channel and turned into ditches. It is the nature of the fish to follow the water falling, to turn up. The result is they soon reach where the water has failed and there die. They have been killed in great numbers between Desert and our place this summer.

Deseret has two tight dams in the river, and the small seepage is shut off two miles below. When I questioned the party in regard to it he replied that he wanted the water for his calves, grass, etc. This party has no prior claim to the water.

It is sickening to go along the dry river bed and see the fish crowded and dying in the few pools of stagnant water. Myself and others have taken considerable pains to stock the waters with carp, which do remarkably well in this locality. I have already taken a great many from the pools and placed them in lakes that are not yet affected by the low water. I had a small propagating pond which was supplied with fresh water from the river. I have been obliged to remove all the carp to a place of safety. There are still many in the stagnant holes that will perish.

I was out last Saturday and found some very large ones. I think three years old. These will weigh 15 to 20 pounds. It seems their nature to stay together as one is seldom found alone. The German carp mature young. They spawn in two years after being received from Washington. Fish that were hatched last year will by the end of this season weigh one pound each, and the next year's growth is wonderful.

IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD.

News Notes Gathered from Various Sources.

On Saturday last a Finlander named Victor Lomah was drowned in Bear River, opposite No. 4 mine, Almy. It seems that he with several others were in bathing, and in diving into a deep hole he took a cramp in one of his legs and did not come up again. None of the others could swim, and becoming alarmed at his long stay under water, they ran for help. Some men near by hurried to the place, and one of them being a good swimmer dived down in search of Lomah. After several attempts he succeeded in catching hold of him and raising him to the surface. The man had been lying on the bottom of the stream quite dead when taken out of the water. Coroner Code was sent for, but as the drowning was witnessed by so many did not deem it necessary to hold an inquest. The body was interred in the Evanston cemetery on Sunday afternoon. Lomah leaves a wife and two children.—Utah Chronicle, Aug. 25.

Charles Ruyuan, aged eleven years, and Clara, his sister, of about the same age, got possession of an old five-shooting pistol on Monday and went down the river a mile or two to kill a few Indians and deer. Not finding the game they sought they were about to return home disgusted when they espied a water snake swimming in the river. The boys, in length in its mouth and partially swallowed, a portion of it protruding beyond the snake's mouth. The boys captured the snake, when young Ruyuan, who had read the story of William Tell and heard of Dr. Carver, boarded, and other modern fancy shots of lesser note, insisted on holding the snake in his right hand and another boy taking a shot at the fish, the head of which formed an enticing mark. The boys, however, did not protect against the exhibition, but Ruyuan would have his way, and taking the snake and holding it aloft the snake, which drew a bead, held his breath, shut both eyes, and blazed away. The boys did not fly off, but Ruyuan's arm went down to his side, with a bullet saugily buried among the bones and tendons of his elbow. As soon as the boys recovered from the unexpected turn of affairs they hastened to town (Evanston) carrying his right elbow in his left hand and to the office of Dr. DuBois, who extracted the bullet and dressed the wound and started the boy home in prime shape. Reaching home the youngster related the particulars of the affair to his mother, who first turned pale with fright, then took a good cry for joy that her boy was not killed, and then, mother-like, took off her slipper, turned him at a convenient angle across her lap, and gave him a most unpleasant warning for disobeying her, in fooling with a pistol. Both ends of the unfortunate boy—where the bullet entered and where the slipped was buried—were doing well at last accounts.—Idaho Democrat, Aug. 24.

Rev. F. L. Arnold left last night for Maun, Utah, to attend the Presbytery to be held in that place. He will be there a day or two and then return and immediately go to Laramie to be at the opening of the Wyoming University, which event takes place on Thursday, September 1. He will be absent on Sunday next, and in consequence, there will be no services in the Presbyterian church here on that day.—Utah (Wyo.) Chronicle, Aug. 25.

Last winter James H. Garbanati mortgaged a house in the city to the Beaman & Cassin Mercantile Company for $200, and in July last he sold the same place to William Beverage, and about three weeks ago moved into the new place. The mortgage was not paid, and the matter was recently discovered and Sheriff W. A. telegraphed to Sheriff W. B. of the County, Utah, to arrest and hold the man, which he succeeded in doing on Saturday last, and the man was taken to the Sheriff's office. The man and his wife were willing to come back without discussion. After only the Sheriff left him. "You say that you are a man of law, and will pay your debt to day, when more light may be thrown on the subject."—Evanston Chronicle, Aug. 24.

A year-old daughter of T. E. Danieles, Jr., fell from her high chair on Wednesday and broke her left arm. She was reaching a neighbor's house when she fell. Dr. Hardy attended to her and she is now getting along nicely.—Provo Enquirer.

Shot Himself While Asleep.

A telephone message was received in this city to-day, announcing that Harry Edwards, of Lake Park, had accidentally shot himself in the leg. Dr. Hamilton went up on a special to attend the wounded man.

This afternoon Mr. Edwards was brought to this city, and the following account of the accident was learned. Sometime during the night he was aroused by hearing a noise outside his apartment. From its nature he fancied that some one was trying to get in for the purpose of robbery. He reached for his pistol, and lay still awaiting developments. Finally the noise ceased and Mr. Edwards dropped off to sleep. How long he slept he knew not, but early this morning he awoke with the sound of a pistol, and a stinging sensation in his leg. An examination showed that the weapon had been discharged, the ball entering the leg just above the knee. There is danger that the knee-cap will be destroyed, and the joint rendered stiff.

Slate Roofing.

Wm. Turner is meeting with gratifying success with his Rutland Slate Roofing compound. It appears to be admirably adapted to this climate in preserving roofs of shingle, iron and tin, and woodwork generally. He has applied it to the roofs of several large houses in this city and has just completed those of the machinery shops and round houses of the Utah Central Railway. Orders are being received from Ogden and other localities. See advt.

CARP FROM COTTONWOOD.

Some Excellent Specimens of Local Pisciculture.

Twenty-one months ago Brother T. W. Russell, of Little Cottonwood, received twenty German carp. Of this number sixteen are now alive. When he obtained them he now they weigh eighty pounds. This growth has been attained without artificial feeding. The area of Brother Russell's pond is fifty-four by ninety-six feet. Its greatest depth is but three feet. Of carp it now contains one hundred yearlings. From this pond Brother Russell has had six of his largest carp. Their aggregate weight is thirty pounds, and they are beautiful.

A carp farmer in California says, "that 1,000 carp will live and grow finely upon what one hog will, in both cases, from birth up to two years old. At that age the carp will weigh 4,000 pounds, the hog 300 pounds; at present prices the carp will be worth $1,000, the hog $24." An acre of water is sufficient to raise 500 carp for market. One acre of carp will yield more pounds of fish than three acres of the best land will raise in beef.

My six carp are on exhibition at the meat market at the Tithing Yard.

Fraternally,
A. M. MUSEN.

The fish referred to can be seen in a large barrel at the Tithing Office, and are indeed fine specimens. They measure eighteen inches in length, and from the back are about five inches through the body.

Cloud Burst.

On Tuesday last a cloud burst occurred on Lake Creek, a stream near Heber City, the results of which, as given by the Park City Call, were very damaging. The old channel of the creek which runs through the town and which has been dry since last spring, was bank full and overflowing. The greater part of the afternoon, a young man who was near the scene of the water spout states the water was from six to eight inches deep and that the whole country looked like an inland sea. The extent of the damage done to standing crops is not known at present, but will undoubtedly be considerable. Haystacks tell here as large as good sized marbles. There are hundreds of acres of grain ripe in the valley, and it is feared the storm has almost ruined a large portion of it.

Justice Burton's Court.

Suit has been instituted by Charles Wattless against Charles Tate, for $32.15.

H. F. Evans is suing Robert Bellamy for a grocery bill amounting to $10.

James Sullivan is being sued by S. P. Teasdale for $84.48.

A suit commenced by E. Beesley, Jr., against H. S. Krouse indicates a disagreement among the musicians. Five professional gentlemen in this city have placed their claims, aggregating $23.50, in Mr. Beesley's hands for collection, they having given it up as a bad job, so now Mr. Krouse will have to settle in the courts.

In the suit of Peterson vs. Cochran, judgment was given for the plaintiff.

In the case of George Argyle vs. Christian Podion, a jury trial was had, the result being judgment for $50 in favor of Argyle.

At Syracuse.

About six hundred people went to Syracuse yesterday with the Sixteenth Ward excursion. The entire company had a delightful time, and returned home at 6:30 p.m. in the best humor. The grounds at Syracuse afford excellent accommodations for a company not exceeding about 700. The grove gives a beautiful shade, and the place is cool and free from dust. There is one improvement, however, that should be made for the next season. The pier should be extended into the lake, and the bath houses moved further out and so arranged that the bathers can descend into water of a comfortable depth without having to pass through the crowd of spectators. At present the promenade from the bath houses to the water is so objectionable that many people are deterred by the prospect from bathing there. Otherwise the grounds have the best conveniences of any on the lake shore for a company, especially when there are children.

The Place for Flowers & Seeds.

The grounds of Mr. John Reading, the well known florist and seedman, at the corner of Second East and Second South streets, are well worthy of a visit from lovers of the beautiful in nature. The gentleman does far the largest business in his line of any one in this section, and has plants, bulbs and seeds of the finest quality. In four green-houses and his frames Mr. Reading has 6,000 square feet of glass in use, and upwards of 10,000 plants. He recently returned from the north, where he was successful in making arrangements to extend his business in that direction. His son, William, is now on a trip south of this city, on a similar errand.

Mr. Reading deserves encouragement in his business, and should be well patronized. The people, or at least many of them, have grown into the habit of sending for or purchasing seeds and plants from abroad, when they could, at the same time, obtain a better quality at lower prices right here in the city. Mr. Reading grows much of his seeds and plants right here, so they are thoroughly acclimated, and do not fail to grow in this climate. He has ample provision to supply the whole of the local business, and will give satisfaction to his patrons.

POLICE COURT.

Tramps Sentenced—Le Baron Havington Draws a Pistol.

"Tramps" find Salt Lake a hard place for men of their ilk. These "gentlemen of leisure" seldom make a second raid on the town—a wholesome condition resulting from their cordial reception on their first appearance. It has passed into history that tramps don't work. They can't because they won't. They'd rather starve.

If anybody doubts the assertion let him visit the gravelbank where the city prisoners were on three hard-cold "vags" have been taken in hand, and see them sawing a pick or shovel; and they do it too, till the sweat rolls off them.

And that is why Salt Lake is so free from tramps. The treatment accorded them is too "heroic."

This morning three of these wretched men were ushered into the august presence of Justice Pyper. They were Matt Graham, D. H. Ray and John Smith. The trio looked dejected. They had evidently heard of the "chain gang" and were in mortal dread of its association. But they had stolen a ride on the D. & R. G. W. to which offense they pleaded guilty, imploring the mercy of the court, which administered to them a dose of twenty days labor.

Le Baron Havington, an aged individual whose mysterious actions and abilities were indicative that he is troubled with dementia, was brought before the Court to-day. Heretofore he had been considered as perfectly harmless, but his "crankiness" seems to be taking a dangerous turn. Quite a number of boys on whom a course of correction might have a salutary effect—have been in the habit of "assaulting" the old man and otherwise annoying him. He knew no better than to stop and argue with them, and this morning, during an altercation with a newsboy, Havington whipped out a huge revolver, with which he proposed letting daylight through the boy's body, and he probably would have made the attempt had not a bystander interfered. When he was placed in jail he insisted on being represented by eminent counsel, and demanded that Hon. Thomas Marshall be immediately ushered into his presence. Finally he changed his mind and said that Attorney Fred Keeler would do for the Police Court examination. The case was set for hearing this afternoon.

A Home Industry.

We desire to call attention to an enterprise that, if properly managed, might prove successful and profitable from the start. We refer to the home manufacture of paints. Considerable sums are yearly sent out of the Territory for the purchase of dry and mixed paints. Now if there is anything in which Utah is richer than another it is perhaps in the variety, quantity and quality of the paint material which nature has so lavishly deposited all around us. We are credibly informed that the dry substance of the rich brown paint so extensively used upon depots and other railway structures in this vicinity can be produced here at a cost of not to exceed half a cent per pound. This, if intelligently manufactured and sold at a reasonable profit, ought to yield handsome returns to the manufacturers and at the same time materially benefit the community. Of course there are other colors in rich abundance that might be introduced in the same way, as Mr. Pasco of this city, so clearly demonstrated some years ago by the rich collection of native paints, which he exhibited at one of our annual fairs. It may be claimed that the demand would be so limited here as to preclude the possibility of carrying on an extensive business based upon local necessities, but if properly managed this would increase, and if we are rightly informed, the facilities here are such that Utah could enter the market and successfully compete with any establishment in the world in this line.

Something for Everyone.

In the issue for September 1st of the Juvenile Instructor which is now before us, can be found some very interesting reading for the youth as well as the aged. This periodical continually increases in interest, and is filled with such a choice variety of reading matter as to make it worthy of perusal by every Latter-day Saint. The editors' "Topics of the Times" in this number give a very interesting reminiscence of Congressional life, in which the late Hon. A. A. Sargent of California took a prominent and noble part. It portrays truly the character of that gentleman. The contents of this number, all of which are instructive and entertaining, are as follows:

"The New Gardens," (illustrated) "A Sacred History," by Thomas A. Sorensen; "Which is Better?" by Jock; "Persecution," by J. M. Wilkerson; "On the Road," by the Little Folks; "Till for Tat," Good for Evil; "The Bright Side," Questions on Church History; "The Little Folks' Department," "Editorial Thoughts," "Our Territory," "Little Jim's Labor," (illustrated); "A Life Sketch," by Elder B. B. "Prudence a Wrong-Doer," Topics of the Times; "By the Little Folks," "Our Father We Invoke Thee," words by L. G. Richards, music by E. Stephens; "Power to Music."

Father Neslen's Condition.

The numerous friends of Father Samuel Neslen throughout the Territory have been interested to learn that there has been but little change in his condition during the last few days further than that he is growing perceptibly weaker. He remains unconscious and may pass away at any moment, but may, on the other hand, possibly survive a day or two longer. There is no special cause for alarm, but a general collapse of the system from the effects of old age.

BIRTHS.

WEBB.—This morning, August 27, 1887, to the wife of Thomas Webb, of the Twentieth Ward, this city, a son. All doing well.

OBITUARY.

MECHAN.—An aged and respected citizen of Cannonville, Garfield County, Samuel Mechan, died at his home at 12 o'clock a. m., August 15th, 1887, after the brief illness of one hour of dropsy of the heart. He was born in Erie County, N. Y., April 29th, 1818; embraced the Gospel while in his youth and removed to Utah in the fall of 1840, settling in Salt Lake City. After residing there and in adjacent towns for a number of years, he was called to Southern Utah, where he labored diligently, where he has continued to reside until his demise. His dying words to his children were: "Be kind to mother and father, and true to the kingdom of God." These words, being uttered, his spirit took its flight.

Brother Mechan survived the many and relentless persecutions that the early Saints passed through in the states of Missouri and Illinois. He was intimately acquainted with the Prophet Joseph Smith, was a member of the High Priests' quorum, and the father of fourteen children, nine of whom were with him at the time he left to mourn his sudden departure.—[Cont.]
