Cites His Record and Says He is Not in Sympathy With Western Reforms.

VETOED TWO-CENT FARE BILL

Republican Governors in the West Signed It-Patents and Anti-Trust Plank.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 12 .- In an address at the state university this afternoon Bryan attacked the arguments of Gev. Hughes of New York in defense of the Republican platform, dwelt on the difference in the two platforms relating to publicity of campaign contributions and discussed the propriety of President Roosevelt's supporting Mr.

Delivered forcibly and in Mr. Bryan's best style, his speech was repeatedly cheered by the university students. In attacking the position of the Republicans on the tariff situation he delivered epigrams which kept the students

All epigrams which kept the students creering. During the speech he took a vote of the students who were for and against election of senators by a direct vote. The principal part of the speech of the candidate was occupied by an an-swer to the arguments of Hughes, who spoke to the university students a short time argo time ago.

BRYAN'S ANSWER TO HUGHES. Mr. Bryan said:

Mr. Bryan said: 'Goy. Hughes of New York has been rout forward as the champion of the Kepublican party to attack the Demo-cratic Remedy for the trusts, and the president seems to prefer the argument advocated by Mr. Hughes to the ar-gument advocated by Mr. Taft. I can fairly assume, therefore, that the argu-ment presented by Mr. Hughes is not only the strongest argument that has been presented, but the strongest argu-ment that can be presented, because only the strongest argument that has been presented, but the strongest argu-ment that can be presented, because Mr. Roosevelt would not pit him against our platform if he were not the strongest opponent. He has been sent through the west to strengthen the Re-publican lines. I desire to remind you, In the first place, that Mr. Hughes rep-resents the eastern Republicans; not the western Republicans. He was one of the candidates against Mr. Taft when Mr. Taft was being urged as the repre-sentative of the administration. Mr. Hughes' friends joined with the friends of Mr. Cannon, Mr. Knox and Mr. Fair-hanks in the effort to prevent the nom-ination of Mr. Taft. It is only fair to assume therefore that Mr. Hughes is not a reformer in the sense in which that term is used by the Republicans of the west. of the west.

HUGHES' RECORD.

"As an evidence that Mr. Hughes is not in sympathy with western reforms, you will recall that he vetoed a 2-cent passenger rate bill, and he did this in spite of the fact that a Republican legislature of New York passed the bill. Governors in the western states signed the bill, and we are now enjoy-ing the benefits of the 2-cent fare. New York is more thickly settled than the western states, and yet he gave the benefit of the doubt to the railroads in their contest with the patrons. I will not say that he did this because of the contributions made to his campaign fund by Morgan, Depew, the Vander-hilts and one of the Goulds. It is not necessary to assume that these contri-hutions had any effect upon his action. It is enough to know that he did not act upon this subject as Republican governors in the west acted, and I care hot what explanation his friends may made. If they say he decided in favor of the railroads, without reference to the contributions made by the railroads. "As an evidence that Mr. Hughes is make. If they say he decided in layor of the rallroads, without reference to the contributions made by the railroads. it simply shows that he looks at ques-tions from the standpoint of the rail-roads rather than from the standpoint of the patrons. If he had signed the bill the railroads could have protected themselves by recourse to the courts, but when he vetoed the bill, the people had no recourse. "It is not strange that he should coppose the Democratic remedy on the trust question, for he has never shown any interest in the correction of the evils that the trusts have brought upon the country. I will not say that this partially is due to the contributions made to this campaign fund by Car-negie, Schwab,Gates, Havemeyer, Duke and others. It is not necessary to as-sume that these contributions in-functional the start being the start of the start of the start of the start of the result of the start of the sta and others. It is not necessary to as-sume that these contributions in-fluenced him at all. It may be his natural disposition to take the side of the trusts as against the people. His speech presents all the evidence neces-sary to convict him of lack of sym-pathy with the general public.

when I liken the case to a sick man who is about to try a remedy proposed by a physician. Dr. Hughes comes in and says: "What, are you going to take that remedy? My! that is ridiculous; that is absurd,' and then retires from the is about a remedy and leaving the patient without a remedy and without a sug-gestion. Now, if the patient is not really sick that might be excusable; "Is the patient sick or not? If the trusts are doing no harm, then, of course, no remedy is needed: if the trusts are doing harm, then why does not Mr. Hughes propose something?

AS TO PATENTS.

"He takes the case of a patcnt, and says that our plan would interfere with patents. What is Mr. Hughes trying to do? Is he deceived himself, or is he simply trying to deceive those who listen to him? Our anti-trust plank has nothing to do with patents. The patent is intended to be a moonpoly, and our reference to patents in another part of the platform is sufficient proof that the convention had no intention of including the patent in the operathat the convention had no intention of including the patent in the opera-tion of the anti-trust law. I explained this some weeks ago when the objection was first made, but the objection was so silly that I did not suppose that it would be made by any one with any sense of responsibility. Does Mr. Hughes really think that our anti-trust plank was intended to apply to a patplank was intended to apply to a pat-ent, or is ne so hard pressed for argu-ments that he must use that argument anyhow? A patent grants a monopoly for a limited time, as a regard for an invention.

TRUSTS NOT INVENTORS.

TRUSTS NOT INVENTORS. "The trusts that we are opposed to have not invented anything and they acknowledge no limit as to time. The trusts attempt to corner the market and that is not only against the sta-tue law, but it is an offense against morals, and Mr. Hughes cannot be so obtuse as not to understand the distinction between the trust that we are fighting and a business that is protected by a patent. "But let us take the 50 per cent limit, which he regards as unscientific. The plan which we propose will apply first to corporations which have not yet reached the 50 per cent limit and to corporations which have already reported that limit. Corporations which have not yet reached that limit would simply stop expanding when the limit is reached, and that would entail no hardship upon them; and it would not be difficult to apply it to corporations which have already pass-ed the 50 per cent limit. The laws do not take effect immediately upon their passage. There is always a time between the date of enactment and the date when the law takes effect, and when a law involves a material change in conditions, a sufficient time is given for necessory readjustments. OBJECTIONS TO MONOPOLY.

OBJECTIONS TO MONOPOLY.

"The first question to be decided is, how large a proportion of the entire product should one corporation be permitted to control? Mr. Hughes takes for illustration the case of a corportion which controls the entire, product and as he expresses no fear of such a corporation doing harm we

PRESIDENT'S THEORY OF WORKING FOR PEACE

Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 12 .- The North Carclina peace congress opened today in the great auditorium purchased from the Jamestown exposition, in the pres-ence of a large audience assembled for the Greensboro convention and the eace congress. At the opening of the session the fol-owing message from President Roosereact velt was read: "I wish I could be present at your congress. As it is impossible to do so, may I express through you to those assembled the assurance of my hearty sympathy and my hope of a successful meeting."

In connection with this letter there were read remarks of the president made to a delegation which called up-on him to ask his attendance. The president was quoted in part as fol-

"I am glad to learn that the North Carclina Peace society has declared it-self in favor of absolute armament, as set in favor of absolute armament, as well as effective arbitration. There is no inconsistency in advocating both of these things at the present time; on the contrary, those who have the pub-lic welfare at heart fail in the perform-ance of a part of their duty if they neglect to labor for both. The growth of the accentance by the people of in-

As things actually are at the present day things actually are at the present day, we are helpless to further the cause of peace and of effective international arbitration unless to just and peaceable intentions we add a stout heart and a strong arm—and this means military and naval preparedness to a greater degree than is at present the case."

Mann, of Oak Park a suburb, of this city, who is under arrest charged with the murder last July of Mrs. Frances Gilmore Thompson, was continued to Oct. 19, today, on request of attor-neys for the defendant, and bail was fixed at $25,000. One of the principal witnesses in his favor, he declared, will be Miss Daisy Potts, daughter of a real estate dealer of this city and a student at the University of Illinois. On her and his three sisters he said he relied to prove that on the night of the murder he was at the Oak Park home of his father.

Scores of Them. New York, Oct. 12.—A deadly disease in some respects like the grip, but highly contagious and far more mor-tal than the grippe in this climate has attacked the already depleted tribes of the Cree Indians on the shores of James and Hudson bays, killing men, women and children by scores. An-son Skinner of the department of an-thropology of the American museum of natural history, who recently returned from an exhaustive study of the people of that country, brought the news of the plague to this city. "The disease apparently came from nowhere," says Mr. Skinner. "No one ever heard of it before and when men were stricken one day and died the, next, their relatives and friends be-came panic stricken. The illness man-ifested itself in colds, followed by coughs, fever and nausea. Unless the sufferers were of very strong physique they diad sufferers were of very strong physique of such a corporation doing harm, we have a right to suppose that he has no objection to one corporation con-trolling all the product, but if I mis-take not the sentiment of the public there is a very general objection on the part of the people to the principle of monopoly and if a majority of the people object to a monopoly they have a right to see a limit to the control which a corporation can exercise over the product in which it deals. If the limit which we fix of 50 per cent is too low, Mr. Hughes ought to suggest too low, Mr. Hughes ought to suggest a higher limit, but when he suggests no limit whatever we must assume that he does not regard the propor-tion controlled as at all material, and if he does not, then his opinion on the trust question ought to have much weight with those who do believe that a private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. If Mr. Hughes agrees with the trust magnate that a trust is a blessing. I need not discuss remewith the trust magnate that a trust is a blessing. I need not discuss reme-dies with him at all, because a bless-ing does not require a remedy. If he will admit that a private monopoly is bad and present a remedy, I shall be glad to consider his remedy and compare it with ours."
