ANOTHER FACTORY FOR JUNCTION CITY

A. L. Brewer Proposes Establishing Tin Can Manufactory for Next Season's Fruit Pack.

SUIT FOR FLOOD DAMAGE.

C. H. Calland the Alleged Defaulting R. R. Agent, Surrenders—Walker and Lawrence Want Early Trial.

Ogden, Oct. 17.—There are bright prospects of Ogden having another factory added to its already enormous list, a tin can factory. The new enterprise is practically assured by Alex. L. Brewer, who is at the head of most of the concerns of Weber county. This year the canning factories have used upwards of twelve million cans to put up the season's crop. This means a vast expenditure much of which now goes to the east. Mr. Brewer is of the opinion he can produce tin cans at a lower price than they cost the local factory people and keep the money at home. A factory site near the railroad tracks somewhere along Wall avenue will be selected and if present plans are carried out the building will be contracted for at once and the machinery ordered, so that tin cans may be manufactured at home ready for next year's crop. This has been an unusually good year for both the fruit and vegetable men and especially the tomato growers. Usually early frosts come and do great damage to the tomato crop, leaving tons of green tomatoes on the vines, but up to the present time the frost has not been heavy enough to destroy the crop and tomatoes are still being harvested in great quantities. The season's run will be practically completed.

REDMOND. GLATTON NELSON CALLED.

Exemplary Youth Succumbs to Sudden Illness Following Typhoid.
Special Correspondence.
Redmond, Sept. 16.—A gloom was thrown over the entire community here at the news of the sudden death of one of the town's brightest and most respected young men, Clayton Nelson, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Nelson, passed to the great beyond in spite of the best medical aid that could be secured. A year ago the young man was taken down with typhoid fever, and never regained his strength from that attack, and when his last illness came, he lasted but a day. What makes the accident doubly sad arises from the fact that this is the second son Mrs. Nelson has had to part with while her husband has been on his mission. The latter went to Denmark about two years ago and was expected home in a couple of months. He has been notified of his son's death and will be home as soon as possible.
The funeral took place yesterday and was one of the largest ever held here. The services were held in the meeting house. The speakers were Elders John Christensen, of Redmond, Elders Larson of Centerfield, and Orson Paulsen of the 22d inst.

PRACTICAL JOKE ON TRUSTY.
The stealing of tobacco from the clothing of a man who has committed suicide did not prove to be a very good nerve tonic for J. R. Simon, whose true name is A. J. Greenleaf. He was a trusty at the city jail and while straightening the lockers found in the pocket of a suit a sack of tobacco. He took the tobacco and smoked several cigarettes from it. The theft was discovered by Desk Sergeant Critchfield, who took Simon to task. He confessed and the jail made him believe the same had happened in it and that he would surely die. The man immediately turned sick and was soon looking as if at death's door; when it was thought the prank had gone far enough, the joke was told him, and he soon revived.

Don is the son of Addison and Hester Prather of Georgia, who died about (two years ago). All of the Georgia elders will remember them as people who for 18 years were faithful Latter-day Saints and furnished a good home for over 200 elders who visited them while laboring or traveling through Richmond county. It was at Mr. Prather's home that Elder Bell died some years ago.

Don came to Arizona in April 1905, with his brother Carlton, to make their home with their sister, Eliza J. Prather (Richey), who married Elder Joseph B. Richey of St. Johns, Ariz., who filed a mission in the southern states.

STUFFING PAYROLLS.
Voters' League Protests Against it to Speaker of Illinois House.
Chicago, Oct. 14.—The Legislative Voters' league of this city has addressed an open letter to Edward D. Shurtliff, speaker of the Illinois house of representatives, calling attention to the "stuffing of the house payroll."

According to the letter the number of employees authorized by law is 41, whereas the number employed was 121, at the session of 1907.
"Many political harnacles," the letter says, "who rendered no equivalent service for the pay, were permitted to hold their place."
Out of 10 stenographers authorized, only five could write shorthand and only two of the others could operate a typewriter, while one was a common laborer.

In cases where employees were authorized at $5 per day, the number was increased by reducing the pay to $3.
"The payroll," the letter says, "was loaded down with numerous persons known to be useless and none of the unit politicians were dropped during the session."

As the result of construction of irrigation works by the government and private parties, it is expected that 5,000,000 acres of land in the west will be opened to settlement in 1915. The office of experiment stations will make a special effort to aid settlers in adopting the most economical and effective methods. It has made plans for the drainage of 2,000,000 acres, principally in states east of the Mississippi river, during the past year.

ROGERS REFUSED TO TESTIFY BEFORE GRAND JURY.
San Francisco, Oct. 14.—In an investigation of a published statement by Atty. Gen. Rogers that Edward Strang, a juror in the recent Ford bribery trial, would be convicted in accordance with a prior declaration that he would do so, Rogers was today called before the grand jury. He refused to be sworn and when asked why, replied: "Because this is not a fair grand jury. It is merely an adjunct of the prosecution and if you think I am going to lay any evidence before such a body you are much mistaken."
"Your remarks," said Foreman Oliver, "are highly insulting."
"They are not addressed to you personally," Rogers answered, "and if they offend you I am quite willing to apologize to you personally, but my sentiment toward this body as a body is one of supreme contempt."
After some further exchanges, Rogers took up his hat and walked out of the jury room.

PERKINS INDICTMENTS.
New York, Oct. 16.—Motions to dismiss the charges against the agents of George W. Perkins, former vice president of the New York Life Insurance company, which were found as a result of the investigation of the legislative committee, were argued today. The motion to dismiss the indictments against former Secy. of the Treasury Charles S. Fairchild, went over, as the points involved in the cases are similar.

Mr. Perkins' attorneys argued that in order to sustain the criminal charge it would be necessary to show intent to defraud, while the grand jury which indicted Mr. Perkins had recorded its conviction that he and Mr. Fairchild were acting only by desire to better fit the policyholders of the New York Life Insurance company.
