Naval and Military Academies to be Abolished.—Warm discussion over Admission of Mississippi Senator.

Howard, from the committee on Territories, reported with amendments a bill for a territorial government for Alaska.

Spencer offered a resolution instructing the naval and military committees to report upon the expediency of abolishing the naval academy at Annapolis, the military academy at West Point and the substitution, by their assignments to duty at the various colleges throughout the Union, of naval and military officers, as instructors in navigation, naval warfare, and military tactics, or the inauguration of some other system calculated to relieve the government of the large expense these colleges entail, and thus enable all who desire to secure an education for the army or navy to do so at their own expense, agreed to.

The President's veto of the bill for the relief of Rollin White, relative to the extension of the pistol patent, was discussed and then laid aside.

Wilson presented the credentials of Revels, Senator elect from Mississippi, with a certificate of his election, signed by General Ames, military Governor of Mississippi.

Sanbury objected to the reception of the paper, as it was the certificate of a military officer, that person not having been elected by the Senate of the United States. Such certificate, he said, was not required by law; and proceeded to argue that admission to the Senate could only be claimed upon a valid election by a valid legislature, of which there was no evidence in this case. He denied the right of a provisional governor to send such a communication to the Senate for such an officer, and said such a proceeding was unknown to the Constitution.

Wilson had read the certified copy of the proceedings of the Mississippi legislature in the election of the U. S. Senators.

Drake said the objections were without force, and claimed that the certificate, as presented, furnished sufficient evidence, and if it were not referred to by the Constitution, the great seal of the State affixed to the paper was sufficient for the State, for the right of the Government to use that seal could not now be inquired into, but it must be accepted as a fact.

Trumbull said that strictly speaking, the certificate was defective in not giving the facts of the election in detail; but there had been instances when Senators had been sworn without presenting any certificates, as in the case of Senator Davis; he therefore called for the reading of the papers presented by Wilson, which consist of a record from the journals, showing that Revels received a majority in a joint convention.

Davis considered that all the papers were informal and insufficient as a testimony to the election; and he claimed that in signing the credentials, General Ames had been guilty of an unwarranted assumption of power.

Stockton objected to the credentials because they were signed by a military commander, which was an evidence that they came from a State not having a republican form of government; the person in question was elected before the State was admitted to representation.

Wilson hoped there would be no further objections in administering the oath, believing that Revels' case was similar to all other cases of Senators from the Southern States.

The Senate then decided, without a division, to receive the papers presented by Wilson.

Stockton offered a resolution to refer the credentials to the judiciary committee, instructing them to examine and report upon the validity of the papers and the eligibility of the person claiming election.

The discussion was continued by Trumbull, who said that the evidence of Revels' election was the very best he could have presented.

Davis gave notice of his intention to resist to the last the admission, and he would interpose an objection at every step of the proceedings. He said this man never was and never would be the choice of the people of the State of Mississippi, and moreover he was not a citizen, as had been shown by Scott's decision.

Sherman said he would inform Senator Davis that 20 years ago the Supreme Court of Ohio, then largely composed of Democrats, had decided that Revels was a citizen, the court holding that the words "white citizen" meant one whose white blood was pure, and Revels was included in that decision and voted in Ohio. The discussion was continued by Nye, Davis and Sanbury, who yielded to the motion to adjourn, which was carried.

WASHINGTON.

Admission of Mississippi—Application in favor of Segar.

CHICAGO.—Washington specials are mainly devoted to an account of the proceedings in the Whittemore expulsion case in the House. Yesterday's Tribune dispatch says it is reported that the delay asked by Whittemore till today, was for the purpose of getting his resignation before the House and thus escape its sentence, and that the story excited indignation, as Logan allowed the case to go over without a vote, after the previous question had been ordered, and the ground that he desired to say something further in self defence. The same dispatch says that all the members who are somewhat implicated in the cadet business voted for a delay. Butler did not vote on any questions following. The affirmative vote on the resolution of postponement was: Arrell, Ayers, Banks, Bennett, Benton, Bales, Baker, Buck, Buckley, Burdett, Coke, Cressna, Churchill, Clark, Coburn, Covode, Dockery, Dyer, Golladay, Hayes, Jencks, Jones, N. C., Julian, Kelly, Kelsey, Maynard, McCormick, Higby, Orth, Phelps, Platt, Poland, Root, Sargent, Sheldon, Taft, Twitchell, Van Horn, Van Wyck.

The Tribune's New York dispatch says several prominent financiers went to Washington to-night to consult with the members of Congress about the funding bill and other financial matters. It is understood they will urge a new law at four and a half per cent interest. The bear party has full control of the gold market and it is generally expected to further decline.

WASHINGTON.—Previous to signing the Mississippi bill, the resignation of Gen. Ames as Lieut. Col. U. S. A., his lineal rank, was received and accepted. The name of nearly every member of the Virginia legislature has been obtained to an application to the House of Representatives, for the admission of Segar to his seat as Congressman at large from Virginia.

While Whittemore was defending himself, the Speaker interrupted him to read a communication from Whittemore, inclosing his resignation to the Governor of South Carolina, and a telegram accepting the same.

Brilliant Reception of American Minister—Arrest of Don Carlos—Flourens Sentenced—Anniversary of Grand Ball.

PARIS.—The reception of Minister Washburn last night was attended by all the cabinet ministers, and was a most brilliant affair.

Don Carlos of Spain, while traveling through France with an Austrian passport, under the name of the Marquis of Alcantara, was arrested at Lyons by the civil authorities; he was reminded that he could reside only in the north of France, and that if he violated that condition, he must leave the country. The Prince then proceeded to Switzerland, accompanied by an escort as far as the frontier. Previous to his arrest, he met the Duke of Modena at Lyons and completed all his arrangements for going to Spain and raising another insurrection.

The action against Gustave Flourens, for having aided in the desertion of two soldiers, has terminated; the prisoner having failed to appear, he was sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

Many banquets are being held to-day, the anniversary of the proclamation of the republic in 1848.

There was a grand ball at the Tuilleries last evening; many Americans were present.

GREAT BRITAIN

The Prince is to be a Paragon.—A doubt as to the propriety of the "Times."

LONDON.—The Times has an editorial on the scene in court yesterday at the trial of the Lady Mordant divorce case. The Times says the error of the Prince of Wales is due to his carelessness as to his reputation and his heedlessness in the matter of personal intimacies, which are forbidden to royalty. It says that Prince Albert's example was faultless and the Prince of Wales will learn from it to exemplify his life so as to be free even from the semblance of levity.

The Times also speaks on the subject of the recent decision by the Supreme Court of the U. S., on the matter of legal tenders. It asserts that the decision has restored English confidence in American justice. The Board of Underwriters are charging fifty cents premium on the missing steamer, the City of Boston.
