A QUESTION ABOUT Brown's Iron Bitters ANSWERED.

The question has probably been asked thousands of times, "How can Brown's Iron Bitters cure everything?" Well, it doesn't. But it does cure any disease for which a reputable physician would prescribe IRON. Physicians recognize Iron as the best restorative agent known to the profession, and inquiry of any leading chemical firm will substantiate the assertion that there are more preparations of iron than of any other substance used in medicine. This shows conclusively that iron is acknowledged to be the most important factor in successful medical practice. It is, however, a remarkable fact, that prior to the discovery of BROWN'S IRON BITTERS no perfect or satisfactory iron combination had ever been found.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS does not injure the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—all other iron medicines do. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS cures Indigestion, Biliousness, Weakness, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Chills and Fevers, Tired Feeling, General Debility, Pain in the Side, Back or Limbs, Headache and Neuralgia—for all these ailments Iron is prescribed daily.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, however, does not cure in a minute. Like all other thorough medicines, it acts slowly. When taken by men the first symptom of benefit is renewed energy. The muscles then become firmer, the digestion improves, the bowels are active. In women the effect is usually more rapid and marked. The eyes begin at once to brighten; the skin clears up; healthy color comes to the cheeks; nervousness disappears; functional derangements become regular, and if a nursing mother, abundant sustenance is supplied for the child. Remember Brown's Iron Bitters is the ONLY iron medicine that is not in powder. Physicians and Druggists recommend it.

Dr. FOOTE, Senior,

Of 120 Lexington Avenue, New York,

Hereby cautions the public NOT to Employ or Communicate With a man styling himself "Dr. Foot, Jr." without making due inquiry.

This man came to Salt Lake City representing himself as the son of Dr. E. B. Foote of New York, the well known specialist, as abundantly proved by affidavits. As rumors came into Salt Lake City from Dakota and Montana from an exposé made there, he changed his base and represented himself as the son of a more noted specialist in New York City than Dr. E. B. Foote, the well known author. Mr. JOHN F. TROW, of the well known Trow's Directory, in New York City (forty years in the directory business), Ex-Governor FRANK FULLER, of Utah, and the Hon. ABRAM WAKEMAN, for many years Postmaster in New York City, also Surveyor of the Port, gave their affidavits that there are no other doctors in New York by the name of FOOT or FOOTE, excepting Dr. E. B. FOOTE, the the author of "Medical Common Sense," etc., and h s two sons, Dr. E. B. FOOTE, JR., and Dr. HUBERT T. FOOTE. The genuine Dr. FOOTE, Jr., will hereafter always employ the initials, E. B., in designating his name. Heretofore he has been known not only at home but wherever his publications have been circulated, by the name of Dr. FOOTE, Jr. Greater care will be taken hereafter, in view of the fac that an unprincipled person has assumed to profit by his and his father's reputation.

Those desiring further and more detailed information in respect to this matter, will receive it by addressing Box 414, Salt Lake City Utah.

Persons having information of advantage to plaintiffs will kindly communicate the same to J. W. Ivy, with Sutherland & McBride, Salt Lake City.

Those desiring to consult Dr. FOOTE professionally or to order remedies should address either

Dr. E. B. FOOTE, Sr., or Dr. E. B. FOOTE, Jr., 120 Lexington Ave., New York.

EVENING NEWS.

Monday - August 31, 1885

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Religious services of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints were held in the Tabernacle, Sunday, Aug. 30th, Elder Wm. Eddington presiding.

The choir sang:

Arise, O glorious Zion,
Thou joy of Latter days.

Prayer by Bishop O. F. Whitney.

The choir sang:

'Twas on that dark, that solemn night,
When powers of earth and hell arose.

The Bishopric of the Seventh Ward officiated in blessing and dispensing the Sacrament.

Elder Nephi Pratt first addressed the congregation. He stated that this was the first occasion on which he had been called to address the Saints in the Tabernacle, and requested the prayers and faith of the congregation that he might speak under the influence of the Holy Ghost. Said that those who had embraced the Gospel in this age had been led to search deeply after the principles of salvation; they had been convinced that there was but one way of life and one God, and that the strife which existed among the sects of Christendom was not inspired from heaven, but was the result of the varied opinions of men. In having divested themselves of the creeds of their fathers, the Saints had become a peculiar people, and obeyed the doctrines of the Holy Scriptures. They believed in the teachings of the Prophets, and the fulfilment of the prophecies. The ancient Prophets had declared the events of the last days, when Zion should be established, in the tops of the mountains, and the Saints were gathering in fulfilment of those predictions. The speaker was an American, as were also his ancestors for generations back, and they had struggled for the establishment of a free government on this land. His father had been assassinated for the truth's sake. The Latter-day Saints had suffered great privations under trying circumstances in defense of truth. They had been driven from place to place, not because they had broken any law, or done anything wrong, but for their religion's sake, and not one of their persecutors had ever been punished. He believed the Constitution to have been inspired of God, and as such he revered it. He felt that, so long as his religion did not permit him to infringe on the rights of others, the Constitution guaranteed him the privilege of practicing it. The Saints had been advised on one occasion to disband their organization and put aside their Bishops, etc., that the feelings of the people might not be incensed against them. Some of the Latter-day Saints had married more wives than one, and it was said they should be punished. It was, indeed, just as proper to punish them for this as it was to punish the Savior when he was called a winebibber and an associate of publicans and sinners. The present generation claimed that they were sincere in their opposition to the "Mormons," doubtless the Jews were also sincere in opposing the Savior, but that did not make them right. To-day some of the Saints were in exile, and others were incarcerated in prisons, for their devotion to God and His laws, and the cries of their wives, children and friends were ascending to heaven in their behalf for retribution. Those who opposed the Saints charged that polygamy was what they were shocked at. But a plurality of wives was no offense under the Scriptural law; it was not immoral as taught and practiced by the Latter-day Saints; nor was it wrong when obeyed by those whom God honored anciently. The Almighty had held as honorable examples the offspring of plural marriage, but had cursed with a grievous cursing the children of adultery, and those who committed that crime. The sectarian world, who reviled the Latter-day Saint-, would have rejected Abraham, Moses, or even an angel from heaven. The Saints were persecuted because they advocated the principles of truth, and sought to bring about and establish the reign of peace on the earth. Those who opposed the doctrines of the Gospel as taught and practiced by Abraham and his descendants would be required to take their place outside the walls of the great city, among the wicked and ungodly, while those who kept the commandments of Jehovah would enter into His rest and be crowned with eternal lives and happiness.

Apostle H. J. Grant was the next speaker. He had recently paid a visit to the Eastern States, and had done a great deal of talking with strangers on the "Mormon" question. Found that many of those who formerly denounced the Edmunds law as infamous, were now desirous of seeing the "Mormons" under its wise law. He had asked those gentlemen with whom he had conversed if they would, under such pressure, be willing to abandon their wives and their children, with whom they had made the most sacred covenants; and in every instance had been answered that no man of honor could adopt a course other than that pursued by the Saints in maintaining their principles and being steadfast in their adherence to God and His laws. There could be but one answer to those who asked the Saints to deny a principle of their religion, and that was that, in order to be true to their God, to each other and to themselves, no matter what the sufferings entailed, they would keep the commandments of God and trust in Him for the result. It seemed to be hypocrisy to claim to enact a law in the interest of morality, and in its execution declare it was directed against the "Mormons." The Constitution forbade the passage of any law against religion, and when the law was passed it was said to be directed against immorality, but in its enforcement it assailed a principle of the religion of an unpopular people. It had been claimed that the Church leaders robbed the people of their political rights, yet it was strange that the people enjoyed such robbery. O. J. Hollister, who could not be accused of having any sympathy for "Mormons," had stated that in no State or Territory were the taxes as low as in Utah. It was a pity that some of those "robbers" who took so much interest in the real welfare of the people, could not be established in other States. In the world it had also been asserted that "Mormon" women were serfs. The men of the world did not claim to be able to control one woman, yet gave the "Mormons" credit for ability to control half a dozen. The "Mormons" were united in a manner unknown to the world, and were maligned as corrupt and degenerate, and yet with all these charges the "Mormons" had produced better fruits of humanity and virtue than any other community on the earth. "By their fruits ye shall know them." The Saints were in advance of the world in one respect at least. They had received a testimony of the truth, as promised by the Lord Jesus, and they would work out the will of God. The ancient Saints had submitted to all manner of persecution rather than sacrifice their honor. This was the position of the true Latter-day Saints. Some people might deny their covenants, but no man of honor would. The Saints were called rebels, but they were no more rebels than were the ancient Christians who refused to deny the resurrection of Christ. But they did more. God even more than they loved their country. They were no more rebels than was George Washington, in his struggle for the rights of freemen. The wives and children of "Mormons" had been scoffed at and maligned, but they were as pure and virtuous as any that lived. They were willing to sacrifice all they had for principle, and were seeking to keep the commandments of God. Plural marriage was not opposed to the laws of God or to the laws of nature. Even Mr. Lambert, a Catholic minister, successfully defied Mr. Ingersoll to produce one argument from the laws of nature that plurality of wives was wrong. The speaker defied anyone to produce one argument from the Holy Scriptures that condemned the principle as unrighteous. The Saints were engaged in building temples and laboring for the establishment of righteousness on the earth and the salvation of the living and the dead, in which work the speaker prayed that the blessings of the Lord would be upon them.

The choir sang the anthem:

Lord, what is man?

And the services were closed with benediction by Elder Edward Snelgrove.

The Vienna Politische Correspondenz publishes an interview with an English cabinet minister, whose name is withheld. In this the British statesman states that Sir Henry Drummond Wooff, special English envoy to the Porte, has been instructed to declare to the Sultan that England is willing to evacuate Egypt if Turkey will guarantee to maintain order therein, and that England recognizes the rights of the other powers in Egypt, but will permit none of them, except Turkey, to undertake a military occupation of the country.

Lucius A. White, arrested on the charge of being implicated in the counterfeiting of Brazilian treasury notes, was brought before the United States Commissioner this afternoon. He waived a preliminary examination and was committed to jail to await the action of the United States District Court in November. He has made a voluntary statement to the District Attorney, the nature of which has not yet been revealed, however, and it is probable he will enter a plea of guilty when the case is reached in court.

Lloyd Hughes, jockey, and James Steward, trainer, have brought suit against E. J. Baldwin, the California millionaire, to recover $4,000 for breach of contract, and obtained from Judge Barret an attachment on which the Sheriff of Saratoga county seized Volante and Primero, two of the crack race horses belonging to Baldwin. Today the latter's lawyer filed a counter bond and secured an order from Judge Van Brunt vacating the attachment. The order was sent to Saratoga and the horses delivered to Baldwin's trainer, who took them to Chicago, where they are entered in the Washington Park meeting.
