A SURE CURE FOR THE PILES—You need not suffer from this most distressing disease again in all your life. Emuil's Balm acts as a poultice and lubricator, absorbs the tumors and allays the intense itching at once. No caustic, no acid, no pain. A. McGibbons Esq., 19 Poplar street, Allegheny, Pa., writes: "I had itching and bleeding piles so bad I could not sit, stand or walk without intense suffering. I doctored with many physicians, and tried all the (so called) cures that I ever heard of, in vain (paying out hundreds of dollars), until I used Emuil's Magic Balm, or Ointment. After the first application I enjoyed the best night's sleep I had for ten years, and two boxes have cured me completely." ☞ Wherever introduced Dr. Emuil's Balm takes the lead, and has the largest sale of any Pile remedy in the world. Sold by druggists everywhere or sent by mail. 50 cent boxes. Address Zion's Co-operative Mercantile Institution, Salt Lake City. d&w (2)

CRITICAL ANALYSIS.

UNIVERSITY OF DESERET,
Salt Lake City, June 8th, 1887.

By carefully examining DeLand's Chemical Baking Powder with the microscope and with chemical reagents, I find that it is free from Alum, Starch, Flour, Bone Ash, Ammonia and White Earth; and that it consists essentially of Cream of Tartar and Bi-carbonate of Soda.

The Baking Powder examined I purchased at Barnes & Davis, in this city.

EVENING NEWS.

Saturday, - - August 13, 1887.

THE USUAL EXPERIENCE.

Missionary Life in the Allegheny Mountains.

CLEARVILLE, BEDFORD, CO., Pa., August 5th, 1887.

Editor Deseret News:

The 9th of July we had reached the summit of the Laurel Ridge, Pa., and, stopping to enquire the way, we fell in conversation with a Dunkard minister. After exchanging a few words he invited us into his house. This was Saturday about 3 o'clock. We continued our interview very pleasantly till supper time, when he asked us to dine. When the meal was done, we gave him the invitation to keep us and let us preach to his congregation. He said: "Gentlemen, you are welcome to stop; also you shall have my pulpit to-morrow."

The morrow came. The first sermon which was on faith, repentance, baptism and the laying on of hands, just suited him. We offered to preach in the afternoon and he laid the motion before the people which was accepted. He also made arrangements for us to get dinner near by.

In the afternoon

A CROWD OF ANXIOUS LISTENERS

assembled to hear what the Bible says of the coming forth of the Book of Mormon. This did not please the reverend at all, and he felt angry and disgusted, neither would he take us home nor ask any one else to do so, but was wroth. We had no chance to thank him for his kindness unless by shouting, and that we deemed unmannerly.

We will next note briefly what happened at Berlin, Somerset County. On Monday morning we visited the quiet town and obtained permission to hold a meeting the following Wednesday evening, in the schoolhouse.

As the editor of their paper said, "Wednesday evening came and so did the Mormons," but a number of the church-members had raised objections to our preaching in their schoolhouse. The president of the school board would not say whether we should or should not use the house. Prayer meeting was held that evening and fast the church members began to assemble in their temple of devotion. During this time the "sinners" began to convene where they knew the "Mormons" were in the doctor's office on Main Street. We now began to hear: "Why don't this thing start?" "Set 'em on a box," etc. It was growing dark, but we emerged from the office, and began conversation with one gentleman, but soon and a conversational tone became too low. We proposed to preach if they would give us a place. One said, "Get up here;" another, "Let 'em git on that dry goods box." The box answered the use of a rostrum and preaching began to probably 30. But the trumpet was blowing in the city and the people fast assembled. Sometimes a noisy urchin, or a rude lad or a pious "Christian" youth would come up or down the street, whistling some familiar tune, playing a mouth organ or chanting, in rudest tone, some common air; but ere he would reach the crowd some one would check his disturbing noise, and he soon would be lost in silent listening. So they gathered.

Prayer meeting was now over, and the already increased crowd was swelled by the churchmembers. Some of these religious people would press through the stubbern audience, with the utmost zeal so as not to became contaminated with "Mormon" influence. By the time they would reach the out side, they too were interested and would turn to listen so that their curiosity stole away their prejudices. So the audience increased to about three hundred.

All passed off well until we had closed, when came up and began to abuse us. But all turned to his own shame, because he became so vulgar that his own people took him by force out of the crowd and all said he should have been lodged in jail to answer to a charge of vulgarity. This man was a "squire." We received no upbraiding only from him, but on the contrary, all sympathized with us. We told them we traveled without purse or scrip, a gentleman came up and gave us money to go to the hotel, and so we bid the crowd good night.

All is not sweet, and so we found when we entered the town of Hyndman, Bedford County. We could not get a house in which to preach, so we saw the burgess and obtained permission to preach in the street. We commenced with few, but soon they increased as in other places. Preaching continued about an hour, although it was difficult to distinguish really who did the talking, the audience or the Elders. At the close we told them we traveled without money. We were answered with scoffs. Soon the people dispersed, leaving us in possession of the ground. We were now in no money, no bed, no friends; but plenty of courage. Accordingly we started for the hotels, after having tried other places. The first hotel could not keep us. On to the next we sped, told the proprietors who we were, how we traveled and asked whether we could stop on those terms. He said "Yes."

TRUE MISSIONARY CONDITION;

In the next town we met with a similar fate.

We afterwards entered the peaceful neighborhood of Beans Cove, Bedford County, called to stop with a gentleman who answered "Yes," and added, "you'll stay and preach for us to-morrow, won't you?" To that we were only too willing to consent. Sunday morning came and their minister was on hand to organize a Sunday school at ten and preach to them at eleven. The gentleman with whom we stopped said he would have the minister give out an appointment for us to preach in the afternoon; but no; neither would he allow it in the church. The gentleman then told us we could preach in the grove; an appointment was given out for three o'clock.

The gentleman with whom we stopped was also the one with whom the minister was accustomed to dine. Notwithstanding the chickens had been killed and all things made ready, his reverence would not consent to associate with the "Mormon Elders" in that sumptuous repast; therefore his chicken was left for us.

When the appointed time came we had a much larger audience than had the minister.

In our travels of late we have found the people very friendly; neither are we at all discouraged.

Ever praying for the welfare of Zion we remain your brethren in the Gospel of Christ,

JOSEPH BIDWELL,
N. C. CHRISTENSEN.

Literary Notes.

There has been no such success in literature within the past decade as that of the story, "A Tragic Mystery" written by Julian Hawthorne from material furnished him by the diarys of Inspector Byrnes of New York, and published by Cassell & Company. The book has now been on the market a little less than a month and yet a fourth edition is already in the press, and the book is likely to run on into an unlimited number of editions as there seems to be an inexhaustive craving on the part of the reading public for this particular story. The critics are as one voice in their praise of the book and place it above any detective story that has ever been written. Gaboriau himself they declare has never done anything half so exciting, and the charm of the Hawthorne-Byrnes stories is their truth. Truth is stranger than fiction and the fiction of the Frenchman pales by the light of the American's truth. "A Tragic Mystery" was the first in a series from the detective chief's diary and the novelist's pen; the second, "The Great Bank Robbery," will be published about August 15, and will be closely followed by a thrilling account of a famous forgery under the title "An American Penman." Others will follow as rapidly as possible.

In view of the centennial of the American Constitution in September, special interest attaches to an article which will appear in Scribner's Magazine for that month, relating to "An Unpublished Draft of a National Constitution by Edmund Randolph, Found among the Papers of George Mason." This interesting historical document shows what a strong anti States Right sentiment existed among many of the framers of the National Constitution, even in the South. Light is thrown on other interesting points of discussion. A part of the document will be reproduced in fac-simile.

The notable features of the August Wide Awake are the first of a series of sketches of Old Concord and a paper on Summer Sports, both illustrated. The village where the first battle of the Revolution was fought has been written and pictured and guide-booked until the subject is hackneyed; but nothing is fresher than unexpected news of a sleepy old relic. Margaret Sidney, the writer, lives in "Wayside," the home of Nathaniel Hawthorne, next door to the Alcotts', a mile from Concord Bridge, towards Lexington. What an inspiration! But she slights the expectation of patriotic eloquence, drives about in her easy phaeton, taking a friend along to hear the gossip of those who live in the air of a hundred years ago. And you who read are the friend in the phaeton.

Vick's Illustrated Monthly Magazine for August has a table of contents of interest and value to the lover of flowers and the growers of fruits.

The only way to prepare for the next world is to do the thing God gave us to do in this world.

I then tried the favorite prescription of one of the most renowned physicians of Louisville, Ky., but to no purpose; whereupon I was induced to try Simmons Liver Regulator. I found immediate benefit from its use, and it ultimately restored me to the full enjoyment of health.
