

SALT LAKE MAY LAND CONVENTION

Maj. Hooper Promises to Assist In Securing Typographical Union for 1910.

WILL SEND TWO MEN EAST.

Their Mission Will be to Work for Salt Lake, in Connection With Local Delegation.

That Salt Lake is gaining prestige as a convention city, is evidenced not only by the strong effort which is being made by the local interests, concerned in striving to obtain for this city the 1910 sessions of the International Typographical union, but by voluntary offers of assistance to this end which come in unrelenting from outside quarters.

The latest offer of aid in helping Salt Lake to land the typographical convention comes from Major Hooper, general passenger agent of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad at Denver. Major Hooper states that he will issue orders for two trained passenger men to go to St. Joseph to assist Salt Lake in securing the convention and that the railroad will do all in its power to get the big gathering for Salt Lake.

THIS YEAR AT ST. JOE. The delegation from local union No. 115 is pledged to work early and late to land the convention for next year. The session this year is held at St. Joseph, Mo., from Aug. 9 to 15. The local delegation to the St. Joe convention, which includes H. W.

Dennett, chairman; Arthur E. Graham, George T. Hanson, president of No. 115; A. Thompson, secretary; Burt L. White and H. R. Freeman, has prepared a circular to distribute among the delegates at that convention. In a terse and comprehensive manner it calls attention to the many interesting things that may be seen by the delegates in the city of 1910. It is held in Utah, and also to the fact that the chamber of commerce of Colorado Springs has endorsed Salt Lake City as an ideal place for the convention of 1910.

TOUGH OF WESTERN COLOR.

James C. Leary Plans Wild West Show For G. A. R. Week.

One of the attractions during the week of the G. A. R. encampment will be a wild west show to be held at the fair grounds, under the direction of J. C. Leary, manager of the Union stockyards and the Inter-mountain Packing company. The spectacle will contain all the wild western features of the Cheyenne annual show, besides having more riders and "bronchos" and wild cattle than the Wyoming show ever had. The program of cowboy sports will cover four days, Aug. 10, 11, 12 and 13. A comprehensive program of range sports has been prepared, and a large amount of money has been hung up as prizes for the various events.

WOULD GIVE $500 TO RIDE IN WRIGHT AEROPLANE

Washington, July 12.—Secy. William E. Hayward of the Republic committee is willing to pay $500 for a ride in a Wright brothers aeroplane. He so declared himself to a group of Nebraskaans in the lobby of the Hotel Willard. "I had the first automobile in the state of Nebraska," said Hayward, "and I played in the first game of golf in that state outside of Omaha, but I never was so crazy about anything as I am about the Wright flying machine. I would be willing to give $500 for the glory of being their first regular fare."

Judge Bowman Hears Tales of the Erring

Henry Tuescher was in a petulant mood last night while he was waiting for a Saltair train, and the sight of three or four youngsters having their fun about one of the benches at the depot only increased his irritation—which was all had for Mr. Tuescher since it cost him a fairly good drubbing and $5 hard cash. Tuescher's irritableness is of the delusive kind, it seems, when his patience could stand the lads' play no longer he accosted an innocent "boy" of about 20 or 21 years old, sitting quietly on the same bench.

"How old are you?" was his growling salutation. "About half as old as that," was the innocent boy's answer. "That was too much for the irritable Mr. Tuescher, and his patience went to the winds while his arm shot out and his fist landed squarely on the boy's jaw sending him tumbling in a heap over the back of the bench."

Any satisfaction that Tuescher obtained in his well-planned blow was lost, though, in the astonishment of finding himself the under man in the next instant, and receiving a pummeling that made him forget even his irritation. It was a minute or two before the depot officer could pull Hill off from Tuescher, and then the two found themselves under arrest for fighting. In court today Hill pleaded not guilty and Tuescher confessed his offense, and after the stories were told the court agreed with their own opinions. Hill was discharged and Tuescher fined $50.

Judge Bowman this morning thought that Otto Hanson's desire for a cool place to sleep during the heated nights had been sufficiently satisfied, with a five days' rest in the shadowy retreat of the jail, even though Hanson wanted to plead guilty to the charge of trespass and linger longer. Hanson was arrested last week charged with trespassing in a rooming house on Commercial street. He pleaded not guilty, saying that he had a room there, but it was so hot at nights that he couldn't sleep, and he had carried his bed-clothes into the hallway. When his case was called for hearing this morning he wanted to plead guilty, and seemed to appreciate the coolness of the jail, but the court, acting on the suggestion of the prosecutor, believed he had had the limit of rest, and discharged him.

City Food Inspector Walter J. Frazier's present pure food crusade brought two alleged recalcitrants into court this morning: J. E. Mallin, who denied the soft impeachment of selling milk kept "fresh and pure" with a judicious use of formaldehyde, and S. Kazahaya, whose oriental shrewdness is alleged to have been devoted to selling ice cream containing less than 14 per cent milk fat. Kazahaya also denied and will have a hearing on Thursday, the same date set for the explanations in Mr. Mallin's case.

W. H. Carter, a local jeweler, charged with battery committed upon a boy named Howard Baker, entered a plea of not guilty this morning when arraigned. The boy, who is only 10 years old, appeared at the station with his temple badly cut from a blow, and charged Carter with having struck him. The case will come up for hearing July 19.

Charles Rance, charged with assault, and at liberty under a "paper" bond, failed to respond when his name was called in court this morning for trial, and a bench warrant was ordered issued for his arrest. When apprehended, instead of the bond of paper he will have to produce $100 in cash before he obtains further liberty pending his trial. Rance, some time bander and later waiter in a Salt Lake cafe, broke into police circles when he showed his aversion to his wife, from whom he has been separated some time, receiving a visitor by taking a wild shot at the latter, and in other strenuous ways emphasizing his disapproval.

STRAGGLERS OF HERD TAKE TO PURPLE TRAIL

Heard Guard of Migration of Elks to Los Angeles Passes Through The City.

Outside of the members of the antlered herd arriving on the belated train held up in the Denver & Rio Grande wreck at Cisco Saturday morning, containing the Twin City Elks, and a train from Kansas City which followed, no Elks arrived in Salt Lake en route to Los Angeles up to 2 p. m. yesterday. After the strenuous experience of receiving ten to twenty trainloads per day for nearly a week past, the interval between trains seemed a long one to the local committee representing the Salt Lake lodge, which has entertained in magnificent style every visitor wearing the purple who stopped over in Salt Lake.

The calm was not for long, however, as a large number of Elks arrived on No. 5, three sections of which came in, the last at 9 o'clock last evening. One trainload was from Allegheny, Pa., New York and New Jersey, and a number from Detroit. The visitors were entertained at the clubrooms of the local lodge, and many attended services in the tabernacle. A special organ recital was arranged after the regular services, which was attended by hundreds of Elks. Many went to Saltair, and others spent the afternoon and evening in the parks.

The prize of $100 offered by lodge 55 for the best decorated show window was awarded to the Keith-O'Brien company.

CHURCHES NEED REVIVING.

Rev. H. E. Hayes Declares There is Too Little Vitality in Religion.

Rev. H. E. Hayes of the Third Presbyterian church, preached in the First church yesterday morning, in the absence of Rev. Dr. Paden. His theme was, "Some Conditions Favorable to a Revival of Religion," from Habakkuk, 2: 2: "O Lord revive Thy work in the midst of the years." The speaker said in part: "The higher things of life are in danger about us, and as was the case in Habakkuk's time, the real danger is within. There is too little vitality in our religion. The great need of the churches in our land is a reviving of spiritual life. But what is a revival? It certainly does not consist in singing, shouting and general excitement, though it may involve some of these. A revival is simply a quickened interest in the religion of Jesus Christ. Those who are revived will study their Bibles more, pray more, lead better Christian lives and do more and better Christian work. This kind of a revival will have a telling effect on every side of human life and service."

How is such a revival to be brought about? As the prophet indicates, through prayer. Prayer means contact with God and, therefore, with God's power, and it is this power in contact with prayer that causes every true revival. Prayer and revival are as close together as cause and effect ever are. The revival at Pentecost, that in Wales and the revival under Dr. Torrey in Australia were clearly the result of earnest, persistent prayer.

Then it is evident that conditions favorable to a revival of religion are simply the conditions of successful prayer. Let me name some of them: Acknowledgment of sin, prayer through Christ, earnestness, perseverance, consistent living, and efforts along the line of our praying. If we fulfill these conditions, we shall realize results from our prayers, whatever be their burden. And if we thus pray for a revival it will come. Let us not try to work up a revival. Let us bring one down. I cannot revive you, but I can, from God's word, tell you, where to get a revival and how to get it. You may get it from God and through prayer.
