MONROE GOLD FINDS.

Sam A. King Characterizes Them as Being Important.

Special Correspondence.

Special Correspondence. Provo, Utah, June ", - Samuel A. King is back from Rich-field, where he has been attending to legal and mining business. Mr. King states that the discovery of gold near Monroe is considered a very important one, and that experienced mining men have taken hold of the new property and will push it for all it is worth.

MORE GOLDFIELD STRIKES.

New Nevada Camp Continues to Furnish Sensations.

The sensation of the week is the de-velopments in the Bowes & Kernick lease on the Jumbo, says a Goldfield correspondent of the Tonopah Miner. The ledge which was uncovered last week now shows a width of about 6 feet. A shaft is being sunk on the footwall, with the intention of cross-cutting the ledge at a denth of 56 feet. footwall, with the intention of cross-cutting the ledge at a depth of 56 feet. On Wednesday Mr. Kernick, who was stripping the ledge at the surface, un-covered 3 feet of ore which carries higher values than have heretofore been found in the camp. The hornings are remarkable, showing values run-ning from $1,000 to $6,000 to ton. Thir-ty-five sacks of ore have been taken from the new discovery which will yield more than $100 per sack. From present indications this is the greatest strike ever made in the Goldefield dis-trict. It is reported that all Jumbo ireasury slock has been withdrawn treasury stock has been withdrawn physical condition of the mine was ever better since his connection with it, and believes that the recent dis-closures on the Humbug yein will prove to be of immense importance. Mr. Chipman announced that he would be an an announced that he would not serve as manager again. At the organization of the new board this afternoon John Dern will undoubtedly be chosen to fill the position.

BEFORE JUDGE MARSHALL.

The Controversy Over Iron County Claims is Still Unsettled.

in the federal court yesterday, involv-ing the title to iron properties in Iron county. The case is known as the Excelsion Iron & Mining company vs Cleveland O. Moss et al, which is up-derstood to be Walker Bros. of this city against the Colorado Fuel & Iron com-rany. The case is an old one. Twentypany. The case is an old one. Twenty-five years ago the Walkers patented certain placer claims and the defendant subsequently filed on the ground in the vicinity, taking in a portion of the plaintiff's property, it is said, and alleg-ing that the plaintiff had not complied with the laws successful backfore. Suit with the laws governing locations was instituted to quiet title, but the opinion of Judge Marshall does not set. tle the case, as he states, in effect, that unless the parties at interest can agree upon a settlement, evidence will be taken before the master in chancery

The Decline in Lead.

The decline of 25 points in the lead quotations during the past two weeks in New York, equal to a drop of about $5 a ton, announced by the American Smelling & Refining Co., says the N. So a ton, amounted by the N. America A. Andrew M. S. Sandting & Refining Co., says the N. Y. Commercial, has created unusual in-terest, and a strong desire to discover the cause underlying the failing off. In some quarters it is said that the lower price has been arbitrarily made lower price has been arbitrarily made by those who exercise a controlling au-thority in the market, irrespective of the demand and the supply, but the general opinion seemed to be that the cut from 4.55 cents to 4.25 cents reflects the correct aspect of market con-ditions. It is pointed out that the Eu-ropean demand has fallen off intelly, Identify, and foreign prices for the metal have likewise reached lower levels. At this time of the year, when the consumer is prone to curtail his purchases, it is shown that a reduction is usually made, and information secured at the office of the American Smalting & Baffing Co. and information secured at the office of the American Smelting & Refining Co. confirmed this view. The opinion there was expressed by Vice President Bar-ton Sewell that the cut was normal and simply reflected the actual state of affairs in the lead market.
