LOWER MAMMOTH SELLS

During Regular Call-Beck Tunnel Transfers-Closing Quotations And Sales.

Mining stocks were not as active today on the local board as they were yesterday. The eastern market attracted much attention and that naturally had its effect on local stocks. The sudden advance in United States Mining was the talk of mining circles.

During the regular board call, Lower Mammoth and Beck Tunnel were the principal stocks sold; the former changing hands around 40 cents, while Beck Tunnel, commencing at 45 cents, sold up to 4614 cents. Eagle & Blue Bell brought $2, while Little Bell was in lit-tle demand, but a lot of 200 shares went at $2.95. On the open board, Thornpson, Victoria and New York were active.

GROVES REMOVED FOR SAFETY.

Milford, Del., Jan. 17.—Milford Fredericy Groves, the negro, who was arrested yesterday for assaulting Miss Flora Booze, a schoolleacher, was removed to the Bover jail today to prevent any further attempt at lynching. A mob that last night tried to take Groves from the lock-up here remained about the building until nearly 3 o'clock this morning. The fact that a company of the Delaware national guard was kept on guard all night prevented further attacks on the lock-up. After being placed in jail here the negor made a confession. He said that he had been drinking during the day on which the assault occurred and had no recollection of a struggle with the young woman.

BALAKLALLA TROUBLES.

California Jumpers Try to Block Building of Smelter.

The Balaklalla Copper company, in which a number of Salt Lakers are interested, is having its share of trouble over its proposed smelter site. General Manager McVichie has been in the west for the past week endeavoring to fix up the difficulty with the hope that it can be overcome speedly and the construc-tion of the proposed smelter started. The Engineering & Mining Journal comments on the affair and says:

Although Shasta county has been for several years credited with the largseveral years credited with the largest mineral output of any county of California—mainly on account or its extensive copper properties—yet there seems to be part of its population which tries to do everything possible to hinder the large companies operating in the county. The numerous suits against the Mountain Copper company of Keswick for alloged damages from smeller. wick, for alleged damages from smelter fumes, caused that company finally to build a new smelter on the shores of San Francisco bay, and take much of its very extensive business out of the county, even the headquarters of the company being removed. And now when the Baiaklala Copper company decides upon a location for its new smelter in section 20, between Kennett and Copley, a lot of people under the leadership of a lawyer "jump" the locations where the smelter was to be.

The ground had been located on Nov. 5 by the Balakiala interests, but it was under an Indian allotment up to Nov and was thrown open Nov. 20, the jumper's locations being made Nov. 23. These people claim that the company's locations on Nov. 5 were before the land was thrown open to entry and therefore void. Two quarter sections are involved.

Against the same company an injunction suit has been filed to restrain it from occupying or Javaloring certain.

tion suit has been filed to restrain it from occupying or developing certain valuable claims. The Balakiala company is working its mines and is about to crect a smelter, but is being hindered in its proceedings by the difficulties above referred to. Such conditions are not at all calculated to give Shasta county a first class reputation among county a first class reputation among those desiring to invest in mining en-terprises within its limits. There is a common tendency to consider it good business tho "hold up" the big com-panies, but it is a short-sighted policy panies, but it is a short-signted policy to block enterprises which promote the welfare of a whole district, and the spirit of it should be discountenanced, even if the individual cannot be.

Edith M. Cairns of 66 Canyon road this morning.

Miss Cairns was accosted by the negro in front of the Alta club, and he demanded possession of the pet dog which was accompanying her on her walk down town. She refused to give it up, told him that its tax was paid, and then started to walk along.

"I shall follow yoh!" declared the negro, "till I get that dog," and as the lady proceeded on down State street from the Alta club the negro made good his threat by keeping at her heels. Sha his threat by keeping at her heels. She ordered him to cease several times, and declared it was an outrage to be treated this way on the streets, and warned him that she should take the matter to the mayor immediately if he persisted any further.

The darkey, however, held close or behind whenever she tried to proceed, and finally when she was below the Packard library, she partially broke down through nervous fright and spoke so loud that two tourists who were coming up the street were attracted to the scene, in time to hear her de-clare that if the negro followed her another step she should scream for the

One of the tourists, an elderly gentleman, offered to escort her to her home, and see that she was not further molested. "I landed in this town last night," he said, "but I never anywhere witnessed so hamiliating an experience for a white woman, and if it is a sam-ple of the way it is governed, I have very little respect for it, and shall con-tinue on by the first train."

When the dog wagon began its pur-suit of Miss Cairns, it was in front of the Keith apartments, near the University club, while the lady was crossing the street from the Emery-Holmes flats to the Alta club. It overtook her at the Alta club corner, and here it was that the negro first attempted to was leading.

In the wagon was a well cared for thoroughbred spaniel which was evidently a house dog belonging in the neighborhood, and which was not of the class of street dogs, which it is the pur-pose of the city law to gather up and do away with for the public benefit. MISS CAIRNS' STORY.

Miss Cairns, when approached by a "News" reporter shortly after the in-cident, was still suffering from the nervous shock occasioned by having a black man threaten to follow her to her home, and to actually do it for nearly half a block.

"It was an outrage," she declared, "and he had no right to try to follow me.
