Our old townsman, John Crook, has just returned from an extended trip to the coast, where he has been recuperating his health and visiting among relatives and friends. Mr. Crook is an ideal gardener and farmer, and he comes home with no doubt of himself having been in the Missouri bottom, where a total failure, that much of the grain in the uplands is shrunken and partially ruined from the severe rains. He says eight inches of water fell in 24 hours a short distance from Council Bluffs while he was there. A sample of grain which he brought home with him indicates that Utah grain is much superior to the Nebraska product.
