"The Association of American Universities, composed of eighteen strong universities in America, agrees with my view on this matter, and now all are working towards a more or less specialization and more general culture."

At the conclusion of his address President Schurman was warmly applauded. President Thomas thanked him for his attendance at the convention, and assured him of the appreciation the teachers felt for his lectures.

MRS. MILNER'S LECTURE.

Mrs. Milner, who delivered the opening lecture, spoke of the distinctive duties that teachers have in the school room. The problem of chief importance, she said, was to get the proper relationship between teacher and pupil. There must be no wall of misunderstanding between them and the teacher must fulfill the expectations of the children who graduate from her school not only with clean hands and a pure heart, but with educated clean hands and a scientifically pure heart. The true aim of the teacher is service, she urged, and the greatest service is the one which most completely is the servant of all the children under her charge. Her heart must throb with the life of the children, and her interest in all phases of activity, and she must practice her service in humility and reverence, and not with the badge of poverty blazoned upon her breast. Mrs. Milner declared that there were any bad boys and declared it the duty of the teacher to reach every boy under her charge, and not to try to set all things right in a day, allowing time, the greatest of all teachers, a chance to work in cases of difficulty and misunderstanding.

Musical numbers were rendered this morning by Mrs. W. J. Wadsworth, a quartet, which was recalled three times, and by Morris Andrews, who beautifully rendered a violin solo, and was given a hearty encore.

NEW ADVERTISING CO.

The Eldridge Advertising company has just opened offices in the McCormick block. The executive head of the new company is Frank M. Eldridge, formerly of Salt Lake, who has spent the past 10 years in the advertising business, where he gained a wide experience as a theatrical manager and also as an advertiser.

Mr. Eldridge's acquaintance with eastern methods of advertising should prove most valuable in his new enterprise. He comes of a well known Salt Lake family, his father is J. U. Eldridge, Sr., clerk of the juvenile court, and his brother is J. U. Eldridge, Jr., present clerk of Salt Lake county.

The new company is ready to handle the writing of ads for merchants; to edit and prepare advertising booklets and novels, and also to handle all that pertains to up-to-date publicity.

SIX NEW CITIZENS.

There are six more American citizens in Salt Lake today than there were yesterday and they are not new arrivals, either. They are all men who have lived here at least a year, and have been called for by the naturalization laws, and they became citizens under the new law after going through the regular form of questioning in Judge Morse's division of the district court.

The six who were called for were: Carl Jenke, August Herman Sletter, Frederick J. Tesch and Gustave A. Koplin.

The report of the state board of medical examiners, covering the past year, was made today in the office of Gov. Culter. The report shows that eight sessions covered by 40 cities have been held. Sixty applications for certificates have been examined and passed under the reciprocity. Fifty women were examined in obstetrics, all of whom, but six passed successfully.

THE ROUND OF THE THEATERS

THEATER.—It was perhaps too much to expect a big turnout at the theater last night, inasmuch as "Little Johnnie Jones" is now on its third visit to Salt Lake, and seeing that the town is submerged in holiday buying. Still there was a fairly good turnout when the curtain ascended on the familiar story. It has been so often reviewed, that it is now only necessary to say that in spite of the many farce comedies he has reeled off since it was written five or six years ago, "Little Johnnie Jones" remains the best of all Cohen's works; and seeing it so soon after we have had others of his creation, the impression is deepened that Mr. Cohen has been laboring industriously ever since to turn out something equal to Mr. Jones, but that he has never quite succeeded. The "Johnnie Jones" has something nearer resembling a story than any other of its successors; allied to this, it has plenty of singing, bright action, dancing and charming costumes, a combination which always catches the fancy of an audience. The people all through are about of an even degree of capability, and did they realize the humor of the situation, the members have been with the company from the beginning, five years ago. The bill runs tonight, and tomorrow afternoon and evening, and will be succeeded by the big New York sensation, "Paid in Full," Thursday night.

ORPHEUM.—Odd indeed, would be the case if a comedian could refrain from laughing at the Orpheum bill this week. The program as presented last evening before a fair sized audience, bubbled over with rollicking fun that went with a dash and a vim. There is a good deal of what is sometimes called "horse play," but it is of the kind that simply forces a laugh. The first offering is "The Soufflete and the Bell-boy," by John Highway and Emma Siegel. Both can dance well, but the singing—well the singing is forgotten when Miss Sue Smith appears as the American girl in "Some songs, some dances," a beautiful voice and her renditions were highly appreciated.

The sketch of "Shorty," a race horse tout, is full of interesting and dramatic situations and it is not without its humorous features. It is well played and ranks as the headliner of the bill. The sketch is by Dick Crolius who plays the leading role.

Guss Hibbert and Fred Warren do a musical turn that delights the audience, especially the eccentric dancing of Hibbert.

A fine number was the "Opera Singer," by Homer Lind and company. He was formerly baritone with Savage's

LYRIC.—The chance from the Camerophone to straight moving pictures at the Lyric is proving popular, if the attendance since Saturday night is any criterion. There is an excellent bill this week. The headline is "A Russian Bear Hunt," wherein five big bears are killed within 20 feet of the camera.

NEW LYCEUM.—"The Flaming Arrow," Lincoln J. Carter's melodrama, is the offering at the New Lyceum this week. The play is a typical western story, set in the early days of settlement (Chicago) and includes two villains, a daughter of a colonel of the United States army, commanding a lonely post, an Indian, a number of those booked-for-early-conviction characters, and a general furnish enough excitement to satiate the most bloodthirsty disciple of Lincoln J. Carter. The scenery is decidedly good and the new house stands under no handicap, despite the fact that there are some finishing touches yet to be done on the new home of popular melodrama, can be said to be complete.
