

EVENING NEWS.

Saturday, September 24, 1907.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES.

Religious services of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will be held in the Tabernacle to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock.

Home missionaries will preach in the country wards on Sunday.

In the city wards services are held in the various meeting houses at the hours named:

First.....	8:30 p.m.	Twelfth.....	6:30 p.m.
Second.....	8:30 p.m.	Thirteenth.....	6:30 p.m.
Third.....	8:30 p.m.	Fourteenth.....	6:30 p.m.
Fourth.....	8:30 p.m.	Fifteenth.....	6:30 p.m.
Fifth.....	8:30 p.m.	Sixteenth.....	6:30 p.m.
Sixth.....	8:30 p.m.	Seventeenth.....	6:30 p.m.
Seventh.....	8:30 p.m.	Eighteenth.....	6:30 p.m.
Eighth.....	8:30 p.m.	Nineteenth.....	6:30 p.m.
Ninth.....	8:30 p.m.	Twentieth.....	6:30 p.m.
Tenth.....	8:30 p.m.	Twenty-first.....	6:30 p.m.
Eleventh.....	8:30 p.m.

Meetings convene in the country wards as follows:

Sugar House.....	8 p.m.
Farmers.....	8 p.m.
Mill Creek.....	8 p.m.
East Mill Creek.....	8 p.m.
Big Cottonwood.....	8 p.m.
Little Cottonwood.....	8 p.m.
North Jordan.....	8 p.m.
South Jordan.....	8 p.m.
Riverdale.....	8 p.m.
Draper.....	8 p.m.
Herriman.....	10:30 a.m.
West Jordan.....	8 p.m.
Bluff.....	8 p.m.
Pleasant Green.....	8 p.m.
Clinton.....	8 p.m.
North Point.....	1 p.m.
Mountain Dell.....	1 p.m.

Services in foreign languages are conducted as follows:

Scandinavian, Social Hall, 10 a.m.
German, City Hall, 10 a.m.

FRAGMENTS.

THE Alcazar Company appear at the Theatre on Monday evening.

THE Spanish Troubadours will be the attraction at the Theatre this evening.

HON. SAMUEL T. CORN, associate justice of Wyoming Territory, returned to Evanston from this city today.

R. K. THOMAS, Esq., the dry goods merchant, returned from a successful business trip east. While absent he made extensive and varied purchases of goods.

THE storm arrived in good style this afternoon. A kindly quantity of hail of great size, fell, but unfashionable as it may appear, none of them were as large as hen's eggs.

THE "Bee Hive March," the latest composition in this line by Prof. Jos. J. Daynes, and which was mentioned in the News a short time, is now published and can be obtained at Costler & Snellgrove's music store.

WE are requested to announce that the following services will take place in St. Mark's Cathedral to-morrow:

Communion	7:30 a.m.
Sunday school	9:45 a.m.
Morning service with sermon	11 a.m.
Bible lesson	6:30 p.m.
Evening prayer and sermon	7:30 p.m.

WILL the Bishops of each Ward please notify the sub-committees working in the interest of country visitors to the coming Conference to attend a general meeting next Friday evening, at 7 p.m., sharp, in the Social Hall, and oblige the executive committee?

Correct.

Question—Aristern has a pipe that will fill it in two hours; another pipe that will empty it in two hours; still another that would empty it in 20 minutes. It all the pipes open, how long would it take it to fill the cistern?

Answer—Just as long as it will take Ogdin to achieve his present progress without manufacturing.—Ogden Herald.

Arrested.

Thursday afternoon Deputies Exum and Steele came down from the north having in their charge Bishop Hans Funk of Newton. An indictment has been found against Funk and he was placed under bonds to appear at the next term of the First District Court for arraignment. The charge is unlawful cohabitation.—Ogden Herald.

Grand Jury.

The grand jury for the Third District came into court and reported that they had found seventeen indictments since the opening of the September term. Of this number one was under a Territorial law, and is probably for murder against Neal Mulloy, as the witnesses in that case were before the inquirers this week. The remaining sixteen are under United States laws—all presumably under the Edmunds law.

Third District Court.

To-day Wm. S. Muir, of Bountiful, formerly arraigned on a charge of unlawful cohabitation, entered his plea of not guilty. His trial was set for Thursday, September 29th.

The case of polygamy against Thos. F. Harris—a non-Mormon—was called up, but owing to the absence of two material witnesses—Deputy Exum, in Ogden, and H. H. Henderson, in Provo—the trial was continued until Monday next. Arthur Brown is conducting the defense.

The Treasurership Case.

Yesterday Mr. C. C. Richards, of counsel for the defense in the case of Farrell vs. Shurtliff, notified the attorneys for the plaintiff that no appeal from the decision of the judge of the First District Court ordering that a writ of mandamus should issue requiring Probate Judge Shurtliff to approve the bond of William Farrell, who claims to have been elected to the office of treasurer of Weber County at the general election last month, will be taken.

This action will, therefore, hasten the case on to its next stage. Mr. Farrell's bond being filed, the gentleman will probably make a demand on Mr. Fingree for the books, etc. Should this step be taken, it is probably the real question at issue will be brought before the court.

The amount of Mr. Farrell's bond is $25,000, and his bondsmen are K. B. Mercer, C. R. Hank, W. N. Sealing and Geo. L. Corey.—Ogden Herald, Sept. 23.

The Second Night.

A good sized audience was present at the Theatre last evening to witness the second performance, by the Home Dramatic Club, of the sensational drama, "Lights of London." The piece went even smoother than on the first night, and was received with hearty applause by the appreciative auditors. The startling situations and thrilling scenes were carefully and effectively worked up. Messrs. Wells, Martelli, Spencer, Young, Taylor, Evans and the other male characters were all well up in their playing. Birdie Cummings presented a charming "Bess Marks," and her rendition of the part was especially fine. Miss Morris, Mrs. Snell and Miss Clawson also deserve praise. The stage settings were good, and everything went through in excellent order.

The piece will be given again during Conference, when, with "Stork Beaten" and the "Silver King," a splendid series of performances will be given by the Club.

FREAKS OF ELECTRIC FLUID.

Four Valuable Horses Instantly Killed.

About seven o'clock this morning (Sept. 24th), during the prevalence of a thunder storm at Big Cottonwood, this county, four blooded horses belonging to David McDonald, of that place, clustered close together, apparently for mutual protection. The heads were toward the north and their flanks toward the storm. There was a terrific peal of thunder, during the prevalence of which a bolt struck one of the horses and all four were instantly killed. The electric fluid struck the animal on the head, passed to the brain, where it parted into two currents, one going down the left front leg and the other along the side and down the right hind leg, the hide being burned along its course. There were no marks upon any of the others, they having been simply killed by the shock. The incident involves quite a heavy loss to Mr. McDonald, the aggregate value of the animals being $800.

At the same instant Mrs. Frances McDonald, who was, at the time the horses were killed, about a quarter of a mile distant from the place, was so fully shocked by electricity. She was holding the lid of a pan in her hand, when her arm was twisted so as to turn the hand clear around. She immersed her hand in water and the shock at once subsided.

At East Mill Creek, about daylight this morning, a valuable horse, belonging to Mr. McGee, was struck by lightning and killed.

Evidently a Bilk.

A man about five feet inches in height, and weighing from 140 to 150 pounds, of sandy complexion, with sandy hair sprinkled with gray, worn quite long and cut squarely at the ends, who is apparently about fifty years of age, and has only one arm visible, has been annoying the people of Salt Lake and West Jordan. He claims to have lost an arm in Oregon, and on the strength of being a cripple solicits alms. In some instances he even dictates the amount of the donation, which he never fixes at less than one dollar.

Having previously learned by inquiry the name of the person at whose house he calls, he very familiarly addresses him as "Brother." Or if the man is absent he calls the lady of the house "Sister." If it is day time he will remain from one to three hours; if night is approaching he prepares to stop as if he was a familiar friend. One man at whose house he stopped told the self-imposed guest that he was not a "Mormon," to which the guest replied: "Neither am I; but I say so because I get along much better with the Mormon people," but when his host announced himself a Latter-day Saint, it quite disconcerted the stranger.

He became quite impudent at the residence of a non-Mormon who took hold of him to eject him from the premises, and this man declares he felt the lost arm hanging close to the alleged cripple's side. The latter gives his name as Caboon or Cloon, is very talkative and is anxious to learn all about family relationships. When he can get a favorable opportunity he spies children with questions about polygamist families in the neighborhood. He should be shunned as an impostor and a spy.

Another Volume Closed.

The September number of the Contributor is now from the press. This magazine has grown steadily in interest and value, year by year, and a retrospect of the contents of the current volume will show many articles of rare merit. In developing home literary talent the Contributor is certainly doing great and evident good, and its work in this regard is worthy of the liberal and substantial support of the people throughout the Territory.

That portion of B. H. Roberts' serial "The Rise and Fall of Nauvoo," which comprises a description of the attack on the Carthage jail, and the murder of the Prophet Joseph and his brother Hyrum, is given in the present number. It is positively fascinating in its tragic interest, and the manner in which it is narrated adds to the literary reputation of the writer. Taken as a whole, this serial is thus far probably the best account of the events to which it relates that has been written.

The remaining contents are as follows: "Colors of the Sea," Benjamin; "Trailers," Ed. Ben. E. Rich; "Pokahontas," in the Adirondacks; "The Weather, Chambers' Journal," A. Norwegian Waale; "Fragments of a Journey," August Joyce; "Crocheros," Bogota; H. R. Lumley; "Science of the Bass Ball Curve," Proctor; "Somewhere, Emeline B. Wells; Editorial: The Constitutional Convention; "Clarity," R. George Washington's Courtship.

In the next volume will appear a history of the Nauvoo Legion, written by Lieutenant R. W. Young, from its origin to its disbandment. Portraits of a number of the officers of the Legion will embellish this serial. An able corps of writers, including a number who have heretofore furnished articles for the Contributor, will continue to do. Among those from whom articles are promised are President Wilford Woodruff, Joseph F. Smith, Moses Thatcher, F. M. Lyman, George Reynolds, O. F. Whitney, B. H. Roberts and others. Few magazines could be named that are better than the subscription price than is the Contributor.

Out All Night.

On Thursday evening, when the trustees at the penitentiary were called in from working out in the field, one of the number was missing. This was Mr. Solomon A. Wikom. The gentleman is undergoing imprisonment for living with more than one wife, and having been in very feeble health, was permitted in the field, with the hope that it would improve his condition. A vigorous search was instituted, and kept up till late at night, but without success. About 5 a.m. yesterday, however, he was discovered slowly making his way towards the facility. Investigation showed that he had been taken by a spell of weakness, such as he is subject to, and had fallen down a bank a few feet high. He had been unable to rise, and had lain there several hours. He received no injuries or bad results from his experience. No blame attaches to anyone in the matter.

Searching for His Wife.

It is very nice to travel when the traveling can be done in first-class style. It is not very pleasant, however, for a lady with a number of small children. It is less pleasant, perhaps, for a man who is placed under similar circumstances. On Friday morning's Central Pacific train was a gentleman with five children, the oldest of which was only 8 years old, while the youngest was a baby in arms. He was from San Francisco, and he is on his way to Kansas City, where he expects to find his wife and her two sons, and another man. He is having a flip time with the babies while on his way to find his runaway wife, but he means to get there if possible.—Ogden Herald.

MURDER TRIAL.

A Gloomy Outlook for the Slayer of Cullen.

Beaver, Utah, Sept. 23.—In court this morning, the examination of the venire of fifteen jurors was continued. At noon the panel was filled—there being ten Mormons and two non-Mormons. Dickson made the opening address to the jury, citing what the prosecution expected to prove, and dwelling at some length on the degree of the murder, and that drunkenness was no excuse.

Jerry Tibberty was the first witness for the prosecution. He testified that he came down with Calton from the Mammoth Mine on the morning of the day of the homicide. Cullen had been in Milford several days before. Soon after reaching Milford the three met and drank four or five times during the day in three saloons. Calton and Tibberty were getting supplies in the store and had a load of ore sacks. They bought two sacks of whisky at Williams' saloon, withness met Cullen near 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and the three started back to the mine in a covered buggy. They stopped at Hogue's saloon, and all drank. Tibberty was getting supplies in the store and had a load of ore sacks. They bought two sacks of whisky at Williams' saloon, withness met Cullen near 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and the three started back to the mine in a covered buggy. They stopped at Hogue's saloon, and all drank.

Calton's neck being on the left side of the buggy, and Tibberty on the right, the three drank again. Tibberty also said: Soon after that the lash came. I jumped out to get it. While I was out of the buggy Calton and Cullen had a drink. Coming back to the wagon with the lash and knowing that he had left his flask on the ore sacks, Calton said to Tibberty: "Cullen, give Jerry a drink." Cullen refused, and Tibberty went out. Tibberty said: "I—don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that, or I will put it in the back of the buggy," and pushed his arm between Cullen and Calton, and they stopped further south. Tibberty then Calton jumped out of the buggy; and not certain whether he grabbed his pistol in the act of getting out, or as soon as he reached the ground. The team started up; he then jumped and caught the horse's head. I next saw a pistol raised in Calton's hand, and told Calton: "Here, don't do that; stop! Wait till I hear from the jury." Tibberty turned around and looking back saw Cullen and Calton struggling, Calton's neck being on the left side of the dash board; I rushed back to the stop that,