

CLEMENCEAU CABINET FALLS

Came in Most Dramatic Fashion
At Conclusion of Violent Debate Over Naval Scandals.

DELASSE LED THE ATTACK.

Premier, Over Confident of Support,
Taunted Ex-Minister of Foreign Affairs but Was Defeated.

Paris, July 20.—The Clemenceau cabinet fell suddenly tonight under the most dramatic circumstances, at the conclusion of a violent debate over the naval scandals.

M. Delasse, chairman of the investigating committee, led the attack upon the naval administration, especially during the incumbency of M. Pelletan and M. Thompson, former ministers of marine.

M. Picard, who succeeded M. Thompson, had promised, in the name of the government, to complete a series of reforms, when an incident occurred which changed a majority into a minority.

CLEMENCEAU TAUNTS DELASSE.

Premier Clemenceau, who always has been an adversary of M. Delasse, snarling under the criticisms, and doubtless over-confident of a majority, taunted the ex-minister of foreign affairs, who was vehemently opposed to the Rouvier ministry at the dictation of Germany during the crisis of 1905, with having led France to humiliation at Algiers. The speaker of that chamber, of France's foreign history in which Delasse was sacrificed was a fatal error. Instantly there was an uproar of dissent from both sides of the chamber. Delasse, flung back the taunt in Clemenceau's face with bitter words, declaring that France had gone to Algiers in the interest of peace.

M. Delasse intimated that Clemenceau had inspired articles in the foreign press during the crisis, but the latter emphatically denied this. The premier seemed for the first time in his parliamentary career to lose his head.

DELASSE'S REPLY.

Finally M. Delasse, as he was explaining the situation of 1905, drew himself up proudly and said: "I shall say nothing further on that subject. I have nothing to fear. Nothing in the past, nothing in the common memories of 25 years embarrasses me."

Turning to Clemenceau, he said: "You were president of the naval investigation committee of 1904. Your unsparing attacks upon every government during 25 years seemed sufficient guarantee that you would find the root of the evil. What were the results, I ask?"

M. Clemenceau, now evidently in a rage, tried to parry the thrust by returning to the charge. "Your policy as foreign minister," he shouted, "led us to the greatest humiliation France has experienced in 20 years."

Another storm of hostile cries arose, several deputies crying "It is an outrage to say that."

But the premier tried to assume his old composure. "Oh, no false indignation, I pray you," he cried. "You brought us to the verge of a war without military preparation."

"The whole world knew that the ministers of war and the navy, when the question was put to them, replied that France was not ready. I have not humiliated France," Delasse has done that."

CHAMBER IN UPROAR.

The chamber was in an uproar when the premier took his seat.

Amid the wildest excitement the vote was taken, and when it was announced that the government had been beaten 212 to 176, Clemenceau stalked out of the chamber, followed by the other ministers, in token that he intended to resign.

M. Clemenceau went immediately to the Elysee palace and told the story to President Fallieres, who seemed stupefied at the incident, but he accepted the resignations.

There is but one opinion in Paris tonight—astonishment that an old parliamentary warrior like Clemenceau should have committed political suicide by his awkwardness in recalling the Algiers speech, when the government was assured of a majority on the naval question. The premier's action drove about 50 members of the Republican "block" into a combination with the right and extreme left, unburdening the man whose ministry had been the longest in the history of the third republic, and who for three years has been absolute master in France.

More than 60 members of the majority, enough to have saved the day, were absent when the vote was taken. The fall of the cabinet was so unexpected that the political world is completely at sea as to who will be Clemenceau's successor. President Fallieres will consult with the presidents of the chambers tomorrow. The name of Leon Bourgeois, former premier and former minister of foreign affairs, is most frequently mentioned, but his age and health are against him. M. Breland, minister of justice, and M. Delasse are also mentioned. The Socialists are overjoyed at Clemenceau's downfall. M. Jaures, the Socialist leader in the chamber, said: "With Clemenceau disappears the most dangerous man in the republic."

GAMBLER IN STOCKS, AWAITS EXTRADITION

Oakland, Cal., July 21.—Frank W. Newburg, a young Bostonian, was arrested here yesterday morning while being held at the city prison awaiting the arrival of extradition papers from Boston, where he is wanted on a charge of embezzlement preferred by the firm with which he was connected in that city. Newburg told the local police that his trouble was due to gambling in stocks. Boston, July 21.—Frank W. Newburg, reported under arrest at Oakland, Cal., is wanted by the Boston police for a forgery of $1,149. Newburg was the financial manager of the Fox River Butter company of Aurora, Ill. He disappeared last Friday, leaving his family behind him, and an examination of his books is alleged to have revealed a discrepancy.

TAFT AND DIAZ WILL EXCHANGE VISITS

Washington, July 21.—Instead of shaking hands across a painted boundary on the bridge at El Paso next September, President Taft and President Diaz will exchange visits, the former crossing into Mexico and the latter setting foot on the soil of the United States. The state department is making arrangements for the meeting. It will take place during President Taft's western trip some time after Sept. 15, for it will be necessary for the Mexican president to obtain the permission of the Mexican congress, which meets on that date, to leave his country.

DIDN'T PAY HIS MEN, DYING OF BULLET WOUND

New York, July 21.—Because William MacPherson, a contractor, failed to pay off several of his workmen employed on a building under construction in the Bronx, he is in Lebanon hospital, where the doctors say he will die from a bullet wound near his heart.

MacPherson's workmen say he had not been regular in paying them for several weeks, and that when he announced to them last evening that several would have to wait another week there was a small riot. MacPherson leaped into his buggy as the crowd attacked him and lashed the animal into a run. He went only 50 yards when five shots were fired at him. He sank forward and rolled out of the buggy, striking the street with considerable force. Excited workmen and others rushed upon him and were beating and kicking him when the police interfered.

Antonio Cazzo, who drove a wagon for MacPherson, was arrested, and charged with the shooting, and several workmen were detained as witnesses.

MILLIONAIRE B. F. YOAKUM.

When Reached Subway Station Didn't Have Nickel to Pay Fare.

New York, July 21.—New York's kings of finance have millions in banks, stocks and bonds, but most of them carry very little cash.

B. F. Yoakum, president of the Rock Island system, dashed into the wall street subway station yesterday and fumbled in his pockets for a nickel. He could not find a cent and no acquaintance was willing to make a loan. Returning to his office, Mr. Yoakum said to his secretary:

"Go buy me a thousand subway tickets and see that they are put in every pocket of every suit of clothes I have."

The order for a thousand subway tickets was filled at once.

CAPT. JOS. KEMP

Has Just Received Medal, Authorized In 1864, for Bravery.

Ann Arbor, Mich., July 21.—Capt. Joseph Kemp, a civil war pensioner has just received from Washington a bronze medal authorized by Congress in 1864 for bravery at the battle of the Wilderness. As a member of company E, Fifth Michigan volunteers, Kemp dashed into the ranks of the enemy and captured the flag of the Thirty-first North Carolina regiment, tearing it away from the staff which the southern color bureau held securely. How the delivery of the medal came to be delayed so long, is not known here.

BIG BEQUEST FOR HOME FOR AGED WOMEN

Galesburg, Ill., July 21.—By the terms of the will of Mrs. Mary E. Jones of Knoxville, filed for probate here, an estate of $300,000 was distributed among a large number of beneficiaries. The most important bequest to the people of Knoxville was that of $250,000 for the erection and maintenance of a home there for aged women. It is stipulated that the building must not cost more than $50,000 and that the income from the balance of the gift will be used for its maintenance.

DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO WRECK FAST FREIGHT

New York, July 21.—The lodging of five prisoners in the jail at Hackensack, N. J., revealed the fact that a desperate attempt was made to wreck a fast freight train carrying a valuable cargo on the West Shore railroad, near New Bergen, before daylight yesterday. At a point across the Hudson river from the upper end of Manhattan six railroad ties had been placed across the track in such a manner as to wreck any train which struck them. A few minutes before the fast freight train from New York for the west arrived the obstruction was discovered by three railroad detectives and quickly removed.

A gang of railroad thieves had been operating in that vicinity for several months, mostly confining their operations to breaking into freight cars. From one car, which was broken open Monday, $2,000 worth of silks was taken and it was while investigating this robbery that the detectives discovered the attempt to wreck the train.

In searching the woods adjacent to where the obstruction was found, the officers discovered five men in hiding. They refused to explain why they were there, and were locked up. It is estimated that many thousands of dollars' worth of valuable freight has been stolen by the gang of robbers. By wrecking the fast freight trains it is believed the thieves would have made an exceptionally rich haul.

GETTYSBURG THE AUTO MECCA

During the last year the Civil war battlefield at Gettysburg, Pa., has become the Mecca of the automobilist, and almost every day big touring cars can be seen wending their way up the hills and through the valleys of this famous locality where one of the great decisive battles of the world was fought. Automobiling on the battlefield has been made easy by the construction of roads under the direction of the Gettysburg national park commissioners. The battlefield at Gettysburg was created a national park by an act of Congress of Feb. 11, 1895. From time to time extra lanes were acquired, and today nearly all the ground which was the scene of that terrific struggle has come under the exclusive control of the United States government. Thirty-two miles of splendid macadam driveways have already been constructed, and when the entire system is complete the whole 25 square miles, or 16,000 acres, which comprise the battlefield, will be honey-combed with over 100 miles of wide, well-drained roads.

Gettysburg is off the beaten track of the traveler, and changes of car and some inconvenience are necessary in order to reach it. The automobile makes it possible to take the trip and return from Baltimore or Washington in one day, by leaving either of these cities early in the morning. Without serious accidents Gettysburg can be reached before noon, the entire afternoon can be devoted to the battlefield and the tourist may reach home by midnight. The roads through Maryland and Pennsylvania are none the best, yet good time may be made. Toll charges north of Mason and Dixon's line are exorbitant, as from the Maryland line to Gettysburg the toll is 4 cents a mile on a turnpike which is full of ruts and stones and by far the worst roadway to be encountered on the journey. The roads of the Gettysburg National park are open to the public and the speed limit is six miles an hour—Leslie's Weekly.

RIDES A BICYCLE AT 75.

Riding a bicycle at 75 years of age would be considered difficult by most men. But R. T. Steele, a tailor, who lives on Matthews street, says it is a simple matter. He still rides to and from his work every day. He handles the wheel as easily as a boy, he says. Mr. Steele came to Columbia several years ago, from a farm in Audrian county. After selling his horses he found that walking was a poor substitute for horseback riding. So he decided that the bicycle was the thing for him. Now he believes that many who find walking a tax for their endurance would do well to learn the wheel.

THE MOST VITAL of MAGAZINES

"Cut Its Pages and It Bleeds"

THAT'S one man's striking way of expressing his conviction that OSMOPOLITAN Magazine is not a lifeless, inorganic, spineless thing of mere ink and paper, made just to sell, but the living, breathing, pulsating embodiment of all that is nearest the heart and most welcome to the mind of the American people.

OSMOPOLITAN contains within its always charming covers, something for every member of the family. And that something is the best of its kind in every case. The magazine's great prestige and purchasing power enable it to command the best work of all the most popular and highly paid writers and artists—not merely now and then, but twelve months in the year.

Its special articles are always unusually vivid and readable studies of the most significant of contemporary men and movements, prepared by the ablest writers, at great expense and only after months and often years of expert, first-hand investigation.

Its short fiction is representative of the most popular short-story wizards of the day and runs the whole scale from grave to gay, with such especial emphasis on the note of humor that all lovers of a good laugh have come to look upon OSMOPOLITAN as peculiarly their magazine. Its continued stories are invariably by master novelists, full of color, packed with movement, breathless in interest—the "novels of the year."

OSMOPOLITAN is famous for its cover designs—the most striking on the newsstands, month after month. Its illustrations are the best work of the greatest magazine artists, and its monthly series of theatrical portraits, always uniquely presented, is one of its most perennially popular features. In poetry, it has published some of the most notable work of recent years. Its trenchant, critical articles and briefer notes on literary folk and phrases are, without exception, the ablest in magazines.

All in all, OSMOPOLITAN is the most universally interesting, the most sanely all-round magazine of them all—and at the same time the most refreshingly individual. Wherever anything is read, OSMOPOLITAN will be read with delight.

As an advertising medium, OSMOPOLITAN is among the greatest of the great. Just now it is riding the crest of the wave. In volume of advertising it has stood first among all the popular monthly magazines twice during the last few months. Its February number not only headed the list in its class, but showed the greatest gain in advertising of all the monthlies over the corresponding issue a year ago—namely, 30 pages. Its April number—out March 1st—carries more net cash advertising than any previous number in the history of the magazine. And this in spite of our firm conviction that the pre-panic numbers established a high-water mark that would not soon be touched again. "OSMOPOLITAN—ward the Empire of Advertising Takes Its Way."
