PEOPLE WHO ARE PASSING

Don C. Robbins came in yesterday from eastern Utah, and was around among his friends as usual. Mr. Robbins, as is well known, is deeply interested in coal and oil lands in Carbon and Emery counties, which he is exformed a "News" reporter this morn-ing that he is about to make a new departure with the hopes of bringing prospective investors into that portion of the country, by removing a cause of complaint which has all along worked against inducing strangers to examine the country. His scheme is to remode and add to the hotel at Green River so as to make it possible for strangers to have some of the comforts of civilization while they are in the neighbor hood of the coal and oll lands. Already arrangements have been made with the Rio Grande Western for the use of the hotel. The needful money has been raised, and the work of putting the order will begin in the im-arrived this morning from the north and will spend a few days in the city before returning. He reports that the nake River valley is now in full blast and that Idaho Fails is one of the busiest places in the country.

Dr. John Greggs and wife of Pittshurg. Pa., are guesta at the Knutsford. doctor is on his way to the and is taking in the sights of Salt Lake

H. O. Harkness, one of the prominent business men of McCammon, Ida., came in this morning from the north. He says that business in that part of the country was never better than at present. The stock industry of that portion of the state of Wyoming is in a most flourishing condition. The report varously circulated that the drouth had injured the range as to interfere with the profitable handling of cattle, he declared to be very much over-drawn. Mr. Harkness will remain several days in the city.

Charles Shields of Park City is a guest at the Cullen. Mr. Shields will spend a few days among the business men before returning to the camp.

R. J. Witchell and wife of Hibbing, Minn, are at the Kenyon, Mr. Witchell is taking in the west for pleasure.

Samuel Blumberger of Toronto, Canada, came in from the east last evening, and put up at the Windsor. He says that our northern cousins are looking longingly towards the markets of the United States, and that the trade relations of the two countries is one of the political issues of the day in his country. Business of all kinds is very quiet throughout Canada.

W. G. Owens of Richmond, Va., is a guest at the Kenyon; coming in from the east last evening. This is Mr. Owens' first trip to the west, and he is much impressed with what he is seeing. He says that the south is at the present time coming to the front as it never has before. Not only agriculture and manufacturing are looking up but the mining industry is also forging ahead and promises to be one of the most lucrative in the country.

J. W. L. Gonlin, the well known stockmen of Grand Junction, Colo., is in the city, a guest at the Cullen. Mr. Gonlin says that the drouth has not any great extent, and that the stock is ooking fine. He is an extensiv of sheep and is one of the heaviest handlers of mutton in the west. He says that the outlook for the future in mutton is very fine, but that the fat sheep are very hard to pick up

R. M. Easdale and wife of Glasgow, Scotland, are guests at the Kenyon, coming in from the west last evening. Mr. Easdale is a somewhat noted metal merchant in his home city, and looking over the United States for purpose of gaining information. He is visiting all the noted mining camps of the country, and says that it will be fully six months before he will sail nome. Speaking of the Clyde, h said that as yet there was no change in the bustle of the shipyards. He can detect a sign of unrest among the com-panies which are operating there, and feels that the highest point in the busi-ness has been already reached and ness has passed. He says that the American shipbuilder is the dread of his fellowcraftsmen in the old country, and that already the influence of the shipyards are being felt in Glasgow. It is to study the conditions under which the metals are produced on this continent that he is now making the present tour of the country.

J. E. Ross of Cheyenne, Wyo., arrived from the east yesterday and left for eastern Utah this afternoon. Mr. Ross is an oil man of long standing, and is deeply interested in lands in his own state, likewise having considerable lands in eastern Utah. Just what his intentions are regarding the Utah land he would not say, stating that he could better answer as to that upon his re-

It is not posible for the prorietors to publish more than a very few of the numerous letters received in praise of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and telling of its remarkable cures. Greathouse, of Praitsburg, Ga., speaks for itself: "I would have been dead now but for the use of Chambeen dead now but for the second con-berlain's Coffe. Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. manner manner AMUSEMENTS.

At the Theatre last night Mr. Stoddart had a reception in every way worthy of his years of service and his genius as an actor. An overflowing house, one that in brilliance resembled the first night of a big operatic attrac tion, assembled to welcome the grand old actor back to Salt Lake. When he stepped upon the stage he was given such an ovation that everything came to a standatill for the space of a min-ute or more, and as the waves of applause rose and fell, the old actor tried again and again to resume the thread of the story, only to be compelled to bow his head in silent resignation and dumb ly wait till the storm of enthuslasm had subsided. As he stood, tears of emo-tion fell upon his cheeks, and he at length had to wave his hand, with his well known deprecatory gesture to ap-

The applause on his entrance, generous as it was, was as nothing compar-ed to that which went up after the great scene of the play at the end of Act. 2, where the stern old Scotch father becomes almost transformed into a raging madman and turns his daughout upon the hillside. Half a dozen urtain calls greeted the actor here, and hey were kept up until he again had o mutely plead for the audience's for-pearance. It is not too much to say that in the obstacter of the unyielding, dour hard, religious Scot, who preaches "hell fire" to every one. Mr. Stoddart attains the summit of his long artistle career. His strength, considering his age, is simply wonderful, and he retains age, is simply wonderful, and he retains so great a degree of the old fire and magnetism of a quarter of a century ago, that his fine work gives rise almost to a longing that we might again have the privilege of seeing his Pierre Michel, his old Money penny in "The Lights o' London," or his still rarer delineation of old Bantzau, before he passes from the boards forever, Sad it is to think that an actor of such efficient is to think that an actor of such gifts, contemplates making "The Bonnie Brier Rush" the closing experience of his long artistic life; and yet, as retire-ment must come. It is surely well that be decides on such a fine piece of char-

to round out his memorable career. We would not call "The Bonnie Brief We would not call. The Fonnie Brier Bush" a wonderful play. We have had its main theme told in "Hazel Kirk." "Saints and Sinners." "The Green Lanes of England." and a score of oth-er dramas, before, but in none has it ever been told with the interest, the charm and atmosphere with which Dr. McLaren's beautiful story is invested It is its treatment that makes it, less than its story. We used to think that old Couldock reached the same of the terrible when he threw off Hazel, but the difference between the ponderous, rolling thunder sort of school he represent. ed, and the modern, intense and vastly more electrifying style of Stoddart is mediate future.

T. J. Smith of Idaho Falls, Ida., is renewing his acquaintance with Sait Leke from his home at the Culien. He daughter and when he at length wei-omes her back home, Stoddart showed that all his gifts of tenderness, his abil-ity literally to start a whole audience to sobbing, were as strong within him

Most admirably is Mr. Stoddart supported. Nothing could be more artistic than the comedy work of Mr. Fax in the part of "Posty," who, wandering through the play with his bottle, casts a ray of light into all its dark corners a ray of light into all its dark corners, and keeps the audience rippling with merriment from first to last. Mr. Fax's delineation of Posty is as rare a piece of character work of one sort, as Mr. Stoddart's was of another. He made a great success in Salt Lake 10 years ago as the negro Decatur in "Alabama," and his work last night showed that he has never stopped growing.

"Bob" Easton had a reception second

"Bob" Easton had a reception second only to that given Mr. Stoddarc. In only to that given Mr. Stoddard. In fact the applicable almost drowned the music at the start, and pechal after recall greeted the favorite tenor. As he had the leading vocal part in such delightful Scotch songs as "Annie Laurie," "Loch Lomond," and "Auld Lang Syne," it is needless to say that he was at his very best. His grand voice came out in delictous style. The Scotch music is one of the features of the production, and it gave a color and an almosphere is one of the features of the production, and it gave a color and an atmosphere to the whole play that it was impossible otherwise to impart. The color was greatly aided by Mr. Anderson as the piper. In this connection the charming work of Mr. Shepherd's orchestra must not be overlooked, as its playing of the Scotch melodies was excutsite. All the other players in the cast are capable. Miss Muikins' Flora being charmingly rendered, Mr. Bassett, well remembered for his Mr. Hobbs in "Fauntleroy," playing the doctor sturdily, Mr. Jackson giving a manly interily, Mr. Jackson giving a manly inter-pretation of the young lord. Miss Bald-win being a dainty little Annie, Miss Holmes making a handsome Kate, and the work of the two children, Miss Robinson and Miss Taliaferro, being specially cute.

"The Bonnie Brier Bush" goes for the remainder of the week and is assured of immense business. Tomorrow night will be Scots night, a number of the ocal clans having decided to attend in

At the Grand the play of "Over the Sea," 5 mele drama of the old, old style, Sea," i. melo drama of the old, old style, crowded with sensations, formed the bill. The company cannot be called thoroughly strong, but the enthusiasm of the audience indicated that it cared less for the players than for the epithe play. The same bill goes for the resodes in the play. The same bill goes for the remainder of the week.

The sale for the Warde and James engagement opened at the theater with a rush this morning.

The sale for Bob Fitzsimmons' engagement at the Grand is now going on. He appears Monday in his play "The Honest Blacksmith."

POLITICAL POINTERS.

David Evans has withdrawn from the Democratic legislative ticket. In a ter to the county chairman he says "Six months ago I had planned a tri with wife and children which involve an absence during the whole of the time the legislature will be in session next winter. At the time I was named by the convention I felt willing, under protest, however to made the run, be-lieving that defeat of our party would surely follow, in which even the sacri-fice would be bur slight. Since tha time, however, I am convinced that the Democratic legislative ticket in this county will, as it deserves, be elected.
In view of this fact I can take no chances of disarranging my future plans, and especially is this true when dant that no sacrifice to the party wil The county committee has the matter under consideration and is do ing all in its power to have Mr. Evans reconsider his withdrawal.
