

PURE FOOD BILL IS AGREED UPON

Misdemeanor to Manufacture or Sell Any Adulterated or Misbranded Article.

A VERY DRASTIC MEASURE.

Dealers Protected Against Prosecution If Hold Guaranty of Concern Selling to Them.

Washington, June 27.—The pure food bill was agreed upon by the conference for the senate and house today and was reported to the senate just before adjournment. The house bill was taken as a basis of agreement, and into this were grafted many of the important sections of the senate measure, which had been given great attention by Senator McCumber and Mr. Hepburn, extending over three sessions of Congress.

With the exception of two sections the bills were not materially different. Two provisions of the house bill were eliminated entirely. They were the sections which authorized the secretary of agriculture to fix the standards of the various articles of food as to the wholesomeness or unwholesomeness of the various preservatives, and which would compel the person selling drugs or articles of food to furnish samples of such product for the purpose of analysis.

The bill as agreed upon makes it a misdemeanor for any person to manufacture, sell or offer for sale any article of food, drugs, medicines or liquors which is adulterated or misbranded, or which contains any poisonous or deleterious substance. It provides for each offense a fine not to exceed $500, one year's imprisonment, or both, with, in the discretion of the court, and for each subsequent offense a fine of not less than $1,000 or one year's imprisonment.

Section 2 prohibits the introduction into the state of territory, by the District of Columbia, or into any other state or district, or any foreign country of any article adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of this act, under penalty not exceeding a fine of $200 for the first offense, and $300, or one year's imprisonment, or both, for each subsequent offense.

Concerning shipments to a foreign country, it is provided that no article shall be deemed misbranded or adulterated when no substance is used in conflict with the laws of the foreign country for which it is intended. This clause, however, does not except any person from prosecution if the article is offered for sale for domestic use or consumption.

Section 4 provides for examinations of specimens of foods and drugs in the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture. Owners are to be given hearings, and if it is found any provisions of that act have been violated the secretary of agriculture is to certify the fact to the proper United States district attorney for action, and the executive judgment of the court is to be published.

Section 6 defines the terms drugs and foods, and section 7 defines what shall be adulterated in the case of drugs, confectionery and foods. The standards for drugs are those recognized in the United States pharmacopoeia or national formulary.

Confectionery is held to be adulterated if it contains any ingredient or coloring matter deleterious or detrimental to health. Foods are held adulterated if containing any substance reducing, largely or injuriously, affect the quality or strength; when any substance has been substituted wholly or in part for the article, or when the valuable constituent has been abstracted; when mixed, colored, powdered, covered or stained to conceal damage or inferiority, or any poisonous or deleterious ingredients added. The use of preservatives by external application is permitted when the directions for the removal of such preservatives are printed on the covering or the package. Food products are declared adulterated if in whole or in part of a filthy, decomposed, putrid animal or vegetable substance, or of any part of an animal unfit for food, whether manufactured or not, or if the product of a diseased animal or one that has died otherwise than by slaughter.

The term misbranded applies to foods or drugs whose package or label bears any statement, design or device, false or misleading, or if falsely branded as to place where manufactured or produced. Any article, however, which does not contain any added poisons or deleterious ingredients shall not be deemed adulterated or misbranded when kept under its distinctive name, or if compounded, imitation, or blends are plainly indicated. The term "blend" is construed to mean a mixture of like substances and does not exclude harmless colorings or flavoring ingredients. Proprietors or manufacturers of proprietary foods which contain no added unwholesome ingredients are not required to disclose their trade formulas, except far as this act may require to secure freedom from adulteration or misbranding.

Dealers are entitled against prosecution of them but hold the warranty of the concern from whom they purchased the articles.

The bill makes provision for court procedure and for codification of articles violative of the act, and samples of foods or drugs imported are to be furnished the chemistry bureau by the treasury department, articles decided

Washington, June 27.—The house was in session for three hours tonight, the speeches taking a wide political range, though the pending bill was the customs administrative act. Gen. Grosvenor of Ohio delivered a tariff "stand pat" speech, and in a colloquy with Mr. Clark of Missouri suggested that there were "a number of very able men and a good many editorial representatives abroad in the land who favor revision of the tariff."

"It has got to be a kind of song that is sung," he said. "We hear it echoing from the plains of Iowa, where self seeking politicians are seeking to ride into power upon a mere ill-defined proposition that no man apparently yet understands."

Mr. Clark asked if it was not a fact that the majority of the Republicans in Iowa have declared for Mr. Cummins for governor for re-election for a third term as a tariff revision candidate.

Mr. Grosvenor—I do not know that he is to be nominated as a revisionist.

Mr. Watson of Indiana and Mr. Lacy of Iowa suggested Gov. Cummins and nothing in regard to the bill this year. Mr. Clark replied that last year Mr. Cummins said "all the cobberies committed by all the life insurance companies in all time did not equal one-fifth of the cobberies inflicted by the Dingley bill in one year."

Mr. Grosvenor—Any man who will say that unworthy of the confidence of one American citizen let alone the majority of the states. Such a man is unworthy of the confidence and aspiration of American citizenship.

Mr. Grosvenor declared that Gov. Cummins had "eschewed the tariff question during the last six weeks of the campaign."

"When the Iowa Republican convention which meets in August," he added, "adopts an expression in favor of a tariff revision without qualification it will be time enough for the gentleman from Missouri to get happy and not till then."

FREE HIDES.

Senator Warren Says Demand of Manufacturers is Unjust and Selfish.

Washington, June 27.—Senator Warren made a speech in the senate today on his resolution calling on the director of the census for a statement covering the extent of the livestock industry of the United States and the foreign business in this country in leather and raw material. He cited the recent agitation concerning this industry as his reason for seeking the information. He confidently asserted that the statement would show an astonishing increase and that the product is not less than two billion dollars annually, more than the value of all the gold produced by the United States in the entire history of the country.

Mr. Warren pronounced as unjust and selfish the demand made by the manufacturers for free hides. He said that while the livestock men do not envy Massachusetts its prosperity they do not desire to add to it by taking the duty off hides and wool, and closed with an appeal for the continuance of the tariff. "We are," he said, "too busy, too well employed, too well paid for our labor to prosecute to think seriously of tariff revision in the year of our Lord 1906."

EARTHQUAKE IN WALES.

Houses Rocked and Hundreds of Chimneys Fell.

Cardiff, Wales, June 27.—Violent earthquake shocks were felt throughout south Wales at 4:45 this morning. Houses, roofs and roofs of the mansions were damaged. Hundreds of chimneys fell, occupants of dwellings were thrown to the ground, and people fled from their houses, shrieking in panic, with visions of the San Francisco disaster before them. Though there were many narrow escapes from falling chimneys and copings, there were no casualties, so far as known. Earthquake shocks were also felt in Bristol, Ilfracombe and elsewhere. They were accompanied by loud rumblings.

The shocks were felt with particular severity in the collieries where the men tell of terrific experiences. While underground they were thrown about in all directions like nine-pins, and they all left the pits as speedily as possible.
