According to Dr. He attempted to sound the crossing on McLean and others who have taken the horseback, but had not gone into the pains to investigate, for every one stream farther than a couple of rods thousand male members of churches when the shifting of the quicksand there are two thousand female mem- swept the animal's feet from under bers. Now the doctrine of the Christian Church has been from the beginning that Christians should marry only undermost and had a hard struggle to Christians. That those who belong to the Church should not intermarry with persons who do not belong to it. And for the horse, but after a desperate since the schisms which have split Christendom asunder have prevailed, It has been thought wrong or at least by the torrent, but being finally washed unadvisable for Catholics to marry Protestants and for Catholics or Protestants to marry Dissenters.

This is founded upon the teachings of the early Apostles who had the pre- bank. cedent of the law of God to ancient Israel. This law commanded concerning the Gentiless "Neither shalt thou make marriages with them, thy daughter thou shalt not give to his son, nor his daughter shalt thou take unto thy son." Paul instructed the Corinthians: "Be ye not unequally yoked together for Signal, on horseback, to mail letwith unbelievers: "For what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? If these apostolic injunctions are of any worth, and it seems that they should be to people who profess to believe in their inspiration and authority, members of the Church ought not to of the citizens of the French Republic marry with non-members. But if to the United States. It is the free, every male member of the churches marries one of the female members, there will still be left as many unmarried as married women in those churches. What is to be done with them? Are they to remain forever single? This would not be right. And the same Apostle declares that "Neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man in the Lord." 'Either this large number of female members of the Church, perhaps just as good and as well qualified by God and nature for wifehood and motherhood as their sister members who have an opportunity to marry in the Church, must be doomed to spinsterhood, or they must violate the law against marriage with unbellevers, or some meu must marry more wives than one. But the latter alternative will not be countenanced for a moment by the professed Christians of the nineteenth against it either in the New Testament or the Old, so the word of the Lord has to be disregarded and the positive injunctions of holy writ rejected and set at nought. For marriage is natural to woman, and she but follows the given tendencies in gravitating to the state of matrimony. Honorable motherhood is one of her rights, and she will tending, and so must its management obtain it if opportunity offers, even if as a whole and in detail. The modus she has to go outside of the limits pre-scribed by her religious belief. The exceptions to this rule are only exceptions and they help to prove the rule.
