The board adjourned subject to the call of the president.

D. H. Cannon, Esq., is up from St. George for conference, and reports affairs as prosperous down his way.

There is a greater breadth of crops being planted than ever before. In the field which is brought under water by the canal, about 1,700 acres of land will be cultivated this season additional to that of former years, and there will be a better supply of water for the whole. Some fifty miles of lateral ditches will be necessary for irrigating this tract.

The almond and apricot blossoms have dropped; peaches, pears, etc., are in full bloom, and field and garden crops are advancing. The season there opens early, so that if there was railway transportation, early vegetables could be supplied to this market from there instead of California.

A force of men began breaking ground April 10th for the macadamizing of State street for a mile and a half below Eighth South street, and the work is to be pushed with all the speed possible in order that the grading may be completed as soon as the broken rock to be used is delivered. Operations were begun yesterday in the quarries in Parley's canyon, and the rock will be supplied according to agreement. Another improvement, that will be appreciated by the country people, is the construction of a stone and brick culvert across Big Cottonwood creek on State street. The road will also be placed in proper condition for macadamizing should experiments about to be made prove successful.

Messrs. Bagley, George Swan and N. W. Lowman, of this city, left April 9 for the Salmon river country. The first named gentlemen own some good tree milling gold claims near Leesburg in Lemhi county. On one of the claims which they are developing the shaft is down ten feet and the vein is eleven feet wide. The ore runs on an average $11 to the ton. This property is near the Golden Star, locally known as the Dago mine, which was sold for $17,000. The owners will continue the work of development rigorously. This part of the country has been more devoted to placer mining than to quartz, but the indications are that there is plenty of good rock in the neighborhood.

An important change in the business affairs of the Salt Lake Herald is to be made within the next few days. The transformation of the management has been in contemplation for some time but it was not until today that negotiations were closed.

In the change that takes place Richard W. Young, who has control of or rather who has secured an option on the purchase of a large block of stock, becomes general manager of the business and editorial departments with full and complete supervision of both. Mr. H. O. Browlee, who has been the manager of the paper since the retirement of George E. Blair, will of course step down and out.

The course of study to be formulated for the public schools of the Territory is now in the hands of a committee appointed at a meeting of county superintendents held in this city April 9th. The committee is as follows: D. R. Allen, Salt Lake county; S. Oldham, Cache county; D. H. Christensen, Utah county; Moshell Hall, Weber county; Angus Vance, Box Elder county; D. O. Willey, Davis county; P. P. Christensen, Tooele

At the annual meeting of Z. C. M. I. stockholders Thursday afternoon, the report of the President—the twenty-fifth in the history of the institution—was read. It reviewed the past year's business and gave interesting information to the stockholders.

The sales of the institution for 1893 amounted to $2,343,989.97. The cash and merchandise on hand aggregate $933,197.64, or $464,000 more than the sum total of liabilities, exclusive of capital stock in reserve. There is owing to the institution $683,178.99.

The old wooden bridge which spanned Big Cottonwood creek for so many years on the State Road at Gordon's, is being torn down and the debris hauled away. A great amount of slag from the smelters is being conveyed to the banks of the stream and placed in position on either side in order that the new bridge erected there may have safe, solid and substantial footings.

Logan has a medium in the person of Bernhard Holton, of San Jose, Cal. It is alleged that he can unerringly indicate the presence of mineral veins, tell their exact proportions and the value of the ore. He has located numerous claims in this vicinity for a company who have great faith in his occult divinations. Should their fond hopes be realized, we will have a big mining boom this summer, and millionaires will be quite common.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Park City Heat and Power company last week there were represented 3,856 shares out of the 4,000 of stock. Everything was reported to be in good shape and working satisfactory. Henry Hewell, Barney Riley, J. H. Deming, Walter Scott and W. V. Rice were elected as directors for the ensuing year.—Park City Record.

The question of purchasing the Horseshoe canal Sanpete is being seriously considered by water owners of Cottonwood creek. There is some talk, also, of Ephraim buying it, but it hasn't been brought up as official business in the council yet.
